Morning Chronicle.

"I'LL DO IT WELL."—There lives in New England a gentleman who gave me the following account of his own life. He was an apprentice in a tin manufactory. When twenty-one years old he had lost his health so that he was entirely unable to work at his trade. Wholly destitute of means, he was thrown out upon the world to seek any employment for which he had strength. "He said he went to find employment with the determination that wherever he did, he would do it well. The first and only thing he could do, was to black boots and scour knives in a hotel. This he did, and did it well, as the gentleman now living would testify. Though his business was low and servile, he did not lay aside his self-respect, or allow himself to be made mean by his business. The respect and confidence of his employers were soon secured, and he was advanced to a more lucrative and less laborious position."

At length his health was restored, and he returned to his legitimate business, which he now carries on extensively. He has accumulated an ample fortune, and is training an interesting family by giving them the best advantages for moral and mental cultivation.—He now holds an elevated place in the community where he lives.

Young men who may chance to read the above statement of facts, should mark the secret of success. The man's whole character of whom I have spoken, was formed and directed by the determination to do whatever he did, well.

Do the thing that you are doing so well that you will be respected in your place, and you may be sure it will be said to you, "Go up higher."

LAW DECISIONS.—A pilotage case which has been on trial three years, was decided in the Supreme Court, on Monday. By chapter 32, Revised Statutes, section 24, it is provided that pilots shall be entitled to their fees if they offer their services to the master of a vessel before it shall have passed a line, &c. The barque Homer, beating in, had passed this line, which extends from the outward Grave, to Nahant head, but upon the next tack while standing to the northward, recrossed the lines and was spoken by the pilot and tendered his services while outside the line. The Captain refused him unless he would take the vessel above one bridge, which the pilot would not do, and consequently the captain went in without a pilot.

The Court decided that the pilot had a good claim, having offered his services when the vessel was outside the line. A vessel might after having crossed the line, by stress of weather be driven beyond it and perhaps far out to sea, therefore a narrow construction of the statute should not be made. The Court also decided that the evidence was conclusive that the custom had been established ever since the erection of the bridge, for the pilots to take inward bound vessels to the draw of the bridge, or moor them in the stream near the draw, and then leave them in charge of the master.

In the Court of Common Pleas, at Salem, in the case of Timothy C. Kendall, vs. Henry Durant, in an action on a promissory note "the defendant filed an answer setting forth that the note was made on Sunday and therefore void, but, as the answer did not negative that the note was made after sunset on Sunday, the statute making unlawful only those secular acts done before sunset, the Court ruled the answer to be insufficient."—Newburyport Herald.

ROUGH PASSAGE OF THE "THREE BELLS." It appears from a private letter from one of the passengers, that the Three Bells, Capt. Creighton, (one of the salvors of the people from the wreck of the San Francisco,) had a rough time on her home passage. She encountered gale after gale, and several tremendous seas struck her, leaving the cabin almost a wreck. Nearly all lost something—Capt. Creigton his clothes, charts, and some of the presents made to him while here. The writer says—"The mates also lost some things, with the log-book. None of us had a dry stitch to put on for several days. The men in the forecastle fared better, none of the seas having got in there. There being such a weight of water on deck and in the cabin, the ship would not answer the helm for some time, when orders were given to knock in the heads of the turpentine casks which lay along the bulwarks. This was an order which the captain scarcely expected to be obeyed, as all hopes of being saved had well nigh been given up; however, it was done, when the water got much quicker off the deck, and the men were set to bale out the cabin; and, the gale abating before daylight, we began to think we had escaped the present danger. I am sorry to say we lost one man during the gale; he was about the ore-rigging, when a sea swept him off."

However active the movement against the Nebraska bill may be, it has been a most disastrous failure. Consistent in all its aspects with former agitations, it will soon fall and fade before the resistless progress of a great principle—that principle founded in immutable justice, and looking forward to the promotion of equality and peace among the people, whether they live in territories or in states, whether they dwell on the Gulf of Mexico or the St. Lawrence, whether they hail from the borders of the Atlantic or the shores of the Pacific.—Washington Union.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7, 1854.

A WORD FOR THE CZAR.

The Boston Courier defends the Russian Emperor with some warmth, and with many strong and apparently fair statements; at the same time making some remarks on Louis Napoleon, which are not peculiarly complimentary.

We make the following extracts, containing information which may be new to many readers:

Nicholas is neither cruel, nor tyrant, nor oppressor, nor anything answering to the picture which his enemies have drawn of him. In his private character he is well known to be humane, amiable, decorous, and strict in the discharge of duty. In his public character he has shown himself the equitable and liberal administrator of an enormous political power. It is not his fault that he was born to the inheritance of a throne. It is not in his power to make Russia a republic—though we dare say there are thousands among us who imagine that this could be done at the expense of a sheet of paper. The dominion which he received from his ancestors he is compelled to transmit to his successors unchanged, except by such improvements as he may have the skill to introduce without danger to the whole fabric. We shall be told that the Czar has unlimited power, and that everything depends upon his will. This is quite erroneous. His power is discretionary and absolute only within a certain sphere. It is limited by prescription, by established precedent, and by public opinion. For example, the empire has a traditionary policy in relation to foreign affairs. The Czar must act in conformity with this policy, or he loses the national countenance and support. We are told that the war is very popular in Russia—now the very existence of popularity in such a case shows that the popular voice has weight, and that there are things which the sovereign cannot safely do. Nicholas, in fact, is a liberal Czar, and is recognized throughout the empire as the protector of the lower classes against the aristocratic oppressions of the Russian nobility. Serfdom prevails in the empire; the Czar is sincerely desirous that it should be abolished, but he can no more abolish it than the Congress of the United States can abolish slavery. The nobles have their latifundia, or great landed estates, on which they exercise their own authority over their serfs. The Czar has his crown lands in the same manner, and on these he has made such improvements among the peasantry that the oppression of serfdom is very little felt, if at all. The crown villages are the envy of all the others. All the peasants of the crown lands are free to go where they like.

Let us see what sort of a government prevails where Nicholas is relly absolute. Every crown village has its own municipal organization. It has a council which is called the ten, corresponding to the selectmen of a Massachusetts country town, and a chief magistrate called the Starosta. These officers are chosen annually by popular election—every peasant having a vote. Their duty is to divide the tax which is levied upon the whole community collectively among the individual members according to their ability. They also distribute such lands as may have escheated by the death of the occupants. They form a court for the settlement of all local disputes, and the punishment of minor offences; in short, they constitute as complete a system of self government as can be found in the internal affairs of any community in the United States. Moreover, the villages themselves are formed into districts for the organization of superior courts, which are composed of deputies from the villages. This organization is carried up in the same manner to a third stage for jurisdiction of a superior degree. At the same time, throughout the whole extent of the empire, no man is excluded by his religious opinions from any public honor or office. Now, we desire to know, what self-governed community on this side of the Atlantic will turn up its nose at this administration of the Russian despot. We have always understood that he was a careful student of American intsitutions, and that he sincerely admired them.—Certainly he has copied them as far as it has been possible to engraft an American scion upon a Muscovite stock. Let us add to this that it is to the Czar himself that many other institutions in the empire are indebted for their most valuable improvements. For example, he has made excellent regulations to provide for the comfort and welfare of artizans, laborers and manufacturers. He has provided by stringent laws for the sanitary condition of workshops and manufactories. The operatives are made sure of their pay from their employers, and every manufactory is compelled to maintain, as a part of its regular establishment, a hospital, a physician, and a school. This, to go no further, we think is pretty well for an "execrable and infamous tyrant," the title commonly bestowed upon him by the civility of some people who will believe anything sooner than that the Czar of Russia can by possibility do anything but what is wicked.

If the world has nothing to hope from the Czar, what has it to hope from his rival, the leader of the Western crusade against him,—Louis Napoleon? Of this man, the present idol of the self-styled liberals who clamor for a Russian war, it is a simple statement of historical fact to say that he got his stolen throne by falsehood, treachery, perjury, usurpation, and the shedding of innocent blood;—that he has trampled out the last spark of liberty in France, and sent her most honest citizens to die of pestilence in the marshes of Guiana; and that his notorious determination is, that there shall be no civil freedom in France, none in Italy, none in Turkey—none, finally, where his own power prevails. This is the man whose "noble conduct" in going over to the Turks is the theme of extravagant praise in England; where the deluded multitude are made to believe him the champion of liberalism against barbarism! Such falsehoods are poured like a deluge from the London newspapers, and, we are ashamed to say, swallowed implicitly by the greater part of the conductors of the American press.

PUNCH.—In his series of lectures in New York, Mr. Dion Bourcicault gave the following history of the London Punch:

It was concected in the dark back parlor of a public house, behind Drury Lane Theatre. The present editor of the Punch was the landlord of that tavern, and in that room assembled almost every night some of the liveliest wits of the day—more noted for wit than for money. The landlord made good punch, and around the bowl these men would sit, drinking, smoking and cracking jokes. The landlord proposed that their jokes should not be wasted, that their wit might be turned to account—that in short, they might start a comic paper. A good idea, but what name to give it!

"What name? why the child should have the father's name." And the landlord pointed to the bowl of punch.

The paper was started—it struggled on about a year, and then was sold for £100 to Messrs. Bradbury and Evans, the, firm that printed it. In their hands it arose to eminence. All the wits in England hastened to their standard. It has the honor of being expelled from several kingdoms on the continent of Europe. One night at Lady Blessington's, (said Mr. Bourcicault) Lord Brougham told me that he would rather stand a week's roasting in the House of Peers, than a single artifying joke in Punch.

CHRISTIAN CHARITY.—The scarcity of this desirable article, in three different quarters, may be clearly seen in the following paragraphs:

The public prosecutor of Stockholm has commenced the prosecution of seven women in that city, for having abandoned the Lutheran faith, and embraced that of Rome.

A ukase has been issued by the Russian government, forbidding Jewish women in Poland to wear any kind of head dress under their bonnets. The rabbis are forbidden to marry any woman who refuses to obey the new law.

The Legislature of Tennessee passed, at its last session, a law to regulate the emancipation of slaves. It provides for the transportation to the western coast of Africa of all slaves heretofore or hereafter liberated, and all free persons of color who fail to give bonds for good behavior.

WATCHMAN'S RIGHT TO ENTER.—In the case of Michael Hurley, charged with assaulting watchman McLanathan, who broke into the house to give shelter to Hurley's wife and child—they having been locked out by the prisoner after a quarrel—Justice Russell declared the officer did his duty in the case, and notwithstanding Hurley was severely beaten during the affray with the watchman, he was fined $15 and costs. The wife paid up to save him from the House of Correction.—Boston Transcript.

We think that the wife wasted her money; that she had better be any where than with a drunken brute of a husband; and that Hurley's beating was a wholesome operation.—Justice Russell's sentence is approved.

LAW AMENDED.—In the legislature of Massachusetts, by special assignment, the Amended Liquor Bill came up in the House of Representatives. Mr. Wiggin of Boston offered three amendments, which were rejected, 76 to 166. The bill was then ordered to a third reading, 138 to 90.

It is a strange story, that of the man who swung the pocket handkerchief; it runs thus:

"Mr. Paul Guiger, a worthy citizen of Vernon, N. Y.' while on his way from Syracuse to Manlius, last week, observed a man coming out of the wood which skirted the road, at a little distance behind him, swinging carelessly a pocket handkerchief, which seemed to contain some weight in the end. As Mr. G. had some money with him, having received about $400 from the Bank of Vernon a day or two before, he was suspicious of the fellow's movements, and therefore took his knife out of his pocket and kept it in his hand. The fellow walked quite fast, still swinging his handkerchief, and as he gained upon him, Mr. G. stepped aside and let him pass. Immediately after, the fellow slackened his pace so much that with very slow walking Mr. G. found he was gaining upon him. He was in the act of passing him again, when the fellow, with a sudden jerk of the handkerchief, struck at Mr. G., hitting him upon the back side of the neck; evidently aiming at his head. Mr. G. immediately upon feeling the blow, fetched his hand containing the knife around suddenly, and struck the fellow on the back of the neck, inflicting a frightful wound, killing him instantly. Mr. G. hurried on to the next house, informing the inhabitants of what he had done, and giving himself up to the authorities. They found upon the person of the fellow two revolvers, and a slung-shot in the handkerchief. A coroner's inquest was held, and Mr. G. was honorably acquitted."—Boston Post.

The N. Y. Tribune, in allusion to the late refusal of Bishop Potter, of Pa., to lecture for the Young Men's Association in Pittsburgh, Pa., mainly because Lucy Stone and the Rev. Antoinette L. Brown were announced to lecture in the same course, says—"We must have patience with these clerical gentlemen. The divine is still living in Hartford, Conn., who, less than thirty years ago, refused to pray for the Legislature of his State because a clergyman of heretical opinions had prayed for them the morning previous. He has doubtless lived to be wiser and more tolerant since. Bishop Potter is ordinarily a fair minded man, and we trust he will live to lecture so well as to fear no comparison with Lucy Stone, though she do her best."

DEATH OF A VENERABLE WOMAN.—The Utica Herald announces the death, on the 16th ult., of Mrs. Judith Town, a resident of Marshal, in the vicinity of Utica, at the advanced age of 107 years. She was born in 1747, and was consequently a woman grown when the declaration of independence was signed. She was the oldest person in the county at the time of her death, and leaves a daughter who is 86 years of age.

LOCAL.

City Council—Thursday, April 6.

In Board of Aldermen, His Honor Mayor Walker in the Chair.—A communication from Com. Smoot, asking permission to deposit the mud to be dug out for the sinking of the dock at the Navy Yard, in the channel way. B. F. Chandler, Esq. appeared before the Board in behalf of the petition.

Mrs. Walden petitions for repairing her fence adjoining Haven School House, which has been torn down by boys attending school there — referred to Committee on School Houses.

Committee on Mr. Treadwell's petition report—That the City Marshal be instructed to allot to each truckman and teamster his place on the track stand so as not to obstruct the passage ways or places of business about the premises—adopted.

A petition of Martin L. Twombly and others asking that in case of removal of the stand for the trucks &c., it may be located at the west end of State street, on Mason's Hill so called—leave to withdraw.

A communication from John M. Lord offering Hanover street Chapel to be rented to the City for school house.—referred to Committee on School Houses.

A petition from Chas. W. Walker and others asking for repairs of Market street, from Deer st. northerly—referred to Committee on Streets.

Went into executive session for the purpose of filling vacancies in School Committee No. 1 and 2; also to appoint watchmen.

In Common Council, President Hackett in the Chair.—No business of importance coming before the Board, adjourned.

BIBLICAL LECTURES.—On Wednesday evening, Rev. Dr. Burroughs, Rector, closed his usual winter course of expository lectures on the Bible. These lectures, during the season which has just now closed, were founded upon some of the principal prophecies of Ezekiel and Daniel; were enriched by the sound and varied learning of the lecturer; and bore the marks of careful and thorough preparation.

The hearers were not offended nor startled with fanciful or extravagant interpretations; but their attention was rewarded by numerous historical and classical notes, calculated to elucidate the sacred text, and by fair and obvious practical remarks, bearing on life and morals as well as faith and doctrine.

The tone of the course was hopeful and catholic throughout: and the recollection of these quiet seasons of worship and improvement cannot be otherwise than grateful to all who have enjoyed them.

Dr. Burroughs is by many years the oldest settled pastor in this city, having been here over forty years.

THE WIZARD.—Macallister performs again to-night and to-morrow evening, which will positively be his last in this city. He performs the most incomprehensible wonders in such a manner, that one would almost think him in league with the evil one. His audiences have been large, and among them are many of our first citizens.

Macallister tells a good story concerning his Nose Amputation. He was performing in a theatre at Saragossa in Spain, and called upon any one of the audience to come up on the stage, and he would amputate his nose in the most approved style. A great brawny fellow of the Lazzaroni class came up, and after being bound in the chair, asked to look at the knife with which the deed was to be performed. Finding it very sharp he was in fear as to the result. He stood on his feet with the chair still lashed to his back. Macallister told him in Spanish that he would not harm him, but amid the laughter and bravos of 5000 persons he was not heard. The hombre retreated as the Wizard advanced towards him, until he stood on the brink of the orchestra box, a pit about 8 feet deep. Macallister, who intended to seize him, to prevent his falling, advanced, and the fellow in his fright, took the last step backwards, and fell, chair and all, through the head of a great kettle drum. There, bound as he was, he succeeded in drawing his stiletto, and cutting the bandages that fastened him to the chair, started for the door, right over the heads of the audience, and was never seen again.

This great feat will be performed to-night—not the feat of the Drum, but of the Nose—all should see it.

☞ The Course of Lectures before the City Lyceum, at the Cameneum, was closed on Thursday evening, by Rev. Mr. Moore, who gave readings from Milton's Comus.

MILK.—Quite a commotion has been caused among the farmers on the New Hampshire border, by a notice from the Eastern Railroad Company that they shall not take a milk car to Boston, over their road after the 10th of April. About 400 gallons of milk have been sent daily from the depots at Hampton, and the quantity has been increasing by additions here and at other stations, so that it has gradually become an important business with the farmers; many of them have wintered stock the past season for the purpose of supplying the Boston market. Agents of the farmers are now conferring with the Newburyport and the Boston and Maine Railroads, to send the milk to the depots at Newmarket, Exeter, and Newburyport, as may be most accessible, but some of it must be cut off by an inconvenient distance, and this decision of the Eastern Road will have a tendency to increase the supply of milk and butter in our market.—Newburyport Herald.

WEDNESDAY, April 5.

SENATE.—Mr. Bright of Indiana appeared in his seat to-day for the first time for two months.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Clayton made a strong speech upon the Gadsden treaty.

Messrs. Smith of Tennessee and Nichols of Ohio also spoke on the same question, the former in favor and the latter in opposition.

Mr. Seward of Georgia called for the correspondence between the United States government and our Charge at Vienna, touching the arrest of Mr. Richmond, and also with regard to the rejection of the exequatur of the Consul at Triests.

The House then went into Committee on the Naval Appropriation Bill.

The average weight of the Senators is one hundred and forty-nine pounds fourteen ounces—the heaviest weighing 226 pounds (Hon. Adam Storing, of Otsego) and the lighiest one hundred pounds, (Hon. J. D. Watkins, of Sullivan.) The list of the Senators ages, are classed as follows: Between 30 and 40 there are eleven; 40 and 50 ten; 50 and 60 nine; 60 and 70 two.—Albany Evening Journal.

PATTERSON, N. J., April 5.—Fire.—The Star Mill was burnt this morning, with all its contents, machinery, tools, &c. Three dwelling houses adjoining were partially consumed. The mill was occupied by machinists, cotton mill, and silk factory. The property belonged to the Machinists' Association. Loss $50,000—half insured.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Japan Squadron.—The Evening Star says that Commodore Perry was long since notified to return home after visiting the Emperor of Japan. It is understood that he will leave but one steamer and two sloops-of-war in the Chinese waters, and will return by the way of San Francisco.

A CHURCH DESTROYED BY FIRE.—On Sunday morning, the new Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia at the corner of Twentieth and Fairview streets, was destroyed by fire. The church had just been completed, and was to have been consecrated on the same day.—Rev. Robert Armstrong had been selected pastor. The loss was about $6500, of which $4000 was covered by insurance.

NEW ORLEANS SUGAR FOR LIVERPOOL.—The New Orleans Price Current of the 29th announces that 1000 hogsheads of sugar was shipped from that port to Liverpool, the first shipment of the kind which was ever made.

A letter from Lyndon, Vt. dated March 30, says: here on that Saturday, famous for winds near you, that operated at pleasure with merchandise and buildings, the cold became intense and snow began to fall. It was considered the severest day of the season. On the Thursday following about a foot of snow fell, and thus our supply was and is more abundant than any time this season. We have now over two feet of snow, and sleighing is admirable. This morning after starting fires I pushed for the public thermometer at the post office. There I saw and believed what I corporeally knew before. The mercury was firm at five degrees below zero!

It is curious to notice, in the comments of the press, upon the recent affair at Washington, how ready many of the writers are to taunt the parties for not shooting each other. A hostile meeting, bloody and dangerous wounds, or even a fatal termination, would have pleased these moralists better than an adjustment of the quarrel does.—Boston Post.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

A NEW MOVEMENT.—It is stated that the movement, originating in Worcester, Mass., for colonizing Nebraska and Kansas with free people from the North, has taken a new and enlarged form. A petition is to be presented to the Legislature for an act of incorporation with ten millions of dollars capital; and by the aid of subscriptions to this capital, on which at first but small assessments shall be made, it is intended to set on foot and foster a grand tide of emigration from the free states and from Europe to the territories.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to cure. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in her circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does; and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

PORTSMOUTH MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

First Annual Report,
Read at the Temple, April 5th, 1854.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

It was deemed expedient, at this meeting in commemoration of the first anniversary of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association to present a report for your consideration, from which you might judge of our success, progress and prospects.

It is a singular fact, that while in past times there have been several societies for the improvement of the mind, established in Portsmouth, none have been successful in securing a permanent foundation; and that there should be at this time two associations, similar in many of their prominent characteristics, in such a flourishing condition. This is no doubt attributable, in some measure, to the fact that there are more young men residing in Portsmouth at the present time, than there have been for a number of years previous.

In the formation of the Mercantile Library Association, pattern was taken from the institutions of the same name in Boston and other cities. It is well known that these associations, while they have been very popular, have been the means of doing a vast deal of good. Their prominent purpose being to establish libraries, their members are thus brought in direct contact with these great reservoirs of learning, and are much benefitted thereby. Great need had long been felt in our city of a public library, easily accessible to any and every young man; and the formation and maintenance of one was the great object in establishing this institution.

After one or two preliminary meetings, during which a constitution was framed, the first regular meeting of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association was holden on the first of April, 1853. At this meeting the constitution was adopted and officers elected.—The officers of the Association were made to consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Librarian, and six Directors; to be chosen half yearly. The number of members at this meeting, who signed the Constitution, was eighteen. In order to form a nucleus for a library, it was proposed, that each member contribute as many books as was in his power.

One evening each week was set apart, in which by the exercises of reading, declamation, essay and debate, the members might give utterance to and make tangible expression of the wisdom inculcated from the library. These weekly meetings have been of immense benefit to the members. A question for debate is selected each week, and two members appointed to take the affirmative and negative sides; volunteers also participate in the debate. Various are the benefits which are derived from this exercise. Members acquire and perfect a habit of speaking extemporaneously. In order to participate with honor, references must be sought after, and thus individuals often become thoroughly acquainted with subjects they might otherwise know nothing of.

During the first three months our meetings were spirited and fully attended, and the number of members increased regularly. During the months of July and August, however, not so much interest was manifested. A reading room was opened, but it was deemed advisable after a few weeks to close it. During all this time the library had not increased—some 20 or 30 volumes comprising the sum total. But the reputation of the Association had gone abroad. Mr. Geo. S. Walker, one of the gallant "Portsmouth Boys," and a former school mate of a number of our members, donated the works of Daniel Webster complete. This was the first help we had out of the Society, and was very thankfully received. Accompanying this valuable gift was a handsome letter from Mr. Walker, stating his regard for our welfare, and mentioning that great interest was felt for the success of our enterprise by the Portsmouth residents in Boston.

Towards the close of their term the Board of Directors issued a circular to the citizens of Portsmouth, stating the objects of the Association, and soliciting the donation of books to the library. This call was met by several of our best citizens, but not so generally as was anticipated. We must mention here with the deepest gratitude the great interest felt for the success of the Association by the venerable Capt. John McClintock. He has contributed in all from 50 to 75 books, from his own private library, and has often expressed his approval of our endeavors.

During the month of October, there being a surplus in the treasury, it was resolved to increase and extend the library. Accordingly 25 dollars were forwarded to Mr. James T. Fields of Boston, requesting him to purchase such books as in his judgment would be most beneficial. Mr. Fields returned us an excellent selection of fifty works, accompanying which was a letter stating he was preparing a donation for the library, which he would forward in a few days. This pleasing intelligence was shortly followed by the substantial present of 100 books; and on the same day 100 volumes were received from Mr. Wm. H. Hill, of Boston, another of the numerous family of absent Sons, of whom Mother Portsmouth is so justly proud. For these handsome donations we cannot be too grateful; coming as they did, at a time when they were very much needed, they served to impart new energy and vigor to the Association.

During the month of November, a letter was received from Samuel Sheafe, Esq., of this city, enclosing 25 dollars. In the letter Mr. Sheafe stated that he had received the circular soliciting books, but not having any he could conveniently spare, he had sent us the enclosed amount with which we might purchase such books as we most needed.—This generous gift, coming immediately after our expenditure for an increase of the library, was highly acceptable; but the funds of the Association being rather low it was concluded to retain it in the treasury, and not expend it immediately.

We have also received from the Rev. Dan'l Austin 20 dollars, and from the Hon. Horton D. Walker 25 dollars.

These evidences of the interest taken in the welfare of the Association have been highly appreciated by the members. They have been an additional spur to vigorous and continued effort to establish the Society on a sure and permanent foundation, and render it an honor and ornament to Portsmouth. Through the means of these generous gifts and the contributions of the members, the library now numbers about 500 volumes, and those who have seen and examined the books speak highly of the selection.

The number of members at the present time is 90. During the year 2 have asked and received an honorable dismission. Death has also robbed us of one of our members. It is earnestly desired by the Association that all young men of Portsmouth should avail themselves of the advantages and opportunities afforded by the Society, and they call upon and desire all those who have not as yet availed themselves of the privileges of the weekly meetings or the library, to come forward and join them.

During the past winter the room of the Association has been open every evening in the week except the Sabbath. A number of papers were kindly furnished by the publishers of the Chronicle, and it has been a place of general resort for the members.

It is not the purpose nor the wish of the Association to establish a fund. They look to the interest of the library as the chief tie which shall bind and hold them together. But in order to provide for necessary expenses the admission fee is fixed at $1. There is also a trifling monthly assessment.

The surplus it is proposed to lay out in books. From the half-yearly report of the Treasurer, we gather that there are 94 dollars in the treasury. The outstanding debts of the Association are 12 dollars, leaving a balance of 82 dollars. The greater part of this it is proposed to lay out immediately in an addition to the library.

It is the intention of the Association to give a course of popular lectures during the winter of 1854-5. Extensive arrangements have already been made to render such a course equal to any ever given in our city. Engagements have been effected with some of the most popular lecturers in the country, and neither pains nor expense will be spared to make such a course acceptable to the public. It is preeminently the province of an institution like this—it being entirely literary—to give a series of popular lectures. We hope and trust our efforts will be met with encouragement and favor by our citizens. Any pecuniary benefit which may be derived from such a course, is intended to increase and extend the library; so that, if possible, another year the books may be numbered, not by hundreds, but by thousands.

Some idea may thus be formed of the progress of the Association, during this the first year of its existence. Its success has exceeded even the most sanguine expectations of its members. A great many obstacles and prejudices had to be contended with in its establishment. It was commenced at a wrong season of the year. But the members were determined on its success. If it be possible, said they, to establish in Portsmouth a literary association composed of the younger portion of community, this shall succeed. And it has succeeded, admirably. The superstructure now rests upon a sure and permanent foundation. Its benefits cannot be estimated by more dollars and cents—they are lasting—their influence is felt in all circles—by the whole community. We are truly grateful for the many handsome evidences of the approbation of our citizens, for which please receive our heartfelt thanks. May it be our constant and earnest effort to continue to merit your approval.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1854.

WHICH IS RIGHT?

The Richmond Christian Advocate, the leading journal in the interests of the Methodist Church South, makes the following criticism on the remonstrance of the New England clergy against the Nebraska bill:

It is painful to witness such a desecration of ministerial character, to watch the movements of men, of whom better things might be expected, engaged in a crusade against the south, and trailing their priestly garments in the dust to accomplish objects not mentioned in their commission, and never dreamed of in the acts and writings of the apostles. These are the evil works that endanger our glorious federal Union.

The reader will please to remember that this Christian Advocate, is the advocate and organ of slaveholding ministers and churches, and that these slaveholding parsons are finding fault with the 3000 northern ministers, because, in protesting against the Nebraska bill, they act against the South, that is against slavery.

This has been our view; this is the view of Mr. Burke in the Old Guard. But we have been assured on very high authority, that the new bill favors liberty and not slavery, &c., &c. If this were so, then all the clergy, North and South, must be utterly in error. The 3000 northern ministers protest against a long step in favor of liberty—and their southern clerical brethren think this protest will destroy the Union.

We remember, now, most happily, that some great man lately said ministers did not understand politics. It is singular, however, that the clergymen north and south, disagreeing as they do, should agree in considering the bill in one light, viz., as favoring slavery.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

The old political land marks in the Empire State have been so thoroughly swept away, that the most devoted partizan must be puzzled to know where he belongs. If any one believes that "party fidelity is fidelity to principle," he must look pretty sharply about him, when every great party, like a great cake of ice in April, splits in the middle, and the halves drift away separately.

The New York Herald says:

Our State election next fall will be a curious, knotty, perplexing and astonishing affair. We shall have a great variety of parties in the field. There will be the liquor law party and the anti-liquor law party; the democratic hard shell party and the democratic soft shell party; the Seward free soil abolition whig party, and the Fillmore conservative whig party, to say nothing of the free soil party proper, which give us seven political parties or factions on the course; and then there are the Know-Nothings, who will probably constitute another independent outside faction, making eight contending cliques in the field. The three leading issues in the contest will be the Maine liquor law, the Nebraska bill, and the political destiny of W. H. Seward. It is clear that he cannot have the election all his own way, as he had last fall with the help of the administration. But having been put up by one of his organs as candidate for Governor, his faction may probably nominate him for the office, as a stepping stone to the Presidential arena in 1856.

If this shall be done, there will be an awful "noise and confusion" in this State next November. Such are the present indications. The European war and the Cuba question may work great changes in the course of the next six months. We are in the midst of a mighty epoch of revolutions to States, empires and politicians. Seward and the Van Burens, Fillmore and the Bronsons, may all be swept off in the course of events, with the Cabinet and the administration, like chaff in a high-wind. We can only watch the signs of the times, and note them from day to day.

PORTLAND ELECTION.

The Argus exclaims: "The Country Safe! Our Side Victorious," and then remarks:

The municipal election seems to have given satisfaction to the public generally. The anti Dowites are delighted at his defeat, which delight several of them demonstrated on Tuesday evening, by marching through the city, to the music of the shrill fife and the spirit-stirring drum. The Brass Band was also engaged for the occasion, and several hundred Cahoon men followed. In the exuberance of their joy, they regarded not the mud of the streets, nor the disappointment of their opponents, but aired their throats at various stopping places with lusty cheers. Several patriotic citizens illustrated their devotion to their country's weal by the firing of pistols and Chinese crackers. In a few instances the "striped pig" was visible. That venerable porker was noisy and brutal as ever. The authorities should have restrained the beast.

Per contra, the Dow men claim Mr. Cahoon as a good Maine law man, and sixteen to twelve of the city government, with a reversionary interest in several of the twelve. Even the democrats, though they had no party candidates, find, upon counting up, that they have not done a very bad business. They stand three democrats to four whigs in the board of Aldermen, and eight democrats to thirteen whigs in the common council. This is a gain on the last year.

We infer that the people of Portland conclude, on the whole, that Mr. Dow is not the only man in the city capable of enforcing the liquor law. We presume, hereafter, the friends of that gentleman will not be in so much of a hurry to drag him into the canvass. They ought to be satisfied with the vote he received.

We also infer that the citizens desire the efficient execution of all the laws—liquor law included. But this business depends upon having the right sort of police. That department will be under the control of the Dow men in the city government. Let them see to it that the right sort are elected—men who will do their duty wisely and without fear or favor—and then if Mr. Mayor Cahoon fails to do his part of the work, why next year we'll turn him out, and put in a democrat.

All parties having reason to be tolerably well contented, we advise them to join hands in helping the new administration onward.

EARLY IN THE FIELD.—The Portland Inquirer says, "Next year will place Portland in a noble position, and elect Mr. Dow by a decisive vote." On which the Argus quietly remarks, "Chickens counted so long before hatching, don't usually make a very hearty dinner."

FATAL FALL.—A boy named Isaac Richards, fell through the hatchways of a building in Portland, on Wednesday evening, and died on Thursday forenoon. His scull was fractured, and he was not conscious after he fell. He belonged to Monmouth, Me., and was 16 years old. It was his business to sell newspapers, lozenges, &c., in the cars, on the Kennebec & Portland Railroad. He had gone up to the printing offices on that evening, to get some papers to sell the next morning, and was waiting for the Eclectic to go to press. While waiting, he was looking down the scuttle as the elevator was coming up, with two boys on the platform. In reaching forward he lost his balance, and also his life. He struck one of the boys as he fell, but not to his injury. Another lad was standing underneath, and narrowly escaped by stepping aside as Richards fell through. He is represented as a smart, active boy, who had taken care of himself for some time by the sale of papers, &c.

NOT BAD.—The London Diogenes denominates the dispute between Hobbs and his opponents a case of 'Lock-jaw.'

THE MERCANTILE.—We give this morning, the report of the Secretary for the last year, which shows this institution favorably and in a flourishing condition. Their course of lectures for next season, is receiving liberal encouragement; and the arrangements for a very popular series are nearly completed.

RAILROAD CHANGES.—By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that there have been slight changes in the time of starting, on the Concord railroad, to commence on Monday morning.

On the Eastern Railroad, from and after Monday, the cars will leave their new depot in Causeway street, Boston, for Portsmouth, at 7.30 A. M., and 2, 4, and 5 P. M.

Leave Portsmouth for Boston at 7.15 and 10.45 A. M., and 4.30 and 7.15 P. M.

ROWDY BOYS.—The windows and skylights of the Bowling Saloon, in Hanover street, were broken in pieces by mischievous boys on Friday afternoon; the inside work, including the alleys, destroyed, and the building much injured.

The late keeper of the saloon had left the city, and left some unpaid debts. Among other items, he is said to be indebted to some boys in their teens, for setting up pins. These creditors were enraged; and getting up an indignation meeting of other boys who sympathized with them, they wreaked their vengeance on the premises as above stated.

Messrs. Editors:—The steamer "State of Maine," will be launched from the Navy Yard on Tuesday, at ten o'clock A. M. This boat is destined for the Home Squadron, and will probably be a permanent fixture of this Yard. She is a side-wheel boat. Q.

DEATH OF MR. CHADWICK.—We regret to announce the death of our respected fellow citizen, Ebenezer Chadwick, Esq., after a severe illness. His condition has been such for a week or two past as to excite the anxiety of his friends. He died at his house, in Mount Vernon street, on the third of the month, at the age of 65. He will be deeply lamented by a large family circle, and also by a much larger social and business circle, in which he was highly esteemed.—Boston Advertiser.

Mr. C. was a Son of Portsmouth, and visited this city with the Sons on the Fourth of July 1853.

Not in Portsmouth.

NEW TOWN-HOUSE IN EXETER.—The town of Exeter, at the last annual meeting, voted to raise $20,000 for the purpose of erecting a Town-House. It is to be a commodious and handsome building. Mr. J. L. Foster, of Concord, has been employed as the architect for modelling and designing the structure.

A DESIDERATUM.—One of our exchanges advertises for "An editor who can suit every body, and a foreman who can so arrange the advertisements that all shall be at the head of a column." Such characters would certainly be a great acquisition for any printing office, and one frequently needed.

☞ The Concord Reporter says, "we know of a goodly number of members of the next Legislature, who are 'Old Guard Democrats,' staunch and true, as will be seen next June.

☞ Gen. Low, the candidate of the Democratic party, has been chosen Mayor of Concord, at a second trial, by a majority of 41.

Col. Colt will realize a stupendous fortune out of the Eastern war. The Russians will be armed mostly with his revolvers, and so will most of the officers in the English and French armies. C. F. Dennett, Esq., formerly of Boston, is Col. Colt's agent in London.—Concord Reporter.

There is a proposition to renew Col. Colt's patent in this country. It had better not be renewed, however.

Men with unassuming wives never fail. It is the husbands of such women as Mrs. Dash and Lady Brilliant who find themselves face to face with the sheriff, and certain mysterious documents, adorned with red tape and wafers, big enough for target practice.

RHODE ISLAND ELECTION.—On Wednesday Wm. W. Hoppin, the Whig candidate for Governor, was elected by over 2000 malority. The whigs have also elected 19 members of the Senate to 13 opposition; and 41 members of the House to 21 opposition—which will give a Whig majority on joint ballot of 16, and secure the election of Whigs to all offices not filled by the people. Besides the Nebraska question, the Liquor Law entered largely into the canvass. Hoppin, the Whig candidate for Governor, was supported by the temperance men. How the Legislature elect stands in regard to the Maine law is not stated in the Providence Journal, to which we are indebted for the above returns.

TWO WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.—The steamship Eldorado, from Aspinwall 30th ult., arrived at New Orleans 3th inst., with the California mails of the 16th March, and $40,000 in gold dust.

The mail steamship George Law was to sail from Aspinwall for New York on the 31st, with 500 passengers, and $1,000,000 in treasure.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Herald states that ex-Alderman Wesley Smith, together with several other Americans, went out in the last outward trip of the Baltic, in company with M. Grunewald, a Russian officer, bound to St. Petersburg, and that they are in contract with Russia for the destruction of the allied fleet in the Baltic, by means of Taylor's submarine armor, and Colt's submarine battery. They are to receive £100,000 sterling for the clean job, or a proportionable sum for all services short of that.

An Advertisement for Invalids.

A MOST extraordinary case of restoration to perfect health by the use of PRESTON'S VEGETABLE CATHOLICON, has just been related to the manufacturer of this highly popular and valuable medicine. A gentleman of Greenland purchased a few Bottles a year ago for his own use, and derived so much benefit from it that he purchased one-half dozen Bottles for a brother who lived in Vermont. He had been an invalid for a number of years, and was obliged to be lifted in and out of his carriage. Three weeks since he made a visit to his brother in Greenland; and (to use his brother's own words) "I should not have been more surprised to have seen a person arise from the dead, than I was to see my brother walk into my house as well as ever. He is now able to work about his farm, and all this has been effected by the use of PRESTON'S VEGETABLE CATHOLICON."

All invalids should use that article they know to be good, and not waste their money on experiments with many other preparations that contain little else than rum and water sweetened to the taste.

Preston's Catholicon is constantly manufactured by WM. R. PRESTON, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H., to whom all orders should be directed.

CUTTING AND BRECKENRIDGE.—The New York Herald gives an outline of the correspondence between Messrs. Cutting and Breckenridge. The delay in the hostile meeting was caused by the circumstance that each party considered itself challenged, and claimed the choice of weapons, Mr. B. Proposing rifles at sixty paces, and Mr. C. pistols at ten paces. Mr. Cutting disclaimed that his note was intended as a challenge, and remarked that the expressions he used in debate were intended as criticisms on Mr. B.'s speech, and not as personal to Mr. B.; whereupon Mr. Breckenridge expressed his satisfaction, and willingly withdrew the offensive rejoinder. The amicable settlement of the difficulty was thus attained.

The Herald deems them both honorable and eminent men; and in an article of great severity, denounces President Pierce as the instigator of Breckenridge's attack on Cutting. Omitting the more severe and libellous remarks, we make the following extract:

It was Mr. Pierce's interest to revenge the tremendous lessons he has received from the national democrats on one of their conspicuous leaders. It was also to his interest to divert public attention from his own share in throwing the Nebraska bill overboard for the present, and to make it appear that that result was due to another. Both these interests were served by inciting the fiery Breckenridge to the attack. They would have been still better served had the duel been fought and Mr. Cutting left upon the field. We sympathize with Mr. Pierce on this disappointment.

HARRISBURG, April 5, 1854.—The House to-day took up the Senate Prohibitory Liquor Bill, which led to an animated discussion.

Various motions were made to postpone it until to-morrow, (Friday,) and indefinitely, but they were all voted down.

The question being taken on the bill, it was defeated. Yeas 37, nays 61.

The operation of this bill was dependent upon a vote of the people before it could be enacted into a law.

SINGULAR FRAUD.—A fraud attempted on the British War Department, not so remarkable for its atrocity, as the folly of the perpetrator in supposing he should escape detection, was brought to notice in the House of Lords, a short time since, by an enquiry addressed to the Duke of Newcastle, the Secretary of war. The Secretary, in answer to the enquiry, stated that on the eve of the departure of a transport ship from Deptford, with artillery horses for the East, and supply for hay, packed and pressed in trusses, was delivered on board, at £7 10s per ton. Before the vessel sailed, it was discovered that a gross deception had been practiced.

"A board of officers being ordered over to Deptford, the hay was all unshipped, and on opening the trusses, they found the centre of each filled with shavings, straw, and all manner of filth; and in one was a dead lamb!—All the hay was very much damped, so as to make it weigh heavy; so if they had gone to sea with it, the horses would have died, and, more than likely, the ships would have taken fire from spontaneous combustion."

The Secretary confirmed the statement, and said that beside the hazard of the great mischief which would have ensued if the fraud had not been discovered, which, however, he said could hardly have occurred, there was much delay and inconvenience in obtaining a fresh supply. He said that the advice of the law officers had been taken, as to the means of bringing the perpetrator of the fraud to punishment.—Boston Advertiser.

BRITISH NAVAL STEAMERS IN THE BOSPHORUS.—The following extracts from a letter recently received from the Mediterranean by a friend, will be read with interest.—Washington Democrat.

At Constantinople, or rather in the Bosphorus, I saw the finest collection of naval steamers in the world, the most efficient of which was the Agamemnon, a British ship of the line, mounting ninety guns. She has trunk engines, built by Penn & Son, and has a two bladed propeller, arranged to be lifted out of the water when not in use. (This is the universal arrangement in the English Navy.) They told me her average speed at sea was ten knots. They say, however, that she is the finest and most efficient steamer in the Navy—I believe they might say in the world. * * Their side-wheel steamers are also splendid specimens.

I saw thirteen steam frigates, mounting each forty guns of heavy calibre. Their sloops (as they would term the United States steamer Saranac,) are much faster than their frigates; but in a race of 700 miles with the Highflyer, the Saranac beat her 18 hours, although they call her a twelve-knot ship. In this race the Saranac averaged but ten knots.

The French steamer Napoleon has returned to Toulon a dead failure.

A HANDSOME REWARD.—The Government has presented to the owners of the ship Antarctic (which took off a portion of the passengers on the San Francisco) the sum of $25,000 as a token of gratitude for the service rendered. It was a voluntary gift, as the owners of the ship made no charge whatever.—N. Y. Mirror.

It is said that Thorndike Rand, who robbed the Suffolk Bank with Brewer, was recently at Callao, and was actually aboard the British steamship at New York when Brewer was arrested, but jumped ashore and escaped to Canada, thence to England, Australia, &c.

Rev. Dr. Osgood, having been 45 years pastor of the First Congregational church in Springfield, has retired from active service on an annuity of $700 allowed him by the society.

The legal men of Covington, Ky., are on a strike. They recently met in solemn conclave, and agreed to demand five dollars for counsel, fifty dollars for divorce, and one hundred dollars for ejectment.

Did you ever go to a military ball? asked a lisping maid of an old veteran of Jackson's army of '15.

No, my dear, growled the old soldier, in those days I had a military ball come to me; and what d'ye think? It took my legs off.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a
POISONOUS GUM RESIN,
Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

SKILL IN FINANCE.—The following dialogue, which is said to have actually taken place in a neighboring town, shows that the untutored African race are not destitute of financial talents, which would reflect credit on many active, managing, money circulating men of the day.

A sable descendant of Africa by the name of Mingo, having been at work at a distance, was met by his master, returning home on a frightful looking old horse, without saddle or bridle, when the following dialogue ensued:

Master—Well, Mingo, how did you come by that horse?

Mingo—Oh! massa, I buy him and gib ten dollar.

Master—But where did you get the money to pay for him?

Mingo—Oh! massa, me trade; me gib him right down note ob hand for tree months.

Master—But, Mingo, when your three months are out, what then?

THE LAW'S DELAY.—There is neither reason or justice in the common delaying in law cases, and it is high time that parties to the delay learnt better. There is no case where promptness in business is more imperatively demanded than in law, but yet none where appointments and the detail are more abused. —Charlestown Adv.

THE New York Hards and Softs have not arranged their differences. Upon a recent appointment by the Secretary of the State, the Albany Argus remarks that "the Troy Budget, a hybrid sheet of the Soft and Shortboy order, has been selected by Secretary Marcy to publish the United States laws, 'by authority.'"

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $100 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.
PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.
If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.
It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.
Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.
It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.
Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.
Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. HARD DEMOCRACY.

Election day in New Hampshire was the last turning point of the administration. Its policy was there finally and conclusively nailed as foolish and ridiculous. It was not by any means the Nebraska bill alone which so disastrously turned that election. For a long time previous, the administration had been losing its hold upon the affection and confidence of the people. Maine had given it a blow, Massachusetts had entered her protest. California, Connecticut, Mississippi, and New York especially, had shaken the administration to the centre. But the withdrawal of the Nebraska bill as a test was undoubtedly a very foolish and absurd procedure. If the principles of that bill are not a test of Democracy, then there is none. For an administration to abandon what we have been fighting for for years, and at such a critical pesiod, is a depth of cowardice and vacillation to which we did not suppose that even the administration could sink. It no doubt prejudiced the election against the Democratic party of New Hampshire. To know that the administration favored the bill, and at the same time virtually ignored its existance, ought to have killed the administration, even in New Hampshire.

To suppose that all these gross inconsistencies and flat contradictions have been committed by one man, and that man the President, is simply absurd. The FRIENDS, so called, by whom and for whom his nomination was procured, have had their ends to serve as well as his, and as the commencing act was a mutual concession of moral principle, so has been every succeeding act. A mutual alliance of villainy to serve personal ends and projects.

We are glad to see the Hon. Mr. Cutting in his present position with regard to the Nebraska bill. We sympathize and accord with the "Hards" of New York.

* * * * *

The principles at stake are the nonintervention by Congress in States and territories, upon questions and issues over which it has no Constitutional control—the free and unobstructed right of emigration—and the right of the majority of a State or territory to rule.

The President endorses these principles,—the Softs of New York will not. Query.—Has he a traitorous Soft—one or more—in his cabinet, or not? If so, is he not destroying his own vitals, and those of his party, by advocating a bill to which he knows these Softs are opposed, and which, if he depends on them for support, and renounces the long tried and faithful adherents of his principles, must inevitably be lost?

If we understand this hard editor, he values the Nebraska bill with its slavery feature, higher than he values the President, the Administration, or the Democratic party. He thinks the country will go with Mr. Cutting and the hards, to save the Union by repealing the Missouri Compromise and estsblishing non-intervention.

It seems to us, after all, to amount to this: Congress may intervene to favor slavery; but may not intervene to check it.

GOLDEN MOTIVES.

The lists of claims by American citizens upon the Mexican government, since the Guadaloupe treaty, excluding the Garay event, is six million dollars. Since the speedy payment of these is dependent upon the ratification of the Gadsden treaty, it is not improbable that some Senators may be induced to vote for that or be accidentally absent, where they cannot give a direct vote.

It is not at all likely the public will even know exactly the amount of swindling which is successfully fastened upon the Texan and Mexican treaties, wars and annexations. The Gardner claim was a very handsome sample, of what may really be a pretty large lot.—We have little or no doubt the treaty will be ratified. But hold! here is another motive. This is silver. Our manifest destiny is to go clear across the country, taking in a wide slice at every bout, like a six footer who swings a handsome scythe across a smooth meadow.

Gen. Rusk, Senator from Texas, who is well acquainted with the locality, says that the territory offered us by the Gadsden treaty, is of immense value as a mineral region, being equal, through its silver mines, to the gold regions of California. If this be true, and the most practicable route for the Pacific Railroad is through that country, we may shortly have new states in that direction. An immense tide of emigration would go to such a land with that railroad.

The clergy of the revolution gave "aid and comfort" to the rebels from their pulpits, though the fact does not justify any active participation of the clergy of our time in partisan or political discussions. In a letter addressed to his wife, dated Philadelphia, July 7, 1774 John Adams inquires: "Does Mr. Willbind preach against oppression and the other cardinal vices of the times? Tell him the clergy here of every denomination, not excepting the Episcopalian, thunder and lighten every Sabbath."—Boston Chronicle.

To be sure no precedent justifies anything, entirely; but this precedent does show conclusively that our revolutionary fathers not only justified, but demanded, clerical aid, not merely in politics, but in rebellion against political oppression. Either clergymen have all the rights of citizens, or else they have none of them. And the logic, by which it can be shown that ministers in the Colonies ought, and that ministers in the States ought not, to act or speak on political subjects, must be chopped very fine indeed.

LOCAL.

LYCEUM LECTURES.

The City Lyceum having closed its course of lectures at the Cameneum; and the New, or Mechanics' Lyceum, at the Temple, having to give but one more lecture, by a lecturer of known merit; the present seems to be the right time for a general review of the Lectures for the Season.

The Course at the Temple, commenced under the auspices of the Mechanic Association, received as a general thing the encouragement of the members and friends of the association; and as it enjoyed the management of experienced and excellent financiers, it was eminently successful, both in a numerical and a pecuniary point of view. The audience has been very large throughout, and the house has several times been greatly crowded.

The other Course, at the Cameneum, had two or three full houses; one crowded; and the audience was sometimes thin. The pecuniary management was therefore more difficult; and the directors deserve much credit for their perseverance and discretion in filling out the course under the circumstances.

In reviewing the lectures themselves, we shall avoid all invidious comparisons between the two courses, by saying that we have no doubt both boards of directors made the best selections of lecturers within their knowledge and power; and by adding, that of the lectures by speakers drawn from abroad, there was about an equal proportion of the good, the respectable and the poor, in each house.

Nor do we mean to call lecturers, now, by name; we have done that already, and expressed some opinions of the performance of each, as we have passed through the winter. They may be classified, however, and thus examined, with profit, and without offence.

The first classification we shall notice is that of Home Lecturers, i. e. Residents of this City, as distinguished from those who live elsewhere, and who visit us only as lecturers, by request.

In this way of classing, our home lecturers, who gave seven or eight lectures in all, compare very favorably with those from abroad. We hope no one will be offended with this expressed preference for a domestic article, especially when we add, that no one of these Portsmouth lecturers is a native of this city, and that most of them have been here but a short time. But we wish to have it distinctly understood, that the fact of a man's being settled as a pastor, or a physician, or a lawyer, or a man of leisure, in this city or some neighboring town, does not in the least unfit him for a lecturer here, if he happens to be a man of talent and nerve.

In this connexion, let us say, that when the Portsmouth Lyceum used to call on residents here, for about half their lectures, we had courses second to no miscellaneous course in the land at that time. And the notice and currency which we thus gave to these lecturers at home, aided in giving them a similar currency abroad.

The policy which would confine such courses exclusively to lecturers at home, or to those from abroad, is neither wise nor liberal. The true line of propriety and of prudence is, to intermix them. A good stock of home lecturers also, may always guard against disappointment, when travelling lecturers fail to arrive.

The lectures, as well as the lecturers, may be classed. The historical, national or political, form one class;—and they were generally instructive, interesting and satisfactory. The lectures on abstract subjects in mental philosophy, and on character, were less interesting, though some of them were able. And those on moral subjects, with two or three noble exceptions, were failures. These exceptions were sufficiently numerous, and sufficiently striking, to justify us in saying, not only that we do not object to moral teaching in a course of Lyceum Lectures, but also, that we deem no long miscellaneous course to be complete without it.

Those who write Moral Lectures for a Lyceum, however, should not content themselves with such bare commonplaces as would perhaps be tolerated in an unstudied discourse; if they do, their hearers will not. The moral lectures, which in one or two instances were delivered by our city pastors, were finished and agreeable discourses, by no means dull nor prosy—but several of those by clergy and laity, brought from a distance at some cost, were but sorry specimens of thoughts that did not breathe, and of words that could not burn.

One word as to Music at Lyceums. We always used to have it: first by a band: afterwards on the great organ at the Cameneum: and lastly on the smaller but fine organ at the Hanover street Chapel. We know of no reason why we should not have it in some form in all future Lyceums that can have any thing. Give us Thirteen Lectures, and Music, rather than Fourteen Lectures without any musical prelude or finale.

☞ Any good family wishing to adopt a nice boy, one year old, will please call at the office of the City Missionary for further information.

NEW BANK BILLS.

The Rockingham Bank issue a new lot of Bills this morning, of the denominations of 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 50 and $100, all of original and beautiful designs. The following is a general description of the various bills:

P. M. L. ASSOCIATION.—At the meeting of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association, held on Friday evening last, the following officers were elected for the current term:

B. Franklin Moses, President; Frank Fuller, Vice President; D. J. Vaughan, Secretary; Washington Freeman, Treasurer; Wm. O. Head, Samuel Gray, Henry C. Barnabee, Chas. E. Lord, Moses Wherren, and Horatio Parker, Directors.

The members of the Association having books belonging to the library, are requested to return them immediately.

We learn that the Soctety received a present of $20, on Saturday last, from Capt. Daniel Marcy, of this city.

TEMPLE OF MAGIC.—It will be seen by the advertisement in our columns, that Macallister announces his farewell entertainment in Magic to-night. The bill is one of the richest yet offered, embracing Madame Macallister's wonderful feat of the "Aerial Suspension," the "Mystic Cabinet" and the new experiments of "Second Sight," the "Gun trick" and the great "Glove and Nut Feat," besides a number of other amusing and truly incomprehensible experiments. The ease, grace and perfect manner with which Macallister performs his feats, has been the subject of universal remark from our most respectable and distinguished citizens, who have nightly attended. His Magic Cabinet is the most extensive and gorgeous ever seen here. We look for a crowd to-night.

RAILROAD CHANGES.—By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that there have been slight changes in the time of starting, on the Concord railroad, to commence this morning.

On the Eastern Railroad, from and after to-day, the cars will leave their new depot in Causeway street, Boston, for Portsmouth, four times daily, instead of three, as heretofore, viz. at 7.30 A. M., and 2, 4, and 5 P. M.

Leave Portsmouth for Boston at 7.15 and 10.45 A. M., and 4.30 and 7.15 P. M.

MAYOR WALKER.—The Salem Register thus alludes to Mayor Walker of this city, and his inaugural address:

The address is a model document for brevity, occupying about two thirds of the space of one of our columns, and as direct and comprehensive as it is brief. Mr. Walker formerly resided in Salem, and is a gentleman of energy and administrative ability.

A FAST VESSEL.—The long shore men generally, might think it strange that sch. Euphemia, which left our wharves on Friday, should be coming home from California on Saturday morning. This is the more extraordinary, as Benton's telegraph line has not yet been stretched across the plains. But it is all plain enough when the reader considers that in a newspaper of seven by nine dimensions, California is but a hand breadth from the Piscataqua, and that a line of ship news goes astray among larger paragraphs, as easily as a gold dollar hides away between two cents.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday afternoon a train from Watertown on the Fitchburg Railroad, run over an unknown Irishman walking on the track near Fresh Pond, cutting off his legs, so that he shortly afterwards died. Another Irishman in company was also thrown from the track, but escaped with some bruises. Both the men were intoxicated.

An intoxicated man was also killed on Thursday evening at Salem, by jumping from an up train on the Eastern Railroad.

COLD WEATHER IN BERKSHIRE.—The Berkshire Courier, printed in Great Barrington, says in reference to the weather, that on Saturday last a young lad discovered something like a bird in a hole in an old tree. On making a more particular examination he found twenty-six blue birds, who had probably collected together to keep themselves warm, frozen to death by the severe cold of the last few days.

A valuable horse, belonging to Eleazer C. Woodward, in Bethany, New York, was cut to pieces by a scythe on the night of the 29th ult. Circumstances tending to show that the act was committed by a man named Fosdick, he was arrested and held to bail, whereupon he committed suicide by hanging himself to the limb of a tree.

Last evening, about 6 o'clock, as some girls were engaged at work in Frederick Maessmar's Percussion Cap Manufactory, No. 57 Ann street, about two tea spoons full of powder got on to the filling machine, causing a tremendous explosion, by which two girls, named Ann McCullah and Ann Golding, were seriously injured, Miss McCullah having four caps penetrate her right side, one of which, it is feared, will prove fatal.—N. Y. Sun of Thursday.

ICE AND SNOW DISAPPEARING ON THE MERRIMAC.—We learn that the Merrimac River is now entirely clear of ice below Manchester, N. H. The snow has almost disappeared there. At Concord, Friday morning the river was also clear of ice, and the snow only remained in patches. The river is high, but the ice will very probably go out without serious damage. A few more days of warm weather will make such an impression on the accumulated snows in the valleys of the Pemigewasset and Baker's Rivers as to relieve the apprehensions which are now entertained of a severe freshet resulting from a warm rain.

Bedini in his letter lays much stress upon the alleged fact, that on one occasion during his administration at Bologna, the picture of "our blessed lady of Rimini" actually moved the pupils of her eyes!

On this the Boston Chronicle remarks:

She may well have been shocked and stared, if a witness of all his imputed atrocities. It could hardly have been a wink of approval.

The subscription for tickets to the Crystal Palace is going forward with the success proper to the energy with which it is urged by the President of the Association, Mr. Barnum.—On Monday we announced various subscriptions to the amount of $35,000, and now we are able to make the following additions to the list:

New York Hotel,	$5000	Earle's Hotel,	$2000
Florence's Hotel,	3000	Western Hotel,	2000
Merchant's Hotel,	3000	Tiffany & Co.,	1500
National Hotel,	3000	D. J. Denney,	1000
A. T. Stewart & Co.,	2000	London & Liverpool Insurance Co.,	2000
Bowen, McNamee & Co.,	2000	Co., 56 Wall st,	200
Clinton Hotel,	2000	A. Peil, 56 Wall st,	100

This makes two thirds of the sum thought necessary in order to enable the Exhibition to commence the season fairly.—N. Y. Tribune.

An Advertisement for Invalids.

has just been related to the manufacturer of this highly popular and valuable medicine. A gentleman of Greenland purchased a few Bottles a year ago for his own use, and derived so much benefit from it that he purchased one-half dozen Bottles for a brother who lived in Vermont. He had been an invalid for a number of years, and was obliged to be lifted in and out of his carriage. Three weeks since he made a visit to his brother in Greenland; and (to use his brother's own words) "I should not have been more surprised to have seen a person arise from the dead, than I was to see my brother walk into my house as well as ever. He is now able to work about his farm, and all this has been effected by the use of PRESTON'S VEGETABLE CATHOLICON."

All invalids should use that article they know to be good, and not waste their money on experiments with many other preparations that contain little else than rum and water sweetened to the taste.

Preston's Cathelicon is constantly manufactured by WM. R. PRESTON, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H., to whom all orders should be directed.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

SENATE.—The Senate took up the private calendar.

The bill establishing additional land districts in Minnesota was discussed.

Thirty-six Senate bills and twelve House bills were passed.

Mr. Badger moved that as the Senate had done a glorious day's work, it do now adjourn to Monday. Adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Orr reported a bill defining the terms of treaties to be made hereafter with Indians.

The House then took up the California Mail bill.

Mr. Latham of California spoke in favor of the bill, expressing his belief that the mails would eventually be carried between the two points in fifteen days.

A message was received from the President, stating that he had signed the bill authorizing the construction of six steam frigates.

The House then went into Committee on the General Appropriation bill, when

Mr. Carruthers, of Mo., spoke in favor of the Nebraska bill, and Mr. Washburn of Me. in opposition. Adjourned.

FROM HAYTI.—The captain of the bark Charles E. Lex, arrived at Philadelphia from Port au Prince, states that on the 5th of March, a French frigate, brig and steamer, anchored off that harbor, and that Admiral Duguesne demanded an audience with the Emperor, which was refused. A letter was then delivered threatening that if certain demands were not complied with within 48 hours, the French would resort to severe measures. The Haytien Minister of War had a conference with the foreign consuls, who were told that if the French Admiral resorted to the measures threatened in the letter he would be held responsible for the consequences. The demands were too exorbitant. The Emperor gave the final answer on the night of the 9th, that rather than submit to such demands, the Haytien government would cease to exist. The declaration had a good effect, for the next morning the French frigate hoisted the Haytien flag and saluted it. During the critical period the Emperor acted with prudence and determination, visiting the forts and fleets, which were put in order for action.

THE BLACK WARRIOR CASE.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says:

The House Committee on Foreign Affairs have no idea of making a war report, or any report, on the Black Warrior case. They have no ground for a war report, or for a report of measures giving Mr. Pierce provisional means for aggression upon Cuba or Spain, without any specific recommendation from him, of any particular measure of hostility, or any special reason for it.

DEATH OF AN AGED PERSON.—Mrs. Eunice Tyler, aged one hundred and fifteen years, died at Stephentown, N. Y., March 23d. Mrs. Tyler was in the enjoyment of all her faculties until a few moments before her death. She seated herself in a chair, after partaking of breakfast, and immediately fell forward and expired.

While boring the Artesian well in New Orleans the auger struck upon the trunk of a cypress tree lying at a distance of 150 feet below the surface of the ground, and also below several firm beds of blue clay, one of which was over thirty feet in thickness.

The word ultimatum is done with. By the last arrival we learn that Russia rejects even the ultimatissimum of the western powers.—They must fight now, or add another syllable to the word.

The Toledo Blade estimates the Indian corn to be shipped from Toledo the coming season at 6,000,000 bushels. The largest quantity ever shipped from that port in any previous season was 3,878,047 bushels.

On Monday Mr. Cass gave notice in the United States Senate that, three weeks from that day, he would speak on the rights of citizens of the United States to religious worship abroad.

Joseph W. Moore, proprietor of a hotel at Lexington, Va., was murdered on Thursday night, in a drunken quarrel, by William J. Winn.

Upon the plantation of Col. John B. Lamar, in Lee county, Ga., a log was split open a few days ago, and twenty-eight fall grown rattlesnakes found within.

The Home Journal says no New York lady of "veritable fashion," wears her bonnet on the back of her neck. Do you hear that, ladies!

Seven eighths of the ladies of California have petitioned the Legislature for the passage of the Maine law.

At the municipal election in New Orleans, three men were killed at the polls. All because the polls are held in grog shops!

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

CRAPE SHAWLS.

There are many who may not know how the Canton crape is made, and a short sketch may not be out of place. When the crape shawl comes from the weaver's loom, it is perfectly smooth and resembles gum silk cloth. But the threads of which this cloth are formed are made with one thread harder than the other, and for deeper craping the warp is harder twisted than the weft. The difference of twist in the warp and weft as the crapes are twilled, forms all the crimping of the crape, but not until it undergoes the process of boiling. This is done by boiling the shawls in fine white soap for a considerable time, which removes the gum from the silk, and by the warp swelling more than the weft, the shawls come out of the boiler with that fine crisp so much admired. All this crisp can be shaken out again by stretching the shawls on stenters—hence in the dressing operation care must be exercised not to stretch them too much.

The embroidery of these shawls is performed after the gum is removed. For this purpose the pattern is printed on the shawls with fugitive blue, and the flowers are then wrought with the needle. After this the shawls are sent to the dyer's to be dyed and dressed.—Sometimes they are embroidered before the gum is boiled off, but this is not a good method, as silk is deteriorated in lustre by boiling in soap any longer than merely to remove the gum; and to embroider with spun silk on the gummed fabrick, would require the embroidery silk to receive too much boiling, and thus dim its lustre.

The use of soap to remove the gum of raw silk cannot be recommended, but it is the best and cheapest with which we are acquainted. Many of our fair ones will no doubt be surprised to be told that their crape shawls have been boiled for two or three hours in soap.—Many suppose that boiling in soap would utterly destroy any silk fabric. This in a measure is true; the operation is a nice one—but there is not a silk dress worn in our city, that has not in the yarn been boiled in soap. The reason why the Chinese finished silks have a finer lustre than the English and French, is owing to the gum being removed by a tedious and expensive process of steeping the silks in a cold, spirituous liquor. In the raw state, before the gum is removed, the crape is of a dirty yellow color, but the boiling soap removes the yellow gum and the whitish silk appears. But still it is not yet white. It has to be dyed for this purpose.—Some may think this strange, but it is a practical fact. It takes red, blue and yellow rays of light to form a white ray—a triunity, like the great Author who created what Milton TUTHS

——Holy light,
Offspring of Heaven's first dawn.

The dyer, to make his crape shawls white, uses in clean soap for that purpose a little archil and fine indigo strained through a cloth. These colors, mingling with the yellow of the shawl, form a white, which is further cleared up by the shawl's being washed out of the soap in cold water, and afterwards submitted to the fumes of sulphur in a close room.

Crape veils are very expensive, and containing, as they do, so little silk, this seems unreasonable—but the fine crape manufacture is in the hands of a few foreign houses, and the art of dressing the crape is both a tedious and troublesome process.

In the last volume of the Scientific American a patent process for dressing fine crape shawls was described. It was to use a small quantity of dissolved gum copal and borax, along with liquid glue to stiffen the crape.—This composition, if rightly made and applied, we have reason to know, is good, and is worthy the attention of those in this and other cities of our country whose business it is to redress damaged crape.—Scientific American.

THE GREEK CHURCH.

The following items of information, as to the policy of the Greek Church; and as to the difference between the Greek and Roman Churches, are extracted from a long and able article on the subject, in the Boston Courier:

The Greek Church differs from the Latin Church in many important particulars. The Greeks deny as strongly as do the Protestants the supremacy of the Pope; and they are very jealous of any tendency towards the increase of ecclesiastical power among them. They hold the Bible in honor, and do not, as the Catholics do, interdict the reading of it to the people. They reject the doctrine of purgatory, and hold to tradition in only a limited degree. They allow priests to marry, and laymen to receive the sacrament. They are tolerant and make no efforts to gain proselytes.—The Greek Church—not including the Russian—is governed by four patriarchs, whose seats are at Constantinople, Antioch, Jerusalem and Alexandria. The Patriarch of Constantinople is Chief, and presides over a Synod whose authority extends over the Greeks of the Ottoman Empire, Austria and the Ionian Islands. The ecclesiastical power in Independent Greece is held by three bishops who are independent of the Patriarch of Constantinople, although they acknowledge his authority in matters of faith.

The Russian Church has no Patriarch; the Czar is its head. Almost all the population of the Russian empire belongs to the Greek, or as it is styled in the East and North, the Orthodox Church. In the kingdom of Greece this church has an immense majority of the population. In European Turkey it has two thirds. In Georgia and the Danubian Provinces the same. In Austria, Servia, &c., it has one-half; In Hungary, a small minority. In Asia Minor the Greeks are but a fraction. In Egypt they are inconsiderable in number.

SELF GOVERNMENT.

When the delegates of the people of the one nation agreed upon the plan of our government, and when it was ratified by the people, from whom the political power was derived, it was called self-government, in contradistinction to all absolute or monarchial governments, because it reversed the old theory that the political power is derived from crowned heads. But the wise founders of our free institutions never incalcated the idea that our system of self-government vested in individuals the right to do as they pleased, or that any class of individuals, in different sections of the country, should be at liberty to enact a code of laws in conformity to their peculiar views of propriety. Such a doctrine might have led to the formation of as many different local governments as there should be communities of different political theories. It cannot be denied that our self-government means a government of laws—laws for the guide and the restraint of individuals, but designed for the protection of their inalienable rights.—The people of the nation delegated to the Federal government a very important power, viz.: "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union, a republican form of government." This was a wise foresight to prevent any new State from forming a State Constitution in conflict with the great principles of freedom for whose security the one united people ordained the general government. The theory that the separate States should be sovereign and independent of the Federal government, was rejected. On the other hand, the latter in its action should be restricted within its limits of delegated power. This is extensive enough to enable the Federal government to exercise a general supervisory power over the States, in some cases including civil duties and relations among individuals; but, generally, municipal concerns are confided to the State legislatures. The old motto expresses the theory of our self-government—"E pluribus unum."

We advert to this subject, because the present Congress, in order to carry a particular measure, has invented a new principle, and, to make it popular, attempts to incorporate it with the American theory of self government. The advocates of the latter, embracing a great majority of our northern freemen, reject the new principle of "non-intervention," or "squatter sovereignty," not merely because it is a novel principle, but because it is inconsistent with their theory of self government. They also believe that should the object for which the new principle is introduced, be effected, it would ultimately overthrow our system of self-government, which is founded upon an equality of rights, secured by salutary laws. The new theorists repudiate the provision of the Constitution which makes it an imperative duty of Congress "to make all needful rules and regulations" respecting the territorial possessions of the United States, and contend that an erroneous construction has been put upon it since the government was instituted. They do not deny that in pursuance of that provision, Congress organized territorial governments over Tennessee, Mississippi, Orleans, Louisiana, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Alabama, Missouri, Arkansas, Florida, Wisconsin, Iowa, Oregon, Minnesota, Utah, and New Mexico—that different Congresses sanctioned the measures, and that nearly all our Presidents approved and signed such measures; still all these things have no weight with them—they are not governed by precedents or past usages—they have discovered a new theory which clearly proves those seventeen acts of Congress to be unconstitutional, and therefore void. Even the sacred ordinance of 1787, prohibiting slavery northwest of the Ohio, which was sanctioned when the constitution was adopted, and has ever since been held to be irrepealable, is declared to be abrogated by the great, fundamental non-intervention principle of self-government. They admit, however, that there must be a power somewhere to organize territorial governments, and they are asked where they derive it from? They answer—"from the doctrine of necessity." They deny that it is derived from the constitution, because if found there, it is an admission that Congress has the power to exclude, or legislate slavery out of the territories, as former Congresses have done. We ask the theorists whether Congress has power to legislate upon the subject of liberty? Should they answer affirmatively, we ask them if Congress has not an equal power to legislate in respect to that which is the opposite to liberty?—When asked why they wish to repeal the Missouri act of 1820, they answer that they have no other motive except that it contravenes the great principle of non-intervention.

"O consistency! thou art fled to brutish beasts

3 DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

The British steamship Europa, from Liverpool 25th of April, arrived at New York on Saturday, at 3 1-2 P. M.

Commercial matters continued generally dull. The fall in cotton during the week ending on the 24th ult. was from 1-8 to 1-4 penny per lb.; and flour had also fallen during the week two shillings a barrel. Consols have declined. Very little was doing in American stocks, and the money market was very stringent.

A few days' easterly wind has enabled the grain-laden vessels from the Baltic, which received their cargoes on board during the winter, and sailed at the first opening of navigation, to make a quick run home, and nearly the whole fleet has come to hand at once, and the downward movement in prices which commenced early in the month has continued. The extent of the foreign supplies, and the increasing tightness in the money market, have tended to discourage anything like speculation in corn; and though there is no reason to believe that the deficiency in the last crop has been exaggerated, the views as to the probable future course of prices are much more moderate than they were earlier in the year.

Every description of securities had again fallen at Paris on the 24th. The three per cents closed at 63f. 95c. for the end of the month, and the four and a half per cents at 90f. 45c.

THE WAR QUESTION.

The London News of the 25th publishes the following despatch from Berlin, dated the 24th:—"Count Nesselrode has communicated to the English Consuls that the Emperor will give no answer at all to their joint summons."

A letter from Vienna adds:—

The Czar's formal answer to the ultimatum of the Western Powers has not yet arrived, but his rejection of it is known, by telegraph.

A letter from Paris of the 23d says:—

It is probable that hostilities may have by this time commenced in the Black Sea, between the French and English on the one side and the Russians on the other. Such an event is most likely, if the following extract of a private letter, just received from Beycos, and dated the 12th, is correct. It is to this effect:

The English sent, yesterday at 3 o'clock, the steam frigate Retribution, with orders to force the stockade which the Russians have established at the mouth of the Danube, and which completely prevents the merchant ships from descending the river, which, for commercial purposes only, they had ascended. If the Russians oppose the destruction of that stockade, the Retribution has orders to fire upon them. It is probable that the act will be the commencement of hostilities. The French steam corvette Caton left with that frigate.—We shall know in five or six days the result.

Another letter from St. Petersburg gives some details, not without interest, of the measures of defence taken by the Russians at Cronstadt and in the Gulf of Finland. At Cronstadt the inhabitants have been invited to leave the town; and the houses have been fortified and converted into a species of forts, so that, after the fortifications were forced, these houses, if attacked, would have to be taken street by street, as was the case at Saragossa. The proprietors and inhabitants have received notice that they will be indemnified by the Russian government. In the Gulf of Finland, where it is known that if line-of-battle ships can enter they have barely water enough to navigate, a great number of large blocks of stone have been transported on the ice, so that when the weather becomes milder, and the ice melts, these blocks will sink to the bottom and impede the navigation to such an extent as to render it almost impassable, except for the Russians, who will be aware of the places where they have let these blocks down. At St. Petersburg, where great enthusiasm was displayed, the inhabitants narrated with great delight the following phrase as having been uttered by the Czar in his last interview with the French and English Ambassadors:—"It is, then, war that is wanted. Well, they shall have it. I will begin it with a million of soldiers; I will have two, if I am only forced a little; and three, if driven to any extremity!"

A despatch from Vienna of Thursday evening, the 24th, says advices from Constantinople of the 13th instant announce that the tripartite treaty between the Porte and England and France was signed on the 12th.

The Patrie announces that the Sultan intends to place at the disposal of the expeditionary army, on its landing, 1200 horses and 1800 mules.

A despatch from Marseilles states that three divisions of the expeditionary army will have probably embarked by the end of March, and that the 4th will follow in the first days of April.

There were skirmishes at Kalafat from the 11th to the 16th, but with slight loss of life.

Austria and Prussia have certainly resolved not to take any part in the war against Russia. Letters from Vienna say:—

As far as it goes the following most important news is authentic, but it is too incomplete to be forwarded by telegraph. An alliance offensive and defensive has been concluded between Prussia and Austria, which powers will preserve a strict neutrality. Prussia has pledged herself to occupy Hungary in case Austria should be obliged to send the army now concentrated there into the adjoining Turkish provinces or Italy.

PARIS, March 24.—I understand that on the 15th of the present month couriers were sent off simultaneously from Paris and London, calling upon Austria to join England and France in carrying into execution against Russia the protocol agreed to some time ago by the representatives of the four powers at Vienna. Yesterday the French government received despatches from Vienna, with the answer of the Austrian government. It appears that the Austrian government declares that it is ready to sign all the protocols which guarantee the independence and integrity of Turkey, but it refuses to accept any engagement binding itself to act, and reserves to itself full liberty to do whatever it may consider advisable in the interests of Germany. This is nearly the same answer as that used by Prussia, and it is to be feared that at Vienna Russia triumphs as she has done at Berlin.

The Globe is enabled to state that Russia has recognized the neutrality of Sweden, on the terms insisted upon by the latter power. It remains to be seen what course will now be adopted by Denmark, as, notwithstanding Russian influence in that country, a treaty providing for joint action between Sweden and Denmark is known to exist.

SHUMLA, March 5.—In the night between the 1st and 2d of March the Russians attacked, with a considerable force, the battery placed by Omer Pacha at Pebashi, in order to check the passage of the Russian vessels on the Danube. Four companies of Turks were immediately ordered to attack them by Ibrahim Pacha, serving under the orders of Mustapha Pacha, who commands the right wing of the Turkish army in the Dobrudscha.

The object of the Russians was to spike the cannon and destroy the works, but in this they were hindered by the vivacity of the Turkish attack, so that after half an hours' engagement they were all obliged to take to their heels, on board the ships, in order to avoid being driven into the Danube. In this affair the Turkish loss was ten killed and thirteen wounded. Eighty Russian dead bodies were found in the morning, and as many were drowned. The Russian loss must have been severe.

A MEASURE FOR EMANCIPATING SLAVES.—A gentleman in one of the Southern States, as we learn from a Cincinnati paper, has written to Mr. Christy, agent of the Colonization Society, offering to make over to him a gang of slaves valued at $15,000, and the offer has been accepted. The owner cannot emancipate them where he lives, and must remove them to some other State to affect his purpose. In view of the uncertainties attending the execution of wills, in reference to slave property, and the liability of his slaves being scattered after his death, he thus closes his appeal to Mr. Christy: "I abhor the thought of their being sold after my death.—My reason for wishing to emancipate now is, I don't wish the devil to get my soul and the lawyers my money. Pity me, for Jesus's sake, and give me good counsel. Your brother in Christ."

Some of the papers ought to come out on this practical abolitionist as a fanatic and traitor, plotting the dissolution of the union, and the overthrow of the patriarchal institution whose balmy wings bring so much peace and happiness to the land over which they spread. And somebody else ought to "blow him up" for the roughness of his language, wherewith he libels the devil and the lawyers. Why don't somebody "pitch into him."

The Rev. Dr. Osgood is about to retire from the Pastorate of the First Congregational Church in Springfield, which he has held for the long period of 45 years. He was originally settled for life, and now, in the midst of his advanced years, his society have proposed that he retire from active pulpit duties, receiving an annuity of $700 while he lives, and surrender those duties to some one who may be selected to assume them. The venerable Doctor assents to the proposition, and a new pastor will be installed in due time.

ATTEMPT AT HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On Monday evening last, about 9 o'clock, as Mr. John Pike of Salisbury, was riding in a wagon and driving a pair of oxen on the old road leading from Exeter to Kensington, he was overtaken just before reaching Cove's bridge, by two men on foot, one of them carrying a stout club. A conversation ensued, in the course of which one of the foot pads producing a bottle, asked Mr. Pike if he would take some liquor, which he refused. A few rods beyond the bridge, one of the villains sprang into the wagon, and seizing Mr. Pike by the shoulder, demanded his money, at the same time threatening his life if he did not give it up. By a sudden movement, Mr. Pike hurled the robber from the wagon. He then informed them that he was armed, (which was not the case,) and that they would continue their attack at the risk of their lives. This seemed to intimidate them somewhat, and they passed ahead a few rods, apparently in consultation. Mr. Pike took advantage of this by turning his horse and driving with all speed to the nearest house, leaving his oxen in the road.—The two men were seen soon after returning to Exeter. The perpetrators of this daring outrage have not yet been discovered. Mr. Pike had that day purchased the cattle which he was driving and had remaining in his pocket book between one and two hundred dollars, which fact had probably by some means become known to the villains.—News Letter.

CRUISE OF A REVENUE CUTTER.—The revenue cutter Caleb Cushing, Capt. Walden, returned to Portland on the 31st ult., after a cruise of four months on the eastern coast, for the purpose of affording relief to distressed vessels. During her absence she sailed 2,340 miles, boarded and spoke 233 vessels, and relieved and assisted 18.

THE SCHOOL MATE FOR APRIL.—This fine Monthly Reader is on our table, from Morris Cotton & Co. publishers, Boston.

THE SCHOOLMASTER, No. 1, vol. 1: is a monthly at 50 cts. per annum, published by Spaulding & Co. New York city. It is not remarkably beautiful; and does not display much talent. Nevertheless, we hope it may be useful in some parts of the country.

☞ We are indebted to our friend Daniel G. Waldron, of Coloma, for California papers. Also to Charles E. Rand of San Francisco, for a comical paper, a la Punch, called "Young America on the Pacific."

THE BEARD.—Each hair composing the human beard is furnished with a distinct gland, elaborately and beautifully complete. Underneath are innumerable nerves, immediately connected with the various organs of the senses ramifying in every direction, and performing important functions. In shaving the upper lip with a dull razor every one has noticed that the eyes water, showing a connection between the nerves of the beard and those of the eyes. Many cases of weak eyes, according to good medical authority, may be traced to the removal of the beard.

LOCAL.

THE CITY BOOK, just published and circulated among our citizens, contains much matter of interest and importance to every inhabitant of Portsmouth. Besides the receipts and expenditures of the city authorities, are full reports of the doings of the City Marshal, Police Justice, Chief Engineer, School Committees, &c. All who would know what is going on about them, should not fail to carefully peruse this interesting pamphlet.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE.—Mr. Edward Augustus Rand, of this city, a student, has forwarded a copy of the Annual Catalogue of Bowdoin College. The Students are, Seniors, 38, Juniors 41, Sophomores 42, Freshmen 54: total 175. To these add Medical Students 67, and we have a grand total of 242.

☞ We learn that our esteemed friend, Stillman B. Allen, Esq., of Kittery, is appointed Notary Public, by the Governor of Maine.

FISHING PROSPECTS.—The Yarmouth Register says that the recent cold weather has somewhat impeded the preparations on the Cape for the Grand Bank fishing, and the old fishermen have grumbled not a little at the tardiness of spring. About the usual number of Cape Cod vessels will be employed in the fishery, and as the demand for French seamen for the navy will make a heavy draft upon those employed by France in the fishing business, there is room to hope not only for a better catch, but for a better market. The French mode of fishing, which has not been adopted by the Americans, has greatly injured the business, and our fishermen will be rejoiced at even a temporary relief.

THE CROPS AND STOCKS.—The reports from the West are generally very favorable with regard to the growing crop of wheat. Winter wheat has as usual suffered from the effects of frost and ice, but the accounts generally are very favorable.

The Detroit Tribune states the amount of flour at that place ready for export, thus:—In warehouses 18,576 bbls., in Central Railroad depot 30,000 bbls., on board propellers 15,000 bbls., total 63,376 bbls. At this time last year, the amount stored was 104,000 bbls., 60,000 of which were in the depot.

The whole amount of grain in the storehouses of the Railroad Company is 175,000 bushels.

An Advertisement for Invalids.

has just been related to the manufacturer of this highly popular and valuable medicine. A gentleman of Greenland purchased a few Bottles a year ago for his own use, and derived so much benefit from it that he purchased one-half dozen Bottles for a brother who lived in Vermont. He had been an invalid for a number of years, and was obliged to be lifted in and out of his carriage. Three weeks since he made a visit to his brother in Greenland; and (to use his brother's own words) "I should not have been more surprised to have seen a person arise from the dead, than I was to see my brother walk into my house as well as ever. He is now able to work about his farm, and all this has been effected by the use of PRESTON'S

VEGETABLE CATHOLICON."

All invalids should use that article they know to be good, and not waste their money on experiments with many other preparations that contain little else than rum and water sweetened to the taste.

Preston's Catholicon is constantly manufactured by WM. R. PRESTON, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H., to whom all orders should be directed.

FROM THE ISTHMUS, THE PACIFIC, AUSTRALIA, &c.

NEW YORK, April 9.

The steamship George Law, from Aspinwall, arrived at 11 o'clock this morning, with the California mails, 500 passengers, and $800,000 in gold on freight.

The Aspinwall Courier gives a few items of intelligence concerning Lieut. Strain's party. The Lieutenant, with only two of his party, had reached Charagana in quest of provisions and boots for the remainder of his party, consisting of 19 men, who had been left four weeks previously on the bands of the Chucanagne river. The party had been 49 days in getting from the Atlantic to Point Yavisa, near the Pacific. On the fifteenth day out, provisions became exhausted, and the remainder of the time they subsisted principally on roots. Their sufferings had been intense. All the men left behind were disabled. Lieut. Strain reports that the Indians all along the route fired at his approach, setting fire to their canoes and huts, and carrying off all their provisions. The two men who returned with the Lieutenant were left at Charigana sick, and Lieut. Strain started alone on his way to return to the Chucanagne. The commander of the British steamer Virago, however, subsequently despatched a boat up the river for the relief of the sufferers.

Lieut. Fauntleroy, of the Cyane, who had been despatched in search of Lieut. Strain, returned to Panama, March 27th.

CALIFORNIA.—Immense quantities of gold were being taken out at the mines.

The excitement relative to the Senatorial election still continues in California. Two members of the State Legislature published a card, stating that they had been approached with a bribe of $25,000 to vote for a postponement of the election.

The bill before the Legislature providing for the election of a U. S. Senator at this session, had failed.

Indian difficulties had again broken out throughout the State.

Dr. Dickenson of the State Hospital, was killed in a duel at Sacramento, by P. W. Thomas, district attorney of Placer county.

The steamer Columbus, from Lower California, has arrived at San Francisco. She brought up as prisoner Frederick Emery, Secretary of State of the republic of Sonora, who was arrested at San Diego, by order of Capt. Dorum, of the sloop of war Portsmouth.

President Walker was at last accounts forcing the Lower Californians to swear allegiance to the new government. He had also shot two of his own men for an attempt to fillibuster on their own account.

The Mexican brig Desperado, with two hundred men and six cannon, was on its way to Ensenada, and the same number of troops were marching by land to drive Walker from his position.

OREGON.—Dates from Oregon are to 1st of March. Rich gold diggings had been discovered near the Williamette.

The steamer Fire Fly had been swamped at the mouth of the Columbia river on the 25th of February, and five men drowned.

UTAH.—Dates from Utah are to the 2d of February.

The Mormons had adopted resolutions in favor of the immediate construction of the Pacific Railroad through Salt Lake Valley; they had been sent to Washington.

AUSTRALIA.—Advices from Australia via Callao, are to the 12th of January, from Melbourne. Gold continued dull; quotations being £3 15s 6d. At the Bedini markets flour was quoted at £42 a £45 per ton.

SOUTH AMERICA.—Valparaiso dates of 1st March, and Callao of the 10th, had been received at Panama.

It is reported that Domingo Elias was gaining ground in Peru. Tacua and Arich had declared for him. It is reported also that he had been offered assistance of the French and Chilians to take possession of the Chinchas.

NEW YORK, April 9.

The steamer Star of the West, from San Juan de Nicaragua, arrived here this evening, bringing nearly 500 passengers and $671,000 in gold on freight. She connected with the steamer Cortes. The latter passed the Brother Jonathan on the 19th ult., bound up.

NEW YORK, April 10th.—A letter from Washington, published in the Express, states that the British government have notified the United States, that immediately on the commencement of hostilites, they will blockade all Russian ports on the Pacific.

A letter from Grenada, Central America, states that on the 12th of March, Nicaragua formally seceded from the Confederacy of Central America, declaring herself a free and independent Republic. The announcement was celebrated amid great rejoicing, with military and religious ceremonies.

NEW YORK, April 10.—From Acapulco the news is not very definite or exciting.—Gov. Alvarez at the head of 3000 revolutionists had advanced into the interior and secured and fortified all the mountain passes, thereby preventing the possibility of Santa Anna's troops being able to get into the Province.—A large body of these troops, under the command of Espinoza, was within about twenty leagues of Alvarez, but the probabilities were that the distance would not be lessened, and there was scarcely any expectation of fighting.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Among the failures in San Francisco are those of W. F. Bryant & Co., hardware dealers, and Reynolds & Co., dealers in agricultural implements; liabilities of the latter firm $450,000.

ST LOUIS, April 8.—John Howe for Mayor, and the whole Benton ticket for charter officers, have been elected by a majority of 800 to 1000.

Mr. Paul Canney, one of the share holders in Wooster & Co.'s claims, was accidentally killed on Thursday morning, by the caving in of a bank under which he was at work. His body was crushed in a frightful manner. Mr. C. was a native of New Hampshire.—Nevada Cal. Journal.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a through use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

DO YOU DISLIKE BAD NEIGHBORS?—Buy the DEAD SHOT for Bed Bugs—of
a8 J. H. THACHER, Apothecary.

COOL.—Dr. Vernon, in his amusing memoirs, mentions a phlegmatic Briton, who contenting himself with a succinct "Good by" to our Doctor before making a voyage round the world, satisfied himself with an equally phlegmatic "How do you do?" when on coming back, he found Dr. Vernon in his old place, at the same table, in the Café very where the two had parted. The Athenæum supposes the Doctor to be unacquainted with that sharper version of the same tale, which tells how a noble father, sitting at his solitary tea table, received his son, when the latter arrived unexpectedly, after an absence of 25 years in India. "Ah!" said he, "are you there, my boy? Black or Green?"

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853. I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated, and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved by the first bottle, (reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; the skin at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the dandruff. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside. (taken it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ringworm on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

"IN THE MIDST OF LIFE WE ARE IN DEATH."—What great results sometimes flow from minute causes. The splashing of a stocking caused the terrible revolution in France, and led to the reign of terror. An incautious word may provoke a murder, or a silly remark destroy the brightest hopes of ambition. A wet foot, or sitting in a draught, may produce a cold, which, if neglected, may lead to that "undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveler returns."

A slight cold may lead to Consumption, that most insidious, that Judas of diseases; that syren who paints the cheek with a glow like that of health, and, while tugging at the very citadel of life, is continually whispering hope and recovery to the unhappy victim, who, by neglect of a slight cold, has allowed the monster to fasten his fangs in the heart, and poison the blood, till no poppy or mandragora, or all the medicinal plants that ever grew, can medicine them again to health. In view of these things, how necessary it is that we should watch the first approaches of the spoiler, and take means to combat his cruel designs. To do this a remedy must be found; and in the whole list of those that the science or ingenuity of man has contrived, none have met with so much success as Dr. Rogers' Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua. It is, in fact, almost infallible; it operates with a soothing, beneficial effect upon the lungs; it heals them, if they are ulcerated; it removes inflammation, if they are inflamed; if they are choked and stopped by phlegm, it relieves them of the burden; if they are feverish, it cools them and restores them to strength and healthy action. Hundreds and thousands have testified to the efficiency of this medicine; and we consider that we are only doing our duty to the proprietor and the public when we vouch for the immense amount of suffering it has relieved, the number of persons rescued from a premature grave, and families saved from misery and mourning. In fact, Rogers' Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua is the "Balm of Gilead."—New York Courier.

FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.—The French Spoliation Bill, which has recently passed the Senate, it is thought, stands a fair chance of passing the House. It is stated that Gen. Pierce favors the bill, and if presented to him will give his official sanction. How could he do otherwise?

The sum of $5,000,000 is to be paid out of the Treasury, and the claimants are to share this sum in full satisfaction of their claims. Three commissioners are to be appointed by the President, with the concurrence of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to meet at the city of Washington, on or before the first Monday in October next, and within two years from that time they shall receive and examine the validity of all claims involved in this appropriation. It is made the duty of the Secretary of State to give public notice, immediately after the passage of the act, of the first meeting of the commissioners; and he is also required, as soon as possible, to procure, through the American Minister at Paris, or otherwise, all such evidence relating to these claims as can be obtained from abroad. The Secretary, after the award of the commissioners, is to ascertain and fix the amount due to each claimant, upon the pro rata principle, whose claims shall have been established by the commissioners.

"As soon as the commission is closed, and its records of proceedings are deposited in the Department of State, the Secretary of the Treasury shall, on the application in writing of any claimant, his lawful attorney, executor, administrator, or assignee, forthwith sign and issue to the person entitled thereto, certificates of United States five per cent stock, in such sums as such applicant shall desire, not less than two hundred dollars in each certificate, unless the award be for a less sum, for the full pro rata amount awarded to such claimant; and such certificates of stock shall be redeemable at the pleasure of the United States, at any time after twenty years from the date of the termination of said commission."

It is further provided, that the President shall appoint a Secretary to the Commission, who shall be well versed in the French and Spanish languages. And the Commissioners shall have power to appoint a Clerk and Messenger to the Commission.

The Commissioners are each to be paid a salary at the rate of $3000 per annum; the Secretary $2000, the Clerk $1000, and the Messenger $500 per annum.

All communications relating to these claims during the sessions of the Commission are to be addressed to its Secretary, and will be free of postage.

These claims, it will be recollected, are for confiscations of American vessels and cargoes by the French navy prior to 1800, and which the government of France liquidated during Mr. Jefferson's administration in 1803, we believe. At that time the territory of Louisiana was acquired from France by purchase, and that government acknowledged twenty millions, and allowed that sum in liquidation of these claims.—Boston Chronicle.

A KNOWING DOG.—Nelson, of the Northern Gazette, says:—A gentleman in Ansonia, Conn., sends his dog on the arrival of the mail by the railroad train, for his Daily Times, and the dog returns to his master with the paper in his mouth. This other day a New York Herald was handed him by mistake.—The dog dropped the paper, and springing upon the counter, picked out a Times, and wagging his tail in a can't-come-it sort of manner, departed.

For the Chronicle.

A LEAF FROM MY SCRATCH-ALL.

Feeling very tired one night, I retired early, with indications however of wakefulness. How curious one feels, when he almost knows that he shall not sleep much, although he is so tired. Sleep or no sleep, I had on my mind the necessity of being up by five o'clock next morning so as to be off in the first train.—Slept none at all, until nearly time to get up; just as I expected, and therefore was not disappointed, and therefore don't complain; and then slept so soundly that I did not hear the first knock; nor the second knock; nor the third knock; which latter by the way was a ring. At last the servant came under the full pressure of the importance of accomplishing something; and the knocks came loud and frequent almost as the knocks at the gate of Macbeth's Castle. "Will your riverence be after rising; the breakfast is all ready, and the cars will be leaving you." This was irresistible; looked at the watch and found that there were just twenty minutes between my starting up and the cars starting off.

Nevertheless, I was ready. Off in the stage to the Depot:—I have heard that word pronounced as you would Teapot. Cars arrived. "All aboard;" then one of those awfully unwritable engine screeches, and away we go. In twenty minutes more, ten miles of latitude have been run down, and I alighted at a stopping place, to take another train in another direction. Emphatically, literally and provokingly a stopping place. Stopped there three whole hours of the first day of a working week, and a week full of work! "Half past six," I said to myself, "and the train will not leave here till half past nine. What shall I do during these three hours?" A very natural question, but one of a large family of questions which are more easily asked than answered.

"Hello! here is something to look at, and perhaps to think about." Walked to the scene of action, and found the engine of a freight train with two wheels off the track. How came those wheels off the track? There is no switch there. The switch tender is immaculate this time. "This is a very sharp curve," said a gentleman at my elbow. Ah! that indeed. So then we must keep a lookout for very sharp curves, as well as for switches. It is just as bad to be curved off, as to be switched off.

But there are only two wheels off the track, and those the driving wheels. It is bad business when the drivers get off; there is danger of the whole train following after. This fact of two wheels being off, is very suggestive. Almost every man has something off the track. Some have the head wrong; some have the heart wrong; or some have both head and heart wrong; and on they go still; no breaking up of speed until the final and sad break up; and then their way of life is strewn with the melancholy memorials of wrong going.

But see how the men are managing and working—more management than work,—to get those two wheels on again. Large pieces of timber, stones, blocks, chips; small pieces of wood scarcely larger than a dozen lucifer matches are brought into requisition, to get a great engine, weighing some tons, on the track again. Nothing is too small an instrumentality for good, if indeed it be an instrumentality. How active each man is, and how particular that each little instrumentality be laid right. Now, all ready. The engine moves: easy—easy—there! there! all right—off again.—Try again, now all ready! Easy this time! there she is, all right! on again!

See! here is a man off the track! Head off, or heart off; or perhaps both head and heart off. He has a train depending upon him, which may be ruined by his wrong going—wife and children! He is off the track; how shall we get him on? No instrumentality is too small or mean, if it will do any good; and you cannot say that it will not do any good until you try, and try often. Can't you get him to sign the pledge? Yes, but it will do no good; we have often tried it, and always failed. Well, supposing you let the engine stay where it is and rot; or let it drive on, off the track as it is, because you may have failed a dozen times or more in your efforts to get it on. Try your man again. He is worth as much as your engine. Try again. Try a hundred times. Try every day; and if he falls seven times a day, do you try seven times a day to reclaim him. "He who raiseth a fallen brother is greater than the conqueror of the world."

How do you know that that man has not run off the track at the switch you ought to have attended better? For we all have something to do in the great railway of life. We are directors, conductors, engineers, brakemen, switch tenders, crossing masters, or something. Let every man look out lest he be the cause of somebody's fall. Example is a mighty instrument for good or evil. If we switch wrong, many a train may run off. Therefore inasmuch as we may be to a greater or less extent the cause of somebody's falling over, let us manage and work to get them up. Speak a kind word always, if possible. The world will wag all the more easily with you for it.

For the Morning Chronicle.

FAST DAY.

To morrow is the day appointed as an annual Fast by the Governor of this State.—Permit me through your paper to say a word in behalf of its proper observance. It is not, I admit, like our Sabbaths, of divine appointment. God has not thrown over it the solemn command—"Remember the day to keep it holy—in it thou shalt not do any work, &c." This is admitted. But it is an observance which comes to us recommended and hallowed by the example of a pious ancestry; reminding us, as does our Thanksgiving, of the character of the early settlers of our New England. By those noble men with whom the custom originated it was in the highest sense a religious observance, expressing the trust which their hearts felt in God, and their dependence on Him for life's commonest mercies. The perils and exigencies of their condition, exposed to a savage foe, and to wasting disease, and to the rigor of a severe climate, with scanty means of protection and of subsistence—were well calculated to beget and foster in them an habitual and childlike trust in God.

But though we honor their example by the annual appointment, and our Governors send forth their proclamations exhorting us to lay aside our worldly avocations and to give the day to religious services, it is notorious that it is becoming every year more and more a day of recreation and even of dissipation. Our sanctuaries are opened and our clergymen deliver sermons, and a few gather to hear them; but the most are seeking amusement. Now the impropriety of taking a day especially set apart for humiliation and prayer, as a day of amusement; of heeding a call to devotion so far as to abstain from labor, and then turn to frolic, is so glaring that it needs only to be stated in order to be felt. I have thought for some years it would be better to discontinue the appointment, than to insult heaven by such a mockery of an observance as that which we have been accustomed to render. And yet I love the day. I feel that it is a most fitting appointment—one which, duly observed, would have a salutary influence.

Permit me to express the hope that this approaching anniversary will receive from our citizens generally a more religious and appropriate observance than we have been wont for some years past to render it—that we shall abstain not only from labor, but from whatever else is inconsistent with the expressed design of the appointment. W.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE PIONEER, OR CALIFORNIA MONTHLY MAGAZINE; JANUARY, 1854. San Francisco: published by W. H. Brooks & Co.—Terms 50 cts. per Number, or $5 per year.

We are indebted to the kind attention of our quondam friend Mr. Daniel G. Waldron, formerly of this city, now "of D. G. Waldron & Co.'s Bookstore, Coloma, El Dorado county, California," for a copy of this, "the first Magazine published in California." It is got up very much in the style of the New York Knickerbocker Magazine, whose character the proprietors state they have determined to adopt as nearly as may be.

The cover is embellished with a good engraving, representing a group of two men and a woman, standing on a high rock, looking at the sun as he sinks in the West. One man, "bearded like the pard," is waving his hat high in air; the other, with wagoner's-whip in hand and trusty pistol in his belt, is pointing in the direction in which the star of empire is wending its way; while the woman, half kneeling, with hands clasped as if in eagerness of joy, is intently gazing o'er the hills toward the promised land. In the background is seen a train of wagons, moving through the valley, from which our trio have detached themselves for a little time, to catch a glimpse of El Dorado.

The sixty four octavo pages of the Pioneer are well filled with interesting matter, of which we give the heads:—Introductory; The Limantour Claim; Song; Reminiscences of San Francisco, in 1850; The Poetry of California; Lines written in the Tropics; Filibusterism; Pearl Diving; Stanzas—the King and the Peasant; California, in 1851; the newly discovered Viviparous Fish; Abstract of the Decisions of the Supreme Court; Monthly Summary of Events. These are all original; besides which are a Friendly Chitchat, Musical and Theatrical Criticisms, and Gossip with Readers and Correspondents, in the style of the Knickerbocker; and also three selected short poems. The press of California is not behind that of any other region, and the Pioneer Magazine will prove an ornament and honor to it.

Mr. Barnum says if the hotel keepers, &c.' will subscribe for one hundred thousand dollars worth of admission tickets, he will assume the management of the Crystal Palace, and attract more persons to New York than ever visited it before. Forty thousand dollars are already subscribed.

Mrs. Douglass, who was imprisoned at Norfolk for teaching colored children, has been discharged, after serving out her term.

A new paper, in the fugitive slave interest, has been started at Toronto, Canada. It is called the Provincial Freeman.

LOCAL.

MACALLISTER—TWO NIGHTS MORE.—The unprecedented success which has attended upon the unique and beautiful entertainments in magic and mystery, at the Temple, has induced the great Wizard to prolong his stay for two nights. Notwithstanding the rain and bad walking on Monday evening, an exceedingly large and fashionable audience was attracted by Macallister's diablerie to his exhibition, and left with exclamations of delight and wonder. To-night that puzzle of puzzles will be again enacted—the Mysterious Disappearance of Madam Macallistr at a pistol shot! All seem anxious to know how it is done, and where she goes to. Several married men are determined to know the secret.

PUMPS.—We have never failed to regret, as one after another, the old town pumps, once so useful in our city, have been removed, till scarcely half-a-dozen are left. We never knew the cause for such removals, though doubtless the very many things "charged to the town pump," had something to do with them. A correspondent complains that the excellent well and pump at the corner of Islington and Summer streets, in front of the jail, is on land which is the property of the gentleman whose house stands on that corner, and that the pump is to be removed and the well filled up. He thinks that the well on the opposite corner should be reopened, or that on the other side of Islington street, near the jail, both of which are in the public ground. We don't think a handsome pump any blemish, and should like to see some of them restored—that on Market Square, in particular. They are needed, if for nothing else save watering-places for horses and cattle.

☞ Rev. Mr. Moore will deliver a Discourse on Fast Day morning, on "The Responsibility of the Christian Citizen: its Source and Nature."

☞ In Mr. Shores' window may be seen a fine engraving of the "Belligerent Powers of Europe," embracing likenesses of Victoria, Francis Joseph I., Napoleon III., Frederick William IV., Abu-Ul-Medjid, and Nicholas I.

For the Morning Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—

On reading the report of the High School Committee I was glad to see that they had not failed to speak, as previous committees have uniformly spoken, of the services of Miss Curtis.

Though one might infer from the reading of that report that Miss C. was only three or four months a teacher in the Boys' High School, yet the records will show that her appointment was made four years ago. During the whole time of her serving in that capacity, I do not recollect of a single complaint preferred against her either by committees or parents. Miss C. combines as many qualifications for a good teacher as any one with whom I am acquainted.

Unless illness prevented she was always early at her post, and that too from a pure love of her duties there. Dignified in deportment, firm and decided in discipline, original in her modes of teaching, she secured the respect and esteem of her pupils—and dull indeed must be that scholar who came out from her daily drills unbenefitted.

I notice in your paper that Miss Curtis proposes to open a school next week at the Temple for Young Ladies and Misses. Though there are in the City most excellent schools of this description, yet without any detriment to them, I cannot but hope and bespeak for Miss Curtis' School a liberal share of patronage. I. K.

FULL DENIAL.—The Boston Courier puts an extinguisher upon the facts so minutely stated by the correspondent of the New York Evening Post. It says:

We understand that the whole of his statement in regard to Mr. Everett's correspondence with Mr. Fletcher Webster during Mr. Everett's late visit to Boston, Mr. Webster's reply, the excitement of friends, &c., so circumstantially set forth, is wholly without foundation. No such correspondence took place—no such original draft was given by Mr. Fletcher Webster to Mr. Everett—nor did any communication of any sort take place between them on the subject.

All this, and columns more that we have not mentioned, relate to Mr. Everett's alleged authorship of Mr. Webster's letter to Mr. Hulsemann. We have not been able to distress ourselves much about the matter. Both of the gentlemen named were capable of writing such a letter. If one did it for the other, what matter?

The letter itself contained some noble sentiments, in favor of liberty protected by law, and of the rescue of the weak from the strong, by the arm of the just; which sentiments we are sorry to add, are every day denied and contradicted by the practical workings of unjust laws, enacted and enforced at home, by men who write elegant sentences in defence of liberty, for exclusive use abroad.

A London paper states that the British government has made arrangements with a first class London Brewery to supply the troops while in Turkey, with the best export porter at three pence (six cents) a quart, and a ship of 350 tons is preparing to take out the first consignment. Punch, in reference to this, says—"The British soldier, without becoming pot-valiant, will fight the better for his pot of beer. Those who draw the sword for their country, deserve at least a draught of beer, and doubtless they will draw the former vigorously, although they may draw the latter mild."

SINGULAR MURDER TRIAL IN NEW ORLEANS.—In the first District Court of New Orleans, on the 20th inst., James Patton, a man who once occupied an enviable position in society, was put upon his trial for the murder of Colonel Walter Turnbull. The prisoner shot Colonel T. in an omnibus, on the 3d of December. The evidence went to show that Patton was insane, but he refused to let his counsel put in that plea. He had been jealous of his wife, and employed counsel to procure a divorce, but as he could procure no evidence against her, his counsel refused to carry on the suit, and it was directly after this refusal that the murder was committed. He discharged his counsel in court, for urging the plea of his insanity, and then undertook to address the jury himself. He said he had been betrayed by his counsel—that he was taken by surprise; that he had expressly forbidden them making any such plea as they had done; that they had abundant proof in their possession to have proved a first provocation, and a justifiable homicide, but that they had dodged the question and sacrificed him; that they had been instigated to it by others. He would never leave Louisiana but in two ways—by the gallows or by acquittal. The prisoner seemed to have a horror of the State prison, more for the reason that executive clemency would be exercised towards him, than anything else. The jury returned with a verdict of "guilty, without capital punishment."

A PORTLAND SALUTE.—The Salute from the Cape Cottage, as the Steamer Charity passed on Saturday, was a unique one, and made "the welkin ring." They charged a ledge of rocks, in two places, and as the Steamer passed touched them off. The rocks went up as well as the cheers, and the noise was heard afar. The dinner horn was also blown and re-echoed through the vale. This was on the spot where they are blowing for the site of John Goddard's new house.—Portland Argus.

COW ON CHANGE.—A fine large cow, of the short horn Durham breed, weighing 1770 lbs, and accompanied by her calf, attracted much attention "on change" on Saturday.—Bulls and bears are often seen there, but are less noticed.—Boston Journal.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, March 10.

SENATE.—In the Senate, to-day, Mr. Gwin delivered his speech on the Pacific Railroad bill. Mr. Gwin stated that this bill proposes a grant of land by the government similar to that repeatedly conceded from the days of President Monroe down through every successive administration to the present period, with a reasonable compensation for carrying the United States mails. It establishes no Eastern terminus; it gives no preference to any State in the great valley of the Mississippi—no advantage to any particular locality, except that given by nature herself—and assigns the contract, on ample security, to the best bidder, after full and fair competition.—The means are no more than adequate to secure the result, and not a dollar is to be paid from the national treasury except for services performed. By the bill, the mails will be carried daily, both ways, in less than a week, from our Atlantic and Pacific borders, for little more than it costs now for a semi-monthly mail, occupying nearly four weeks in the transit. Without the road, the lands contiguous are valueless; but with it, the alternate sections will bring millions of dollars into the treasury; whilst our enterprising and industrious population will settle, cultivate and readily fill up the country on either side of the route, from the Mississippi to the Pacific.—Mr. Gwin then examined the subject in its postal, commercial, military and political points, argued at great length the constitutional question involved, and in conclusion said:—"We now come before you asking for an appropriation of your domain for the construction of this new means of intercommunication—indispensable not only to consolidate us at home, but to guard against the shock of foreign war and the consequent danger of political disemberment. The utmost stretch of your interposition will not exceed, under the bill before you, forty millions of acres for a line of two thousand miles, that will unite the Mississippi states with the Pacific. Its value does not equal by one-half our annual supply of gold, and its concession will be more than reimbursed by the enhanced value imparted to the alternate residum of your land."

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Dean of New York offered a resolution affirming it to be the duty of the United States to maintain, during the pending war in Europe, the strictest neutrality between all the belligerents, and also to demand the maintenance of the principle that free ships make free goods, and that the neutral flag protects from unreasonable search and seizure the ships bearing it; and also to ascertain whether any correspondence on these questions had taken place with other governments.

Mr. Dean explained the nature and scope of his remarks, touching the principle that free ships make free goods. He stated that our government had for some months past been endeavoring to secure the admission and establishment of this principle as international law, and that our representative at St. James in particular, has ably accomplished it, so far as its recognition depends upon that government.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign affairs.

The House then went into Committee on the General Appropriation bill, when

Mr. McDonald of Maine spoke on the Nebraska bill. He said that the resolutions of the Maine Legislature were not indicative of the public opinion in that state, and he denounced their request that their delegation would oppose the bill as arrogant and impudent.

Mr. Faulkner of Virginia afterwards spoke in favor of the bill.

The House then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The military commission, which has been in session in this city for some time past, for the purpose of settling the claims growing out of Col. Fremont's expedition to California, has adjourned sine die. The total amount of claims presented was for $600,000, of which only $135,000 were allowed.

HARTFORD, April 10—The Courier says that at the city election to-day, Henry C. Deming, Whig, was elected Mayor by 2300 plurality. Last year, Mr. Hammersley, dem., had 151 plurality. The whigs have a majority of eight in the Common Council. Last year they had only two.

SPRINGFIELD, April 10.—The Republican states that an Irish woman was killed to-day by lightning, while walking upon the railroad track near this city.

OPENING OF NAVIGATION.—A Buffalo despatch of the 8th says, "the ice displays symptoms of breaking up, and there is a prospect of the reopening of navigation somewhat earlier than was supposed. The weather is quite warm."

A telegraphic despatch sent from St. Catherines, says that the Welland Canal is open at Fort Maitland, its entry to Lake Ontario, but ice bound at Port Colborne, on Lake Erie.

MUNICIPAL COURT, PORTLAND.—Emery Howell having been annoyed by the ringing of his bell by boys, was at last fain to catch an offender and box his ears, whereupon the mother of the boy, widow Welch, entered complaint. Mr. Howell was tried, adjudged guilty and fined one cent and costs.—Adv.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald says that Mr. Dean's resolutions were presented at the instance of the Administration, in order to prepare the public mind for the fact of Mr. Buchanan's having made a treaty with England, securing for the United States the position assumed in the resolutions. All the preliminary correspondence has been received by the state department, and the treaty itself is expected by the next steamer.

The nomination of Dr. G. C. Hebbe, for Consul to Aix La Chapelle, was sent in yesterday.

NAVAL.—U. S. sloop of war Dale, Commander Whittle, was at Porto Grand, Feb. 23d, officers and crew all well. She was to sail on the 24th Feb. on a cruise along the coast.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!
SLEEP IN PEACE.
ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a
POISONOUS GUM RESIN,
Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.
IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.
Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

DO YOU DISLIKE BAD NEIGHBORS?—Buy the DEAD SHOT for Bed Bugs—of
a5 J. H. THACHER, Apothecary.

THE SOCIETY OF LADIES.—The following pertinent remarks occur at the close of an article on the Dangers of College Life, from the pen of a New York clergyman, which appeared in the New York Times:

"The society of ladies has done much for me all my life long; and it was the salutary softening influence of such associations that with God's blessing, restrained me from many an excess into which I might otherwise have been led while receiving my education. It is a bad sign when a young man has no relish for such company. Whatever be a man's station in life, whether high or low, public or private, he will become a better man, and escape many a disaster, if he will listen in due season to the voice of the intelligent and refined among the other sex."

A correspondent of the Brantford (C. W.) Herald, in speaking of the progress of the age, and the benefits of railroads, says:

In the year 1807 it was advertised in Detroit that a vessel would leave that port for Buffalo. Spring opened and navigation was resumed. But lo! in this solitary craft there was but one passenger—and on reaching Buffalo there were but two shanty taverns. He asked for a stage to go on to Canandaigua. He was told there was but one stage a week, and that had just gone. This was a common wagon. What mighty changes has time effected by the instrumentality of inventive genius in modes of travel.

A slave among the Creek Indians, a short time since, murdered two Creeks, one of whom had been guilty of whipping the negro's brother. The slave was tried and condemned to be executed, which was done in Indian fashion. The negro was seated upon a log, his head covered with a blanket, and then, by two rifle balls from the nearest relatives of the deceased, he was shot dead.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, opps. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on application prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, MASS.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Cramp, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two scullieries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. DEATH OF THOS. NOON TALFOURD.

The advices by the steamer Franklin announce the death of this distinguished scholar and jurist, which took place on the 13th of March. He died at Stafford, (England) of an attack of apoplexy, which seized him whilst in the act of delivering his charge to the jury. He appeared in his usual health on entering the court, and it was not known that he had experienced any symptoms of illness before taking his seat on the bench. His delivery of the charge, however, was characterized by much hesitation, and he evidently had difficulty in proceeding with his task. The last sentiments that he uttered were honorable alike to his head and heart. He was directing attention to the number of cases of highway robbery that occur, and, after assigning what he regarded as some of the causes of the increased number of such offences, he proceeded to speak as follows:

"I am afraid we, all of us, keep too much aloof from those beneath us, and whom we thus encourage to look upon us with suspicion and dislike. Even to our servants, we think, perhaps, we fulfil our duty when we perform our contract with them; when we pay them their wages, and treat them with the civility consistent with our habits and feelings; when we curb our temper and use no violent expressions towards them. How painful is the thought that there are men and women growing up around us, ministering to our comforts and necessities, continually inmates of our dwellings, with whose affections and nature we are as much unacquainted as if they were the inhabitants of some other sphere. This feeling, arising from that kind of reserve peculiar to the English character, does, I think, greatly tend to prevent that mingling of class with class, that reciprocation of kind words and gentle affections, gracious admonitions and kind enquiries, which often, more than any book education, tend to the culture of the affections of the heart, refinement, and elevation of the character of those to whom they were addressed; and if I were to be asked what is the great want of English Society—to mingle class with class—I would say, in one word, the want is the want of sympathy."

It was while giving utterance to these noble sentiments that his auditory became greatly alarmed by the changed aspect of the venerable speaker. His head fell on one side, and in an instant it was apparent that he had been seized by apoplexy. As quickly as possible the associate took off his lordship's wig and untied his handkerchief, and he was carried out of court by Earl Talbot, Dr. Holland, Dr. Knight, (the latter two of whom were on the grand jury,) and the associate. His lordship was removed to the judge's lodgings, and was attended by physicians; but breathed his last as he was laid on the bed.

Thomas Noon Talfourd was born at Reading, Jan. 26, 1795. His father was a brewer; his mother, the daughter of a dissenting minister. He commenced his education at the grammar school of his native town, and while still a boy wrote a small volume of poems.—He went to London at the age of eighteen, and placed himself as a student of law under Chitty, the celebrated pleader, in 1813. He was admitted to the bar in 1821, and was married the next year. From that time his course was one of almost uninterrupted prosperity. He rapidly rose to eminence in his profession, and became successively a member of Parliament, a sergeant-at-law, and finally a judge of the common pleas.

The private character of Talfourd was singularly winning and delightful. "Personal amiability," says a writer in the London Times, "was undoubtedly the most marked feature in his character. It may be said with truth of Mr. Justice Talfourd, that the only pang he ever caused to all who had the happiness of his friendship was, by his untimely death. A diligent student of literature, ancient and modern, he was ever ready with the apt quotation or the graceful allusion—so much so that it was a matter of surprise to all who knew him and were aware of the unflinching industry with which he applied himself to the labors of his profession, how he could find time for acquiring and keeping up so extensive a knowledge of literature. Even at such moments as in all others, the mirth of Talfourd was that of a gentle nature and a warm heart. He was not one of those who take advantage of superior wit or readiness to point an arrow which, although shot in seeming sport, may long rankle in the breast of a stranger or a friend."

A HUSBAND IN TROUBLE.—A few days since, a lawyer in this city was busily engaged in studying out a plea, when the door opened, and a young, stout son of Erin entered, doffed his hat, and said that he desired to take an advice of 'his honor.' The lawyer made him sit down, and inquired his business.

Share, he replied, I want a divorce from my wife Biddy.

The lawyer asked what was the trouble—but Pat seemed loth to tell.

Does she not treat you well, does she not take care of your house, has she deserted you, or does she like any one better than yourself? were inquiries made by the lawyer, who endeavored for some time in vain to pump out the reason of the desire for a divorce. At last, weary of the investigation, the disciple of Coke informed his would-be client that he could do nothing for him without knowing all the facts of the case.

Well, if I must I must, replied the husband, Shure there's a little darlint I love better than Biddy!

The lawyer could hardly refrain from laughter sufficiently to inform the Hibernian that the law could not touch such a case as his, and Pat left with a countenance more of sorrow than of anger.—Boston Traveller.

A LAW CASE.

In the House of Representatives at Washington, on Friday, a bill was reported from the judiciary committee relating to the burning of the Martha Washington steamer by conspirators. It was objected to because of its containing an appropriation for defraying the expense of trying the parties recently arrested in Ohio, and now in an Arkansas jail; and the subject was referred to the committee of the whole. Hereafter we shall have enough of debate upon it. During the talk on Friday, Mr. Stanton of Tennessee, stated the matter summarily as follows:

The bill, he said, simply provided that no part of this money shall be expended towards the prosecution, unless the secretary of the treasury shall be satisfied the charge also involves a violation of the laws of the United States. A band of confederates extend from the eastern to the western states, as far as New Orleans. Therefore it was necessary to send to all the States, to take these criminals and procure evidence of their guilt. These men succeeded in getting insurance on ficticious articles, packed in boxes, which contained nothing but trampery; and in order to get the insurance money, burnt the steamboat, by which sixteen persons lost their lives, while within the jurisdiction of Arkansas, but that state has no more interest in the prosecution than Massachusetts. Phillips is comparatively a poor county; rich in lands, but sparse in population. What interest can the people have in imposing heavy burdens on themselves, to bring the conspirators to conviction? This crime was committed on the bosom of the Mississippi—the great highway of nations, which is well entitled to be called, in the language of Mr. Calhoun, an inland sea. If the crime had been committed in tide-water it would have been within the jurisdiction of the United States."

We think the strictest of all possible constructionists of the Constitution, ought to be satisfied that Congress can properly appropriate the money to carry on these trials, under the head of providing for the general welfare.

It is certainly for the welfare of every insurance company and every honest man, as well as for the safety of every traveller, to have these scoundrels caught, caged and punished.

Banking in New England.—The banking capital of several of the New England States is very small, particularly in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont. The first named State, however, is rapidly increasing in its banking facilities. With the exception of the city of Providence, R. I., the banking capital of five of the New England States hardly comes up to that of the city of Boston. As banking capital is generally considered a good test of the wealth and business of a city or town, we may place Boston in these respects as second only to New York, and far in advance of any other city in the United States. The Boston Courier says:

The demand for capital in this city keeps equal pace, to say the least, with the demand for new stores, houses, building material, and other articles last year. The grants for new banks were some ten millions. This year they will amount to more than that sum, if the applications of all who are petitioners, or wish to be, for bank charters, shall be complied with. The actual wants of the business community are estimated to be equal to not less than an increase of one million of dollars per month over former years.

To this it may be added that Vermont, almost wholly agricultural in her pursuits, needs but little banking capital, and not a great amount of bank paper for circulation.

New Hampshire and Maine, by the chosen and avowed policy of the party which has controlled their legislation for many years, have kept their banking capital down to the lowest possible mark, until recently Maine has abandoned this policy.

The effect of the course above indicated, by this State and Maine, has been two-fold; viz: in part to send trade to Boston, and keep it there; and in part to let the Boston Banks take the profit of supplying our people with bank bills for circulation. Maine becoming tired of this, has changed her course.

Nuns in Spain.—The Madrid Journal states that the number of nunneries in Spain is 803, and the number of nuns in them 30,613. There can be no longer any thing mysterious in the decline and poverty of Spain. Think of it! Thirty thousand women shut up from contact with the world which they should bless, and wearing out life in religious pauperism: adding nothing to population, wealth or resources: groaning, fasting, praying: but not living, in any true sense of the term.

American Jubilee.—Wm. Goodell of New York has issued the first number of a political anti-slavery paper, with the above title. It is to be a monthly sheet at 50 cts. per annum; is filled with matter of the most spicy and pungent sort; and has evidently been brought into life by Mr. Douglas's broaching the Nebraska scheme.

The Providence Journal says that the latest version of the Senatorial rumor is, that General James will not resign his seat in the United States Senate.

This is a probable version, much more probable than that he would resign. He is a most unlikely person to resign a good place unless he gets a better.

PLEASURE AND BUSINESS.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." This old familiar adage is as true of men as of boys. The labors of the mind and body in the store and workshop, require periods of relaxation and amusement, that the whole man may be kept in such a state as to produce the greatest results for good.

The season of the year is approaching, in which many of the merchants, traders, and mechanics leave the cares of business and the noise of the city, and flee into the country, to the mountains and the sea shore. This is all right and proper, and by the merchants of Boston and New York, this same season of recreation is used for the double purpose of business and pleasure. At every town and village at which they tarry, it is a point with them to make the acquaintance of the dealers in goods of their own line, and by friendly conversations, gain their patronage and also their friendship. By this course their own business is extended, and to a person habituated to the regular routine of mercantile life, this affords a more pleasant and healthful relaxation, than would be obtained by a strict adherence to the hand book of the locality in which he may be.

This kind of amusement would be profitable and agreeable to our merchants, if it were properly carried out. Dealers in the country have by the superior facilities of communication with Boston, become accustomed to go to that city to supply their wants. With a less distance, and as low prices, there is no reason why they should not buy of us, and they would do it if they were sure of being used as well in Portsmouth as in Boston.—All that is necessary is for our dealers, when in any country town, to call at the stores, and there can be no doubt that in most cases a bill of goods would be ordered, and the expense of the pleasure trip reimbursed, with a profit besides.

It is now the custom of nearly every wholesale dealer in Boston, to have what are called order clerks, who are constantly travelling, and we know that in this city, their visits are always of profit to their employers, as they scarcely ever fail to receive extensive orders. Our merchants should try the experiment. Any of their clerks, if they are worthy of their hire, could procure orders for goods in the country, the profit on which would pay their expenses, if not more, and in time, by drawing our country friends to this section, great good would be the result. We have no doubt that by a judicious management of this matter the amount of goods sold in the country from this city, might in one year, be more than double what it is now.

A British judge has recently decided that the child of a man, born in England, and naturalized in the United States, the child being born in America of an American mother, is nevertheless a subject of the crown of England. This decision is more easily made than enforced. If the principle upon which this decision is based is correct, a very large number of native born citizens of the United States, are now subjects of the crown of England.

Per contra, Mr. Marcy has recently given it as his opinion that a child born in the United States, though one or neither of the parents were citizens, acquired the character and all the rights of a citizen, just the same as if both parents were citizens at the time of the birth.

And then pe contra the last contra—Mr. Somebody-else, we believe Judge McLean, has decided that the children of our Missionaries, born in India, Africa or the Holy Land, are all American citizens by birth nevertheless.

The facts are, our naturalization laws, and bonds of citizenship, are different from those of all other nations, almost necessarily—and the decisions of foreign courts and of our own, present to the careful reader a mass of contradictions on this subject.

A Question for Lawyers.—A free colored man was tried in the criminal court at Washington, several days since, on the charge of bigamy. It appeared that he had married two wives, and he was found guilty; but his counsel afterwards moved a new trial on the ground that he married the first wife, who was a slave, while her owner was away from the city, and without his consent, and therefore the marriage was illegal. The question thus arises, is the marriage of a slave legal unless sanctioned by his owner? This is said to involve a nice point in law.—Boston Jour.

We don't think the point is very nice or difficult. Sound law could not bind a husband to a wife, over whose person and property another man possesses a legal power so strong as that of a master over a chattel slave.

"In peace prepare for war."—We have not often seen a more ludicrous commentary on this proverb, than is offered in the following paragraph:

The Halifax Sun is urging upon the attention of the authorities of Nova Scotia the expediency of enrolling the militia, in case of any hostile demonstration on the part of the United States, which it thinks is not improbable. The editor thinks there will be no lack of volunteers.

LOCAL.

FAST DAY.

To-day being the State Fast, appointed by the Governor, with advice of Council,—we shall, in obedience to the Governor's Proclamation, abstain from our usual labors; in consequence of which abstinence, our readers will get no Daily Chronicle on Friday.

Our State Fast, this year, was appointed in Passion Week, the Friday of which, known as Good Friday, is kept by a very large majority of the Churches in Christendom, to commemorate the Crucifixion of Jesus,—as the following Sunday, Easter, is of his resurrection.

These days are thus kept, by the Greek, Roman and Anglican Churches, and by many smaller religious bodies in various lands.—Puritans, of course, avoided them, in the early days of the puritans; but their successors now, often allude to Easter, and seem to feel a pleasure in the idea of a simultaneous annual remembrance of the resurrection.

City Council—Wednesday, April 12.

In the Board of Aldermen, His Honor Mayor Walker in the Chair.—John Nutter applied for a sidewalk in Congress street, at the Melcher house.

The Building Committee of the North Church notified the city of their intention to build, and requested liberty of the city.—Granted.

The Harbor Master, to whom was referred the application of Commodore Smoot, to deposit mud in the harbor, reports that the control of the matter is with the Legislature, and he is of opinion that it would damage the harbor. Accepted and placed on file.

The Common Council notified the Aldermen that they had concurred and passed the ordinance in relation to the removal of snow.

The subject of removing the town clock was referred to Ald. Dearborn; and the subject of the Bell was referred to the Mayor.

IN CONVENTION.

Both boards met in the Council Room for the purpose of electing city officers. After the fifth ballot, Robert Lefavour was elected Treasurer, by the casting vote of the Mayor.

The convention then proceeded to choose a Collector.

Robert Lefavour	14,
James Ayers	13,
Joseph C. Walker	1,

There was no choice.

The Mayor did not consider it a case which required his casting vote, but Mr. Hackett thought that the Mayor should vote.

The Convention then rose.

In Board of Aldermen, the resolution was laid on the table.

Last Night of Macallister.—The great "wonder worker" puts forth a bill for to-night fall of the mysterious and incomprehensible works of his art. This, we are assured, is positively his final entertainment in this city; and one of his most attractive programmes is offered. The "bottle feat," and the "nose amputation," we see, are in the list. Macallister is anxious for a proboscis of the largest size to operate upon, and as there are several in town, we doubt not he will be accommodated. Those who have once attended these pleasing and puzzling exhibitions will be sure to improve the last chance and go again; and those who have not seen the Wizard should not neglect the present opportunity.

The Mails.—The recent changes in time on the railroads effect corresponding changes in the time of the arrival and departure of the mails.

The Western mail closes at 10.30, A. M., and 4.10 P.M., and arrives about 10.10 A. M., and 4.30 P. M.

The Eastern mail closes at 9.45 A. M. and 4 P. M., and arrives about 11.15 A. M. and 4.30 P. M.

The mails by the P. & C. Railroad close at 9.45 A. M., and 4 P. M., and are due here about 1 P. M. and 7.30 P. M.

☞ We understand that Marshal Rood, depot master at Portland, was killed on Wednesday afternoon, by being crushed between two cars, at the Railroad Station in Biddeford, to which place he had gone out on a special freight train.

Mr. Rood was formerly a resident in this city, and was esteemed as a faithful and worthy man. He was about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children in Portland.

Musical Repository, No. 20.—This number contains the Merry set of Quadrilles, or Pop Goes the Weasel,—composed by John Blewitt, and published by Frederick Parker, Cornhill, Boston.

Poking fun at the Nuncio.—The N. Y. Evening Post announces the arrival in this country of several copies of the picture of the Blessed Virgin of Rimini, which winked at Signor Bedini during his administration of the government of Bologna. The engravings do not wink. Some curiosity is expressed as to the character of the winks which the picture cast at Signor Bedini. That they were perfectly decorous winks may be inferred from the fact that the Pope is about to confirm them—which probably means, to give the picture leave to wink at the Nuncio as much as it pleases. There is a rumor says our New York cotemporary, although it is not as well authenticated as it might be, "that when the letter of Signor Bedini was read to the Archbishop of Baltimore by his secretary, the Archbishop began to wink at the point where the Nuncio speaks of the picture, and never left off until his secretary finished, when he was heard to indulge himself in a loud and prolonged whistle."

To be Hung.—Clough, the murderer, is to be hung in Taunton, in this county, on the 28th inst. He is at present in the State Prison in Charlestown, and gives no token of repentance, remaining in a very obstinate, stolid frame of mind. We learn that Jacob L. Porter, Esq., of this city, has been deputed by Mr. Sherman, the Sheriff, to bring Clough to Taunton, and that the unhappy man will be transported to the jail in that town early this week.—New Bedford Mercury.

Church Set on Fire.—An unsuccessful attempt was made last Sunday evening, to burn the Universalist church in Cambridgeport. A bundle of combustibles was placed in the wall of the building and set on fire, but the flames failed to communicate with the main building.—Boston Chronicle.

During the year 1853, the sales of the Bangor licensed liquor store amounted to $23,000, leaving a profit to the city of $8,000.—Portland paper.

Henry Ward Beecher remarked in his lecture at the Lyceum the other evening, that pictures were very cheap now-a-days, which remark applies with great force to the splendid Daguerreotypes tmade by Gregory, No. 33 Congress Street. The great question is, how does he get up such a nice picture for the small price he asks?

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, April 11.

SENATE.—The bill for reducing the duties on railroad iron was taken up, when Mr. Douglas moved to amend by striking out all after the enacting clause, and substituting a new bill, allowing a drawback, or refunding the duties where actually paid, on all iron imported since the 1st of July, 1853, which has actually been used in the construction or repair of any railroad, and suspending the duty altogether on railroad iron which shall be imported from the passage of the act until the 1st of July, 1857. Mr. Douglas explained the reasons for his substitute, and stated the advantages that would accrue to the whole country from its operations.

Mr. Badger of North Carolina said he preferred Mr. Douglas's substitute to the bill reported by the committee.

Mr. Hunter of Virginia said he voted under instructions, and that the amendment came nearer his instructions than the original bill.

Mr. Seward of New York was opposed to the general principles of the bill, because it would have the effect of rendering the business of manufacturing railroad iron in this country uncertain and unreliable. Towards the railroad in North Carolina, to benefit which this measure was specially brought forward, he thought it reasonable and just; but he did not see why, because a railroad in that state was in need of this, the capitalists of Boston, New York and Philadelphia engaged in railroad building ought also to receive a similar boon at the hands of Congress, at the cost of the other interests of the country.

At the conclusion of Mr. Seward's speech, a discussion ensued on a motion to postpone the bill, in order to give the Senators from Pennsylvania an opportunity to speak upon it.

Mr. Rusk wanted time to prepare a new bill, which would cover the whole subject of railroads in the United States, including propositions for the transportation of the mails on the said road. It was time that Congress did something to rescue mail contracts from those companies who refused to carry the mails on the terms proposed by government, or who would not be governed in their transportation by any rules but those of their own adoption. A further discussion on the merits of the bill ensued, in which Messrs. Badger, Pratt, Weller, Bell, Douglas and Bayard, participated. The bill was finally postponed to Monday week, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House additional documents were received from the President relative to the Crescent City affair.

Mr. Bennett's Land bill coming up in order, a motion to lay it on the table was lost by a vote of 76 to 65. It was then postponed for two weeks.

The House then went into Committee on the Appropriation bill, when

Mr. Cullom of Tennessee spoke on the Nebraska bill, which he denounced as a nefarious project, the work of certain politicians to strangle the legislation of the country for their own personal aggrandizement. Mr. Cullom made an impassioned and effective speech, replying to Mr. Clingman and rating the author of the bill in severe language. When he had concluded, Mr. Orr, Mr. Benton and other members approached him and shook him heartily by the hand. Nothing was afterwards done, and the House adjourned early.

UTAH.—An editorial in the Utah News thus speaks of the manner in which slanderers of the fair sex are treated in Utah:

"It is too well known to need repeating, that if a son of Belial shall defame one of our fair wives or daughters, his head must pay the forfeit, without judge or jury, in the most public place; and he must get his recompense for his heart's blood where he can find it, which will be in Tophet."

The Board of Regents, in company with the Governor and heads of departments, have adopted a new alphabet, consisting of thirty eight characters. After many fruitless attempts to render the common alphabet of the day subservient to their purpose, they found it expedient to invent an entirely new and original set of characters. In the new alphabet every letter has a fixed and unalterable sound; and every word is spelt with reference to given sounds.

NEUTRALITY.

The New York Herald says:—

Our private advices brought by the Europa are of a very important character. They inform us that either the Hermann, from Southampton, or the America, from Liverpool—the next steamers due, will bring the draft of a convention concluded between Mr. Buchanan and Lord Aberdeen, on behalf of their respective governments, by which England admits, in the approaching European war, the doctrine that the flag covers both ship and cargo, and that free ships make free goods; also renouncing the right of search for the impressment of seamen so far as American vessels are concerned, and conceding the restriction as to the law of blockade.

In return the United States is pledged to strict neutrality and non interference in the coming contest between the Western Powers and Russia.

THE STRIKE.—The Hallowell Gazette says:—"In this city, as in most places in New England, the eleven hour system was adopted last Fall, and since that time every department has flourished to the satisfaction of all concerned. If all corporations will adhere to this rule, there will be no cause for complaint on the part of any; but should the Lewiston Mills succeed in the demands now made for an increased number of hours labor, it would give them an advantage over others in the same business."

WHOLESALE ABDUCTION.—A man named Henry Batchelder, residing in New York, went to his business one morning last week, and returning at night found that not only his wife and four children were gone, but every article of furniture in the house had been removed! He traced his goods to Baltimore, where he learned that his wife had been joined by a man named Hutten, who was arrested. The goods were recovered, but the wife has not been found.

Query—What became of the children?

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!
SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

The Baton Rouge Advocate says:—The John Simonds, a three-decker steamer, running to St. Louis, passed our landing yesterday, with about eight hundred emigrants on board, all bound for the Mormon settlement at Utah. They are composed, we were told, nearly exclusively of English and Welsh converts to the Mormon religion and morality, (or immorality,) under the guidance of one of the Latter-day Saints, who has been on a missionary tour to Great Britain. About half, or more than half the number were females, mostly young and buxom-looking lasses.—What were their views of spiritual matrimony we did not ascertain.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, sickly looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have seen it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853. I sold 4220 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think it will cure them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 29, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Dimensions for one dose. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

For the Chronicle.

EUDELE.

I.

The soft wind moved the curtain's fold
And rippled her gold waves of hair,
While like some voiceless lily's lip
Touched by a gentle whiff of air—
Swayed as by inward melody—
Her lips were trembling with a prayer,
Which lark-like soared from out this world of sin.
"To-morrow," and she raised her eyes,
"I'll walk with Christ in Paradise."

II.

The soft wind moved the curtain's fold
And cooled her cheek with kisses faint;
And as she lay upon the bed,
The curls that clustered o'er her head
Were like the halo of a saint.
A light was breaking on her lips
Like that which tinges mountain tips
At death of summer days;
While with her on the pillow lay
The golden parasites of day—
The sunset's amber rays.
The flowers closed their eyelids up
The harebell and the butter-cup,
The lily and the sun-struck jessamine.
With whispered sighs and dainty feet,
The evening zephyrs tripped about,
Then, as a rosebud yields its sweet,
A spirit pure stole softly out,

III.

We hid her in a green retreat,
With daisies at her heart and feet
To guard her with sweet eyes;
And when we weep Eudele as dead,
We smile to think what once she said
Of 'Christ' and 'Paradise'—
Of that far sphere where neither sin

New York.

OUR FOREIGN POPULATION.

A very erroneous impression prevails both at the East and West, that the proportion of people of foreign birth is much greater at the Western States than in New England and New York. Not only is this untrue, but the reverse is true. The following table from the last census, will show the foreign born population of each State in one column, and the total free population in another. At this particular time it cannot fail to be a matter of general interest:—

A marriage, something after the manner of Bayard Taylor's, occurred here on Saturday. A young gentleman who had been waiting upon a young lady for a year or more, and to whom he was engaged in marriage, was taken suddenly ill. Recovery was impossible, and his physician told him so. He proposed to his betrothed that their marriage should immediately take place. To this she consented. The groom died on the third day after, leaving a will, in which he devised his entire property, ($10,000) to his widow.

On Saturday afternoon, at Fisherville, N. H., George Gage, son of Calvin Gage, Esq., aged about 7 years, while at play alone on the bank of the canal, fell in and was drowned.

SATURDAY, APRIL 15, 1854.

PETTY TYRANNY AT SEA.—One of these cases of improper and even brutal conduct on the part of ship captains towards members of their crews—which are and have for a long time been far too common, though we believe less prevalent in the American marine than in any other—has come before the U. S. District Court in Boston. Jacob Compton, steward of the brig Catharine and Mary—a very fine looking young man and apparently of more than ordinarily good business and social qualifications—testified to a series of outrageous assaults upon himself by Watson H. Coombs, the captain of the vessel.

While the brig was lying in the harbor of Port au Prince last fall, the steward obtained leave from the captain to go on shore one afternoon about 4 o'clock. He fell in with a native and was walking about the town, but in about an hour and a half was met by the captain, who peremptorily ordered him to go immediately on board ship, or he would have him arrested. From the captain's manner Compton supposed him intoxicated and not meaning what he said, and as he had some business to attend to, he dispatched it before returning to the ship, which he reached about 9 o'clock.

Immediately on getting on board, the captain, without saying a word, seized him by the throat and threw him down three several times, following it up by kicking and beating, and ordering the poor fellow about in different directions, and instantly countermanding his orders, to annoy and bewilder his victim.

Arriving at Holmes Hole, another difficulty occurred between the two, when without any reasonable provocation the captain presented a loaded pistol at the steward's head and threatened to blow his brains out if he uttered a word. A woman passenger was also knocked down by the captain to prevent her screaming to alarm the ship's company, but some of the latter interfered and rescued the parties.—Boston Transcript.

Such a case should be severely scrutinized; and if found to be as above stated, it should be severely dealt with. It is highly important for a shipmaster to be obeyed by his crew; and in order to this he should be sufficiently respectable and decent to be obeyed by reasonable men. But a drunken brute is no more fit to command a ship than he is to keep a school.

SPIRITUALISM.—On Friday evening, in East Boston, the harmony of a meeting of spiritualists was disturbed, by a husband insisting that his wife, who formed one of a circle, should accompany him up stairs to their own chamber. He not only expressed his disbelief in the new faith, but denounced those who wasted their time in what he considered foolish experiments. His wife obeyed reluctantly. After their departure, the circle was reformed, and several communications were received from the spirits. The spirit of the lady's father wrote, by one of the mediums, that her husband had a dagger in the chamber, and at a certain hour would take her life, if not prevented, and advised that three watchmen should be sent for without delay. The advice was acted on, and three watchmen were placed outside of the chamber, one of them armed with an axe, ready to burst the door open at the slightest cry for help.—Another communication commanded that two more watchmen should be sent for, or the lady would surely be murdered, as her husband had a pistol in the room as well as a dagger. The watchmen came, and ranged themselves with the others, ready for a rush for the rescue. Hearing voices outside, the husband opened the door, and inquired the cause of such an assemblage. Explanations were given. To allay their fears, he invited the watchmen to enter the chamber and search every part of it, which they did, but found neither pistol nor dagger. The spirits, however, insisted that murderous weapons were concealed, and urged the watchmen to remain. Unable to reason with the spiritualists, and unwilling to create more excitement, the husband permitted his wife to rejoin the mediums in another room, while he retired to rest. But notwithstanding the concession, the watchmen were not permitted to depart for several hours.

These facts were communicated to us by a person who saw them; and we state, from personal knowledge, that the family in which they occurred is one of the most respectable in East Boston. Having paid some attention to spiritualism, we advise these whose nerves are not strong enough to enable them to take a shower-bath in the dead of winter without wincing, to avoid spiritual circles.—Boston Atlas.

THE LATE RICHARD C. DERBY.—This gentleman died in Philadelphia on Tuesday of last week, (April 4th) in the 78th year of his age. He has resided at Newport, R. I., during the last few years of his life.

Mr. Derby was a native of Salem. He made in early life the tour of Europe, and during repeated visits to the continent cultivated a taste for music, statuary and painting, which for the last half century has made his house the resort of strangers and men of genius.

His remains have been deposited in the rural cemetery of St. James the Less, near Philadelphia, pursuant to the directions of a will. He leaves many legacies to friends and relatives, and the following bequests to public charities in Boston: To the Boston Farm School, $5000; to the Boston Female Orphan Asylum, 2500; to Rev. John T. Sargent, of Boston, for distribution among the poor, 5000.

THE PRINTING PROFESSION.—The Detroit Times says that long John Wentworth was a journeyman printer when he went to Chicago some fifteen years ago. The Toledo Blade denies it, and avers that he was nothing but a lawyer; yet as he was an ambitious chap and wanted to come up in the world, he allowed the impression to go abroad that he was a printer, for the respectability of the thing!—The consequence is he has in that time amassed a fortune of $200,000 and been elected to Congress five times!

H. W. BEECHER IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 10, 1854.

A notice in the papers that HENRY WARD BEECHER would preach in the Congregational Church for Sunday evening, attracted a very large and respectable audience. Mr. Beecher's topic was The Gospel, its character and its functions. Christ was God manifest in the flesh. This all-important truth, even if not taught in the Bible, as he believed it was, is deeply impressed on the heart of Humanity. It is a glorious thought, not to be obliterated. A lover would never become enamored by merely studying a chart of a woman's faculties, graces and affections. He must have the person presented face to face; so if the Bible only described the Creator of the universe, its power would be lost. Christ came that we might know God personally. The Bible don't attempt everything. Its great purpose is to reconstruct the soul. Neither do its supposed errors destroy its value. People who reject it because they cannot cypher out all Daniel's prophecies and Luke's genealogies are like a patient who refuses to take a healing medicine because the prescription was spelt wrong or the cap was cracked that held it. The Bible represents God in action, not in analysis.

Paul said he resolved to know nothing (not to preach nothing, as some say now,) but Christ and him crucified. Paul scorned the preaching of a new system of theology. This world is like a ship in distress, tossed about on the waves in imminent danger. The Gospel comes to its relief. Bu does it come as a wrecker's boat, or as a pilot boat? Men are to be saved now—not alone, just as they are about to obtain a foothold on the shores of eternity. It is the function of the Gospel to remove all evil in the moral world. True, it begins with individuals, but nations can be made to feel its power. If there is no medicine in the Gospel for nations, then they must die. Faithful ministers must preach this Gospel in all its power. And they must expect to meet trouble. If they fear it, then they had better die at once and go to Heaven—if they can. A true minister must know no fear. He must be a warrior. He must not preach to please the Justice of the Peace or the Senate. He must go forth and attack wrong wherever he can find it. Does he say that is perilous? Why, it is perilous to live. When preachers shall do their duty faithfully, there will be less dogs to bark. They are told to mind their own business, and not to be meddlers. But the minister who never creates any agitation, is like the husbandman who never plows, because he may rip up some old roots. It is a peculiarity of the Gospel that it don't mind its own business. It is aggressive. It don't wait for man to come to it for relief, but it goes out to find man, wherever he is. A Church may have all truth in its creed, but if it sets on its eggless nest and never incubates, it is just as dead as its opposite neighbor that believes in all manner of error.

Preaching is substance in life. A bullet must have powder behind, or it is dead matter. If men needed only argument, analysis and deductions, then the Bible alone would be enough. But the object of preaching is not to build up a creed or a system, but to remove sin and evil. The Churches of the present day, dispating about the correctness or tendency of different articles of faith, reminded him of a number of workmen assembled to erect a building. They begin to compare their saws, disputing which has the best temper—their chisels, contending which is the sharpest—and their axes, boasting of the skill and fame of the makers—but never strike a blow or make a tenon towards the erection of the edifice.

The ministers of these churches think it is sweet and genteel to attack sin indirectly. But the Gospel is direct and revolutionary. There was meaning in the declaration of Jesus that he came to send a sword and not peace. The Savior wants stout, brave men, not gentle men in silk stockings and kid gloves.—Their preaching must be bold and applicatory. The Gospel it is true, is very incouvenient to sinners, but it must be preached so that drunkards, stingy, crabbed souls, unjust men and oppressors, will feel that it is after them.

Sometimes the men in the pews are impelled to speak out against wrong, but their pastor tells them it is not prudent. If I (said Mr. B.) had a Gospel like that, I would throw it overboard. I would never preach to please the pews. There are congregations of men who build splended edifices, with rich pulpits, handsomely carpeted aisles, well cushioned pews, splendid organ, and have very respectable choirs—but dont call them Churches of Christ—call them Odd Fellows—Mutual Insurance Companies—anything respectable, but churches.

The preachers to these congregations batter away at erroneous creeds, but let drunkenness and oppression go. A true minister should understand the people, and should preach to them as the lawyer pleads with a jury, having a point always in view. The times demand more courage, more fidelity and more enthusiasm.

The signs are propitious that a better day is dawning. It is always darkest just before day. The Church must come and take sides against wrong and evil. Christianity is not selfish—it is universal. Nations must be made to feel its power. It must be felt in the workshop, in the counting room, on the ship, and in the halls of legislation.

Such are some of the ideas he brought forth in his own indescribable manner. I think he never spoke with more life and enthusiasm than last evening in Washington.

PROBLEM.—Two sides of a right angle triangle are 225 feet, and the base is 12 feet.—How can the difference between the hypothenuse and the perpendicular be found without first finding either of the two sides given in one sum, without regard to Algebra?

THE DIFFERENCE.—The Lowell Herald says:

The "Know Nothings" may be a secret order, for what we know of them, but they differ from other associations only that the entire body are in the secret while with our political parties the few manage and the rest are kept in the dark.

THE CASTING VOTE.

The 11th section of our city charter provides that the City Mayor "shall preside in the Board of Aldermen, and in joint meeting of the two boards, but shall have a casting vote only." It may be important in respect to the election of city officers for the present and future years, that a correct construction be given to the expression—"a casting vote." By the 4th section of the amendments to the charter, the Mayor as a constituent member of the City Council, in case of the non election of a Mayor by the people, has a right to vote, but in that case in voting the Council are restricted to the two highest candidates. But there is no such restriction in electing other city officers. It will not be denied that it becomes the imperative duty of the City Council, voting under the solemnity of an oath, to elect all such city officers as by the charter they are required to elect; particularly because these, except the City Clerk, do not hold their offices until others are chosen and qualified in their stead; although it is otherwise in respect to "all city, ward, and town officers chosen by the people by ballot." vide sec. 6. A question now arises, whether it is in the power of one half the members of the City Council to prevent the complete organization of the city government. In other words, whether one half, by casting their votes for several candidates for office, can deprive the Mayor of his right to give "a casting vote?"

The object of conferring this right upon the Mayor, was, in case of an equal division among the members of the board, to ensure and complete the requisite elections. We have said that the Council are not restricted to two candidates, but may vote for whom they please. If one person receives half the votes of all the members present (constituting a quorum) and two other persons receive the other half of the votes—there would be an equal division of the whole number of votes, not among all the candidates, but of the votes cast. In such case, the charter gives the Mayor a casting vote, because his vote added to those of the person having half the votes, would elect. Should no one receive half the votes, he would have no right to vote; because his vote would not be a casting vote—it would not elect—it would not turn the scales.

Perhaps it will be said, that in case of such equal division, or a tie between a candidate on the one side, and several others on the other, the Mayor would have the right to cast his vote for one of the persons voted for having less than half the votes—but granting the legal right, our answer is that it would avail nothing, as a majority is requisite to elect. But because such might be the result in that case, it does not prove that his vote would not be a casting vote, given for the person having half of all the votes cast, nor can his legal right to a casting vote be taken away by any contrivance of one half the members to divide or scatter their votes. In choosing by nomination, one half the members may answer—aye, and the other half—nay, although the latter may be divided in their support of any candidate; still here would be an equal division of the votes, which would justify the Mayor in giving a casting vote.

In the popular branches of legislative assemblies the speaker has a right to vote, but seldom exercises it, except when his casting vote would decide the pending question or election. It being the duty of the City Council to complete the election, it would seem to be an unreasonable construction of the charter, that one or two members of the board, whether actuated by party or pure motives, should have the power to defeat the elections, and thereby prevent the due organization of the city government. The question now raised must be decided by the charter itself, and not by legislative or parliamentary rules of other bodies. T.

☞ The North Church, which for the period of an hundred and forty three years has been open for religious services, will be open to-morrow for divine worship for the last time, previous to being removed to give place to a more commodious edifice, which is called for by the circumstances of the parish.

There will be services appropriate to the occasion of leaving the house, in the evening at 7 1-4 o'clock in addition to the usual services of the day.

☞ On Friday afternoon, in Pleasant Street, a little boy was run over by a loaded team driven by an Irishman. When told of what had occurred, and looking back in time to see the poor victim suffering the tortures of what we had reason to believe a fracture of both legs, he coolly replied, "Well, I couldn't help it," and passed along without evincing the least sign of compassion, more than the brute he was driving. But sympathy, born of American soil, immediately succored the unfortunate boy, carried him to his home and placed him in the hands of those who would care for him. Y

ELEGANT SOAPS.—We have received a little package, containing specimens, beautifully put up, of six kinds of the Soaps manufactured by Eliphalet Davis, Cambridgeport, Mass. and advertised in our columns to-day.

The kinds sent to us are Almond, Citronelle, and Military Shaving Soap; Ambrosial and Honey Soap, for Ladies' toilet use; and the Saponaceous Dentifice. Several of these are of well known and high reputation; and their fragrance and neatness induce us to believe them as good in use as they are agreeable to the senses of sight and smelling.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

By the steamer Hermann, at New York, we have news from England to March 29.

The Cabinet Courier, who had been despatched by England and France to Russia, with the ultimatum, has returned with the announcement that "no reply" would be made. The result had been announced by the Queen to Parliament on the 27th ult.

The message concluded with the declaration that the Queen relied upon the bravery of the army and navy in this emergency. The declaration of war appears in the London Gazette of the 28th.

In this declaration of war it is said officially:—It is not Her Majesty's intention to claim the confiscation of neutral property not being contraband of war, and on board the enemy's ships; and it is not her present intention to issue Letters of Marque for the commission of privateers.

On the same day the Legislature at Paris received a message from the Emperor Napoleon, declaring that Russia had placed herself in a state of war with France.

The French government announces that it will not grant letters of Marque to American vessels.

Eighteen thousand Russians crossed the Danube on the 23d. 35,000 crossed at Matschia without molestation.

A skirmish occurred between the Russians and Turks on the bridge at the Island of Turrukih. The Turks having destroyed the bridge, 2000 Russians were precipitated into the water.

The Duke of Parma was stabbed by an assassin, and died next day.

LONDON MARKETS.—Corn markets have been steadier, owing to the pending declaration of war. There have been numerous inquiries made for foreign wheat, and a large business has been done at 2s or 3s lower than the quotations of the 20th. American flour has been inquired for at the decline noted on 24th. Barley 1s a 2s lower.

SIX PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH.—In the western part of Bureau county, Illinois, as we learn from the Chicago Journal, a shanty, occupied by the family of Dennis Daly, was destroyed by fire, communicating from a burning prairie. The fire came upon them so suddenly that Mr. Daly, his wife and three children, together with a man who was boarding in the family, were unable to escape, and perished in the flames. A little girl was the only one who succeeded in eluding the grasp of the devouring element.

RESUMPTION OF COAL OPERATIONS.—We are glad to learn that the strike, which has been so long maintained among the miners in the Cumberland coal region, is happily about to terminate, and operations be again at once resumed. In addition to the meeting of the agents of the several coal companies at Cumberland, on Monday, there was also a mass meeting of the miners in that section, and it is understood that such terms were agreed upon as were satisfactory to both parties.—Baltimore Sun, 5th.

The bill was referred, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The bill empowering the Postmaster General to contract for carrying the mail between New Orleans and San Francisco, according to the time occupied therein, was taken up.

Messrs. Hamilton and Phelps opposed the bill on the ground that it would cause an enormous increase of the expenses of the post office department. The bill was then tabled by a vote of 89 to 59.

The House next went into Committee on the bill graduating the price of public lands according to the time they have been in the market, and after a debate, adjourned.

THURSDAY, April 13.

SENATE.—The Senate, after some unimportant business, went into executive session and remained until four o'clock, and then adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Olds of Ohio, from the Committee on the Post Office, reported a bill modifying the rates of postage. The bill was debated at length. The bill was postponed for two weeks.

The House went into Committee on the Land Graduation bill. Several amendments were adopted, when the bill was reported to the House. It provides for the sales of lands which have been in the market ten years, at one dollar per acre; fifteen years, seventy-five cents; twenty years, fifty cents; twenty-five years, twenty-five cents; thirty years or more, twelve and a half cents; provided nothing shall be construed so as to extend to lands reserved to the United States in the acts granting lands to the States for railroad purposes or other internal improvements, or to mineral lands held at over $1.25 per acre. Nor so construed as to interfere with any right which has or may occur by virtue of any act granting pre-emption to the actual settlers on public lands. Mr. Bridge moved the bill to be laid on the table. Lost, the yeas being 66, nays 69. Pending the question of ordering the bill to be engrossed for a third reading, the House adjourned.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The three o'clock passenger train, from Norwich, met with an accident yesterday afternoon, at Auburn, about three miles from this city, which resulted in considerable damage to the engine and cars, but without any material injury to the passengers, of whom there were twenty or thirty.—The accident was occasioned by the breaking of the centre pin of the forward truck of the locomotive which separated the forward wheels from the boiler, and let it down upon the track, where it ploughed up rails, sleepers and embankment, at a terrible rate, for twelve or fifteen rods. Finally, it brought up against a heavy stone wall, turned over and rolled down the embankment into the swamp, taking the passenger cars along with it.

The engine was very badly broken up, and the passenger cars were somewhat shattered, but with the exception of a few slight bruises, no person was injured. Both the engineer and fireman remained at their posts, considering it safer to stay by the wreck than to run the risk of jumping off. The accident delayed the trains upon the road, and, although a large number of men were promptly despatched to repair the damage, the steamboat train for New York was not able to leave the depot in this city until a late hour last evening.—Worcester Spy, 10th.

A DUEL IN CALIFORNIA.—The Sacramento Union contains a humorous account of a duel which occurred at Rattlesnake Bar.—Two individuals had quarrelled, and at the friendly instigation of their friends, resolved to fight with pistols. The pistols were accordingly procured, and loaded with cork bullets, of which interesting fact but one of the principals was aware:—

"Silence reigned; the pistols were placed in their quivering hands—the handkerchief fell—a loud explosion ensued, and one of the belligerents (the one that was in the secret) turned partly around and fell on his face, while the other stood like a statue, a perfect picture of amazement, at the groans and contortions of his antagonist, and no wonder—for his pistol had missed fire! This 'let the cat out of the bag,' and such a roar of laughter went up as made the hills echo again. On the return of the spectators, they appeared as if all of them had been shot in the sides, from the manner in which they were holding on them with their hands. Thus ended the ever-to-be-remembered conflict between two 'Rattlesnakes.'"

PROSPECTS OF THE WHEAT CROP.—We have recently conversed with some highly intelligent farmers residing in this vicinity—among them the venerable Judge Sibley of Rush, than whom there is not a more observing man in Genesee Valley—and all concur that the growing wheat has wintered safely, and at present promises a good return.—Rochester (N. Y.) Union.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

WOOLEN AND CANVASS CARPETS,—A new assortment just opened at a4 W. J. LAIGHTON'S.

PAIXHAN GUNS.—In a long letter to the Moniteur, General Paixhan states that the Russians, in their attack upon Sinope, used chiefly the guns which bear his name, and that the Turkish frigates were armed only with ordinary 24 founders. He disapproves of the huge three deckers and towering line-of-battle ships of the French and English navy, like the "Napoleon," (which, by the way, has been sent back to Toulon, an utter failure,) and gives a decided preference to frigates and single decked ships, armed with guns of great calibre. The vast double or treble decked ships, he says, will suffer more under fire, and do less damage to their opponents in proportion to their armament, than the frigate-built ships, independent of their greater cost; and that a few well managed guns of large size will be generally decisive in any future naval action.

AN INVITATION TO COME HOME.—The Baltimore Advocate thus beckons to a fugitive slave, viz.: "The negro 'Charles,' formerly belonging to the Sterett estate, and who ran away, and a reward of $300 was offered for his apprehension, has been sold by the administrator to Mr. Charles Bosley, who takes the risk of getting him. Mr. Bosley says, that if he will return, he will find him a good home."

A TRAP FOR A THIEF.—A dwelling-house in Camden, N. J., had been entered several times by thieves, and the occupant of the house, naturally feeling a little irritated at these repeated attempts to disturb his peace, resolved to set a snare for the rogue. He accordingly drugged a bottle of brandy, and placed it every night in such a position that the burglar could not fail to discover it. His scheme was successful; and a few mornings after this happy idea had seized him, his ingenuity was rewarded by the capture of a stout colored man, whom he found sleeping comfortably in one of his apartments.

R. H. EDDY,

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

REMEDY FOR THE BITE OF A MAD DOG.—As a cry of mad dogs has been raised, (says the Louisiana Courier), the following, which we clip from an exchange, may be worth a perusal:

"A Saxon forester, named Gastell, now of the venerable age of 82, unwilling to take to the grave with him a secret of such import, has made public in the Leipsic Journal, the means which he had used for fifty years, and wherewith he affirms he has rescued many human beings and cattle from the fearful death of hydrophobia. Take immediately warm vinegar or tepid water, wash the wound clean therewith, and then dry it: pour then a few drops of muriatic acid, because mineral acids destroy the poison of the saliva, by which means the evil effect of the latter is neutralized."

In France, some years since, a victim of hydrophobia, while amid the gathering agonies of that terrible disease, flew to a bath, and let on a large measure of hot vapor, in the mere hope of alleviating his misery, and not of effecting a cure. The expedient produced immediate relief, and strange to say, resulted in a perfect cure from the fearful malady. So stated a journal at the time.—Portland Advertiser.

A MODEST OPINION.—Mrs. Ernestine L. Rose, a prominent "strong-minded" woman, in one of her recent speeches, thus expressed her opinion in reference to the Bible and its authors:—

I have charity and forbearance for the writers of the Bible. Had they had loftier conceptions, juster ideas, kinder feelings, and a more accurate knowledge of nature in general, and human nature in particular, they would have written quite a different Bible. As it is, it seems to me to be a concoction of incongruities, absurdities and falsehoods almost impossible to conceive.

The title 'Czar' is a corruption of the word 'Cæsar,' which was originally assumed as a title of honor by the Grand Dukes, and recently assumed by the Emperors of Russia.—Commonwealth.

This is a common notion, but erroneous. The word Czar, or more properly Tzar, belongs to the Slavonian tongues, and is to be found in books written long before the time of the Grand Dukes. The name of Belisarius is evidently a Greek modification of the two Russ words veliki tsar, meaning 'Great Captain.'—Courier.

REWARD OF INDUSTRY AND PRUDENCE.—Oliver M. Whipple, Esq., the Millionaire or wealthiest man in Lowell, presided at the "Vermont Festival" in that city the other evening, and in his remarks told of his early life in the State of Vermont, of his leaving home on foot for the city of Boston in 1815, with a cash capital in pocket of fifteen dollars, and of his arrival at Southwick, and engaging in service for eight dollars per month, and ending with his settling in Lowell (then Chelmsford) three years afterwards, with a capital of six hundred dollars he had earned during his stay at Southwick.

Gov. M'Duffie predicted, in 1836, that within twenty five years slavery would be extended to the Northern States. This was said in his message to the Legislature of South Carolina; in which he also said: "A laboring population, bleached or unbleached," (that is, white or colored,) "is a dangerous element in the body politic."

THE GADSDEN TREATY.—The Senate in executive session, to-day, carried an amendment to the Gadsden treaty making the thirty first parallel the boundary. This is mere play, however, as a majority of the body have determined, no matter what amendments may be made, to kill the treaty when the vote on its passage is taken.—Washington correspondence New York Herald of Tuesday.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, APRIL 17, 1854.

LETTER OF SENATOR DOUGLAS.

Senator Douglas prints in the Washington Sentinel, a letter of eight columns, in reply to the resolutions passed at a meeting of clergymen in Chicago, defending his course in debate, towards the New England clergymen, and renewing his charge, that their memorial was an outrage upon the privileges of a large body of citizens.

The New York Herald laughs at the honorable Senator for being so long winded,—but says:

"There can be no doubt that the three thousand New England clergymen, and the twenty five persons of Chicago, in assuming to themselves the authority to rebuke the United States Senate in the name of Almighty God, no doubt that they committed a piece of blasphemy of the most arrogant and atrocious character!"

This matter is getting decidedly rich. Senator Douglas and other great statesmen of his calibre pronounce the 3000 clergymen to be ignorant of politics: and now the great moralists of the New York Herald pronounce them so ignorant in their own profession as to be blasphemers without knowing it. We think both these opinions together must be considered highly complimentary, not only to the ministers themselves, but also to the congregations throughout the country, who elevated them to the pulpit by their votes and influence.

But is it not possible, after all, that both the Senator and the Herald may be slightly in error as to the whole matter? Is it quite certain that they are the men, and that wisdom will die when they depart?

It is quite possible that most of the three thousand may be as pure patriots as Mr. Douglas, and as pure moralists as Mr. Bennett and his assistants. At any rate they are citizens, and so have as good a right to rebuke Senators and editors as the latter have to rebuke them. We have no dignitaries so lofty, in this country, as to be above public censure when the people choose to administer it.

LIVES SAVED.—The New York Herald makes honorable mention of Capt. Fletcher of the ship Cornelius Grinnell of that port, who took off and saved the crews of the British brig Frederick and the New York ship Columbia, when the latter vessels were in a sinking condition.

We are glad to see also, that the captain mentions the names of five seamen who volunteered to man the boat which saved the crews in a heavy sea and amid great danger.

The Herald says,

Acts like these deserve some more substantial token of public approval than a passing commentary in the press. If it were right to award honors and rewards to the saviours of the sufferers by the San Francisco, it is equally incumbent upon us to show the gallant sailors of the Cornelius Grinnell that their conduct is not the less appreciated because the circumstances attending the disasters that called it forth have created less excitement in the public mind. We think that some immediate steps should be taken to manifest that feeling, and to give to these brave fellows some solid evidence of it. A suggestion of Captain Fletcher's seems to us as good a mode as any of carrying out this idea. He proposes that a fund should be raised for their benefit, the interest of which they should be entitled to draw during their lives. As each life drops off the lapsing interest should go to swell the portions of the survivors. After their deaths the capital fund might either be made the basis of some general system of rewards of a similar character, or be transferred to one of our local institutions. There is the germ of a philanthropic project in this idea.

ENGLISH MAHOMETANISM.—A letter from the East in the London Morning Chronicle has the following statement:

English cotton shirts, on which the concise contents of the Koran are roughly printed in blue, are now selling in the Turkish camp. They are eagerly bought up at tenfold their value, as the Turkish soldiers attach to those talsismanic extracts the gift of making the wearer invulnerable in battle.

☞ Mr. Mudge, who lost a foot by accident at Lynn, on the Eastern railroad in January last, has so far recovered as to return to his duties.

TROOPS FOR CALIFORNIA.—Companies D, G, I and K, of the 3d Regiment of U. S. Artillery, will leave New York on Tuesday next in the steamer Falcon for California, via the Isthmus.

MECHANICS' FAIR.—A great Mechanics' Fair and Exhibition is to be held at Portland, Me., next September.

FAILURE.—A firm in Boston, in the California and Australia trade, suspended payment on Tuesday last. The house has met with extensive losses in those markets, and has also suffered to a considerable extent from the fall in the price of breadstuffs.

A cargo of negroes that was lately captured has been disposed of by the Cuban government, but the negroes have not been hired out as "emancipados," but as free apprentices, so that the free apprentice system may be considered as having commenced in Cuba.

GUANO AND SLATERY.

The Boston Post Says:

Towards the last of February there were 160 vessels loading guano at the Chincha Islands. The export is about 1000 tons a day, and there is enough to last eight or ten years. The work of loading is done by Peruvian convicts, and by Chinamen, whom an English ship undertook to carry to California, but instead of that, the captain (an anti-slavery man, probably,) sold them at the Chinchas. If they do not carry five tons of guano per day a strong negro whips these poor wretches so that, to escape the lash, they frequently commit suicide. Fifty of them jumped into the sea together; and they perish so fast that, if the British philanthropists do not carry more of them there, exports will be greatly reduced. The negro whippers, however, are not likely to want employment; for British vessels were daily expected with more Chinamen, deluded and sold into bondage under that flag which is so busy all over the world in suppressing the slave trade—especially round the Horn.

We do not know exactly what the Post means by the parenthesis,—but if it is meant as a sneer at hypocrisy, we do not object to it. Sneers, however, are not arguments; and therefore we incline to treat the matter seriously. The British captain, by whatever name he may call himself or be called, is no better than a robber and a murderer; the black slave-whipper at the Chincha Islands is no better than a white slave-whipper elsewhere; and the Chinese Slave Trade may be made as bad as the African or American.—We have never yet been able to see why a system which would sell one man, should not sell another, without stopping to ask whether his skin was black, white or tawny.

THE WHEAT CROP.—The accounts from the West in relation to the winter wheat are generally good, though in some places the papers complain that the wheat has been winter killed. This complaint is made every Spring, however, and it generally turns out that a field of wheat which has a bad appearance early in the season, comes forward vigorously with the warm Spring rains, and turns out a good crop. The Dayton (Ohio) Gazette of March 26th says:

"We are happy to learn from a gentleman who has recently been all over Ohio and through other portions of the West, that the prospect of a good yield of wheat is very flattering. Some of the late wheat for a time had the appearance of being drowned or frozen out, but it seems to have recovered, and now bids fair to be ordinarily good."

We might quote similar accounts from other sources, but in the present crowded state of our columns must content ourselves with giving the general result of our gleanings among our exchanges. So great is the breadth of land devoted to the wheat crop in the United States, embracing such a diversity of climate and soil, and so wide an extent of latitude, that a serious deficiency in the aggregate yield can hardly be anticipated.

ROBBED HIMSELF.—A Mr. Hise, of Jackson township, who had sold his farm a short time since, received his money, $1000, in gold, on Thursday evening, and putting it into a carpet sack which he hung upon his bed post, went to sleep. In the morning the sack and money were gone—all he had in the world.—To add to his misfortune, too, he had contracted for another farm, and was to pay for it the next day.

During the day (Friday) the carpet sack was found in a hollow poplar stump, near his barn, with the pocket book in it, but no money there—the thief had secured what he wanted. On Friday night, Mrs. Hise was awakened by her husband getting out of bed. She arose and watched him. He went to the barn, after searching a little while, came out with the money in his hand, and went to the stump where the carpet sack had been put. She now awakened him, when to his great joy he found that all was not lost.

He had, doubtless, while in his sleep, become uneasy about his money on the first night, and get up and hid it; the second night, fearing it was not secure where it was, he was removing it to a more secret place.—Fortunately for him, his wife detected him in his somnambulistic wandering, and saved their all.—Greensburg (Ind.) Press.

THE CODFISHERMEN are fitting away from the New England ports later, but more extensively, than usual. The present prices of fish, and the withdrawal of the French fishermen for the Navy, leads to the expectation of a profitable year's work. There will be an increase of the Labrador vessels from this place, the present season.—Newburyport Herald.

The Washington correspondent of the Tribune says that important news of a belligerent character has been received from Havana. The refusal of Com. Newton to salute the Spanish flag, was occasioned by a difficulty between Consul Robertson and the Captain General.

Resolutions have been offered in the Southern Convention at Charleston, proposing that the United States mediate between Turkey and Russia, and recommending ex-President Fillmore, Gen. Scott, and Senator Butler as the peace commissioners.

A young man named Hilles accidentally shot his sister last week, near Georgetown Cross Roads, Maryland, whilst trifling with his gun. Her physician thinks she cannot recover.

HORRID.—The Syracuse, N. J., Standard says that on Monday night, when the western train was starting at Skenectales Junction, an Englishman by the name of Wm. M. Fletcher, who had just arrived by stage, jumped on the bumper between the baggage and freight cars. There were strong efforts made to take him off from his perilous position, but he resisted. When he was taken off he was dreadfully mangled, but he breathed about two hours. He was under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident.

Few men are open to conviction, but the majority of men are open to persuasion.

THE CASTING VOTE.

Messrs. Editors:—Please inform us in what position a tied deliberative body stands, and whether Mayor Walker in voting for either of the scattering candidates for Collector the other evening, would have given a "casting vote," and tell us what would have been its effect.—Mayor Walker is a whig, and would not probably violate his conscience in electing Mr. Lefavour; but if Mr. Goodrich, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, now stood in the shoes of the former, according to the doctrine of Mr. Hackett and the Portsmouth Journal, he would be obliged to elect his political opponent. If he voted for Mr. Ayers, he would do the very thing that his vote is intended to undo—create a tie between the two, though perhaps the advocates of this new fangled notion of presiding officers' rights, would then put Mr. Ayers' and Mr. Walker's votes together, and pronounce Mr. Scattering elected. Please solve this difficult question, and oblige

MANY BOYS.

We think the question easily answered. Mr. G. should have voted for his opponent. The Mayor has, by the charter and law, no right in this case to vote so as to make a tie, but only to break one.

In answer to the objection which would certainly be raised against this view, that this makes the Mayor a mere instrument rather than an agent, we reply, this is true. It is not the Mayor's duty to appoint a collector. The City Council, in Convention, must choose him by a majority—if they can—but if they cannot, then the Mayor must help them.

How shall he do it? If they stand 14 to 14, no one doubts that he must vote for one of the two candidates who stand thus.

But suppose he says, "I do not like either of them: I prefer a third man: it is no vote at all, if I can't vote for whom I choose; I should be a mere machine if I must vote for one of them. One of them is a whig, the other is a democrat, but I am a free-soiler—my conscience forbids my voting for either."

The law will answer that it knows nothing about his party or his conscience, but it has made it his duty to help the council out of their dilemma, by throwing a vote that will make an election. Voting for a third man will not do it. His duty remains exactly the same in the present case, only he is pressed into a path still narrower. One candidate has 14 votes—all others, (whether 2 or 14 it is quite immaterial,) have also 14. He sees them thus divided, and by casting his vote for the one who has 14, he elects.

Should he vote for any other, in these circumstances, it would really be no vote at all, but only a declaration that there was no choice, which all knew before.

If it be not his duty to vote so as to make a choice, no law about a casting vote can make it so,—but either the old collector must hold over, or we must have no collector till the legislature can pass a plurality law.

For the Morning Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Your correspondent T., in Saturday's paper, wishes to have a correct construction given to the expression—"a casting vote," and in making out his case, makes the following statement, to wit: "It will not be denied that it becomes the imperative duty of the City Council, voting under the solemnity of an oath, to elect all such city officers as by the charter they are required to elect; particularly because these, except the City Clerk, do not hold their offices until others are chosen and qualified in their stead; although it is otherwise in respect to all city, ward, and town officers, chosen by the people by ballot." vide sec. 6. Did not your correspondent understand that there was a statute law providing for all such cases as may arise. Chapter 34, section 6, of the Revised Statutes, reads: "All town officers shall continue in office until the next annual meeting for the choice of town officers, and until others shall be chosen and sworn in their stead, except in cases where the law shall otherwise direct." Does the law otherwise direct? the charter does not. These very officers were continued over, last year, under this very clause of the statute, and if your correspondent T., was then a member of the Council, he made no such avowal then; he has probably since then mislaid or lent the volume. Yours, L.

SNOW STORM.—We had a snowy day in this city on Saturday. It snowed a little in New York on Friday evening, and then turned to rain. At Buffalo on Friday there was a sharp snow storm, driving two steamers back into port. The storm at New York continued through the night and on Saturday.

☞ The prospect of the extension of the Newburyport Railroad through the city, to the wharves, is stated to be very encouraging. The land damages on the route surveyed, coming in through the south part of the city, are found upon inquiry of proprietors to be much less than the estimate. This is a needed improvement, and should be had. The business and prosperity of the place—and especially of the road—absolutely demand it. So says the Herald; and so say we respecting the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad in this city.

☞ By the liberality of the officers of the P. S. & P. Railroad, about forty members of Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, and Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. of O. F., went to Portland, on Saturday, to attend the funeral of Mr. Marshall Rood, who lost his life in the employ of the Road, and who was a member of both the above bodies of Odd Fellows. Services were performed by Rev. Mr. Chickering, at the High Street Church; after which the beautiful and impressive burial service of the order was read by Timothy G. Senter, Past Grand Patriarch. The procession was under the direction of George W. Towle, Past Grand Patriarch, who acted as Marshal on the occasion.

LAUNCH.—The fine clipper ship Midnight, of 1000 tons, fully masted and coppered on the stocks, will be launched from the yard of Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, this afternoon, at about 3 o'clock. The Midnight is a thorough built white oak ship ship, is owned by Henry Hastings, Esq., of Boston, and will be commanded by Capt. James B. Hatch, late of bark Kate Hastings. She is intended for the East India trade.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

By the steamship America, we have Liverpool dates to April 1st. The commencement of hostilities has caused the funds to decline, and breadstuffs to rise; the market has been much excited, and rallied from the previous week 1s 6d on Wheat, 5s 6d on Flour, and 5s on Corn. Flour 38 a 39s; Sour 35s; Indian Corn 43 a 44s. Wheat and Flour closed in good demand. Corn quiet as above stated. The weather is extremely fine. Arrivals large.

The war is to be in strict accordance with a treaty between the Porte, France and Britain, signed on the night of March 12, embracing five articles.

1st. England and France engage to support Turkey by force of arms, until the conclusion of a peace, that shall secure the independence and integrity of the Sultan's dominions.

2d. That the Porte shall not conclude a peace without the consent of the Allies.

3d. That the Allies shall evacuate the Turkish Territories after the war.

4th. This treaty to remain open open for the adhesion of the other powers of Europe.

5th. Turkey guarantees to all subjects of the Porte, without distinction of creed, perfect equality in law.

Several proctocols are attached, regulating the details. Meanwhile the campaign has begun in earnest.

The following summary from the Boston Courier, will give the reader an intelligible view of the operations:—

"The Russians have crossed the Danube at Matschin and Turtukai, two places about a hundred miles distant from each other. Matschin is on the lower Danube, near the coast. Turtukai is farther. This movement seems to develope a part of the Russian plan of invasion—namely, to take possession of the territory called the Dolruja, in Bulgaria, lying at the mouth of the Danube. It is remarkable that the Russians pursued the same course in the invasions of 1773-1774, 1809, 1810 and 1829. The force of the invaders is sufficiently strong to justify the belief that the Russians intend to open the campaign by striking an energetic blow. The Turks, it is probable, will withdraw a large part of their troops from Kalafat and Widden to maintain a respectable force in front of the invading army. We may expect to hear shortly of a great battle in the plains of Bulgaria.

The British Baltic fleet has arrived at Kiel. This port is on the inner side of the Danish peninsula, at the head of the canal uniting the Baltic with the German Ocean through the river Eyder. What the British admiral expects to do at Kiel we are not informed; it is by no means in his direct route to St. Petersburg."

It is confirmed that the Russians have crossed the Danube in great force, the object being to strike a decisive blow, before the arrival of the Anglo-French force.

On the 23d, a Russian detachment, under Prince Gortschakoff, forced the passage of the Danube above Turtukai, about 100 miles below Widdin and Kalafat, on the Danube, and captured eleven guns, two hundred prisoners, and occupied Turtukai and several forts on the right bank.

On the 24th, Gen. Luders began the preparations for the seige of Maischin, further down on the river.

On the 23d, the Russians also attempted to cross the Danube at Oltenitza, opposite to Turtukai, when a desperate battle ensued, and the Russians were repulsed. The carnage was dreadful. The Russians lost 3000 men; and the Turks themselves were so badly cut up that they had to retire to their entrenchments. It will be seen, however, that the Russians have effected a passage at three points.

On the very day when the Russians commenced to cross the Danube, Omar Pacha had intended to attack the Russian headquarters at Pojana. The plan of the battle was drawn up, and the entire force was put under the command of the French Colonel Dieu, but the Russian movement disconcerted the plan.

A despatch from Omar Pasha, dated the 5th, says:—"The Russians have lost all desire of attacking Kalafat, and purpose crossing the Danube at other points. If they should really do so, they would render me a great service, by enabling me to give a sound chastisement to these barbarians, who have broken into our house like robbers. But if the Russians do not resume the offensive, I shall undertake nothing important until the arrival of our levies and cavalry."

From the above, it seems Omar Pasha is prepared. He has 40,000 men in the right wing, with a line of works connecting the Dodrudscha with Silastria and Shumla.

The British steamer Sampson reports by telegraph that the Russians were abandoning their forts on the east coast of the Black Sea. Souchum Kale was in flames and the Circassians were plundering it.

The Russians are making stern preparations for hostilities in the Baltic. It was supposed that the first collision would occur at Oesel Island. All lighthouses and buoys are removed, and formidable fleets of gun boats are collected in shallow waters at the pricipal points. Masses of rock are dragged along the ice to intricate parts of the channel, to block it when the ice shall melt. All houses in Cronstadt not capable of defence are pulled down. New batteries are everywhere erecting, and two hundred additional gun boats are ordered forthwith. The Czar and his sons are personally superintending the preparations.

Accounts from Greece are unfavorable.—The Turkish Minister had demanded his passports and left Athens. The Greek insurrection was reviving, but the Turks hold the fortress and have eight thousand troops in Epirus. They have as yet had only one or two unimportant rencounters with the insurgents.

The English Parliament had moved an address to the Queen in answer to the declaration of war, assuring her of the nation's firm determination to co-operate in vigorous resistance to the projects of Russia, whose further aggrandizement would be dangerous to the peace of Europe.

In the House of Commons, the Attorney General gave an opinion that the sale of Russian ships to neutral parties would be protected in law. He further stated that Great Britain cannot and does not forego the right of search of neutral vessels for articles contraband of war.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!
SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

FATAL CASUALTY.—A workman by the name of Harrington or Hamilton, of Boston, Mass., (correct name not known by the employer,) while painting the third story piazza of Mr. Lowndes' house, East Bay, fell from the scaffolding to the ground, supposed to have been intoxicated. Dr. Ogler was immediately called, and upon examination, his breast was found badly injured and his skull fractured. He was conveyed to the hospital, where he has since died.—Charleston Standard.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, humbugs and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very unpleasant feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who have cured epileptics in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last burst, making a foul wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his friends to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humors outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) story high, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. A THRILLING INCIDENT.—The Rev. S. T. Allen, formerly of Merrimack, but now a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y., left New York in one of the steamboats that run through the Sound on Friday evening, and landed on Saturday morning while yet dark, (whether at Norwich or Stonington, we did not learn,) with his children recently bereaved of their mother. His little daughter of 10 years of age, attempting to follow him on the plank which reached from the boat to the wharf, fell from the plank about twelve feet into the water below, which was about twenty feet deep. The frantic father earnestly besought the bystanders to take the infant which he carried in his arms, but no one would receive it. The infant, therefore, prevented him from plunging into the deep after his daughter to the hazard of both of their lives. As soon as the child fell, a light was procured and a rope let down, upon which a man descended. As the man came near the surface of the water, the little girl caught hold of his feet, and like Putnam and his wolf, they were both drawn up together. Falling feet first, her clothes became extended upon the surface of the water, and prevented her from sinking. When asked what were her thoughts while in this perilous situation, she replied, "I wondered if any body would find me."

EFFECT OF A FLOOD ON ARTESIAN WELLS.—The Montgomery correspondent of the Charleston Courier writes to that paper, "during the late overflow of the Alabama river, the Artesian well at Montgomery discharged much more water per minute than at any previous time. While the river was at its highest stage, a gauge showed that the well was discharging about three times the quantity of water it had uniformly given out up to the rise in the river; and but for the small circumference of the spout, it would probably have discharged even more. This increase of flow was first noticed at the time of the great rise in the river, and it appeared to decrease with the falling of the water in the river bed, until at this time, it is venting only its usual quantity previous to the rise. The well is about four hundred yards from the river, and its depth near seven hundrek feet, so that its source must be fully five hundred feet below the bed of the river. The pressure of the water of the river upon the earth must have been very great to affect to such an extent a stream of water passing under its bed so many feet below it."

REDUCED TO POVERTY.—A correspondent of the Literary Gazette writes from Dresden: "A few days ago Herr——was sitting in his room in Ratisbon, when he was roused by a knock at his door; upon opening it he found an old woman, bent down with age and sickness, imploring alms, and upon inquiry he found that she was the daughter of Schikaneder, the companion and favorite of the great Mozart, but whom misfortune after misfortune had reduced to the lowest grade of poverty and distress, till at last, at seventy-four years of age, she was obliged to wander forth into the streets and sue for charity for herself and for her husband, who seventy seven years old, lay at home bed-ridden and stricken by an incurable disease."

A WORTHY EXAMPLE.—Mr. S. W. Andrews, who died on Sunday the 26th inst., was one of the oldest citizens of Rome. He was born at Green Farms, Fairfield Co., Conn., Sept. 7, 1773. He removed to Rome in 1810, and has resided here 44 years. He was an industrious, quiet, unassuming man, discharging the duties of life with fidelity, and commanding the respect of all. His accuracy and care in business affairs are illustrated in the fact that all his pecuniary concerns had long been adjusted with precision, and that he did not owe a man a cent when he died.—Rome (N. Y.) Sentinel.

BEARD.—The all-wise Creator gave man a beard and charged him not to "mar the corners" of it. Whosoever putteth a razor thereto sinneth against God. Custom has pronounced the beard inconvenient and ugly. Were it customary to wear it, we should find it of no more trouble than the hair upon the crown of the head. The objection of looks is equally baseless. Bob-tailed coats were once ridiculous, now they are very handsome. The looks of a thing varies with the fashion. So if beards were fashionable, all this alleged inconvenience and ugliness would vanish at once.—Portland Transcript.

An Irishman was before our Police Court not long since, which led to inquiry into his character and circumstances, when it was ascertained that he had been supplied with wood at the public charge, as being entirely destitute, and his family liable to perish from the cold, while at the same time he had some six or eight hundred dollars on deposit at the Savings Bank.—Newburyport Herald.

EXTENSIVE AND NOVEL EXHIBITION.—The Christian Register, alluding to the plenteousness of testimonial silver pitchers, makes the remark: "Pretty soon the exhibition of all 'presented' plate—say of the last ten years—may be suggested by way of a novelty. The collection would prove extensive, judging from the number of our friends who have contributable articles, from vases down to butter knives."

The Pearl Street House and real estate connected with it, in Burlington, Vt., has been purchased by the Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Burlington, with a view of establishing a nunnery, with a school under the charge of the "Sisters of Charity."

MR. McDONALD'S SPEECH.

Our readers may form some opinion of the character of the recent speech of Mr. McDonald, from the following synopsis of it by the Boston Post:

"Hon. Mr. McDonald, of Maine, in his speech upon the Nebraska bill on Monday, said the supporters of the bill are national men, upholders of the constitution, while its natural opponents are abolitionists under the lead of the New York Tribune, a paper tainted with heresy and isms of every kind. The principal editor of that journal does not believe in future rewards and punishments. The hangman's whip, the fear of hell, which keep the wretch in order, have no terrors for him. The natural tendency of their principles is that the people are not to be trusted and govern themselves, but must be governed. He spoke of abolitionists in the strongest terms of denunciation, including Mrs. Stowe, and in conclusion advocated the Nebraska bill because it asserted the great right of the people to govern themselves."

If the bill in question be, as we are told, in favor of liberty, why ran a tilt against Mrs. Stowe, who speaks on the same side?

And why single out one of the editors of the Tribune as a heretic in religious matters, when so many others, among them at least one editor of the Post, agree with him in opinion on the doctrines of religion.

The reader will please to notice Mr. McDonald's assertion, that universalism denies the right of the people to govern themselves; and also of assertion that it tends to abolitionism.

It is not our business to reconcile such contradictory statements, nor do we care just now to make any remark on them.

It is said that in the House, Mr. Faulkner complimented the gentleman on his speech, and for his independence of character, and the soundness of intellect!

The reader will have his own opinion of the compliments, whether they are well deserved or ludicrously misapplied.

MANCHESTER MIRROR.—This clever little daily paper has been slightly enlarged; and according to custom the editor makes an editorial note of it, in his usual off-hand, good natured way, which he concludes by saying:

"If any of our Editorial friends have any doubt about our getting a good living, if they will take the trouble to call upon us, those doubts will be removed, by a sight of the Editor in propria persona."

Any of our readers who happen to know the Hon. John P. Hale, and who do not happen to know the editor of the Mirror, may imagine that they look alike, as they do somewhat,—and then they can relish the joke about good living.

☞ Since the last steamer, prices of Flour in Boston are nominal, holders looking for very high prices in England for months to come—in which they will probably be disappointed.

☞ A steamboat in distress, supposed one of the Portland or Penobscot boats, was assisted by a fishing schooner off Ipswich bar on Sunday morning, and anchored a mile from Squam light.

Another change in the "Bachelor Club" has transpired in the loss of one of its honorary members, who took on Thursday evening a "helpmeet" in the form of a young and accomplished lady belonging to one of our first families. The interesting and solemnly impressive rites of wedlock were happily performed by the Rev. Mr. Bond, of the Locust street church. Long life and a merry one to the newly wedded pair—Dover correspondent of Boston Herald.

That was a severe blow at the very foundation of the above mentioned institution which carried off our friend. However our loss is his gain in this case at least. Charles and Abby we wish you a long life and a happy one. Vide Monday's Chronicle.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Barnum will announce to-day the ceremonies are to take place on the opening of the Crystal Palace. There is to be a new inauguration this time by the people, and a grand coronation of labor and the arts, together with other appropriate ceremonies. The fete is to come off on the 4th of May next. In the meantime new and attractive features will be added to the Exhibition. The Association intend offering two prizes of $100 each, for the two best odes in honor of art and industry, which shall be received before the 25th inst. The odes are to be set to music and sung at the inauguration. Barnum's message to the Directors is a very interesting document, and exhibits the future prospects of the Palace in a very flattering light.

O. D. Munn's injunction against the Association has been discharged, his claim of $35,000 having been paid by Mr. Barnum out of his own pocket.

10 o'clock A. M.—The storm has lasted all night, and is still raging furiously from the north east, accompanied with snow, and occasionally rain. There is a considerable quantity of snow on the ground, and the sleighs are in motion.

The Brooklyn Consolidation bill, has become a law, and Brooklyn, Williamsburg and Bushwick will soon form one Corporation.—The city, when so consolidated, will contain a population of nearly 200,000.

MAYOR OF PORTLAND.

Mayor Cahoon, as our readers know already, has been re-elected chief magistrate of our sister and neighbor city, Portland, Maine. He was thus re-elected, as they also know, in spite of opposition made by some persons, who nominated the celebrated Neal Dow, to run him off the track. Some persons may regard this result, in Mr. Cahoon's election, as really a defeat of temperance, as of Mr. Dow. We do not so regard it; and in order to show some reasons for our more hopeful view of the matter, we make an extract from the Mayor's Inaugural Address, as reported in the Advertiser.

The evils of intemperance still exist among us, yet not to the extent they have in former years; and although much has been done to eradicate the evil, yet much remains to be done, and which can only be accomplished by the united effort of the friends of temperance, combining moral suasion with the legal power.

In 1826, 189 licenses were granted to retailers and victuallers in this city, and our population was not probably more than two thirds the present number. Under the present laws there are no licenses, and no public and open places where liquors are allowed to be sold; and during the past year, whenever sufficient evidence could be obtained, the laws have been enforced so far as has come to my knowledge. But it is more difficult to reach suspected places than the public are aware of, and more particularly dwelling houses. If a general warrant could be obtained to search all the houses in this city, probably but few would be found free from the destroying agent, kept, however, to be used as a medicine, but not for sale as a beverage—and the most difficult point is to obtain evidence, under such circumstances, against those who really intend it for sale. This duty devolves especially upon the Police Department as the executive officers, and it will be my purpose, as it ever has been, to unite in the execution of all laws in which the city or its citizens are interested.

In order to carry forward the great temperance cause successfully, the principle of temperance must be implanted in the heart. The rising generation, as they come upon the stage of action, must be educated and impressed with the importance of the subject. This for the last few years, I fear has been too much neglected; and while we should see that the laws are vigilantly enforced, we should be careful that the cause does not suffer from a want of interest on the part of those who have been heretofore actively engaged in securing the co-operation of our citizens, both by precept and example. Friends of temperance may honestly differ with regard to the best measures to be adopted to eradicate the evil; but all will unite in the opinion that it is the great source of most of the misery, crime and wretchedness of the land, and that the most efficient measures should be adopted to accomplish the greatest amount of good. These are no new principles with me; for I have entertained them for more than thirty years, and my practice has been in accordance therewith. My past life must be the guarantee for the future.

These remarks unite moderation with firmness, and decision with honesty of purpose. The law must be well administered by such an officer.

It appears that both branches of the City Council have majorities of temperance men; and they have elected as City Marshal, Mr. Worthy C. Barrows, who is said to be a suitable man, and a warm friend of the Maine Law. On this matter the Argus remarks:

An efficient, fearless and faithful police force is an indispensable element to the public prosperity. Men of business want to be sure that their property will be at least reasonably safe from thieves and incendiaries, and the citizens pay no tax more willingly than that which goes to this object. But a subordinate police, under an inefficient, timid chief, will be of but very little service to the community. We trust, therefore, that the city fathers have filled this office with the right sort of man—a man who will do his whole duty, and do it prudently and wisely.

We want a Marshal who will execute to the extent of his legal power the Maine Liquor Law; but we do not want a man who will fancy that his duty ends there.

☞ Cochituate Bank, Boston, has suspended payment, and will probably, be wound up; but bill holders are safe, and ought not to part with their bills at at any considerable discount.

The President of the Bank is Mr. S. M. Allen, of the firm of Bryent & Allen, who have just failed, having suffered heavy losses by shipments of grain to Europe.

BOLD ROBBERY.—A bold and daring robbery took place at Eastern Point on Wednesday morning, although the thief did not obtain all he wanted. A Mrs. Parsons, a widow residing in the thickly settled portion of the village, had made preparations to visit Boston, and about six o'clock that morning set her trunk, filled with clothing, at the side of the outer door, that the expressman might see it and take it into his wagon when he came along; but when the latter arrived the trunk was gone. Several hours afterwards the trunk was found on the shore, about an eighth of a mile from the house, broken open, and its contents scattered around.

As only a petticoat was missing it was supposed that some one had overheard Mrs. Parsons say that she intended to send some money to Boston, and seeing the trunk placed out for the expressman, supposed he should find it there; but Mrs. P. had taken the precaution to forward the money by another conveyance, and consequently the thief fell short of his expectations. This was a bold robbery, and created no little excitement among our usually quiet and staid neighbors.—Gloucester Telegraph.

Gentlemen who made preparations for an early season, have put their white beavers on the upper shelf. The spring bonnets have all been pinned up in newspapers.—Charlestown Advertiser.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

THE CASTING VOTE.

We stated that our city officers, with the exceptions mentioned in the charter, could not hold their offices longer than for the one year for which they were elected. A writer in your paper of yesterday dissents from this position, and refers to Chap. 34, Sec. 6, of the Revised Statutes, passed in 1842, which provides that "all town officers" shall continue in office one year, "and until others are chosen and sworn in their stead." We have examined that section, and formed an opinion that town officers are not city officers—that city charters authorize the election of certain officers which the laws of the state do not direct the towns to elect—that the section referred to is not applicable to our city charter—that the latter was passed in 1849, and so far as our city is concerned, repeals all laws previously enacted, inconsistent with the charter, and that the exceptions that certain city officers may hold their offices until others are chosen, proves the rule. The general rule is—that officers shall hold their offices for the term of one year. Any practice not warranted by the charter itself, can afford no legal justification.

In respect to the other question, we see nothing stated to shake the position, that the Mayor's vote given to any candidate having one half of the whole number of votes, would make a constitutional majority, and, therefore, would be a casting vote. It is not difficult to state cases, where his vote would not be a casting vote; but in any case where it would be, seems to be very clear that the charter makes it his duty to exercise the right. The question is not to be tortured into a party-question. But if it could be, no one can now foresee which or what party would ultimately gain by a deviation from legal rules. T.

FAREWELL TO THE OLD NORTH.—On Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Lamson, of the Middle Street Baptist Church, preached at the North Church: and in the afternoon and evening, the Pastor, Rev. H. D. Moore, in his discourses and other services, took a formal and final farewell of the old edifice as a place of public worship. His sermon in the evening, to a crowded house, was from 2 Cor. 5: 1. "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

On Monday morning the work of dismantling was commenced, preparatory to the work of destruction. Books and crickets, cushions and linings were removed by the owners; and the hands of the old town clock were taken off by the clock-maker, who is proceeding to remove and store the clock ad interim.

It should be borne in mind that this destruction is no desecration of the old and time hallowed pews and pulpit. These were made into kindling stuff about 14 years ago, when the present interior finish of the house was made at considerable cost, and is now as good as new. There is now, therefore, a fair opportunity for some society wishing for a house of the same size or smaller, to save at least 500 dollars, perhaps more, in the purchase of pews, pulpit, windows, &c., at the approaching sale as advertised in our columns.

ANOTHER POPULAR LECTURER IN THE FIELD.—Under this head, the Boston Bee says:

At the present time, when the various Lyceums, Associations, &c., are engaging their lecturers for the next season, we would suggest a new candidate, at least in this quarter, in the person of Dr. Frank Fuller, of Portsmouth, N. H. He is a gentleman of excellent literary culture, an original and vigorous thinker, and an agreeable and effective speaker.

The Bee also notices the commendations which Dr. F. has received from papers in this State, and expresses a hope to hear him in Boston, where ability of this nature is so well appreciated.

We would add that Dr. Fuller's Lecture on the New England Mind, delivered before our City Lyceum, was an able and carefully written essay, evincing much thought and sound judgment; and that in its delivery he displayed the talent and power requisite for a pleasant and popular lecturer. His Lecture before the Mercantile Library Association, at their Anniversary, exhibited similar traits and thus confirmed the commendations of his talent in the lecture field. There need be no doubt of his employment and success as a lecturer.

EASTER SUNDAY.—The usual full services were read at the Episcopal church on Sunday last, by the Rector, Rev. Dr. Burroughs, Rev. Mr. Armitage, and Rev. Prof. Goodwin, of Bowdoin College. Sermon in the morning by Rev. Dr. Burroughs; in the afternoon by Rev, Prof. Goodwin, on the resurrection of the body. Good and appropriate music was furnished by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Thompson—closing with Old Hundred by a large choir gathered from the various churches.

Mr. Moore's discourse at the North Church, in the evening, was very similar to Prof. Goodwin's. The music on the occasion was by the usual choir, under the direction of Mr. Clark. The closing anthem—probably the last singing to be heard in the Old North Church—was V. C. Taylor's fine anthem, "O, how beautiful thy garments, O Zion; they shall prosper that love thee!"

☞ On Monday our city was blessed with a beautiful snow storm, which lasted through the day, and must have astonished the birds quite as much as it delighted them. It will not retard vegetation at all, provided we get some warm sunshine soon after we get our fill of snow. Don't mention May-Day yet.

THE LAUNCH of the clipper ship Midnight, from the yard of Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, was postponed from Monday afternoon, on account of the storm; and will take place this afternoon at three o'clock, weather permitting.

PERSONAL.—Col. John H. George, of Concord, was in this city on Saturday, and remained over the Sabbath.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!
SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where there were LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

THE SHAVER'S SOLILOQUY.

To shave or not to shave! the question is,
Whether 'tis better on the human phiz,
To let accumulation of our hair
Cover the chin and lips which now are bare;
Or to continue still to scrape away
The hirsute ornament from day to day—
To lather, shave, perchance to gash the face?
Ay there's the rub; for in this latter case
What mis'ry ours! 'Tis this must give us pause,
And make us rather let alone our jaws,
Than by continuance in the barb'rous use
Cut, scratch, and lacerate them like the deuce.
For if it actually were the case,
That Nature never meant the human face
To be so teased and tortured as it is—
If so, I say, why then what business
Have mortals virtually to cry out
That Nature knew not what she was about?
Why, since the beard was evidently meant
To grow, should men be seemingly intent
On trying to prove Nature was a dunce,
And did not know her trade? Why not at once
Pluck out the eyebrows and extract the nails,
And shave the heads of females and of males?
Strange 'tis that men should worship fashion, so
As to be willing thus to undergo
The pains of shaving, rather than permit
Moustache and beard to grow as they think fit.
How singular that men should still delight
In torturing their faces; when they might Themselves their comfort, ease, and health obtain
By vowing that they will never shave again!
But 'tis the dread of ridicule and scorn
Makes the foul fashion easy to be borne.
This custom of as all doth cowards make;
And for this savage custom, then, we take
The trouble and the pains our chins to mow,
Because it is the fashion to do so.
But thus our chins will soon no more, I hope,
Be lather'd o'er with the pale suds of soap.
Soon shall moustache and beard once more on all
Our chins wag merrily, in street and hall!

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV, late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the ship-yards across the river, or at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the ship-yards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

APPRENTICES TO THE BUSINESS OF SEAMANSHIP.—The ship-owning and other commercial interests should stir up their representatives to the work of urging the speedy enactment of the bill reported yesterday from the House Committee on Naval Affairs by Mr. Florence, providing for a system to encourage the thorough training of youths to the business of seamanship in the Navy, the Revenue Service, and Commercial Marine of the United States. It simply provides for the thorough education to the calling of a large number of lads apprenticed to it, making it obligatory on every merchant captain to have his quota on board, and to prove when neccessary that he has done his duty by them, before a collector is authorized to clear his vessel. In the Government service other and efficient means are provided in the bill, to insure their observance of the provisions of the proposed law. Nothing can be more simple and reasonable than the details of this measure. All the American commercial world are aware that some means must be resorted to, to do away with the present scarcity of American seamen, which is unexampled, to the extent of threatening seriously to cripple American commerce in all quarters of the world. Seamen's wages bid fair to average $50 per month in two years—a price which will prove ruinous to those who must ultimately pay the scot. We refer to manufacturers, consumers and producers, in the United States; as shippers will of course charge, in increased freights, all their incerased expenses to their employers.—Washington Star.

Ike took the paper from Mrs. Partington's hands. She had bought the fourth edition, with 'all about the war' in it, as proclaimed by an urchin—one of those war's alarms that are almost daily brought to our door. Turning to the war department he read—'The emperor of Russia has ordered all the buoys serving as guides to safe navigation in the Baltic to be removed previous to the arrival of the British fleet.' 'Isaac,' said Mrs. Partington, laying her finger on his knee and interrupting him, with a smile, 'there you see what a kind hearted man he is, after all the calomel and excrescence that has been heaped upon him. He has ordered the boys to be removed so that they should not get hurt in the war. He ought to be cannonaded as a saint.' 'He wouldn't get me out of the way, I guess,' said Ike, looking warlike and bending up his huge fists; 'I'd hide away somewheres where I could peek out and see the fun.' 'Ah, Isaac!' said the dame, gravely, 'war isn't any boy's play, and widows and orphans have no reason to bless it.' She discontinued here, as the vision of war's horrors, like the spirits of Kossuth's countrymen, passed before her mind's eye, and Ike, whose notions of war were allied with martial music, red plumes and guns, indulged in some speculations whether the emperor of Russia's army was as good looking as the first regiment of Massachusetts volunteer militia.—Post.

WHAT WILL YOU TAKE?—'In one of the neighboring villages in the Hoosier State,' as we gather from a note to the editor, 'not many miles from the banks of the Ohio, lives Judge B——, an eccentric character, who is ever ready to accommodate himself or others as occasion may offer. Being invited by a party of friends, whom he chanced to meet while passing a grocery, (one of those establishments peculiar to small towns, where 'tar, treacle and téstaments,' and other creature comforts are 'sold by the small,') to to step in and take a 'little something' for his stomach's sake, he readily consented; and although the variety of liquors was by no means as extensive as may be found in the more fashionacle resorts of your great metropolis, yet the freedom of choice was as readily granted; and the question was proposed—"Judge B——, what will you take?" The judge, after carefully surveying the stock in trade, for a few minutes, replied—"I believe I will take a mackerel," which, receiving, he politely wished his friends a pleasant time over their "red eye," and retired. He wasn't asked to "take" anything" after that!—Knickerbocker.

Miss Mary Dickey, servant girl at the City Hotel, Boston, has been presented with a service of plate worth $150, by the boarders of that house. We have no doubt Mary deserves the eating tools as much as more distinguished persons who have been the recipients of similar gifts. We shall next expect to hear that some editor has received a similar testimonial from his—delinquent subscribers.

Fashion should be contagious. Will not our subscribers consider and act upon the subject of presenting us with a silver pitcher. A silver pitcher we must have—can't wait any longer. Nothing but silver will satisfy. Delinquent subscribers will be allowed to contribute a double portion, towards defraying the expense. We want a "token of respect."—Charlestown Advertiser.

A private letter from Dr. King, to the N. Y. Observer, contains the following gratifying intelligence: "I have this very moment received the news that I am no longer under the sentence of banishment. Through the order of the King, it is announced that I am no longer to be considered an exile from Greece."

A New York Telegraphic despatch of Sunday night at 10 o'clock, says, a storm of sleet and snow prevailed at Washington all day. In this city we are having one of the severest storms experienced in three months. It is snowing furiously and blowing a gale.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1854.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

P. T. Barnum, the new President, has just issued an Address, bright and cheerful, like himself.

The new committee of arrangements are Horace Greely, Charles Butler, John H. White, Edward Haight, and P. T. Barnum.

The prospects of the Exhibition are represented in brilliant colors. The proposed sum of $100,000 has been raised by the sale of season tickets, and the injunction against the Association brought at the instance of Orson D. Munn has been dissolved. The Exhibition was temperarily closed on Saturday last, and it is announced that it will reopen on the 4th of May with a popular inauguration and appropriate ceremonies. We copy a portion of the address:

The Dutch Government has just contributed a large and choice variety of singularly unique articles of luxury and use from Japan. They number about one thousand, and cannot but prove wonderfully attractive, as tending to throw much light upon the peculiar habits of a reserved and extraordinary people.

Our Foreign Agent, Mr. Charles Buschek, advises us, that in consequence of the unsettled state of the European Continent, the number of costly paintings and valuable chef d'œuvres, in sculpture ready to be placed at our disposal, is unusually great, and will be forwarded without delay, now that every apprehension that the Exhibition will be a transitory speculation, has been disposed of. His report in relation to the more novel and elegant manufactures of Europe is equally gratifying; and I may add that arrangements are being perfected for the purchase of a collection of admirable copies of all the celebrated statues of the Antique—a collection that, in itself, will present the highest claim to the popular taste and attention.

Arrangements have been completed with some, and are in progress with other steamboat and railroad companies connecting this city with various portions of the Union, agreeably to which visitors will be conveyed to the Crystal Palace from the remotest spot, at greatly reduced rates of travel. Nothing else shall remain undone on my part to conduct this magnificent enterprise with that liberality which is due to the public, and that energy and economy which are due to the interests of the Association.

THE BLACK WARRIOR.

At last we have the Spanish or Cuban account of the difficulty between the Custom House at Cuba, and the American steamship Black Warrior, about which so much discussion and contention have arisen among our newspapers and public speakers. We copy an abridgment of it, prepared for the Boston Journal.

The New York Herald publishes several documents relating to the Black Warrior affair, taken from an English pamphlet published at Havana. Among the documents are two letters from the Captain General of Cuba to the President of the Council of Ministers, in Spain, which give to some extent a good idea of the Spanish view of the matter. The letters state that on the 28th day of February, when the steamer arrived in port, her consignee repaired to the Custom House and requested to enter her in ballast, at the same time presenting a manifest in which nothing was expressed or declared except articles of the ships provisions. Previous to this a customs officer had delivered to the captain a list of the custom regulations and obligations (written in English) to which he must, like all others, subject himself—notwithstanding which, both the captain and consignee refused to add, within the legal term of twelve hours, to the manifest.

Subsequently an officer, on visiting the ship, found a large number of bales of cotton on board, which she was carrying from Mobile to New York. Accordingly her departure was stopped, and judicial proceedings immediately commenced. The discharging of the cotton was proceeded to, whereupon the captain and crew abandoned the vessel. The Administrator of the Customs then invited the consignee, purely as a matter of grace, to name an agent who should assist, in behalf of the consignee, in the operation of unloading, which invitation was refused. The discharge being completed, it was found that the Black Warrior had on board 957 bales of cotton and various other packages of commerce, which had been shipped in Mobile, and several other articles which had been fraudulently shipped at Havana for New York. The case having been referred to the Superior Board of Administration, the board declared the declaration of the seizure and fines made in the proceeding to be legal, but left it to the discretion of the Captain General to reduce the penalties if he thought proper. The Attorney General thought that the seizure and fines might be reduced as low as $10,000 besides the expense and cost of discharging. But the Captain General concluded to reduce the penalties to the low sum of $6000, without any further expenses. This was done, and the consignee, depositing a bond for that amount, took possession of the vessel.

The Herald also publishes a petition from Messrs. Tyng & Co., the consignees, to Her Majesty the Queen of Spain, praying her, in consideration of various extenuating circumstances of the case, to reduce still lower, or remit entirely the fine.

BALTIMORE, April 17.—New Orleans papers of Tuesday last are received. The bark Grapeshot, from New York, with George Law's muskets on board, was lying at the mouth of the Mississippi River. The Delta says the Spanish Consul has dispatched intelligence to Havana of her arrival.

RAISING MONEY FOR A SCHOOL HOUSE.—It is said that the people of Bellows Falls have voted to raise $3000 for a school house—the said sum to be raised by instalments of $100 per year for thirty years.

THE POINT OF HONOR.

Uncle Toby, as a military man with his sword grown rusty from disuse, still thinks highly of the point of honor, and among other warlike usages, is careful to shave himself now and then, with Davis's Military Soap.—He has therefore read over, with scrupulous attention to the commas and semicolons, the whole correspondence between Messrs. Cutting and Breckenridge, and their seconds; and he cannot see that they violated or damaged the code of honor materially; though he must add, that in any other than a military view their dispute looks rather silly. He regards their way of going through a duel without fighting, as a decided improvement on the old and barbarous practice of shooting at gentlemen on a stand, exactly as loafers shoot at turkeys and roosters tied by one leg to a post. And he intends, when called out himself, to fight his duel in the same way, viz.: with pen and ink,—and not to be shot down and bagged, like a fowl on Christmas day.

He is happy to see also, that in chivalry and talent for correspondence, another duel case in New York is equal to the Cutting and Breckenridge affair; and that it is also as bloodless. Mr. Horatio N. Wild, a member of the New York Common Council, introduced a resolution into the body of which he was a member, declaring that "the city of New York, unlike all other first class cities, is unprovided with those indispensable requisites for health and decency, 'public urinals,' and the said want is productive of much mischief to public health and decency."

The 'urinal' remark of Mr. Councilman Wild stirred up Mr. Seely, another member of the Council, some sharp words passed between them, and a duelling correspondence ensued.

Mr. Wild is a manufacturer of candy, and Mr. Seely keeps a porter house. The seconds are Jackson, the well known pawnbroker, and Clancy, a coal dealer. With the models of the Washington letters before them, the correspondence of these gentlemen was conducted with ability and discretion, and will result in an amicable adjustment of the difficulty, which will, of course, be settled on terms equally honorable and satisfactory to both parties, who will extend, each to the other, mutual regrets and renewed assurances of distinguished consideration.

Uncle Toby would recommend this way of duelling to all whose passions boil over in harsh language and opprobrious epithets—but who are not disposed to throw away their lives, when a sheet of paper will answer a better purpose and hurt nobody. He goes further, and as an old past military man of established reputation, he offers his services as second to any gentleman who may wish to have his duel conducted on this plan of epistolary shots—such shots being as exactly in his line, as pistol shots are clearly out of it.

N. B.—It matters but little to him, whether the gentlemen combatants are congressmen or porter men—potentates or candydates.

☞ The Gadsden Treaty is said to have been rejected, by a vote of 18 nays to 27 yeas, not two thirds; the vote was somewhat sectional. Our Senators, Norris and Williams, did not vote; Rankin of Maine (?) and Toncey of Conn. are said to have voted for it: all the rest of New England and New York against it. The President and Cabinet are said to have urged its ratification, by presenting war as an alternative.

☞ Telegraphic advices from New York state that an unknown ship of 800 or 900 tons went ashore in the storm on Saturday night on Long Beach, about nine miles below Barnegate inlet. She was at seven o'clock on Sunday morning, about two hundred yards from the shore, with her foremast gone, and the sea breaking wildly over her. She appeared to have over 100 persons on deck, all huddled together at the stern so as to avoid the waves which were continually washing over her forward part.

Mr. Zephyr had commenced a "sonnet to April," yesterday, for the "Ecstasy," a weekly publication "devoted to literature, art," &., but was caled to dinner at the completion of the second line. It lay open upon his desk, and Old Roger entering at the moment, read—

"April, sweet April! on thy dewy hair
A single snow drop in its beauty sat,"—

"An hour ago, while standing in Court Square,
A snow-ball from above crushed in my hat."

ARITHMETICAL.—Messrs. Editors:—The answer to the problem which appeared in your paper of the 15th inst., is 144-225ths of one foot, which is the difference between the two sides of the triangle given in one sum. Rule: Square the base of the perpendicular for a numerator, and take the sum of the two sides for a denominator.

LOCAL.

AN OLD CONNEXION ENDED.

THE OLD LANDMARKS.—Just at the time when the old North Church is being shorn of its glory, has one of the best organists who ever caused its staunch timbers to vibrate to music's echo, bid adieu to the scenes of rich enjoyment and long success in the walks of art. Mr. Thomas P. Moses has during the past week removed his beautiful emblematic sign, as "Teacher of Music," from beneath that of the Daily Chronicle; and has gone to "prospect," as they say in California, concerning several long-standing and earnest invitations to locate in New York, Brooklyn, and elsewhere. He has for some time contemplated, and been much urged by friends to take this step; but did not fully decide to do so till the death of his aged mother, a few months since.

Probably no other man has ever done so much to disseminate a love of the fine arts in Portsmouth, as Mr. Moses. To this end he studied, labored, taught by precept and example; and gave frequent public exhibitions, generally without great pecuniary expectations or reward. For nearly twenty years he has been a teacher of music, vocal and instrumental—including more variety of the latter than any other ever attempted among us. Of his success, let his pupils, including several successful musicians abroad and a large majority of those young persons in Portsmouth who sing or play, testify.

As a concert-giver he has been more successful here, in every respect, than almost any other man—in the extent and variety of his performances, in the taste and ability uniformly evinced in arranging for musical exhibitions, and generally in drawing a house. Whether in conducting a large choir, as organist; in the performance of complicated sacred music, or the lighter secular airs; or especially in the teaching of children, he had no superior. From personal reasons, entirely diverse from considerations of ability or skill, he may latterly have lost something of the public favor; though the successful giver of probably at least fifty concerts. In this view, we fear it will be long ere we look upon his equal.

As a composer and arranger of music, he has done much to please good taste. Those of his compositions that he has furnished for publication, have proved favorites. As an organist, he has sometimes lost favor with incompetent judges, because he would never deviate from a true, simple, devotional style of music, in the sanctuary. He has done much with his pen, to incite a love for the beautiful and pure, in his moments of leisure from business. As a mechanic, we never saw his superior; be could turn his hand to anything, and turn anything to his hand—a jack-at-all-trades, he was mastered by none.

He has enjoyed unbounded patronage, and never lost any for want of ability; but having his failings, like most mortals, in proportion to his gifts, he sometimes missed the mark, and overshot to his own disadvantage.

Latterly he has devoted especial attention to crayon-drawing, and has proved as eminently successful in this as in all his other varied undertakings. He designs practising this art in connexion with music; and if favorably circumstanced will take high rank with the great artists.

We wish him abundance of kind friends, and in whatever he undertakes, the success his original genius merits. There are many behind who will never forget him, nor the great obligations they and the entire community are under, for services rendered by him during a score of years, in the way of what was at once a duty and pleasure—the dissemination of a practical regard for the beautiful. F.

☞ The clipper ship Midnight was launched in fine style on Tuesday afternoon, from the ship yard of Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew. She was masted and coppered on the stocks. A new feature in the painting of the Midnight, we noticed. In the cabin the centre-piece of each panel is a landscape or picture of some sort, beautifully done in gay colors—adding much to the appearance of this splendid parlor. Messrs. Swasey & Rowell were the painters.

A capital supper was provided by mine host of the Franklin House, to which the workmen employed in constructing the noble ship, her builders, and invited friends, sat down, as guests of the owner, Henry Hastings, Esq., of Boston. Speeches were made, sentiments offered, &c., and all went away fully satisfied that Mr. H. was one of a thousand.

☞ Mr. Conner is still busily engaged in painting portraits, at his room in Congress Block. Those who desire a good likeness of themselves or friends, should improve the present opportunity; we may not always have Mr. Conner with us.

ANOTHER OPINION.

A gentleman of much experience in political life, as well as an independent thinker, suggests to us another view of the Casting Vote, which we here present to our readers.

The Mayor of the city, in the late Convention of the City Council, not only had the right to a casting vote, but (in our friend's opinion,) was bound to cast it—not, as we maintained, only when casting it would make an election, but also when according to his judgment the public weal required him to defeat it. To vote, one way or the other, our friend suggests, is made the Mayor's duty, by the charter, and by his oath of office.

We need not repeat that this is not our view of the case;—but we present it as the opinion of one who thinks and acts for himself, and who is entitled to a hearing and consideration.

THE ENTIRE SWINE.—Wm. Marvin, Esq., of this city, has just slaughtered an immense porker, about twenty-three months old, of the following dimensions:—Length from snout to rump 7 feet, height 3 feet 6 inches, girth 6 feet 7 inches, weight when dressed 711 lbs. The whole weight, when in the sty, must have been nearly nine hundred pounds—good weight for a horse. The animal has been purchased by Mr. Joseph B. Currier, of the Spring Market, for $65. Mr. Marvin resides on one of the islands between Newcastle and Portsmouth proper, in Ward Three, from which he was recently elected to the Common Council; and an old line Democrat thinks the Ward has this time, as usual, gone the whole hog.

THE GOOD SAMARITAN.—Our enterprising neighbor, Thacher,—who "believes in advertising" of all sorts,—has just raised a splendid new sign with the figure of the Good Samaritan binding up the wounds of one who "fell among thieves." To make room for this, he pulled down "Drugs and Medicines"—a good exchange we think. The new sign is located between the windows of the Aldermen's Room, on State street. It is from the establishment of Swasey & Rowell.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, April 17.

SENATE.—Several petitions and memorials were presented on various subjects, including the remonstrance against the Nebraska bill, and a memorial from 15,000 believers in spiritual manifestations, praying of Congress to investigate the matter.

Senate went into executive session, and refused to ratify the Gadsden Treaty.

Mr. Wallbridge of New York submitted a resolution declaring that the United States deem it proper, in view of the existing war in Europe, to make known that every American vessel engaged in the lawful pursuit of commerce, is held by the government to be protected by the flag that covers it, &c.

The resolution also affirms the doctrine that any attempt made by European powers to extend their system of government to any portion of this hemisphere, should be looked upon as dangerous to our peace and safety, and that the United States will never consent that the sovereignty of Cuba shall be transferred to any except the country to which she seems naturally to belong.

Mr. Wallbridge's resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

A bill from the Committee of Ways and Means, for the purpose of increasing the salaries of Clerks and subordinate officers in the Executive Department gave rise to a long debate, in which the policy of an economical expenditure of the money of the people was strongly insisted on by some of the speakers. Without disposing of the matter the House adjourned.

PITTSBURG, April 15.—The trial of Davis, Lawson, Hazen, and Morris for conspiracy to extort $110,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was concluded yesterday, and all the parties were found guilty. Hazen and Davis were committed for sentence, but Morris and Lawson have absconded and forfeited their bail.

The boiler of the Jones Ferry steamboat exploded this morning, just as she was leaving the wharf, instantly killing Jacob Hadley, the engineer, and injuring four others.

CHARLESTON, April 15.—The Grand Southern Pacific Railroad was adopted after a warm debate between all the leading men in the Convention. The clause authorizing the corporation to negotiate was strongly opposed, and the resolutions in favor of the Gadsden Treaty, and alternate sections of public land also caused bitter opposition. The Virginia Delegation was withdrawn, and the Convention adjourned to meet in New Orleans on the second Monday in January next.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The State Legislature adjourned to-day sine die.

A despatch from Bolivar, Miss., states that a levee on Gen. Clark's plantation had given way, causing damage in the vicinity to the amount of $150,000.

The steamer Atlantic, which anchored in the lower bay on Saturday, sailed this morning and crossed the bar at 10 o'clock.

LOUISVILLE, April 17.—The trial of the brothers Ward, charged with the murder of Professor Butler, was commenced to-day, at Elizabethtown; about 150 witnesses were summoned, among whom are Secretary Guthrie, who arrived yesterday, and Col. Preston, member of Congress from this District.

HARTFORD, April 17.—The result of the recent state election has been announced. The whole number of votes for Governor was 61,275; Mr. Dutton, Whig, received 19,465; Mr. Ingham, Dem. 28,538; Mr. Chapman, Dem. 10,672; Mr. Hooker, Free Soil, 2500. Majority against Ingham 4099.

FOUND DEAD.—An Irishman named John Sullivan, belonging in Newton Upper Falls, was found lying dead near the track of the Charles River Railroad, at Chesnut Hill, in the edge of Newton. By his side was an empty rum bottle, and in his pocket was found a receipt for ten gallons of gin, which was carried over the road by the Saturday evening train.

It is supposed that Sullivan missed taking the train and started to walk home, but becoming "tired" both by drink and travel, stopped to rest and died from exposure.—Boston Transcript.

The gale on the Lakes last week was very severe, and lasted four days. Several vessels, including the propeller Forest Queen, are reported to have gone ashore, and the latter with a valuable cargo, it was feared be a total loss.

MARINE ACCIDENT.—A Brooklyn ballast lighter was capsized in the East River, New York, on Saturday, and four persons, all who were on board, were drowned.

ROW.—Quite a serious row occurred on Beach street, last Tuesday evening, by which the contents of one of the stores were completely demolished. The particulars, as far as we can learn them, are that some persons became dissatisfied with the proceedings of the keeper, and mustering a good force, made a descent upon the place, took off the blinds and doors, smashed in all the windows in the lower floor and several in the second story, took all the furniture, jugs, &c. &c., into the street, and demolished them, and then completely gutted the building. The keeper was also informed that he must leave the town before a certain time, or he would be honored with a new suit of clothes composed of tar and feathers.

We understand that the place has been one of the vilest rum holes ever kept in our town. Whether the owner of the building obtained any satisfaction for the damages done, we do not know; but the community have no sympathy for him so long as he leases his premises for such unlawful purposes. The means taken, however, to remove the nuisance, was wrong, and we hope will not be followed up in any other cases, as we have heard it intimated would be done. There are legal ways enough to effect the same ends, (although not speedy,) if those engaged would persevere in their attempts to break them up.—Gloucester Tel.

DR. ORDWAY'S
AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,
LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS,

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

PRICE 25 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Cough Destroyer.

This invaluable Cough Remedy is for the complete cure of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Whooping Cough, pains in the side and breast, hacking or tickling at the throat, spitting blood, tightness across the lungs and chest, and all Lung Complaints leading to Consumption.

No medicine yet discovered has that decided effect in curing Bronchial affections as the Cough Destroyer. It can be taken by all ages and classes, from a child six months old to the oldest man or woman, with the most happy results.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

Dr. Ordway's Pain Destroyer.

This preparation is composed of a great variety of Extracts, Gums, Essential Oils, most of which have not heretofore been united and compounded into their present form. It will cure attacks of Cramps of the Stomach, Spasms, Convulsions, Faintings, Pain in the Stomach, Bowels, Side, Back, Limbs, and a great variety of other difficulties. It is also invaluable as an external remedy. It will be found to contain nearly double the strength of any similar article, and possesses properties heretofore unknown. No family should be without it for a single day.

PRICE 25, 37½ AND 50 CENTS A BOTTLE.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case, and have seen some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4820 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; I can only accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful in a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last burst, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in Dropsy. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any exception of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure. I merely say what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

Dimensions for use. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS WONGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it kills them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

MORE HANGING IN EFFIGY.—On Tuesday evening two effigies—one representing Senator Douglas, and the other Senator Thompson—were hung on a tree on the common in this city. Two of the most prominent abolitionists in the neighborhood were compelled to lie abed for some hours in consequence of the joke—each, in the excess of his patriotism, having volunteered his only pair of pantaloons for the occasion.—Camden (N. J.) Democrat.

Mr. Macdonald, of Maine, in his frank and fearless speech in favor of the Nebraska bill, yesterday—one of those old fashioned, hard sense arguments that brought back to us the memory of the days of the Jackson democracy—declared that the abolitionists who hanged men in effigy for voting for the Missouri Compromise, are now hanging men in effigy for voting against it.—Washington Union.

These must be tough old fellows, who hung effigies in 1820, and now hang them again in '54. But seriously, the Missouri Compromise was giving an inch to slavery—and now it asks an ell. Shall we give it? This is the whole question.

Effigies are not arguments; they are mere trash; their use is matter of taste, and we think they are in extremely bad taste, placing them in the same category with roosters and coons, guns and bells, drums and drams, either as political stimuli, or as the emblems of partisan triumphs. Nevertheless they have been used by all parties, time out of mind, though utterly unworthy of use by men of sober thought.

REV. SYLVESTER JUDD ON THE CHURCH.—Crosby, Nichols, & Co., Boston, have just published a Series of Discourses on the Church, by Mr. Judd. The volume comprises fourteen sermons, which embody the author's peculiar views of the Church. The Portland Transcript remarks:—

He believed the theory of church membership which prevails in most of the protestant churches of Christendom, to be utterly false. He held that all the members of a religious Society are in fact members of the Church, and that the children of Christian parents are born into the Church, just as they are born into the State and the Family. These views he enforced with great fullness of facts, cogency of argument and beauty of illustration. Just before his death he had succeeded in obtaining their practical acceptance by his own church and society.

THE DIVINE CHARACTER VINDICATED.—Rev. Moses Ballou has written a reply to Rev. Dr. Beecher's "Conflict of Ages." The Portland Transcript says:—

"Mr. Ballou looks at it from the Universalist point of view, and while he accepts Dr. Beecher's exposition of what he considers the utter and fatal antagonism between the Divine character and the orthodox dogmas, he rejects the author's theory of pre-existence, as insufficient to remove from the Divine character the reproach which those dogmas cast upon it. He holds that while Dr. Beecher adheres to the doctrine of a universal fall, he has upset the supposed scriptural foundation for it. The review is earnestly and powerfully written, without controversial rancor or bitterness. It will excite attention in religious circles."

REMARKABLE ESCAPE OF PRISONERS.—Gov. Seymour, of New York, has offered a reward of $250 for the apprehension of Henry Thornton and Henry Hoffman, convicted of assault and battery with intent to kill, and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in the Auburn State Prison. According to a statement in the Albany Journal, they were proceeding to Auburn under the custody of an officer, in an express train on the Central Railroad, at the rate of thirty miles an hour. Soon after passing Syracuse one of them feigned sickness, and desired to be allowed to stand upon the platform for a few minutes. The officer complied with his request, and conducted them, chained together, to the platform, where they stood quietly a few moments in company with the officer and breakman, and then both leaped off together. The train proceeded a mile and a half before it could be stopped, and on returning to the spot no trace of the rogues could be found.

FOREIGNERS.—The Irish in New York have formed what is called the "Civil and Military Republican Union." The ostensible purpose of this organization is to aid Ireland by force of arms; but the real purpose is undoubtedly of a different chrracter. They are known to have such organization in other cities, the members owning their own arms and equipments, and often meeting for drill; and between them and the "Knownothings," who are also known to attend public assemblies in large numbers with concealed weapons, we may one day have a result that will call for the suppression of all secret political societies, and of all military organizations, composed entirely of foreigners. The matter had better stop on both sides before it begins to assume a serious aspect.—Newburyport Her.

A late India paper states that the famous car of Juggernaut of Muhes, near Serampore, has been entirely destroyed by an accidental fire. Its keepers are overwhelmed in grief, and attribute the accident to the fury of the God, for some cause to them unknown.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1854.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The legislators of the Bay State are doing some important business. On Tuesday, in the House of Representatives, the amendatory liquor bill was taken up, and, without debate was ordered to be engrossed—152 to 124. The Courier is informed by a very able lawyer, that the bill does not obviate the objections raised by the Court against the 14th section of the present liquor law.

There was a smart debate on the bill giving magistrates power to withhold witness fees from spies and informers,—ordered to a third reading Tuesday by the casting vote of the Speaker—which resulted in the passage of the measure by a vote of two to one.

The districting bill was taken up, and referred to the next Legislature for ratification, —yeas 190, nays 73—majority 44. There were 44 members absent when the question was taken.

The district bill as passed provides for a Senate of forty members and a House of three hundred members, the basis of representation being legal voters.

TRIALS OF A MIND.

Patrick Donahoe, the Catholic publisher, of Boston, has presented us with a copy of Bishop Ives's new book, which is a neatly printed volume of 233 pages.

The exact title is, "The Trials of a Mind in its progress to Catholicism: a Letter to his old Friends, by L. Silliman Ives, L. L. D. late Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in North Carolina."

We have never been able to blame Bishop Ives for his singular step in going back into the Roman Church: but he has always seemed entitled to our commiseration and pity for the step itself, mingled largely with respect for his honesty and admiration of his tenderness of conscience.

These feelings, all of them, remain unchanged in our mind towards him, now that we have read his Introduction to the Book before us, and glanced at the arguments in his following chapters.

He receives our most ardent sympathy as a man searching after the truth, and giving up his dignity, his place, his influential friends, all his temporal prospects, when he says "I have found it." In this respect he forcibly reminds us of the parable representing a man who found a treasure hid in a field, and straightway sold every thing he had, and bought the field.

Bishop Ives' treasure is the Apostolic Succession. The reader who peruses the 15th chapter of the Book before us, will be satisfied that Mr. Ives could not find it in the Anglican or American Episcopal Churches. And he who reads the subsequent chapters will not fail to see how gladly he discovers it, hidden under Peter's chair in the Vatican, imparting an odor of sanctity to the Pope's vestments, and offering to the novice or seeker the only means of redemption, life and salvation.

Discovering this treasure, he counts all things else as dung and dross, and absolutely flings them away in his haste and zeal to rush into the arms of his Holy Mother Church, as the only place of safety, peace and bliss.

We repeat, that in what he does and suffers as a man and a christian, he is entitled to our warmest sympathy. But at the same time we must add that we have not one particle of faith in his system of theology and philosophy. We consider him as a bewildered dreamer, who, in the place of eternal principles, fixed laws, and plain truths, pins his faith on traditions, precedents and successors; bows down to an infallible council of fallible men; and babbles of beads and relics and primacy. He believes the Church built on Peter to be the only church—and that Peter's successions, Pia Nono, is the viceregent of Christ on the earth at this present writing.

We respect the man's learning, and admire his honesty, both of which are quite apparent in his book as well as his life: but we heartily pity his weakness and commiserate his delusion. And we gladly accept the book, as the well written autobiography of a pilgrim who has actually travelled back from the Nineteenth Century into the Dark Ages.

CHEAP POSTAGE.—Mr. Olds, chairman of the Committee on Post Offices, in Congress, has reported a bill raising the rates of postage, after the first of January next, so that all letters, whether conveyed by land or water, under 3000 miles, shall pay 5 cents, and all over 10 cents; and providing that they shall all be prepaid by stamps. This is a folly that the people will not approve, and that should never take form in law.—Newburyport Herald.

That is right. Mr. Olds must be behind the age, to think of raising the postage. We wish Congress would order all letters to be prepaid or else to lie dead without being forwarded. If they will do this, and abolish Congressional and Executive Franking, all will be well with the postage law.

NATIONAL REPOSE.—The Boston Bee says that "in 1850, the country was distracted. A crisis was at hand. The only alternative was a Compromise, or disunion. Webster, with a greatness of patriotism only equalled by the heroism of the deed, stepped forward like a giant, and saved the Union,—brought repose to the nation, and saved it from a scene of terror which it is frightful to contemplate."

Now we do not remember being much terrified; nor was that part of the country where we dwelt, very much distracted. The president-makers in Washington saw the crisis; trembled; and their knees smote together, like a certain Babylonish king. Then it was, as the Bee suggests, that Mr. Webster stepped in, and by his appeals to the north, effected the passage of the compromise measures, especially the fugitive slave law.

And the repose that followed, we take it, is exactly what we are enjoying at present, under the finality of this same compromise. We beg the reader's pardon, though, for using this word finality. We don't think we have seen it in one patriotic paper or speech, since the Nebraska bill has been on the carpet.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT ON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The rear car of the express train which left Buffalo at 11 o'clock on Saturday night last, for the East, was thrown from the track at Bergen, seventeen miles from Rochester, in consequence of running over a cow. The car was thrown down an embankment, and completely demolished. Some fourteen or fifteen persons were in the car, including the conductor, Mr. H. Stearns, whose head was badly cut and his arm considerably injured. All in the car were more or less injured. The following list is given of the wounded:

Henry S. Wells of New York, leg broken; G. C. Vail of Benton, Ind., back badly hurt; H. J. Winslow, Chicago, much bruised; R. McDonnell, Buffalo, head and face cut and wrist sprained; J. R. McDowell, Syracuse, slight injuries. Several other persons are considerably bruised about the head and face. John A. Clark of Rochester, narrowly escaped with his life. His overcoat was torn to pieces, but he received no serious injury.—Adam Stewart of Bergen is badly hurt internally. John J. Bowen of Rochester, and Chauncey Tucker of Dunkirk fortunately escaped serious injury. There was a rumor that a lad was fatally injured, but we were unable to ascertain that the report was correct. At least three others were seriously hurt, one, it is feared, cannot live.

HIGHLANDS, N. Y., April 18—P. M.—The ship ashore at Squam Inlet is the Underwriter, Capt. Shipley, from Liverpool. She lies with her head to sea, and is apparently in an easy position. The sea was running so high when our informant left, that she could not be boarded easily.

The Underwriter is 1400 tons, and has a great many passengers on board. The steamship Achilles has left for her, and the Titan for the vessel near Barnegat.

The Underwriter has 640 passengers, and is valued at $85,000. Insured for $75,000.—Her cargo is also insured in Wall street for $150,000.

A telegraphic despatch from Trenton states that the ship ashore near Barnegat had not broken up Tuesday morning, and that consequently there were reasonable grounds for the hope, that the aid sent from New York would arrive in time.

The steamer Sarah Sands, Capt. Illsley, arrived at Portland Tuesday forenoon, having left Liverpool April 1st. She made Seguin Light Monday noon, but owning to the storm did not run in. She has had a favorable passage; the prevailing winds having been easterly.

RECAPTURE.—The two convicts, Hoffman and Thornton, who a few days since escaped from officer Phillips, while on their way from Syracuse to Auburn prison, by leaping from a swiftly moving train of cars, have been retaken, and are now safely lodged within the granite walls of the prison.

The Gadsden Treaty between the United States and Mexico was rejected in the U. S. Senate on Monday, by the lack of a two thirds vote in its favor. Those who voted upon it were:—

Yeas—Messrs. Atchison of Missouri, Bell Tennessee, Bright of Indiana, Brown of Mississippi, Butler of South Carolina, Cass of Michigan, Clay of Alabama, Clayton of Delaware, Dodge of Iowa, Douglas of Illinois, Evans of South Carolina, Fitzpatrick of Alabama, Gwin of California, Hamlin of Maine, Johnson of Arkansas, Mallory of Florida, Mason of Virginia, Morton of Florida, Pettit of Indiana, Jones of Iowa, Rusk of Texas, Sebastian of Arkansas, Slidell of Louisiana, Stuart of Michigan, Thompson of New Jersey, Toombs of Georgia, and Weller of California—27.

Nays—Messrs. Allen and James of Rhode Island, Everett and Sumner of Massachusetts, Chase and Wade of Ohio, Fish and Seward of New York, Bayard of Delaware, Brodhead of Pennsylvania, Dodge of Wisconsin, Fessenden of Maine, Foot of Vermont, Geyer of Missouri, Shields of Illinois, Smith of Connecticut, Thompson of Kentucky, and Walker of Wisconsin—18.

So the treaty failed of a ratification.

The Sloo amendment was tried first in the Senate, and lost by only two votes. It is said if that amendment had been carried, the treaty would have been saved—with what reason we cannot tell.—Boston Courier.

VACANT PULPITS.—Owing to the storm of Saturday, which prevented the steamer from making her usual trip, five of the Nantucket churches had no preaching in them last Sabbath—the pastors being absent from the Island.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Gadsden treaty was reconsidered in the Senate yesterday without a division.

THE CASTING VOTE.

Messrs. Editors:—Please insert in your valuable paper the following, for one, with the many, curious to deduce the facts for and against the decision of the Mayor, at the last meeting of the City Council, last week, on the use of the casting vote. First, What is a casting vote? Webster defines a casting vote to be "The vote of a presiding officer in an assembly or council, which decides a question when the votes of the assembly or house are equally divided between the affirmative and negative; [United States] Coxe.

When there was an equal vote, the governor had the casting voice. [B. Trumbull.]"

The constitution of the United States reads, Art. 1, sec. 3d: "The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided." The charter of the city of Portsmouth provides that the Mayor shall preside over the City Council when in joint convention, 'and have the casting vote only.' You will perceive that the Mayor has the same power that the President of the Senate has. With the President of the Senate the power is defined, and with the Mayor the power is implied. Will any one contend that there can be any difference in the meaning conveyed in the two cases? You will see at once that in the U. S. Senate, the result of a balloting producing 14 28ths of the whole number for one person, 13 28ths for another, and 1 28th for another, must be declared by the President of the Senate no choice. No person will pretend that the casting vote can be used in this case. But says one, the case in the City Council was an equal division, taken as the affirmative and negative. Mr. Lefavour had 14 votes in the affirmative; Mr. Ayers 13, and Mr. Walker 1, in the negative; now the Mayor's vote will elect Mr. Lefavour, and the affirmative of the question prevails. So far very good. Now we will take the other side of the case: the Mayor we will suppose, will vote for the negative, and the negative of the question, will prevail; then you have elected Mr. Ayers and Walker. You see that you cannot jump the two together as has been attempted by some of your correspondents, to decide the affirmative and negative in that manner. The twenty eight votes were given for three different persons; there must be an equal division between two of those voted for to allow the Mayor to use the casting vote. An equal division cannot be made out, from the votes as they stood on the Council in the election spoken of. During the administration of Mr. Fillmore, if my memory serves me correctly, there was a case in point in the election of a chaplain for the Senate of the United States. In the course of the ballotings, the Rev. Mr. Slicer had half the number of votes given; the other half were scattering: Mr. King, President pro tem, of the Senate, decided that there was no choice. I have not the journal of the Senate at my command for reference, and would be pleased for any person having the journal to make reference thereto and correct any wrong impression. The question presents itself in three different degrees; first, What is a casting vote? second, What power was granted with the use of the casting vote by the charter? third, What was the decision of the Mayor in the case referred to? After a careful review of all the facts connected with the case, in all its different bearings, it must be admitted that the Mayor well understood the question; and although counselled to a different course by those who are supposed to be conversant with questions of law, the decision was judicious in all its bearings, and reflects credit upon the Mayor for his firm determination to first understand what was right, and then the right pursue. Yours, L.

THE TIME is difficult to obtain, now that the city clock is removed from the North Church. We notice a couple of marine time-pieces handily hung at the door of Messrs. Ham's store on the Square. In Newburyport, some if not all the watchmakers, have a large dial fixed in front of their stores—at once a good advertisement for themselves and a great public convenience.

By the way, the Chroniclers have long indulged in the habit of looking from their office windows at the old city dial. We are happy to be able to state that the loss sustained by the removal of the hands from that dial, has been more than made up by the kind attention of our neighbor, Mr. Henry H. Ham, who has furnished us with a very smart marine time-piece, from his full assortment of all good descriptions. So we shall be enabled to keep up with the times yet, or at least know when we are falling behind.

HONORABLE.—The late Mr. Charles Ewer, of this city, formerly a merchant in Boston, several years since failed for a considerable amount. A few years afterwards, having met better success, he called his creditors together and paid them an instalment on what was due—twenty-five per cent. we think. We are informed that his will just proved, provides for the full payment of the balance of all those old debts, with interest to the present time; what remains goes to his relations.

☞ The Kinetopoloscope of all the Great Battles of our country, and representations of many other interesting scenes, are now on exhibition at the Temple, where they will remain for this week only. They include views of all the principal fleets that invaded our shores; of the encampments of the hostile armies; views of many of the battles of the Revolution; naval battles of the war of 1812, and many others.

The exhibition, generally, as a work of art, is superior to most panoramas that we have seen, and being composed of a series of independent pictures, is less tedious than though it were one continued view. The whole exhibition is worthy of attention by those who wish to review our history on canvas.

For the Morning Chronicle

A FAREWELL,

The hand of man will level thee to earth,
And in thy place, a statlier edifice, will rear
Its proud and lofty head; and souls go in
And out, refreshed by holy word from Heaven,
As long, through many years, they have from thee.
Yet not without full many a thought, art thou
The many hours of sweet communion passed
In thee, are fixed too deeply on the hearts
Of thine attendants, e'er to be erased.
How many a soul on whom the great "I Am"
Hath breathed the Word Divine, and taught the road
To Heaven, have stood within thy walls, when the Sweet Sabbath came with its still calm and hour
Of holy thought; while anxious, listening ears
Heard and rejoiced the while, in silence deep.
Many a dim eye gazed, as fell the tone,
The gentle words, from lips by all beloved,
And brightened with the blest assurance that
Above there is a "home" beside the loved
And blest. And here, the wild, young heart
Of youth was taught to love, and to revere
The God who gave it life and happiness.
On them first fell the all-important truth,—
"To sin were Death"—to live aright were Heaven.
Long will thou be remembered in the minds
Of those who met within thee, and by all
Who gazed upon thy heavenward-pointing spire,
Even as our souls should soar above the things of earth.
Sacred the spot on which thou long hast stood,
And sacred too the memory of thee.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, April 18.

SENATE.—In the Senate, several petitions and memorials were presented, among them, one from Vermont, by Mr. Sumner, against paying the Amistad Slave Claim; and another by Mr. Cass, from Jewish citizens, relative to religious toleration abroad.

The Land Graduation bill was taken up, and Mr. Petit addressed the Senate in its favor. After some debate, and the adoption of a few amendments, the bill passed.

Mr. Everett, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported a bill for the settlement of the Spanish claims under the Florida treaty.

A resolution from Mr. Hamlin of Maine was adopted, directing inquiry into the expediency of allowing all the States to exchange the flint lock on small arms for percussion muskets and rifles.

A bill was passed allowing the exchange of school lands in Alabama.

The Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

HOUSE.—In the House, the consideration of the bill increasing the salaries of clerks, &c. in the Executive Department was resumed and defeated. A motion to refer the matter to a Committee of the Whole was unsuccessful.

The bill for the relief of the Burlington University, Iowa, passed.

Mr. Lane of Oregon introduced a bill providing for Oregon a state government, and its admission into the Union. Referred.

The House then went into Committee on the West Point bill.

A WASHINGTON STORY.—The correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer says:—

It came out in the discussions on the Gadsden Treaty, that the written instructions to the Minister authorized him to offer fifty millions of dollars for a line from near the confluence of the Conchas river with the Rio Grande, directly westward to the California Gulf. It further appeared that a paper was sent to Gen. Gadsden in cypher, by a bearer of despatches, directing him to regard as binding the parole instructions which would be given him by that messenger; and under instructions communicated by that agent, the section providing indemnity for claimants was negotiated against the judgment and private wishes of our Minister. The President and Secretary of State expressed a natural and just indignation when they learned the manner in which their confidence had been abused. It was the exposure of this singular proceeding which threw over the Treaty an odium that produced its defeat.

The bearer of despatches is said to have been Mr. Frank Ward, who was recommended to the President by Messrs. Forney, Sidney Webster and others, and whose mission was warmly aided by Mr. Jefferson Davis.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Mr. Angel, nominated as Consul to Honolulu, was rejected by the Senate to-day. Senators Cass and James have left for home, the former in consequence of the death of his son-in-law.

The reported resignation of Mr. Daniels, Minister to Turin, is premature. He has not signified his intention to resign.

NEW YORK, April 18.—A despatch from New Orleans says there was a rumor in that city to the effect that fifty Americans had been arrested at San Blas, on the Pacific coast of Mexico, for landing without passports, and were sentenced to be shot.

There was a run this morning on the National Savings Fund Institution at Philadelphia, and some excitement among the depositors.

PROVIDENCE, April 18.—Hon. Nehemiah R. Knight, Governor of Rhode Island from 1817 to 1821, and United States Senator from 1821 to 1841, died in this city to-day.

THE SOUTHERN CONVENTION.—This interesting body has business enough before it to occupy an ordinary session of Congress.—The Pacific Railroad, in half a dozen shapes,—southern lines of steamers to Europe,—slave labor in manufactories,—attraction of cash capital to the south—coinage and mining at the south—reduction of duties on railroad iron—the cotton trade and patronage of home merchants, and a Florida railroad, are among the questions referred to the business committee, while sundry political questions have also been proposed. The following resolution, offered by Mr. Norton, of Georgia, was sent to the committee on resolutions, and is very pertinent at this time:

Resolved, That as the impending conflict between the Emperor of Russia, Turkey, England and France, may result in a general European war, we recommend the government of the United States, to offer itself as a mediator to those powers.

Rev. Mr. Brownlow of Tennessee made a speech in his eccentric style, in which he stated that at a "Convention" of the early settlers of America, the following resolutions were adopted:

1st. Resolved, That the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof.

2d. That the Lord designed the earth for the use of the Saints.

3d. That we are the Saints.

Mr. Brownlow would amend the resolutions so as to read as follows:

1st. That Cuba is the Lord's and the fullness thereof.

2d. That the Lord designed Cuba for the Saints of the South.

3d. That we are the Saints of the South.

BALTIMORE, April 18.—The Virginia delegation in the Southern Convention did not withdraw as has been stated, but a resolution was withdrawn, on account of the delegation declaring that if the Convention recommended the squandering of lands on railroad projects, that State would never again countenance the Southern Commercial Convention.

It is now said that Col. Forney will be impeached before the House. The "Hards" are his bitterest enemies; also some of the Virginians. The blow is aimed at the President.—A mere on dit.

DR. ORDWAY'S
AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Three to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS,

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

A FIGHT ABOUT THE GRAVE.

In an article on the new war of the crusaders now in progress, by Russia, France, England and Turkey, the Boston Courier gives us the following interesting statements:

The first manifestation of the quarrel arose upon the question as to which of the two Christian parties should have the custody of the shrines in Palestine—as the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem, the Temple of the Nativity at Bethlehem, &c. As far as there is any right in the case, this custody belongs to the Greeks—they have much the oldest title. The conquests of the Crusaders gave the Latins a preponderance in the Holy Land, and they held possession of the shrines for many years. As remarked above, the French Protectorship was established by treaty in 1673, but we find in 1757 the holy shrines again in possession of the Greeks. This was regarded as a permanent establishment, though the Latins never intermitted their efforts to re-instate themselves. The miserable shuffling, double-dealing policy of the Turkish government kept the matter in constant fluctuation and perplexity, and perpetuated the strife between the two churches. The Greeks obtained, at various times, authority in the shape of firmans from the Porte, and decrees from the local tribunals, granting them the possession of the contested spots; and the Latins found it just as easy to obtain contradictory firmans and decrees to embarass their opponents.

A very trivial matter, entirely unforeseen, unsettled everything that had been established. In the temple of the Nativity at Bethlehem was a silver star suspended over the spot marked by tradition as the locality of the Savior's birth. On the night of the 1st of November, 1847, this star disappeared. Who stole it nobody knows, but this bit of silver has set Europe in arms.

Could the madness and folly of wars in general, and of religious wars in particular be more clearly set forth than in these simple statements?

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $50 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and testimonials, but he considers the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, as considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green Dr. Tobias has also a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.—Just at this time, no Presidential aspirant seems to be so popular as Gen. Houston, who is receiving the praises of all parties and all sections. It may be well for those who do not mean to support him in 1856, to consider how far they shall proceed. The Democrats, previous to 1848, placed Gen. Taylor in such a position that they could not defeat him when they wished to. No man's chance of receiving the Democratic nomination next time, is better than Gen. Houston's; nor is there a man in the country who combines so many popular elements as he. From the battle of San Jacinto to the present time, his star has been rising, and especially has his Senatorial career been creditable to him as a man, a statesman and a patriot.—Newburyport Herald.

The New York Young Men's Democratic Committee, at its regular monthly meeting passed resolutions condemnatory of the action of the administration in favoring the appointment of Free Soilers to office, and in removing "faithful Democrats"—approving the course of Mr. Cutting and other Democratic representatives of New York with regard to the Nebraska bill—referring to the elections in Connecticut and Rhode Island, as showing the want of confidence of Democrats in the administration — denouncing the "outrages upon the flag of our country by the haughty officials of Spain"—and reflecting upon their "southern brethren" for their lukewarmness towards those who have periled everything in their defence.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—A trial for breach of premise in San Francisco—Mary Gates against Charles E. Buckingham,—has been decided against the defendant, the jury giving the plaintiff four thousand dollars damages, and saddling the gay deceiver with all the costs, which amount to five thousand dollars more, the California papers say. "So much for Buckingham." They have left him his head, but have made his purse bleed copiously. His defence was that Mary had allowed others to take liberties with her, such as kissing and toying, to such an improper extent that he was justified in breaking off the engagement. The jury thought differently, however, and their verdict will be a beacon to all the Lotharios in that State who may be tempted to play a similar game—winning a lady's affections, and then letting her down the wind.—Lowell Courier.

NOVEL BAPTISM.—In looking over Rev. Henry Ware, Jr.'s history of the Old North and New Brick churches in Boston, we find mention made of a novel baptism which took place in the Second Church about seventy years ago. In 1781, a record is made of a baptism by immersion of a child ten years old, at the particular request of his mother. The church records say, "A bathing tub was prepared for that purpose in the meeting house. In a manuscript note to the copy of the history we read it was stated that the tub on this occasion was that of the Old North Engine, then the largest in Boston." The apparatus was removed, so that the whole interior of the engine could be filled with water. We venture to say that this singular case is the only instance in which a fire-engine has been used in the ordinance of baptism.

A correspondent of the Sacramento Union, writing from Union Valley under date of Feb. 27, says a severe snow storm was then prevailing there. Already the snow was twenty feet deep on a level, and in some places had drifted to a height of seventy feet. The house in which the writer lived was covered to a depth of twelve feet, so that the occupants were obliged to burrow upwards like woodchucks for a long distance before they could stand in broad daylight. At last accounts it was still snowing hard, with no prospect of holding up. If the snow should by any unfortunate change in the weather be transformed into ice, the condition of the village would be almost as unenviable as was that of the buried cities of Campania.

BOARDING OF AMERICAN VESSELS BY BRITISH CRUISERS.—The Washington correspondent of the Courier & Enquirer says, among the assurances given to Mr. Buchanan by Lord Clarendon was one, that in the visits of British cruisers to American vessels, neither the captain or any of his officers should be compelled to come on board the armed ship, or to leave their own vessel; nor were they to be submitted to any thing more than a satisfactory examination of the ship's papers to prove that the cargo was not composed wholly or in part of stores or ammunition for an enemy.

A BIGAMIST SENTENCED.—In the King's County Court of Sessions, Wm. Baker, alias Washington Bates, formerly a Baptist Minister, and recently a missionary in California, was arraigned on an indictment for bigamy. It appears that he was married to a Miss Margaret M. Warner, in Rochester, N. Y., on the 14th Sept. 1850, and on the 5th of Dec. 1853, was again married to Miss Elmira Fowler, of Brooklyn, his first wife being still alive. He pleaded guilty to the charge as laid in the indictment, whereupon he was sentenced to confinement in the State Prison at Sing Sing for the term of three years.

LARGE EGG.—A hen's egg, weighing 4 ounces, and measuring 7 by 8 inches, has been left at our office by Mr. Eli Demeritt, of Madbury. If anybody's hens can furnish larger eggs, let them bring them on.—Dover Enq.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1854.

MANCHESTER.

Hon. Frederick Smyth, Mayor of Manchester, N. H., has favored us with a copy of his Inaugural Address, in pamphlet form; and also with a copy of the Annual Report of the City Receipts and Expenditures, in a pamphlet of 126 pages.

Both pamphlets are business documents, where no words are wasted. The Mayor is earnest in his efforts to improve the Schools; and last year at his suggestion, a petition was sent to the legislature for a special act, regulating the Schools in Manchester, of which he says:

Notwithstanding the passage of such an act granting all that was asked, I regret to say, that those propositions were coupled in a bill with other, and entirely foreign subjects. This act on being submitted to the people, failed, as a whole, to meet with favor, and was, therefore, very properly rejected. I would again suggest, for the reasons before assigned, that efforts be made to procure the passage of such an act, disconnected with its former, and all other objectionable features.

A small appropriation was made the past year for the support of a Free Evening School, which was deemed by many, at the time, injudicious; but the school has more than realized the expectations of its most sanguine friends, and should, I think, be continued through such seasons of the year as may be found desirable. The School Committee have manifested a commendable zeal in the prosperity of this school, and it is believed that money thus expended is as useful in its results as any part of the public funds, devoted to educational purposes.

LAW OF THE SHOP.

On Wednesday, as reported in the Boston Courier, at the Boston Police Court, "John Terry, a minor, was charged with an assault upon an old man named Jones. The defendant went into the complainant's place of business, and attempted to leave without paying for what he had had, whereupon Mr. Jones sought to detain him, when the boy seized a chair and struck him. The Court held that Mr. Jones had no right, without legal process, to detain the boy, and that in so doing he committed the first assault. Terry was discharged."

This may possibly be law in Boston,—but it is not common sense any where. If every boy in Boston, or in this city, may enter any shop, call for what he pleases, without asking credit, and depart without paying,—and if the shop keeper must not detain the boy,—then his only remedy is to catch him, when he can, by legal process, and his money also, we suppose!

Harriet Beecher Stowe.—A few days since, at a meeting of "the Massachusetts state council of colored Americans," the following resolutions were adopted:—

Resolved, That when Mrs. Stowe promised the colored people of this country a large donation from the funds collected from her friends and ours in Europe for the establishment of a school adapted to our wants, we rejoiced in the hope of great and lasting good to our race from that noble enterprise.

Resolved, That her late refusal to make that contribution in aid of our elevation has filled us with unfeigned regret and mortification, and compelled us to believe that she has been acted upon by other influences than the dictates of her own good heart.

These proceedings are founded on an error, if we rightly remember what was said by and for Mrs. Stowe when she was in England. We shall see in a few days, however.

The Gadsden Treaty.—Gen. Gadsden was a member of the Southern Commercial Convention at Charleston, last week. Reference having been made, in discussion, to the Mexican treaty negotiated by him, he spoke on the subject at some length, and among other things said:—"The President of the United States would do that which ought to be done; and it is no disclosure of a secret to tell you that the boundaries of the line which were originally marked out have been fixed. My instructions were to settle all the issues between the two governments, and one of these was the right of way which we supposed had been included in the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo. Everything in relation to the treaty had been published; the President's message was printed, and it ceased to be a secret any longer. The sole objection to that treaty is, that it secured a right of way for the Pacific railroad at the South, and that it extended the area of slavery."

☞ Dr. Gregory, of Boston, has sent us the Fifth Annual Report of the Female Education Society, and the New England Female Medical College. Both the Society and the College are represented as energetic, hopeful, and to a good degree successful.

Rev. Joseph H. Towne.—This gentleman has been dismissed from his pastoral connexion with the High street Congregational church, in Lowell. Speculation has been busy, and some of the Lowell newspapers have been discussing the report of his probable engagement to preach to the South Congregational (Unitarian) church, of which Rev. Dr. Miles was formerly pastor. As Mr. Towne is undoubtedly orthodox, such an engagement is not very probable, and we should not think it would be a permanent one, even, if it could be made.—Lowell Advertiser.

Adjournment.—A joint order has just passed both branches of the Maine Legislature for a final adjournment on Friday.

DESTRUCTION BY THE STORM.

The loss of vessels and lives, by the late severe and long continued storm, is doubtless great. We are just beginning to get a few particulars.

Letters from Lewes, Delaware Bay, dated Monday, say that the storm there was very severe, unroofing houses and barns, and driving many vessels ashore. Seven wrecks were know to have occurred. The schooners Bailey and Minerva are also ashore. No boat could reach these wrecks in consequence of the heavy sea. Seventy sail remained in the breakwater.

The bodies of two women, one man and a boy were washed ashore on Monday at Absecom Beach, and it is reported that three more bodies were washed ashore Tuesday. They are supposed to come from some wrecked emigrant ship.

Another despatch just received from Absecom says that up to Tuesday night about forty dead bodies, men, women and children, had been washed ashore on that and the opposite beach. They appear to be German, but are much disfigured. Bodies are continually being washed on shore.

A despatch received from Long Beach, states that the ship Powhattan, Myers, from Havre for New York, came ashore on Sunday morning, near Egg Harbor Light. She had 200 emigrants on board, not one of whom was saved. Thirty-three bodies have been washed ashore at Long Beach. Not a vestige of the wreck is left.

The schooner Manhattan of Bangor, was also wrecked near Long Beach. All on board perished but one sailor, who is in such a condition as to be unable to give any of the particulars.

A despatch from Philadelphia of last Tuesday says the vessel lost at Barnegat is supposed to be the Bremen ship Humboldt, from Hamburg for New York. She had from three hundred to four hundred passengers on board, all of whom it is supposed are lost.

Another despatch says:

The Powhattan, which belongs to Baltimore, sailed from Havre for New York about the 1st of March. She is an old vessel of 600 tons, and valued at $18,000. She probably had no cargo.

Later despatches from Absecom say that bodies are still being washed ashore. Fifty have been recovered thus far. A portion of the bedding of a vessel was also washed ashore on which was cut or stamped "Packet ship Stafford," Liverpool, bound to dock 185 East River.

A letter from Lewes states that the schooner reported ashore there, with corn, proves to be the Octavia. All the crew were rescued. She was a complete wreck, and her cargo was floating along the Beach. The schooner Lenity is also a complete wreck, her keel being out and mainmast through her bottom.

The other vessels ashore will be got off.—Their names are schooners Francis, Fashion, and Minerva, and sloops Eliza Jane and David Vannerman. No lives were lost.

A New York despatch of the 19th, says:—

The latest report from the ship Underwriter states that she is imbedded in the sand, with about two feet of water in her hold. She had four hundred passengers, only one of whom was lost from the yard of one of the tugs. She will have to discharge entirely so as to get off.

The ship ashore at Barnegat is probably the Hamburg ship Humboldt, and not the Bremen ship of the same name. The Hamburg ship left there on the 25th of February and Cexhaven on the 7th of March, for New York, consigned to W. F. Schmidt & Co.

The steamer Atlantic was seen on the morning of the 17th, 100 miles east of Sandy Hook, hove to in the gale. She appeared to lay very easy.

A New Implement of War.—It was with great wonder that Mrs. Partington read in a paper that a patent had been granted for an improvement in "enema syringes." The idea immediately assumed a warlike aspect.—"Enemy syringes," said she, looking off the paper, with her eyes resting upon the centre star of a rag mat upon the floor, as if asking the question, "what upon airth is that?" Suddenly looking up, she brightened, like a tin milk pan in the sunshine. "It must be," continued she, "some new machine that will do away with the use of fire arms and guns and pistols, and be a good deal better, too, than killing and cutting up people with lead bullets—for in battle people are very careless and would as lieves hit as not. Now these enemy syringes will make a battle a great deal safer for them that engage into it, and I hope they will be took up instead of guns. If they are it will seem like the beginning of the time when the plough shares are to be beaten up into pruning hooks." The scripture quotation was not quite right, but she meant well enough, and the sublime idea of fighting an enemy with syringes would compensate for many mis-quotations. The adjutant general should see to it, and the chairmen of the joint standing committee on the militia should introduce an order of inquiry into our legislature, as to the practicability of the syringe superseding the musket.—Post.

Forgery by a Clergyman.—The Salisbury, N. C. Watchman, gives an account of the arrest of the Rev. Mr. McDonald, on the charge of committing a series of forgeries, by which the Salem Bank, in that state, has lost several thousand dollars. Mr. McDonald is said to be worth $60,000 or $70,000, and has numerous wealthy connections.

Death of Professor Wilson.—By the last steamer we have intelligence of the death, on the 3d of April, of Professor John Wilson, celebrated as the Christopher North of Blackwood's Magazine. Prof. W. was one of the most marked men of his time, and has left, in his works, a rich legacy to the world. In the death of Talfourd and Wilson, two brilliant literary lights have been extinguished.

The New York papers announce the failure of Alfred Barrett & Co. a highly respectable house in the grain trade, doing mostly a commission business on southern account. Their liabilities are about $120,000, mostly held in North Carolina and Virginia. Their losses have been caused by shipments of flour and grain to Europe, during the past winter.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

In the Board of Aldermen, a petition was received from Mrs. Samuel Pierce, for side walk in State street—granted.

A resolution was received from the Council fixing a time for a Convention for the election of City officers, in which they asked the concurrence of the Aldermen.—Laid on the table.

A petition from Mr. Stearns to have the road near his house repaired, was read.

The Mayor notified the Board that Mr. Ira Willey had commenced a suit against the city for damages sustained by him in consequence of a neglected road. Damages laid at $600. Referred to the Mayor.

Committee on School Houses report that more land is required at Lafayette School House—referred to School Committee.

In Common Council, a resolution was passed, that, if the Aldermen concur, the Council will go into Convention for the choice of city officers, on Thursday evening, April 27, and sent up for concurrence.

In answer to a request from the Common Council, the City Solicitor, Mr. Hatch, presented his opinion in regard to the propriety of the decision of the Mayor at the last meeting of the City Council, denying the right of the Chair to give a casting vote in cases where more than two candidates were voted for. The opinion was voluminous, and took a strong ground against the decision of the Chair, and affirmed that where one candidate received one half of the votes cast, though the balance of the votes were thrown for two or more candidates, it was a case requiring the casting vote of the Chairman, and that the decision of the Mayor at that meeting was erroneous.

P. Y. M. CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

In answer to invitations extended by the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, to attend one of their regular weekly meetings, their Hall was well filled with visitors on Wednesday evening last, among whom were several of our city clergymen and editors. The order of exercises was the same as uniformly observed, varied with music by a choir conducted by Mr. J. G. Thompson, a member of the Association.

After the singing of an anthem, the opening prayer was made by Horace Webster, Esq.; the President, Mr. Wm. W. Dow, introduced Mr. Moses Wherrin, who read a capital selected essay on Christianity, and Mr. Henry C. Barnabee, who recited in exceedingly fine style, the thrilling poem by Willis, descriptive of the torturing of an aged Olynthian captive, by the Athenian painter Parrhasius.

Mr. Dow then read an able essay on "the Sublimity of the lives of the Jewish Prophets," evincing a thorough knowledge of the Scriptures; after which an anthem, and another good specimen of declamation, by John H. Leverton—the speech of John Adams urging the Declaration of Independence. The audience, by invitation, then joined with the choir, in singing to Old Hundred the hymn, "From all that dwell below the skies," &c., and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Burroughs.

The Association complete their second year on the 10th of May, at which time we are informed they are to celebrate their second Anniversary by public services at the Temple—the lecture to be by Rev. Dr. Peabody.

Trees and Shrubs—Horticulture.—A friend suggests that our City Horticultural Society should hold its Annual Meeting some time near the first of May—and enquires whether some preparation for that meeting ought not to be made; and also whether some trees ought not to be planted this Spring before the weather becomes warmer.

☞ The Boston Transcript of last evening says, "The ship Humboldt, before reported lost with all on board, has safely arrived at New York." There are two ships named Humboldt.

Bank of Castleton, Vermont.—It is is currently reported that this institution has stopped payment. We have no positive information further than its bills are not received at the Suffolk Bank.—Boston Transcript.

Disaster.—About one hundred feet of the embankment of the canal, by which the water is conducted to the Edgeville works in this city, was swept away on Friday night last.—It is supposed muskrats were the principal cause of this disaster.—Nashville Gazette.

General Garibaldi.—The Newcastle Chronicle says: "General Garibaldi, the eminent Italian patriot and colleague of Mazzini, has arrived in the Tyne in charge of a handsome full-rigged clipper ship. She is named the Commonwealth, and belongs to American owners. The admirers of the Italian republican intended to pay some public mark of respect to so illustrious a representative of their opinions; but with the modesty peculiar to his disposition, Garibaldi preferred to appear in the Tyne simply as the master of an American merchant vessel. The Commonwealth will leave the Tyne for Genoa, Garibaldi's birth-place, and the scene of some of his exploits during the revolution. He will appear there as an American citizen, and under the protection of the American flag."

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 19.

SENATE.—In the Senate numerous memorials and petitions were presented, including thirteen against the Nebraska bill. A bill to facilitate the unloading of vessels from foreign ports was passed.

The House amendments to the Senate bill, increasing the pay of clerks in the departments, were concurred in. The bill to recompense the discoverer of practical Anathesia was discussed. The bill recites that Drs. Morton and Jackson of Boston claimed to be the discoverers, and it appropriates $100,000 to the real discoverer, as decided by a suit in equity. A debate ensued.

Mr. Dawson said a Dr. Long of Athens, Georgia, claimed to be the real discoverer. Mr. Pettit said he could satisfy the Senate that such discovery was made in 1831 by Dr. Samuel Guthrie of New York. Mr. Rusk mentioned another claimant named Dr. Dickson. The bill was amended so as to include the names of these and all other claimants, and passed by a vote of 23 to 13.

The Homestead bill was then taken up.—Mr. Wade offered an amendment, striking out that part limiting the benefit of it to those who were residents of the United States or its territories. Mr. Adams of Mississippi, opposed both the amendment and the bill, and spoke at some length on the subject. Mr. Thompson of Kentucky also opposed the bill.

Mr. Brown of Mississippi, gave notice of a substitute for the bill. The substitute makes preemption rights permanent. The bill was postponed, and, after an executive session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The Indigent Insane Land Bill was passed by a vote of 81 yeas to 53 nays. The amount of land granted to the several States is ten millions of acres. The House then adjourned.

THE HOMESTEAD.—Our despatches of Wednesday stated that the Homestead bill passed the House on Tuesday. This was not the case—the bill has already passed the House, and is under consideration by the Senate, which body discussed the bill on Tuesday and Wednesday without coming to a vote.—Boston Journal.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The steamer Asia, Capt. Lott, from Liverpool April 8, arrived about one o'clock.

Flour had declined in the Liverpool market 1s 6d a 2s per bbl. Corn was 6d lower. Cotton a shade higher.

The London Gazette contains an order in Council respecting Russian ships in British ports, quite favorable to Russian merchants.

It is now rumored that Austria will make the crossing of the Danube by the Russians a casus belli.

A despatch from Berlin says that the negotiations between Austria and Prussia were not then closed, but that Prussia had joined in the protocol signed at Vienna on the 3d of April between Great Britain, France and Austria.

Sir Charles Napier's fleet was still at Kioge Bay. Navigation was open to St. Petersburgh.

No battle yet taken place on the Baltic.

As soon as hostilities commence in the Baltic, the Empress of Russia, with the Court, will remove to Moscow.

The Russians are razing all the fortresses in the Dobrudscha. Their position is considered critical, and reinforcements are called for.

ENGLAND.—In the House of Commons, on Friday, Lord John Russell confirmed the statement that Austria was concentrating troops on the frontier of Servia, but as negotiations were still pending, he could not state what course Austria would pursue.

On the 27th the fleets were between Batchik and Varna.

The Turks have beaten Gen. Gortschakoff in Bessarabia, and forced him back. They have also crossed the Danube at Nichopolis and Rustchuk.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The police yesterday made a haul in Lispenard street, of a large number of counterfeit bills, plates, dies, moulds, &c., for counterfeiting bank notes and gold coin. A large quantity of counterfeit gold coins of various denominations was also seized.

A despatch from Washington says the reconsideration of the Gadsden treaty has been postponed to Thursday week.

The friends of the Nebraska bill have arranged for an effort to pass the bill on Monday next.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The Crescent City from New Orleans via Havana, is now coming up.

FIRES.—A despatch from Charleston says that a destructive fire occurred in that city, destroying nine stores, occupied by Messrs. Lane, Brown, Beach, Cohen, Fanning, Courtney, Gillaud and Hyatt. The estimated loss is $400,000.

FALL OF A WAREHOUSE.—A warehouse in St. Louis, occupied by Bowman & Co., for the purpose of stowage, fell with a tremendous crash, on Wednesday morning. There was a large quantity of grain and flour in it, distributed in the various stories. The floor of the third story gave way and fell a distance of thirty or forty feet, crushing the floors beneath, and forcing out the front wall, which fell with a large amount of flour and other produce into the street. At the time of the accident, four persons were at work in the third story coopering the barrels. One of the men had an arm broken, another had both legs broken, and one of his hands caught between the fragments of timber so that two of his fingers were severed. Another had his leg broken and thigh dislocated.

GOLDSMITH.—When we analyze his genius, we find it to be composed of the following elements: a keen perception and enjoyment of the surface beauties of nature; an intuitive knowledge of the human heart; a power of instinct or common sense which supplies the lack of learning, and is all the more powerfully displayed in his writings, that none of it was diverted to the regulation of his conduct or life; a fine healthy tone of moral feeling; an exquisite taste; a mild but sincere enthusiasm; a humor at once rich and delicate; and a style yielding in felicity, transparency and grace, to Addison's alone. * * *
He has written the most agreeable series of letters, one of the healthiest and most delicious fictions, and two of the finest smaller poems in the literature of the world.—Gilfillan.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 72, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. It the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was cured by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff outof the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the bald hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Manufactured and for sale by DONALD KENNEDY, 120 Warren street, Roxbury.

For sale by E. H. ROLLINS, Concord, N. H.

☞ Dealers wishing the Agency in New Hampshire, will please address E. H. ROLLINS, Concord, who will supply the trade at the manufacturer's prices.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and cure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as ready for shipping in an hour. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two sculleries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. OUR COUNTRY.—We meet with the following philippic against our country in the April number of Brownson's Quarterly Review. It is doubtless from the pen of the editor. The article is entitled "Uncle Jack and his Nephew":

"We are mixed Protestant, infidel, and Catholic people. The non-Catholic element, however, predominates; and owing to our vast extent of cheap and fertile lands, we are free from many of the material evils of older countries. But in real well being, in the refinements of life, in the culture of the soul, in the higher civilization, or in true national or individual virtue and happiness, we are far below the lowest Catholic State. We can boast only of our industry. Our literature is not worth naming; our newspapers, for the most part, are a public nuisance; our common schools amount to but little, and cannot be named with those of Austria; we have not a respectable library or university in the country; and the liberty we boast is only the liberty of the mob, to govern us as it pleases.—There is perhaps no people on earth that has less of moral and mental independence, or less individual freedom and manliness. We are slaves of committees, associations, caucusses, and a public opinion formed by ignorant and fanatical and lying lecturers, preachers, newspapers and demagogues. A man can be a free man here, and speak and act as a true man conscious of his individuality, only at the expense of becoming a Parish, an outcast. No, my poor boy, refer not to the United States for evidence to justify the insane penetration of self-deluded Protestantism."

It will be seen that Mr. Brownson puts the lowest Catholic country far above the United States, in real well being, in the refinements of life, in the culture of the soul, in the higher civilization, or in true national or individual virtue and happiness. That is to say, Portugal, Spain and Italy, at this time, occupy a "far higher" rank in the qualities named, than the United States. What a pity it is that this writer and those who sympatize with him in sentiment, (if any there are,) do not quit these barbarous shores, and seek the "refinements of life" amidst the attractions of Portugal or Spain! They should dwell in a country where a free press is regarded as a "public nuisance," and common schools are unknown. It will be seen that the writer does not attribute our freedom from many of the material evils of older countries, to our republican institutions, so much as to our vast extent of cheap and fertile lands!—Boston Transcript.

INTERVENTION.—The Southern Convention at Charleston, propose that Gen. Scott, Mr. Fillmore and Senator Butler of South Carolina, be a commission to offer the mediation of the United States between the belligerents of Europe. Does not the proposition imply and carry with it the doctrine of "intervention," and one which is not very popular at the South, certainly not in its more limited sense or application. Once admit the right of our government to intervene in a particular case, or to interfere with the concerns or action of another, and it is not easy to see how the exercise of it in any other case which may be deemed by one party, as a proper occasion for it, can be consistently opposed or denied. The result in our own case would be that we should have so much foreign business in the intervention line on our hands, that we should have but little time to attend to our own affairs. But to bring the matter home—what response would the Commercial Convention at Charleston be likely to make to a proposition from a similar body composed of the leading statesmen of Europe, that the government of Great Britain should "mediate" between those representing what are termed sectional interests in this country—say, between slave holders and abolitionists? Would not the mediation be instantly denounced as "intervention" in its worst form.—Boston Chronicle.

In France the railroad fever rages, as it did a few years since in England and this country, and Louis Napoleon better deserves the title of Railroad King, as favoring these improvements, than those to whom it has been applied. The entire length of railways now in operation, is 5570 miles, of which 3-5ths have been chartered since the revolution of 1848. Last year there were 1325 miles built, at a cost of one hundred million dollars, of which the State loaned eight millions; and during the same time, the Minister of Public Works had 27,000 miles surveyed for new routes. The design is to connect Paris with all the great commercial and manufacturing cities—to centralize the whole at the capital, making that the great market, and all others suburban. By a judicious system of internal improvements that shall develop the resources of the country, give value to lands, furnish labor to the masses, and advance the interests of all, Louis Napoleon may do more for France, and be stronger in the affections of the people, than was the First Bonaparte.—Newburyport Herald.

A touching incident occurred recently at a steamboat sinking in the Missouri river.—Among the persons swept overboard were a woman, and a boy about 12 years of age. A man on the steamboat seeing the boy buffeting the waves just beyond the boat, threw him a rope, and called to him to take hold of it.—The little fellow replied, "never mind me, I can swim—save mamma." The little fellow and his dear "mamma," were saved.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1854.

They are having trouble in Ellsworth about the popery question. The Protestants are determined to hire no Catholic laborers; and the Catholics have prosecuted the School Committe, for compelling their children to read the Protestant Bible in school.—State of Maine.

All three of these movements seem to us absurd: the compulsory reading of the bible as a class-book; the lawsuit or fuss about such reading, and the non-intercourse. Nevertheless, there will be a fight over these and similar matters, all over the land. The care and craft of the priests to keep out heresy; the desire of their ignorant flocks to learn; and the jealousy felt by native American freemen towards the foreign priests, will stimulate and prolong the quarrel.

THE URSULINE CONVENT.—There have been repeated efforts made in the Massachusetts Legislature, to obtain indemnity for the burning of the Convent at Charlestown a few years since. Respecting a petition now pending, the Newburyport Herald says:

The Convent Indemnity looks further off now than ever before, and possibly the last vote of the House of Representatives has settled it forever. Out of more than three hundred members answering to their names, but twenty-six were in its favor. Sympathy with the Catholics has been on the Democratic side, in past years; but their action on the adoption of the constitution has not inclined that party to do them any extraordinary favors, while the "knowsnothings" becoming so strong—strong enough, some say, to hold the balance of power in the next State election—disinclines any party from going too far from what the old Puritans would have done in Cotton Mather's time. The two fires—Catholic and know-nothing—are burning upon each side of the politicians and they will be guarded in their movements.

MARBLEHEAD AND NEWBURYPORT.—These towns are thus compared, as to patriotic zeal, by a writer in the Newburyport Herald:

Marblehead was a patriotic town. But that it exceeded Newburyport in Revolutionary services—or equalled her, we doubt. The superior patriotism of Newburyport was so well known in England, that an Episcopal society there which partly supported the Rev. Edward Bass in this town, cut him off from farther patronage on account of his remaining here. The secretary of the society proved his disloyalty by this argument:—"if Mr. Bass had been truly loyal, I can't see how it was possible for him to stay at Newburyport." If Marblehead men took the transport 'Hope,' Newburyport men took the transport 'Friends'—doing as good service.

When the revolutionary annals of Newburyport are published, our citizens need not be afraid to compare them with Marblehead, or any other town, from Maine to Georgia. If "Marblehead furnished one seventh of her male population for the war—Newburyport (Aug. 1777) furnished one sixth of all "her able bodied men, for the Continental army," besides those engaged in privateering.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

At the Court for the County of Merrimack, a large portion of the indictments were for illegal sales of liquor, contrary to the present existing license law of New Hampshire, and the following is a specimen of the manner in which they were disposed of. The New Hampshire Patriot of April 5th reports:

11 vs. Hiram F. Emery of Andover for the sale of liquors, which were continued.

1 vs. Robert French of Concord for sale of liquors, to which he plead nolo contendere, and was fined $50 and costs.

5 vs. John Stickney of Concord for the same, to which he plead nolo contendere, and was fined on each $20 and costs.

4 vs. Calvin B. Laighton of Concord for same, to which he plead nolo contendere, and was fined on each $20 and costs.

1 vs. George Dame of Concord for same, to which he plead nolo contendere, and was fined $50 and costs.

The Keene News reports of the last Court in Cheshire County that eight indictments were found by the Grand Jury against a Mr. Kent Inn keeper, of Paper Mill Village for violations of the license law. Kent plead guilty, and was released from five indictments by a kind of indefinable pardoning power which the State's attorney extends to such criminals in certain cases. On three indictments Kent was fined $20,00 each and costs. The complainant in this case was a Mrs. Wheeler, whose husband appears to have been one of Kent's victims, and was used as a witness against him.

MRS. PARTINGTON.—Federhen & Co., of Boston, have forwarded to us a copy of Mrs. Partington's New Book, which is a handsome volume of 384 pages, of excellent typography, on fine paper, illustrated with numerous spirited engravings.

The dress of the volume is worthy of its title, The Life and Sayings of Mrs. Partington, and others of the Family. Edited by B. P. Shillaber, of the Boston Post.

It is an ample commendation for its contents to say, that they are the veritable, original sayings of the best humorist now living on this side the Atlantic, whose merits are familiar to every truly literary man among us, and are almost universally acknowledged by readers of every class.

Mr. Morse has the book for sale.

BALLARD VALE MACHINE SHOP.—Hon. Alfred Kittredge of Haverhill, has recently purchased all the property belonging to the Ballard Vale Machine Shop Company. This is one of the finest establishments in the country; is on the line of the Boston and Maine railroad, in a quiet, beautiful village, and capable of turning out an immense amount of work. The main building is of stone, 200 feet long by 60 wide, and three stories high. Then there is a foundry, hotel, houses for the workmen, lands—in fine, all that is deirable for such an establishment.

The establishment was completed just at the commencement of hard times for the manufacturers, which weighed so heavily upon the manufacturing interest of New England, for several years, and from which it has hardly yet emerged. The property has been lying idle to the wonder and enquiry of every traveller on the railroad, for five or six years past. The original stockholders have sunk their entire investment, as it is too often the case with similar enterprises commenced on the flood tide of prosperity, and just completed as the periodical ebbing which attends upon almost every occupation in an industrial community, begins.—Newburyport Herald.

DEATH OF THE DUKE OF PARMA.—We find in our late foreign papers the following account of the recent assassination of the Duke of Parma:

"It was in a sort of low wine shop, frequented only by the lowest people, that the event occurred. The Duke entered the common room, and was recognized by a soldier who was reading, and who immediately rose and saluted him, and then sitting down again, continued the perusal of the journal he was engaged with. The duke then, it appears, went up to him and said, "What, you go on reading before your prince, and seated?" The soldier replied in a low tone, "In seeing your royal highness enter such a place, I thought you desired to remain incognito; and I feared to show you too much respect, as that would only attract notice.' The duke then got into a violent passion, and, after using much abusive language, struck the soldier a dreadful blow with his whip across the face. The soldier then in a fit of desperation, drew his short sword, and plunged it into the lower part of the duke's stomach. In the tumult he succeded in making his escape."

DEATH OF GAVAZZI'S NEPHEW.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Crusader mentions the recent death, in Rome, of a nephew of Father Gavazzi, under circumstances of very painful character. He died on the 2d of February last. During the revolution which five years since sent the Pope a fugitive from his palace, he took an active part as a patriot, for which course, upon being subsequently arrested, he was sentenced to twenty years imprisonment, in the prisons of Diocletian.—Here he was confined in a deep, damp and narrow cell, and denied the use of the most common comforts of life. Being reduced by tortures and privations almost to a skeleton, his physician applied to the Cardinal Vicar for leave to remove him to a more healthy abode. This request was refused, and a few days afterward the physician pronounced him to be dying. Priests and chaplains were immediately despatched for the purpose of persuading him to renounce his faith and die in the bosom of the "Holy Mother Church."—Their efforts were vain. Gavazzi died a Protestant, and his body was buried in unconsecrated ground.

The Earl of Aberdeen has announced that the government will ask Queen Victoria to set apart a day of humiliation and solemn prayer to Almighty God, that he would give success to British arms in the Eastern war; and the Archbishop of Canterbury has expressed his satisfaction thereat. On the other hand the Emperor of Russia has declared war in the name of the Most Holy Trinity, and called upon his soldiers to look to God for aid and protection. It is very singular to see the heads of two great churches, making all the preparations they can to mislead each others armies; bribe the officers, if necessary; kill the soldiers as fast as possible; and invent new means for their destruction; and both calling upon God to help them. Formerly, when duelling was fashionable, and so in accordance with Christianity, as then understood, and clergymen used to meet each other in single combat, this same usage was common in affairs of honor; and before murders commenced, a priest would swear each of the combatants on the crucifix, that the right was on his side, and that he bore upon him no enchantments or magic arms. Times alter, and opinions change. Men think differently of commencing a duel with a prayer, and possibly they will some day of beginning war with Fast days, and in the name of the Holy Trinity.—Newburyport Herald.

MARRIED, on Sunday evening 19th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Bartholomew, Mr. Morgan Butler and Miss Mary Bartholomew, all of this town.

There is something peculiarly refreshing about the above matrimonial adventure, and as the happy couple didn't send us anything good we are going to tell on them. They got married all of a sudden, had never been in each other's company an hour, never "walked and sighed by moonlight," and "sipped the honey of loving lips," never roamed over the "classic grounds of Paris," never went ducking among the deers of Congin; but they set aside all Cupid's statutes, and get married on their own hook. Three or four friends were passing the evening in company; a remark was made that Morgan ought to have a wife; he 'caved,' and said he would if he could find any one who would have him. Mary looked up, ingenuously, and said I will; John, said Morgan, go for the license, and he did so in double quick time; the minister, Mary's brother, was called in, and the knot was tied as strong and sacred as "bond of holy writ." We haven't time to philosophize; suffice it to say, this wedding was done up in a truly "progressive" style, up to the highest standard of the 19th century. May their happiness be unbounded.—New Philadelphia Democrat.

☞ Honest John Davis, formerly governor of Massachusetts, died in Worcester, on Wednesday, aged 68. He was a graduate of Yale College, a sound lawyer and an excellent man.

SHIP CATHEDRAL.—Enoch Train & Co. have building at the yard of Samuel Badger, Esq., a large ship, designed for their regular line of Boston and Liverpool packets, to be named the "Cathedral," and completed in July next.

DEATH FROM LEECH BITES.—A little girl aged three years, daughter of Mr. John Thomas, residing in the upper part of the city, lost her life yesterday by the loss of blood from two leech bites. It appears the child had been suffering from an affection of the throat, and the medical man attending ordered a couple of leeches to be applied outside over the spot, directing at the same time to remove the leeches when full, and afterwards to use warm applications. The child was laid in bed, covered up, and all the directions complied with. The physician did not return that day. The warm application as prompted and increased the bleeding, and the bleeding continued for several hour, saturating the child's clothes and forming under it a pool of blood, unperceived by any person, until a noise called the mother's attention, when the child was at the last gasp from copious loss of blood. Cold water might have saved the child's life if it had been applied in time.—N. Y. Tribune.

A HUMAN SKELETON FOUND.—On Wednesday some workmen while shovelling into an earth bank just round Fish Point, Portland, struck upon a rough box buried a foot and a half below the surface of the ground. Yesterday, upon opening it, it was found to contain the skeleton of a man, without any vestige of flesh, the bones themselves being partially decomposed. In the box was a pair of boots apparently in quite good preservation. Also pieces of red flannel, probably the remains of a shirt. The Coroner was of opinion that the skeleton was that of a man who had been dead many years; and than an inquest, under the circumstances, was uncalled for. Old citizens of Portland remember that the body of a sailor, which was found drowned near Fish Point many years ago, was buried near the spot, in a hurried manner, on account of the decomposed state of the corpse.—Portland Advertiser.

A NOVEL SUIT.—A decision was given by Chief Justice Shaw, last week, which is of practical importance. Suit was brought by Mary Ann Hastings against Calvin Aiken and others, to recover the penalty provided by the statute of 1810, for opening a livery and feeding stable within 170 feet of a church.—The penalty provided by the statute is one hundred dollars for every month the stable is used. The case was twice argued, taken before the full bench on exceptions, and resulted in a judgment for the plaintiff for the whole amount claimed.—Boston Transcript.

A young man by the name of Henry M. Dean, at New York, 21 years of age, died on Sunday morning, from the effects of inhaling chloroform, a habit which it appears he had practised merely for the pleasant sensations it produced upon him. He was found dead in bed, his knees drawn up almost to his chin, and a vial containing about an ounce of chloroform beside him.

DEATH FROM THE BITE OF A RATTLESNAKE.—On the 22d ult., as the young wife of Mr. Daniel Long, residing near Tampa Bay, Florida, was passing through the woods near her house, for the purpose of calling her husband to dinner, she disturbed the repose of a rattlesnake, which immediately darted its fangs into her leg. She was carried home by her husband, where she died in a few hours.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT, Boston.—Capt. Levi J. Hotchkiss, late master of the ship Harvard, was tried on Monday, and convicted on three of the five counts in an indictment against him for assaulting, and in several ways mal-treating Stephen Whitley, one of his crew.

The New York Mirror makes the following assault upon one of its own poetical contributors:

"There is a dolorous piece of lonesome poetry in the north east corner of to day's Mirror, which was not seen by the editor until it was in type."

MAINE.—Both houses of the Legislature of Maine have passed resolves against the repeal of the fishing bounty, against the repeal of the fishing bounty, against the repeal of the duty on lumber, and against throwing open the coasting trade, admitting foreign built vessels to American register, &c.

The St. Louis Democrat claims that the recent success of the Benton Democracy in that city was in point of fact an anti-Nebraska triumph. The successful candidates were uncompromising opponents of the measure.

VERY GOOD.—It having been snubbingly charged upon New Bedford that she has sent few of her sons to college, the Mercury replies that its population has been elsewhere to obtain midnight oil for others. That will do.

Notice, not the most complimentary, has been taken in Paris, of the affray of Senator Clemens and Harris at Washington. Senators at fisty-cuffs is a spectacle which no European capital furnishes.

The four steamers recently on the mail line between Chaleston and Wilmington have been sold for $56,000, and the route is abandoned for the continuous railroad.

Charles F. Swift, editor of the Yarmouth Register, has been re-elected treasurer of Barnstable county, receiving every vote but one in a poll of over a thousand!

Antioch College, Ohio, had 250 students, and rejected 1000 for want of room, after it had been in operation five months.

J. B. Gough's receipts in Great Britain for twelve months temperance lecturing, it is said will certainly not be less than £3000.

A ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT.—A few days since, a young lady, sixteen years of age, the daughter of a respectable farmer in York county, Virginia, eloped from her father's house, in company with a Mr. William Carmines—a gentleman sixty years of age. The romantic pair fled to Portsmouth, in that State, where they were soon united in the gentle bonds of matrimony. The father of the lady being unable to separate the romantic pair, proceeded to give vent to his indignation by prosecuting for perjury, a Portsmouth gentleman, who for the purpose of procuring the fugitives a marriage license, had testified to the clerk of the Court that the bride was twenty one years of age. The accused was held for trial.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, April 20.

SENATE.—In the Senate, Mr. Pettit presented twelve petitions from various States, praying for the abolition of the unconstitutional office of Chaplain.

Mr. Sumner presented petitions from Massachusetts against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

Mr. Dawson presented the resolutions of the Georgia Legislature in favor of the Nebraska bill.

A bill was passed authorizing the settlement of the accounts with those mail contractors whose contracts were suspended in '38 and '39. The bill establishing a land system for the territory of New Mexico was passed.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

HOUSE.—Nothing of interest transpired in the House.

In Committee, the West Point Academy bill was discussed and amended in several particulars, which were afterwards concurred in by the House. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer writes:

The Senate has postponed the Gadsden Treaty until Thursday, the 27th day of April, with the understanding that a final vote shall be taken on that day.

The Nebraska confederates have arranged for a forced attempt to pass the bill on Monday next. A distinct offer was made to the hard shells yesterday that all the pending soft shell appointments should be rejected if the hards would vote for Nebraska. Mr. Angell's rejection was given as proof of the final repudiation of the soft shells by the administration. All anti-Nebraskans should return forthwith.

[The Dix Insane bill passed the House on Wednesday by a vote of 81 to 53. Its provisions are as follows:

The bill grants to the several States, for the benefit of indigent insane persons, ten millions of acres of land, to be apportioned under the direction of the President of the United States, in the compound ratio of the geographical area and representation of said States in the House of Representatives, according to the last census. The amount of each is to be invested, and the interest to be applied to the support of the insane.]

A telegraphic despatch of the 20th, states that the President had vetoed this bill; and previous despatches had prepared us for it, by stating that great efforts were made to induce him to take this step.

ADDITIONAL NEWS BY THE ASIA.

NEW YORK, April 20.

The steamship Asia has 100 passengers, among whom we notice the names of Chief Justice Lafontaine of Lower Canada, and Hon. Samuel Kepler of Upper Canada.

The propeller Ottawa, from Portland, arrived out in 12 1-2 days, carrying out three days later news.

SEIZURES OF WAR VESSELS AND MACHINERY.—Two steam frigates nearly completed, in the yard of Mr. Ritcher of Northfleet, intended for the Russian government, were seized by Mr. Scanlan of the Customs on the 5th inst. The machinery for them, of the value of $30,000, was also seized by the Custom authorities. The vessels are of 1300 tons and pierced to carry 28 guns. They are not named, but the one ready for launching bears the figurehead of the Czar.

The London Globe of the 7th adds that further seizures have been made of a very considerable quantity of machinery, also intended for the Russian navy. In the last class of seizures are comprised a large portion of machinery intended for the equipment of the frigates now under capture, and engines destined for exportation to Russian ports, in which ships of war are now being built for the services of the Czar. The total value of the last seizures is estimated at about £10,000.

NEW YORK, April 20.—A letter from Long Beach says that every soul on board the Powhattan perished, though the ship lay so near the beach that the captain could hold communication with those on board. Twenty-seven bodies were buried in the Baptist burying ground yesterday. The only survivor of the Manhattan is George Griffin. He belongs in Bangor.

A letter in the Herald says the Powhattan went ashore on Sunday morning and remained until five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, before she went to pieces, the passengers all the while clinging to the leeward bulwarks, with the sea washing over them. The ship was so near the shore that the captain's voice was distinctly heard giving orders, cheering up the passengers, and calling to the shore for assistance. It was impossible however to render them any, as no boat could have lived a moment in the surf. A great number of trunks belonging to the passengers have drifted ashore, but not one of the passengers or crew reached the shore alive, so far as could be ascertained from those who watched the ship from the shore.

One hundred and thirty bodies had been washed ashore up to yesterday noon at Absecom, Brigantine and Long Beach. They appear to be of the better class of German emigrants. The younger persons were in their night clothes. Not a particle of the wreck had then come ashore.

CULPABLE CARELESSNESS.—Mrs. Ann Augusta Stillman died at Bridgeport, Ct., on Monday, from the effects of what appears to have been poison, taken into her stomach on Saturday evening, the 8th inst. She had been out in the evening, and on returning drank part of a glass of bottled cider, which was brought to her from the cellar by a servant. A strong burning sensation, internally, was felt immediately after drinking, and she expressed fears that she had been poisoned. The poison which she took is supposed to have been corrosive sublimate, mixed for bedbugs, and left with other bottles without being marked! The liquid having evaporated, the sediment became hardened, probably, and when the bottle was cleansed for the cider, the substance within was not removed by the water.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV. late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr. Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Linimeut, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr. Tobias's Office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc. which street, New York.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and Infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

THE
IN THE LIVES OF THE ANCIENT PROPHETS, AND IN THEIR VISIONS.

AN ESSAY Delivered before the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association,
At their Hall,.....April 19th, 1854,

BY W. W. DOW.

The source from whence we derive our subject is the Bible,—a compendium of oracles written in various ages and countries, and at intervals in the range of two thousand years, embracing every form of composition, familiar and profound; songs of lyrical beauty, whose muse was vocal before Hesiod, attuned to the vibrations of the music of the spheres—history, many of the martial adventures of which exceed in romantic interest those of Achilles or Troy, and whose expeditions were prior to Jason and the Argonauts. Its ethical system preceded Thales and Pythagoras, and has in all its subsequent history demonstrated its superiority over all the most labored devices of man.

Its feasts and gatherings rejoiced the covenant people when the Neonean games had no existence. And in its combination of songs and history, ethics and biography, scenes from the household gathering and episodes from national annals, through its every form of composition, familiar and profound, it is inclusive in its places of authorship of scenes widely distant and diversified,—some portions of it having been written under the shadows of the Egyptian pyramids, others on the banks of the Euphrates, some in the Isle of Patmos, others in the Mamertine dungeons. It embraces among its authors him who wore the crown of Israel's Kingdom, and those who cast their nets on the sea of Tiberias,—the Persian prime minister and the fettered captive of Cæsar,—the Hebrew child of early persecution, who was fostered and nurtured by the daughter of Egypt's mighty monarch, and the untutored and despised tax-gatherer.

In this book of inexhaustible expressions of sublimity, the inspired prophets are presented to us as the medium for the communication of the Divine revelations of their visions. The prophets were the recipients of a direct divine gift. That they were possessed of a power superior to and independent of genius, is seen from the purposes served by their utterances which are uniformly not merely national or civil, but which were in the rule of relation to God, as also from the objects presented to their view, often lying hid in regions which the most penetrating, eagle-eyed genius had no power to scan. That this supernatural power did not invade, though it elevated, their natural faculties, is evident from the diversities of style and manner which are found among different prophets, and different portions of the prophecies of the same prophet.

The human mind, all unaided, is in its contemplations, often arrested by profound surprise, in its ever trackless rovings, by the prominence given by the spirit of the hour to some objects of the imagination, as to a dreamer his converse when reviewed in the light of the day.

How readily, then, appears the cause of the wonder and awe often mentioned as experienced by the prophets, when through them had passed the current of divine revelation, which conveyed the messages of God as in the power of the whirlwind which devastates the sea and the land, or in that of the zephyr of the summer evening, which ministers to the soul of man in its serene contemplation.—Through these modes were received the mandates, the requisitions, the blessings and the curses of God. Michael Angelo, hewing at his Moses until surrounded by the spray of stone,—the Ancient Mariners, distorted in the anguish of the delivery of his tale, may give to the lovers of the sublime in ancient literature or architecture, who have not cared to acquaint themselves with the sublimities of the volume of eternal truths, some conception of the power which exercised the prophets in the communication from heaven through them, of revelations to man.

The Ancient Prophets were a peculiarly interesting class. They were the personifications of all that adorned and dignified their national character. Their commission announced them as the vice-gerents of heaven. They were borne onward, through scenes prosperous and adventurous, by the impulsive energy of the spirit of prophecy. Their station and calling invested them with a majesty and authority of which no titled mortal could ever boast. They received the divine decrees from the mouth of God, and enforced them by the most impressive sanctions that could sway the soul of man, and in the glorifying characters of oriental imagery.

Far back in the antediluvian age of the race, and as early in sacred history as the 5th chapter of the book of Genesis, there is an account of one whom God employed to deliver his warnings against the wicked alienation and depravity of the people. Enoch was the seventh from Adam and the great grandfather of Noah. Of Enoch the sacred historian informs us in brief that he "walked with God and was not, for God took him." A biography more striking than this is not to be found in sacred or profane history. In this connection occurs to us that prophet whose name was,—"The Lord is my strength." Suddenly as a vision of the right, he stands before Ahab, the evil King of Israel, and the historian thinks no more of recounting his ancestry, than we would of tracing that of a dream. Having delivered his message, (one of fearful import to the whole people of the rebellious king,) he immediately withdrew. We see him, however, shortly after, in a poor widow's dwelling. He indefinitely multiplies her scanty means of subsistence, and when the death messenger removes the cherished one of her love, she but applies to the prophet of God, and as a proof of his divine commission, his request of God is granted in the restoration of her son.

He again appears in the presence of Ahab, and with a fearlessness induced only by the consciousness of a Divine commission, he challenges the king, in response to the question—"Art thou he that troubleth Israel?"—demanding in challenge of him, of his god, and the prophets of his god, four hundred and fifty, that they meet him in Carmel, and have the question of the land and age "Is Baal or Jehovah, God?"—there decided by an appeal to the chainless elements of fire.

He who ruleth in the elements gave from his sun a ray to consume the sacrifice, the wood, the stones, and the dust, and to clearly free even the trench of its water. The scene is followed by another in which Elijah, by the brook Kishon, sways the slaughtering knife, at the direction of the voice of his God, in attestation of the Divine justice.

He is next presented to us on Carmel as mediator between a justly punished nation and the offended Sovereign, and by his intercession the parched earth is again blessed with the descent of fertilizing showers, and the skies of brass resume their cerulean beauties. He is then seen, fleeing from Jezebel's vengeance, on his way to Horeb, the mount of God, fed and supported by the ministrations of an angel visitor, as he despairingly reclines under the juniper tree, and sustained by that visitor in a fast of forty days and forty nights on his journey to the Mount. He observes the heralds of the Divine approach, in the wind, the earthquake and the fire, and is made conscious of that coming itself by the "still, small voice," at the call of which he leaves his cave, and by the rejoicing assurances of which he leaves also his despair behind; for that voice announced that even then there were 7000 "who had not bowed the knee to Baal." He retraces his steps to the haunts of the people, animated by the celestial colloquy for the mysterious change at hand. By the Divine direction he anoints Elisha his successor, again appears before Ahab, who trembles and quakes as if the prophet were the returned ghost of Naboth, and as his last public act, he brings destruction upon the hosts of Ahaziah, which sought to extort from him a prophecy of continued life and health to their wicked, dying king.

We behold him then directing his majestic steps towards the Jordan, doubtless oft reverting his eyes to the mountains and the woodlands and the gardens of Elysian beauty of his idolatrous yet cherished land, which he is leaving forever; regarding not the inquisitive sons of the prophets, he passes on, until he and his successor are found moving along; his whole countenance becomes brighter, his step quicker and his port loftier, as he and his companion approach the stream; he stands for a moment silent upon its brink; raising then his mantle, he smote the waters and they separate; he resumes on the other side the high converse; but now, with eager eye, cast ever and anon onward. And now the air is dense with the descent of celestial cohorts arrayed in immortal vestures; the man of God enters the fiery chariot, and with the swiftness of a rushing whirlwind he rises upward and upward, in triumphal progress, above the wilderness of worlds, outstripping the comet's glowing wheel, rising above the sun, and every system from which the sun's system is visible, crossing the firmaments of space, until the triumphal glory of the ascent is merged in the engulfing glory of the throne of God. Sublime close of life! It was fitting that such a life should have such a close.

It is noticeable that the two only of the human family who have been exempted from the demand of the fell destroyer were of the number of the commissioned prophets. Enoch and Elijah had no need of the trial of death or the presage of the charnel house, to prepare them for a residence in heaven.

We have spoken thus in detail of Elijah as an example of the lives and nature of the commissions of the prophets, and pass now to a brief consideration of those, with their visions, whose commissions were not only in relation to the then existing state of the people to whom they were sent, but which were of a general, all-inclusive nature. Their declarations stand in the oracles of Eternal truth, both as pledges of the divine decrees in relation to this world, and in the confirmation of the sure results which must ever follow human action, whether in individual capacity, or in that of communities or nations.

A cloud of deep gloom gathers about one prophet, as he views the deep ignorance and darkness of the earth, in relation to the end of mortal existence, prevalent in the age preceding the Messiah's advent. The state of the faith of the true believer in that age of midnight darkness may not be inaptly expressed in language originally from Campbell's frame:

O! deep enchanting prelude to repose,
The dawn of bliss, the twilight of our woes;
Yet hark! I hear the panting spirit sigh,
It is a dread and awful thing to die!
Mysterious worlds! untraversed by the sun,
Where time for wandering bliss hath never run,
From your unfathomed shades and viewless spheres
A warning comes, unheard by other ears,
With mortal terrors clouds immortal bliss,

And then that prophet's vision of the coming of Him who should bring "life and immortality to light," may be, with indebtedness of the same author, expressed thus:

Daughter of faith, awake, arise!
Illume the dread unknown, the chaos of the tomb!
Melt and dispel, ye spectre-doubts that roll
Cimmerian darkness on the parting soul;
Fly, like the moon-eyed herald of dismay
The strife is o'er the pangs of nature closed;
And life's last rapture triumphs o'er its woes.
Hark! as the spirit eyes with eagle gaze
The noon of Heaven, undazzled by the blaze,
On heavenly winds that waft her to the sky,
Float the sweet tones of star-born melody.
Mild as the hallowed anthem, sent to hail
Bethlehem's shepherds in the lonely vale,
When Jordan hushed its waves, and midnight still

The prophets beheld His advent who should dispel the darkness of the earth in relation to immortality, and should proclaim in language spiritually literal,—"He that liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

David, the royal prophet, delineates the side of events, which were to precede the Messiah's universal reign. He saw kings and potentates join in impotent alliance to oppose the kingdom of Him who alone is the rightful sovereign of all nations and all hearts, and whose throne should be set upon the "holy hill of Zion." The evangelical prophet is entranced in beholding in the future the golden age of the Messiah, whose glory as the God incarnate he beheld, when high upon his radiant throne, "his train filled the temple." His prophetic eye pierced the depths of futurity and traced the mighty agencies that fulfilled the decrees of God. He saw Mene inscribed as the doom of guilty nations, and Tekel upon the gates of corrupted capitals.

Babylon, with its proverbial corruptions, rises in its towering power, and passes before his vision, the "queen of cities" and the "glory of kingdoms." He views her palaces, her stately temples, and her gorgeous golden halls, all the scenes of revolting wickedness. He pronounces upon it its coming doom. As the panorama of its history passes before him, he sees the besom of destruction as it sweeps the sin-cursed city from the face of the earth.—The fearful change his oracle, thus announced, "How hath the oppressor ceased, the golden city ceased?" Says a recent traveller, "There the dragon howls over her mountain ruins, and where stood Belshazzar's Hall, the satyrs hold their nightly dance and the moan of the bittern bespeaks the very genius of desolation."

From the mount of vision other prophets scan with awe thrilling view, the crimes and follies, the joys and woes of humanity, as they rise up in every age and every land. Amid the strife of arms and the shock of contending hosts they see the war-king reigning in the gory field. They pronounce the divine judgments upon him who oppresseth his fellow-man, who withholdeth from the hireling his wages, or who grinds the faces of the poor,—lessons which have had and have now, their application in all lands.

Daniel, the inspired statesman, while controlling the councils of an oriental empire, was rejoiced and entranced in the vision of that kingdom which should ultimately fill the whole earth. By his prophetic vision he traced the destiny of nations yet unknown, declared the rise and fall of empires, and had a view of the closing of this mortal drama.

The history of the past demonstrates the truth of his predictions, and the future will testify as ages pass on. The Chaldean, the Persian, the Grecian and Roman empires passed from an imposing state to decay before him, and the vast perspective was made complete by the vision of Messiah's kingdom. He beheld the successive transition of events in ages yet far down the track of time. They were delineated before him on the canvas of destiny, drawn by the eternal pen. He saw earth's mightiest empires, like colossal statues, removed from their broad bases, their thrones cast down, their dominion passed away, being smote by the stone from the mountain's side. Sublime indeed was the scope of Daniels' visions, encircling the realms of earth and time! Immeasurably vast was the range of his revelation, extending from the Chaldean head of gold, to the Ancient of Days, in majesty enthroned. Time waned as he saw the pomp and pageantry of earth's crowns and kingdoms moulder into dust, and the moral drama of earth closes with the vision of the countless millions of the risen dead, as they ascend to the tribunal of the Judge of all, to receive the awards of eternity.

It was the prophet's portion to know that earth should yet rejoice and blossom as the garden of the Lord. With surpassing richness of figure, the evangelical prophet proclaims the sure approach of that day when the earth shall be freed from the bondage of sin, and be disenthralled from Satanic sway. His language is expressively paraphrased by Pope, in his lines commencing,—

In the vision of the surpassing glory of that golden age, the prophets exultingly rise above the thoughts of the intervening ages of darkness and crime-stained scenes of woe. In the most glowing characters they bespeak the advancement of the day when the song of redemption shall be heard in all lands, and the earth be filled with the glory of the Messiah's universal reign. The assurance that this world is yet to experience such a renovation inspires us while enjoying these contemplations, to mark the signs which antedate its dawn, longing to see the gates unfold which shall usher the tide of the Messiah's glory over an expectant world.

Then shall the glad song arise which shall celebrate the fulfilment of the prophecy, "His kingdom shall extend from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth."

THE JEWS.—The New York Times does nothing more than justice to the Jews in a recent article from which we quote:

There are said to be some 17,000 of the Jewish faith in the United States. Their churches number 31. Probably 6,000 are to be found in the city of New York. We seldom find one in our prisons or penitentiaries. They are not frequently found in our hospitals, and never in our poor houses. At Ward's Island, where so many hundreds of the poor drifting across from the shores of the Old World are continually gathering, we find all classes of Christians—Quakers perhaps excepted—and all shades of infidels represented, but never a Jew. When the Jewish emigrant arrives, he does not commit himself, though poverty has chased him from his old home, and met him on our wharf, to the Commissioners of Emigration, for the receipt of that assistance to which his commutation fee entitles him, but he queries, first Where is there a Jew? His brother, found, leads him to the man who, by appointment of the synagogue, or otherwise, assumes the specific task of caring for such. Thirteen hundred tons of coal, we are told, have been given to the poor by one Society of Israelites in New York during the present winter. This early and unfailing attention, of those who are able, to the wants of the poor, must greatly tend to prevent the commission of crime, since crime stalks in nowhere so surely, as when hunger and nakedness open the door, and want perpetually beckons on.

The company for bending ship timber, having completed their works at New York, gave an exhibition on Saturday which was successful, two straight pices of white oak being easily forced into a curve, and all kinds of timber made to take any desired shape. The machine was invented by Mr. Blanchard, and is patented, of course.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

We learn from the Portland Argus that the legislature of Maine adjourned on Thursday evening, 20th inst., after a session of one hundred and seventeen days, and that the order for the removal of the seat of government, after passing in the Senate, failed in the House by a small vote. It contemplated holding the session in Portland next year, and in Bangor the year after.

All the Academy grants were lost. So was the Insolvent Law, and all amendments to the poor debtor law. The tax on polls for schools was raised from 50 to 60 cents. An appropriation of $12,000 was made to the Reform School, and $18,000 to the Insane Hospital. The dog law was lost. The Mechanic's Bank, Portland, was incorporated. The appointment of a State Superintendent of Public Schools was authorized at a salary of $1200.

FREIGHT BUSINESS.—There are now five regular freight trains daily, arriving at and departing from this city, over the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railroad. One of these is devoted exclusively to the freight coming from and bound over the Androscoggin & Kennebec Road. The freight business upon these roads, is increasing very rapidly. We learn that there are demands for business on the road, for at least two additional daily trains; making seven out and in trains. But the company have not yet been able to furnish themselves with the necessary rolling stock to meet the public wants; a circumstance which gives rise to not a little grumbling and complaint on the part of persons interested.—From these facts, the public may form some opinion of the present operations on the road, in the matter of freight.—Portland Argus.

Bayard Taylor relates the following amusing anecdote in his own experience in Arabia: While in Arabia I had a very remarkable experience. There is a drug in the East whose effect is like that of opium; it is prepared from the Indian hemp. It was much used by the Saracen warriors when about to enter a battle, as a stimulus. It produces on the imagination a double consciousness; one part of the mind seems to study while the other part looks on. From motives of curiosity, I was persuaded to try the effects of it on my own system. I was in Damascus at the time.—Soon after taking the drug, the effects of it began to appear. I saw the furniture in the room, talked with the company, and yet I seemed to be near the pyramid of Cheops, whose blocks of stone appeared to me like huge squares of Virginia tobacco. The scene changed, and I was on the desert in a boat made of mother of pearl. The sand seemed grains of lustrous gold, though my boat run as easily as on the waves of the sea; the air seemed filled with harmonies of the sweetest music; the atmosphere was filled with light, with odors and music. Before me seemed to be a constant series of arcades of rainbows, through which, for fifteen years, I seemed to glide. The finer senses were developed, and all gratification was a single harmonious sensation. Hence we can easily conceive the origin of the Arabian Nights. My companion, a huge Kentuckian, tried the drug with an amusing effect. After looking at me for a while, he started up with the exclamation, "I'm a locomotive," and began to cut off his words like the paff of an engine, and to work like the moving of the wheels. At last he seized the water jug for a drink, but set it down with a yell, saying, "how can I take water into my boiler when I am letting off steam."

GAMBLING IMPLEMENTS OF CALIFORNIA.—The Marysville Herald says that some time since a gambler absconded from that that place, leaving all his baggage behind him. The individual with whom it was left, after waiting some time for the return of the owner, concluded to examine the articles, which he did in the presence of several individuals. The first thing which appeared was a roulette wheel, which on being takea apart was found to be so constructed, that by touching a spring the bottom of every box painted red would be made to rise, presenting a smooth surface, and leaving the ball no alternative but to drop into the black. Should the heaviest betting be upon the black, the screw might be pressed a little harder, whereupon the bottoms of all the black boxes would come up and the ball must go into the red. The whole thing was so ingeniously contrived as to present, unless taken apart, not the slightest appearance of deception. Moving with the smoothness of clock-work, the machinery could never fail. With it a child might play against the world and win every stake.—Lowell News.

THE SHOOTING CASE AT STRAFFORD.—We learn from the Dover Gazette, that on Saturday, 15th inst., Charles Dennett, Esq., Coroner, had the body of Sarah Jane Tuttle (the little girl who was killed March 16th, in Strafford) disinterred and held an inquest upon it. The Jurors were George C. Peavey, Daniel Winkley and Stephen Hill, who found after hearing the evidence, that she came to her death by means of a charge of shot discharged from a gun by William Henry Harrison Foss, a boy about 12 years old, he not knowing that the gun was loaded, but that he made an assault upon her by pointing and snapping the gun at her with the intention of frightening her. The Coroner notified Geo. C. Peavey, Esq., to have the boy arrested.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The first of the spring races over the Union Course came off yesterday. There was a large attendance of sporting characters. The match was between Lady Franklin, Stranger and Pony—mile heats, best three in five, for a purse of $250. Lady Franklin won the three first heats, and was declared the winner. Time—2:42 1-2; 2:47; 2:47 1-2.

The Washington correspondent of the Herald says that Com. Newton of the Home Squadron had an interview with the President and Secretary of the Navy yesterday. His refusal recently to salute the Spanish flag at Havana has met, it is said, with the full approbation of the President.

The Government has ordered the Commodore to remain in readiness until a reply is received from Spain relative to the Black Warrior affair.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The United States frigate Columbia arrived here to-day from Havana, and her commander, Commodore Newton, proceeded immediately to Washington.

A prominent Wall street broker, to-day, having refused the notes of the Pequonock Bank of Bridgeport, Conn., Mr. Barnum, its President, publishes a card, declaring the concern in a flourishing condition, and pledging his entire fortune for twelve months for its liabilities.

SEIZURE OF LIQUORS.—Tuesday Officer Chas. H. Hall served the first warrant issued for seizure of liquors by Judge Williams of the Municipal Court. Mr. Hall found seven barrels well filled at the old Owen Tanyard stables, between Cross and Cotton streets. Two big bull dogs were chained over the liquor, and it required considerable nice financiering to get round them.—Portland Argus.

In Ellicottville, N. Y., a little daughter of Michael Glancy was standing in a chair, when her sister called her to look at a flock of pigeons. Turning suddenly, she fell upon an axe which lay with the edge upwards between two sticks of wood; her head was split open, and she died instantly.

RETURNING HOME.—There were seventy-five passengers on board the steamer Star of the West, from California for the State of Maine. Thus the sons of Maine are returning from their long pilgrimage to the homes of their childhood and to those they love.—Portland Adv.

REEFING TOPSAILS.

We have recently examined a new invention by Mr. William H. Foster, the object of which is to obviate the necessity of going aloft in bad weather, to reef topsails of ships. The invention is extremely simple, not liable to get out of order, and so easy of application, that a boatswain of the navy said he could with the ordinary crew, fit a yard of a frigate with the necessary blocks and ropes in one hour, to perform the operation of reefing the sail from the deck in this way. Almost all who are accustomed to nautical matters have expressed themselves strongly in favor of its utility.

The fittings of the yard and the make of the sail are not different from those now in use, with the exception of the addition of blocks, and all that is necessary to single or close reef the sail, is to let go the halliards, as is now necessary to perform the same operation. By taking a turn round a pin, a boy could perform the whole operation in one minute, as neatly and as securely as is now done by all hands.

It seems impossible that it should not work as well in bad weather as in Mr. Foster's store. If the yard will come down the sail must be reefed.

Mr. Foster was for many years a practical printer, and invented a neat little card-press. Any notice by the craft will be favorably received.

SHADE TREES.

Messrs. Editors:—Most of your readers, who have land, know how to cultivate fruit trees; but all do not so well understand how to select and plant forest trees for shade and ornament. Let me give them the benefit of my experience.

In planting such trees as the Elm, Ash and Maple, it is not good policy to go into a swamp where the trees run up slender and tall, and then set them out on high ground; for the wind will rack them, and they will generally dwindle away in two or three years, and so the labor will be loss.

On the contrary, it is best to choose good stubbed, thrifty trees, by the hedges, and be sure they have good roots.

Elms have long and large branches, and should therefore never be set in any place where the space is not amply large. The Ash and Maple are thick limbed, and therefore look better than elms, in places where room is scanty. The Rock Maple is best.

Take a tree twelve or fifteen feet high, and twice as big as a hoe-handle; set it out carefully, and in five years it will make a little shade for your horse, or for yourself. If rightly placed, you would not then part with it for five dollars. A FARMER.

☞ At our request, we are allowed to publish this morning the Essay written by Mr. Wm. W. Dow, and read by him before the Young Men's Christian Association, (of which he is now President,) on Wednesday evening last. It is a good literary production, and will be found interesting to all.

A host of Certificates can be presented, but the following from Rev. J. M. Trimble, Presiding Elder of the Cincinnati District M. E. Church, must satisfy all of the beneficial results of the use of this Cough Candy.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 25, 1847.

DR. HOWE—Sir: I have used Howe's Cough Candy and have found it a pleasant remedy for Hoarseness, and believe that public speakers troubled with diseases of the throat would find benefit from its use. J. M. TRIMBLE.

LIFE AND SAYINGS OF MRS. PARTINGTON, and others of the Family—edited by B. P. SHILLABER. For sale by a24 JOHN S. HARVEY & SON.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, April 21.

The Senate was not in session to-day.

HOUSE.—The House took up the consideration of the Senate bill providing for compensating the discoverer of practical anathesia.—After some discussion it was laid on the table—yeas 82, nays 46.

Mr. McDougall reported a bill providing for the transportation of weekly mails from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans to SanFrancisco and back, the entire cost not to exceed $250,000 per annum. The consideration of the bill was postponed until June.

The House then went into Committee on the private calendar, and afterwards adjourned to Monday.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—The correspondent of the Courier and Enquirers writes on Wednesday:—

The treaty was postponed, on motion of Senator James of Rhode Island, from Tuesday to Thursday this week, not the next, as I erroneously stated last night. It was discussed three hours to-day without result, but conclusive indications were furnished that a fragment of the Gadsden Treaty, with a slice of the Conklin Treaty, will pass.

FOREIGN ITEMS PER ASIA.

"Lads! War is declared! We are to meet a bold and numerous enemy. Should they offer us battle, you know how to dispose of them. Should they remain in port, we must try to get at them!

"Success depends upon the quickness and precision of your fire. Lads, sharpen your cutlasses and the day is your own!"

SOME CREDIT TO THE CZAR.—The Czar may boast of the 3,000,000 soldiers at his command, but, although surrounded with so many forces, nevertheless, considering the shifts by which he has been obliged to raise money, it must be confessed that he is a loanly man.—Punch.

MOTHERLY ADMONITION.—An old lady, whose son was about to proceed to the Black Sea, among her parting admonitions, gave him strict injunctions not to bathe in that sea, for she did't want to see him come back a "nigger."—London Diogenes.

THE CANADIAN LOAN.—It is just twenty years since the Province of Canada first borrowed money of this country. The loan was for twenty years, and the time being up on Saturday last, the 1st of April, 1854, the whole sum due was paid out of the surplus revenue of the province. This fact speaks volumes for the progress of the colony.—European Times.

At a grand dinner given lately in St. Petersburg, to Mdle. Rachel, by the officers of the Imperial Guards, one of them proposed a toast, "To our next meeting in France, where we shall drink champagne to the health of our great artiste." To which the actress replied, "Very well, my dear sirs—champagne is good for prisoners."

The number of members of Parliament who are going out in the expedition to the East, to take part in the war, is 14 or 15.

ON Sunday, the 2d inst., the prayer prescribed for the time of war was offered in the various churches of the metropolis; and in most of the nonconformist places of worship supplications were made for the triumph of truth and justice, and the speedy return of peace.

The government purpose sending out all kinds of clothing and food, which can in any way conduce to the health of the troops. A large quantity of tea will be shipped, as the use of water alone in any way will be prohibited, owing to its deleterious character without the operation of boiling. The French propose shipping a large quantity of wines, and it is supposed that some arrangements will be made, by means of which our government will be enabled to follow the example.

POISONING AND DEATH.—A correspondent of the Boston Times states that in Windsor, N. H., on the 3d inst., Mr. Lemuel Curtice, and Mrs. Lyon, his sister, a widow lady, were attacked by violent sickness and nausea, while eating their breakfast. A physician who was sent for, at once pronounced them the victims of poison. They continued in much distress for several hours, after which Mrs. Lyon was relieved. Mr. Curtice, however, lingered in great pain until the 17th inst., when he died, and his physicians, upon a post mortem examination, ascertained that his death had been occasioned by a metallic poison, probably administered in the tea which he drank on the first morning of his illness. Suspicions are entertained that the poison was put into the tea by a son of Mr. Curtice, with whom the father had recently had a difficulty. The son has disappeared and cannot be found.

ABOLITION OF SLAVERY IN VENEZUELA. A commission appointed to inquire into the expediency of abolishing slavery in Venezuela, have reported in its favor, that slavery be instantly abolished, and the owners of slaves be paid their value by the government. There are no slaves under 32 years of age however, as all children of slave mothers born since the year 1821, were decreed to be free by Bolivia—to serve as apprentices until they were 21 years of age. The report will be adopted, and the enfrancisement, it is said, will greatly strengthen the power of Mongas, as every slave will be entitled to cast his vote, and will all vote to sustain the government which gives them freedom.

A commercial agent on board a Yankee ship which was trading in Turon Bay, Cochin China, some years ago, found that he could have no intercourse with the magnates on shore, because he had not a string of titles attached to his name. He therefore added to his patronymic the title, "Citizen of the United States," and then went on with Citizen of each of the States. This produced the desired effect, or he would have enumerated all the principal cities of America. It takes a Yankee to adapt himself to circumstances.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some years ago, when it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new man. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years; she so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. It the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bound, that were pronounced by cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When nasty weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to cleanse the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that never got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb, simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonful. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

THE PRESENTATION WRINKLE.

Presentations are just now all the 'go.'—They have fairly been 'run into the ground,' ramrod, muzzle and stock. Everybody and nobody, friends and country cousins, have had a watch, a silver spoon, a piece of plate, book, pencils, ladles, or something of the sort metallic, vellum, etc., etc. Mr. Toodles helps a lady to a seat in church, and for his magnanimity and politeness, is presented with a silver pitcher, inscribed with fantastic, double-breasted letters. Mr. Snooks attends to his business of tallow chandlery, like an honest man, and some of his neighbors, in a flood of admiration at his 'distinguished merit,' flood his ideas and table with a service of plate. Snooks wonders at all this, but is silenced by being assured that he deserves it. Mrs. Jerusalem gives birth to three children and a half at a single heat, and the "Census Society," in a blaze of admiration and surprise, endow each offspring with a $500 purse, and tender the mother with tea, coffee and some other services, silver, gold and otherwise. Mr. Pinewood, the wood-sawyer, saws and splits the 'white ash' of his up town patrons, and performs it with such scientific nicety, that he is presented with a gold salver, showered with goblets. Prof. Windbag goes through a 'course' of lectures, tickles his hearers hugely, and down comes a tea service, flanked by a $200 watch and chain. Miss Squirty, in consideration of the elegant manner in which she executes 'them polkas,' excites the admiration and cash of her inflammable friends, who join in and present her with a rich, double-breasted neck-lace, diamond pin, and bracelet. Mr. Dusty Robert, the chimney sweep, whose labors have contributed so much to the comfort of society, by raising its smoke and ideas, is made the recipient of regiments of cups, goblets, &c. Mrs. Squibob, in view that she made a flannel shirt, and sent two 'moral pocket hankerchiefs' to the heathen at the South pole, is presented with a gilt-edged Bible, four big-bellied hymn-books, a rosy letter, a pair of gold-mounted spectacles, and a life membership in the 'Society for Reforming all Mankind.' Mr. Scrapewell, the scavenger, for his 'able and disinterested services' in triweekly cleansing of the swill-tubs, and moistening the yards of Muggins, Skopdoodle, and Perewinktum, with generous drippings of the same, is presented with a silver knife and fork, a gold shovel and scraper, and a silk dress and tucker for Mrs. S. Capt Swigitoff is presented with a sword, sash, epaulettes, and other wrinkles, because he marched his company up the hill, and then marched it down again. Mr. Humfum is going out of the city for fifteen minutes, and in consideration of his 'many noble qualities,' and 'desiring to express their high sense of his many virtues,' previous to his departure, his friends get up a troop of goblets, smothered in cream-pots, butter knives &c. Blubbers, the negro coal-shoveler, gets in that coal without throwing more of it over the side-walk than in the bin, and is presented by Deacon Miller with a gold locket, two table spoons and a four story benediction. Mrs. Mulgrubbins, scours 'them back stairs' till they shine like the silvery moon, or the comet's tail, which so pleases mistress Softer, that she presents the Mulgrubbins with a $40 embroidered pocket-handkerchief, a purse of $50, and an invitation to dine 'next Sunday.' Mr. Muscles, the handcartman, hauls up a bale of goods, and don't either lose more than one half, or ruin the other, and is, in accordance with 'the spirit of the age,' presented with a diamond breastpin, a long-heeled speech, and five barrels of flour for Mrs. Muscles and her eleven young Muscles at home. Brush, the boot black, for the 'great services' he has rendered to Squire Pescrincturn and his friends, in blacking both their boots and stockings, and speaking 'a good word for them,' in 'Belknap street circles, is honored with a $400 pitcher, a $200 purse, and and a six foot sword. Spruce picks up a lady's handkerchief on Washington street, passed it to her with much grace and many blushes, and next Sunday appears with a new $70 gold fob.

So it goes. Where it will end, nobody can tell. The hero will be, by and by, he who hasn't had a 'presentation.' The mop-woman, boot blacks, wood sawyers, chimney sweeps, scavengers, squirts and nobodies, have nearly all been the recipients of gold, silver and other valuables, in some form or other. These 'testimonials' are invariably accompanied by the loftiest style of hifalutin rhetoric, often alike frightful to common sense, grammar, and good taste. Men and women, who never dreamed that they 'were so great,' have been boosted to the stars on steeple-adjectives, as brilliant as rockets, and, perhaps as short lived.

At all events, this is an age of presentations. Everybody is in danger of having one unless they take

TOBACCO.—Besides the poison contained in the weed itself, many of our tobacco chewers are absorbing into their system an oxyde of lead—the same which kills so many painters, and paralyzes others. Lead foil is cheaper than tin foil, and some of those who put up tobacco for chewing, use the latter instead of the former. The counterfeit may be known by its dark blue or bluish color, whereas tin foil is nearly white. Tobacco chewers who do not wish to absorb two poisons at once, will do well to profit by this caution.—Granite Farmer.

THE PUBLIC REVENUE.

The Delegates from the slave states to the recent Southern Convention so far as they attempt to mature plans to promote the mechanic arts, agriculture, commerce, internal improvement, and any industrial pursuits, are highly commendable. Even should they carry out the project to build up a mercantile marine, and cut off all trade with the North, the latter need not complain while they have all the world, and "the rest of mankind," to trade with. The full accomplishment of what the South now propose would change "the frame-work of southern society," and place the white masses, at least, upon a common level, or equality, in time. To give to labor its dignity, would seem revolutionize society there. But we are amused at the complaint of the convention that, in substance, the slave states have been unjustly taxed, or have not received their due proportion of the public revenue. Let us look only a little way into this matter and see what has been taken from the revenue chiefly for the southern benefit. Fifteen millions for the purchase of Louisiana, although this has benefitted the North also. About 27 millions for the purchase of Florida and Texas including the interest. 30 millions expended in prosecuting the Florida war to extirpate the Seminoles, and recover the fugitive slaves. Perhaps 100 millions expended in the Mexican war to extend the area. 15 millions paid and secured to Mexico for the purpose of extension. Many millions expended on the Cumberland road. During Gen. Jackson's administration, the expenditures rose to 25 millions. The military and naval expenditures were increased from 8 millions in 1828 to 22 millions in 1836, and carried up to an average of 30 millions under Mr. Van Buren's administration in consequence of the Florida war. It is stated that 68 millions were expended in only four years. When Mr. Polk came in, the war for settling the boundary of Texas, extending the area, &c., swelled the average expenditures to about 44 millions, which was chiefly bestowed upon the army and navy, and now of the revenue from 40 to 50 millions towards one half is for the support of the military and naval establishments. There is to be a large outlay of millions for war steamers. 20 millions to Santa Anna, should the Gadsden treaty succeed. And the South would consent to the payment by the government of even two hundred millions for the acquisition of Cuba. We pass over the annual payment of about a million and a half for the transportation of the southern mails—such small matters come not into our general calculation.

A public lecturer recently said that the free states had been taxed a hundred millions to carry on the southern wars and promote the peculiar purposes of the South, to the detriment of the North. Had he said three hundred millions we think it could be shown he would have been within the truth.

Our northern interests have not required the protection of large armies and navies, nor any wars since that of 1812 for the defence of our rights or institutions.

Since the origin of our government a revenue, in the aggregate, of about thirteen hundred millions has been collected. Of this amount, the slave states have not paid but about one fourth! Yet they now complain. It is stated that nearly three fourths of the revenue (the land revenue excepted) is collected at New York and Boston. But it is true that ultimately the consumers of dutiable merchandize pay it. Who are they? Not the three and a half millions of slaves, who pay only a nominal duty on salt, and compose over one third of the southern population.—The white masses at the south, who despise labor, have therefore very little pecuniary means to purchase foreign goods. These number about five millions, contributing very little towards the public revenue. Should the property-holders pay double the proportion of our northern citizens, still it would not prove that the South pay one fourth of the revenue. Yet, if past calculations do not deceive us, two thirds at least of the revenue has been expended for southern purposes, and the salaries and interests of Southern men. U.

☞ Mr. Abel Tompkins of Boston, the publisher, has sent us a neat pamphlet of 44 pages, entitled "A Short Review of Dr. Edward Beecher's Work on the Conflict of Ages, By Rev. T. S. King."

We have already given this Review a favorable notice,—and now take occasion to mention it again, as a brief, readable and piquant notice of a remarkable book, giving the author's main argument fairly without a formal and labored analysis.

It was first published in the Universalist Quarterly, and is now issued in a second edition of the seperate pamphlet.

CUBA.

The Havana Correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of April 14, writes as follows:

Even the interest previously manifested for United States news has abated within the past two days; but still there is confidence expressed that the administration will act decisively and promptly upon the return of the Madrid messenger. No one for a moment doubts the action of the Spanish government, and the reply they will return, and no one doubts that if the administration fails to perform their promises, that the people will take their cause in their own hands, maintain their rights, and vindicate American honor.

President Pierce undoubtedly has been governed in his course by the combined wisdom of the Cabinet, and he has calculated to surprise the American people by a purchase of the Island of Cuba—relying upon the sagacity of M. Soule and the bubbling of the political cauldron at Madrid. Let him at once dispel these hopes. Spain has no desire to sell, and she will only lure him on from day to day to gain time to consummate her plans for the destruction of the Island under the secret English treaty. Even though Spain does apologize for the Black Warrior insult, will the United States permit this interference of Great Britain and the establishment of a free black colony close upon her southern border for the ultimate destruction and annoyance of Southern interests? Self protection admonishes us to possess the island—we require it as a coaling depot for our steamers—we need it to give employment to our coasting and other vessels. And American republicanism and freedom revolts at tyranny and oppression so near her, and the true humanity and philanthropy of the heart is aroused in behalf of the down trodden, oppressed and groaning white slaves of Cuba. Under all these circumstances the people of the United States are called upon to act, and we believe the time has arrived when they will act and prove to the world their true position.

That is to say, if Spain should apologize and pay damages, as she will,—still President Pierce must kick up a bobbery on account of some supposed influence of England in Cuba. And if Pres. Pierce will not, the fillibusters will; for they are the people, and the champions of universal annexation, and of universal liberty—to hold slaves.

MAINE MECHANICS.

The Portland Argus of April 22, contains an account of the Annual Meeting of the Maine Charitable Mechanic Association.

It has a fund, now amounting to $1500, and a library, from which during the past year an average of 340 books per week have been taken. One very pleasant item in their business, is the Annual Report of their Temperance Committee, which we copy.

The duty of the Temperance Committee of this Association, at the close of its year, is a very pleasant one. That we have to report, only, that we have not been called upon during the whole year, in a single case, to exercise that admonitory care, which our duty directs, over a single member of this Association, is more gratifying, though expressed but in a short paragraph—than would be pages of detail of successful labor with erring members. That none have fallen into the toils of intemperance, is a prouder statement, than that scores have been redeemed.

The Association may well feel proud of the stand its members have taken in the theory and practice of temperance. It is one of its noblest traits. Temperate and industrious, our mechanics may rank with the highest in the land. Those cardinal virtues will never cause the blush of shame to tinge the cheek, though the outer garb may be coarse and thread bare. We take pride in alluding to those traits of character, which our members have won in these respects. We trust that in all future years, they may show as clean a docket. Richer than uncounted gold in the possession of them, they would be poor indeed (though rolling in wealth) without those priceless virtues. As pioneers in the great reform, this Association, many years ago, was not backward. In this latter day, they may honorably point to the early efforts of a majority of its members, and also be thankful for the abundant fruit of good works, which now is apparent on every hand.

RUM AND GUNPOWDER.

We learn from the Democratic Advocate, that an interesting trial took place at Alfred, Maine, commencing on the 7th, and ending on the 12th, before the Supreme Judicial Court—Judge Howard presiding.

It was an action of the case, Frederic A. Lord of Great Falls, N. H., against John Moore of Berwick, and occupied four days and a half in the trial. Damages to the amount of $3,278 were claimed by the plaintiff for the loss of his property by the burning of his store at Great Falls, in Sept., 1849, which he alleges was blown up by gunpowder, under the advice and procurement of the defendant. The plaintiff introduced the testimony of two of the conspirators to this foul and infamous deed, now under sentence in State prison, tending to prove that the defendant, a man of property, abetted and encouraged them in the alleged arson. At a previous trial the jury disagreed, but on Wednesday of last week a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff for the sum of $2,985.85, (nearly three hundred dollars short of the plaintiff's supposed loss.) The case was managed with much ability and skill on both sides. Nathan Clifford and Ichabod Jordan, for plaintiff. J. W. Leland and Charles Bell, for defence.

The first named gentlemen argued the cause on each side, and the Messrs. Jordan and Bell (of Great Falls) examined the witnesses. The case is carried up on exceptions.

This is one of the famous liquor revenge cases, wherein the actual incendiaries were wretched sots, but the greatest criminals were behind the curtain, stimulating the victims to fight their battles, by burning the property of those who enforced the law upon them.

If the defendant in this case is verily guilty, and can be proved so, he ought not only to be sweated through the civil suit, but to learn a trade in the State's Prison.

LOCAL.

☞ The old North Church bell came down from its high tower on Monday morning, preparatory to the tower's coming down also; and is to lie mute and inglorious till the new tower shall have risen. It was tolled on Saturday afternoon for the funeral knell of one who had obeyed its matin and vesper calls to worship for the last twenty years, almost without intermission; was rung on Sunday evening at 9, as its last service for the present.

On the rim outside is inscribed: Manufactured by "Lester & Pack, of London, for the First Parish in Prtsmouth in New Hampshire," there being but one o in Portsmouth.

An old bell, its illustrious predecessor, had become cracked, and by a vote of the parish, was "sent home to be new run." It never got home to England, however, as the vessel carrying it was lost at sea; and the present bell was purchased chiefly by subscription.

☞ The Temple was occupied by the North Parish for the first time on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Moore briefly dedicated the house to be used once more as a place of regular Sabbath worship, on commencing in the morning. In the afternoon there was a very large attendance, probably eight hundred or more. The seats have not as yet have been set apart for especial occupants. The choir, with a piano, are placed at the right of the minister, on the platform.

☞ At the funeral services of Mr. Samuel Butland, on Sunday afternoon, we noticed a goodly number of ship-carpenters from the yard of Geo. Raynes, Esq., where the deceased had been a fellow workman. It was really pleasant to see, besides the usual stiff array of carriages, a foot procession performing the last sad courtesy to the memory of a departed friend.

HAVE WE A BURGLAR AMONG US?—On Saturday night somebody broke one of the large panes of glass in the window of Hill & Carr's shoe-store, and stole two pair of fancy boots. And on the same night, probably the same person, broke a pane in the window of Mr. A. J. Badger's Tin Ware Manufactory, and robbed it of nine or ten dollars worth of small goods and fancy wares.

Look out for the rogues, and trap them.

AURORA.—In the Chronicle of Sept. 3d, we gave a description of a beautiful electrical phenomenon. On Sunday evening at about half past nine, a similar exhibition of northern lights took place, but far more beautiful. In the north was a distinctly marked arch of light, spanning about 60 degrees, the highest point being about 15 degrees above the horizon. This gradually changed into brilliant corruscations, which extended nearly to the zenith. At the same time, a beautiful belt of white light, about 4 degrees in width, extended from north west to south east through the zenith, reaching to within about ten degrees of the horizon at either end. This arch was visible, entire, for about half an hour. Both arches being seen at one time rendered the spectacle exceedingly beautiful.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—At your request my humble production was honored with a place in your paper. Will you please to call the attention of your readers to a few typographical errors? In the first paragraph for "Neonan games, read Nemean games." In the last sentence of the sixth, for "glorifying read glowing." In the quotation from Pope, "bands" will be found a better word than beards. Perhaps the mooted question of beards or no beards was occupying the compositor's mind at the time. A few minor errors in punctuation will be readily corrected by the reader.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY TEACHERS INSTITUTE.—This Institute commenced its Spring term in Kingston April 10th, and closed on Saturday the 15th. Owing to the stormy state of the weather on Monday, there were only forty present, including the teachers.—This number was increased however, the two following days, to one hundred or more.

This term of the Institute is said by those who are qualified to judge of its merits, to have surpassed anything of the kind ever held in the county; the whole being marked by orderly deportment on the part of the members, and efficiency on that of the Commissioner and his board of teachers.

ELIOT POST-OFFICES.—The office has been removed from "East Eliot" to "Eliot," at the Eastern Railroad Depot,—Jeremiah P. Shapleigh postmaster; and from "Eliot" to "South Eliot," at the store of Martin P. Brooks, who is also appointed postmaster.

THE DOCTORS CONFOUNDED.—On our outside is an advertisement of Dr. Odway's Medicines, wrongly subscribed Ordway & Lawrence, which last should be Wadleigh. The compositor probably got the medical men mixed up in his head—our friend Lawrence of Epping with the before-mentioned at Lawrence.

JULLIAN'S BURLESQUE OPERA.—The Concert last evening, at the Temple, was attended by a genteel audience, and we think it is not saying too much, to characterize it as the best and most amusing entertainment that has been given in Portsmouth for a long time.

The burlesque was capital burlesque. The Ethiopian humor was not a re-hash of old jokes, but genuine, genial and always within the bounds of delicacy. And the music, vocal and instrumental, (aside from all burlesque and mimicry,) was of a very high order of excellence.

The programme was played through, without omission or substitution, and gave entire satisfaction to the audience. These performances deserve and will attract a full house, this evening.

LICENSE LAW IN EPPING.—Reuben A. Prescott, John H. Prescott, Charles B. Carr and Jonathan Prescott, all of Epping, were arrested on Monday, on complaint of certain citizens of Epping, for violation of the License Law—some of them on several charges.—They were arrested by Geo. W. Towle, Deputy Sheriff, and brought to this city for trial, before W. H. Y. Hackett, Justice of the Peace. They were severally put under $100 bonds on each charge, to appear at the Court of Common Pleas, next September, and not to violate the License Law in the meantime. H. G. O. Rundlett was also arrested on similar charges, but the case was postponed to Monday next.

J. Warren Towle appeared for the State.

The Boston Advertiser understands that at a meeting of the proprietors of Kings Chapel, held after the morning services on Sunday, it was voted to raise the salary of the pastor, Rev. Ephraim Peabody, D. D., to four thousand dollars.

The Maine Law bill has been defeated in the New Brunswick legislature, and a bill passed but very little different from the old license law. The wholesale and retail dealers are to pay the same amount, and all are to be licensed.

FROM THE ISTHMUS.

NEW YORK, April 23.

The steamer North Star, from Aspinwall 14th, arrived this morning. She did not connect with any steamer on the other side, and consequently she brings no California news. The steamer United States, from New Orleans, arrived at Aspinwall on the 13th.

The United States ship Cyane arrived from Carthagena on the 14th, and was awaiting the arrival of Lieut. Strain and party, who were hourly expected from Panama, when she would leave immediately for New York, via Havana. Only six of Lieut. Strain's party had died, viz., the two New Grenadian Commissioners, and the following seamen belonging to the Cyane: Geo. B. Holmes, P. Vernuglio, William H. Park and Edward Lombard.

A French squadron was left by the Cyane at Carthagena, consisting of six vessels, three of them war steamers, who had come for the purpose of enforcing the claim of a French citizen against the government for flour destroyed some years ago at Panama.

The difficulties between the Panama Railroad Company and the Provincial Government were about being settled.

SOUTHERN CONVENTION.

The Charleston, S. C., Mercury, of April 17, says:

The Commercial Convention closed its session on Saturday. There was a good share of spirited and interesting debate, and a number of propositions of much practical interest were adopted. Among these were recommendations for a reduction of the duty on railroad iron; for the establishment of one or more mail routes from southern ports to Europe, and for negotiating with Brazil for the opening of the navigation of the Amazon. A committee of one from each state represented was ordered, whose business it will be to examine into the mail service throughout the south, and devise means of improving it.—Finally a resolution was adopted, nearly unanimously, recommending that the southern states take stock in a railroad to the Pacific. The general agreement on this proposition was caused in no small degree by the reported action of the Senate on the Gadsden Treaty. The attempt to close the southern route was felt to be a movement of political spite, as in a commercial point of view there could be no question of the superiority of this route in shortness, cheapness of construction and facility of use. This is the only act of the Convention having a political cast, and it is in answer to a political movement of the north.

The Richmond, Va., Enquirer remarks:

We apprehend the most zealous champion of southern interests will be constrained to acknowledge that the Charleston Convention was an abortion, if not something worse. The princely hospitality of the people of Charleston reflects infinite credit on their taste and liberality, and stands in advantageous contrast to the barren results and prosy declamation of the Convention. Our only apprehension is, that such delicate attention and such richly-laden tables may perpetuate the nuisance of "Southern Commercial Conventions."

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A desperate effort will be made in the House to-morrow to pass another Nebraska bill, containing all the essential features of the Douglas measure.—The number of members absent will, it is feared, render the scheme successful, at least the opponents of the bill are apprehensive of the result. Mr. Benton has prepared a long and stinging speech in opposition to the bill.

We have all along expected this measure to pass in some form or other. Had it been in reality, as it has been by some pretended, a move for freedom and equal rights, we should have been less confident. But with the whole history of our legislation before us, how could we doubt the issue of any effort made in this country to increase the political power of slavery?

One word as to absentees. Are they absent on purpose to let the bill pass by default? Were they hired to go home? Or were they merely careless? or is there really any need of their presence at home?

NAVAL.—A letter from Florence, of March 22, states that the U. S. frigate Cumberland, the flag-ship of the Mediterranean squadron, Com. Stringham, and the steam frigate Saranac, Capt. Long, arrived at Leghorn a few days before. The Commodore with his family and several of his officers, have availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting Florence, where they have received marks of attention. The St. Louis, Capt. Ingraham, was at Constantinople.

United States ship Jameson was at Pernambuco, March 23, taking in water, and would sail in a few days for New York.

The Navy Department has advices from the sloop of war Vincennes, Commander Ringgold. She was in Sydney harbor, New South Wales, on the 5th of January last, and was about to sail for Macoa, on her way upon the Bhering's Straits exploring expedition.—All were well on board of her. These advices say nothing concerning the other vessels of Commander Ringgold's squadron.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—We have advices from Venezuela up to the 9th inst., by barque Venezuela from Porto Cabello. Slavery throughout the republic was abolished by Congress, the bill receiving the signature of the President and becoming a law the same day it was passed. The indemnity in consequence thereof to the planters in specified, but the fund for the purpose was not designated.

BALTIMORE, 24th.—Ex-President Fillmore arrived at Savannah on Friday evening, and was received with a salute of 31 guns, and escorted to the Pulaski House by a civic and military procession. He intends leaving Savannah to-day for Charleston.

The ship Sophia Walker, chartered by the American Colonization Society, will sail from here on the 29th, with nearly 300 emigrants from different States.

SIPPINGS FROM PUNCH—Through a Straw. A Distinction and a Difference.—The Emperor of Russia is at present an autocrat. But with France and England against him, we think the odds are two to one that he will soon be made a Nautocrat.

Wild Oats.—"We have all our wild oats to sow," says the Times, on gaming. Very good; only unfortunately the oats of the simpleton make the dirty bread of the scoundrel.

Just the Term for it.—Considering the height at which shirt-collars are now worn, we think the present may be called a stiff-necked generation.

Nicholas himself Again.—From the "secret correspondence," which has lately been divulged to us, we find that in his "confidential" interviews with Sir Hamilton Seymour, the Emperor wished it expressly understood that his proposals were made "on the word of a gentleman." We confess we were somewhat puzzled at first to reconcile this wish with the conduct that accompanied it; on reflection, however, we remembered that

"The Prince of Darkness is a Gentleman."

And we are not, therefore, surprised that Nicholas should claim that dignity.

Isn't it time to bring out the line about winter's "lingering in the lap of spring?"—The blows of spring, thus far, have been of a most unlovely character, and poets find their names jangling like sweet bells out of tune, or like the rattling of icicles, reminding one of the clattering of the teeth of melody. "Blows," as far as they have got, rhyme with "snows" and "froze," and the only semblance of a rose is the poet's nose.—Post.

NEW TELEGRAPH MACHINE.—An attorney, at Rising Sun, Ind., by the name of Hayden, has invented a very simple machine, by which any child who knows his ABC's can send despatches with perfect accuracy. There is no possible chance of a mistake being made, which is so much desired in this important science. Steps have been taken to secure a patent, and the machine must necessarily come into immediate use. It will lessen the expense of telegraphing 50 per cent.—Plough, Loom and Anvil.

DR. ORDWAY'S

AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,

LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the Californian Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.
One to three bottles will cure Canker in the mouth and bowels.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all-gone feelings of the stomach; and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS.

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

One gentleman says that it was the only medicine that cured him.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES.

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivaled; sometimes it makes a much desired cure, and it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue its use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

FULL DIRECTIONS ON THE BOTTLE.

HE HAS ALSO A HUMOR SALVE,

Unsurpassed for external humors, which, if used in connection with the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier will much facilitate a cure.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, in whose house had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormentors of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two scullieries, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different ship-yards in that section of the city, each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. KEEP IN STEP.

"Those who walk together must keep in step."

Ayo! the world keeps moving forward
Like an army marching by;
Heard you not that heavy footfall
That resounded to the sky?
Some bold spirits bear the banner—
Souls of sweetness chant the song—
Lips of energy and fervor
Make the timid hearted strong!
Like brave soldiers we march forward:
If you linger or turn back,
You must look to get a jostling
While you stand upon the track.
Keep in step!

My good neighbor, Master Standstill,
Gazes on it as it goes;
Not quite sure but he is dreaming
In his afternoon's repose!
'Nothing good,' he says, 'can issue
From this endless moving on,
Ancient laws and institutions
Are decaying or are gone:
We are rushing on to ruin
With our mad, new-fangled ways.'
While he speaks, a thousand voices
As the heart of one man say—
Keep in step!—

Gentle neighbor, will you join us,
Or return to 'good old ways?'
Take again the fig-leaf apron
Of old Adam's ancient days,
Or become a hardy Briton—
Beard the lion in his lair,
And lie down to dainty slumber
Wrapped in skin of shaggy bear,
Rear the hut amid the forest,
Skim the wave in light canoe?
Ah! I see you do not like it,
Then, if these 'old ways' won't do,
Keep in step!

Be assured, good Mr. Standstill,
All-wise Providence designed
Aspiration and progression
For the yearning human mind;
In the relics of their skill;
Generations yet are longing
For greater glory still:
And the shades of our forefathers
Are not jealous of our deed:
We but follow where they beckon,
We but go where they do lead!
Keep in step.

One detachment of our army
May encamp upon the hill,
While another in the valley
May enjoy its own sweet will;
This may answer to one watch-word,
That may echo to another;
But in unity and concord
They discern that each is brother!
Breast to breast they're marching onward
In a good, now peaceful way,
You'll be jostled if you hinder,
So don't offer let or stay—
Keep in step!

From a London paper.

CRUELTY IN THE OHIO PENITENTIARY.—The Ohio State Journal contains additional facts relating to the cruelty exercised by Mr. Deputy Warden Watson, upon the body of a negro prisoner in the Ohio Penitentiary. In March last the poor wretch was suspected by Watson of having stolen $350 belonging to him. He therefore had him thrown into a dark cell, having no floor but the earth, without bed or bedding, seventy feet from any stove. He was kept there three days, and then taken out and given ten lashes with the cat, which were laid on so vigorously that his back was cut, and the blood flowed from the gashes. He was then placed in the cell, as before, and kept three days more, taken out again and whipped as severely as before; with his shirt saturated with his blood, he was again placed in the cell, without bed or clothing, and on the earthy floor of the dungeon, he was left for three days more. He was then taken out, and flogged a third time, with the cat, by Watson. The fourth time he was taken out and was stripped, and was told if he did not confess he would be whipped every day until his time of confinement expired.—All the time the negro protested that he was innocent, and knew nothing of the money. He was flogged again, and for sixteen days, in cold weather, he was kept in the cell in this miserable condition, and fed on corn bread and water.

This outrage was committed upon an innocent man, the victim of suspicion. The negro told his own story, and his testimony was corroborated by the other witnesses who were examined. Mr. Dimmock, the chief Warden, was absent or sick during the time. He returned before the close of the examination, and was placed upon the stand by Watson, but when the committee told Watson that if Mr. Dimmock was sworn, he must be examined generally in relation to the affair, he declined to have him sworn, and he was not examined.

Two females escaped from jail at Rome, N. Y., a few nights since. In the morning a constable was despatched after them. On his way he overtook "two young ladies," who asked him for a ride, and he gallantly took them in his sleigh and carried them to Utica. It turned out that they were the "girls" he was after.

Eight or ten tons of hog hair was shipped a day or two since on an Ohio river boat, for the East. The hoof is now, we believe, the only unavailable part of the swine, and it will not be a great while before it is put to some use.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1854.

THE ADMISSION OF MISSOURI.

A memorial of the Legislative council and House of Representatives of the Territory of Missouri, for admission into the Union as a State, was presented to the U. S. Senate, Dec. 29, 1819.

On the 6th of March, 1820, Congress passed an act to authorize the people of the Missouri territory to frame a constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, and to prohibit slavery in certain territories.

Maine adopted a constitution Oct. 19, 1819, and on the 8th of December, 1819, presented a petition to the House of Representatives to form a separate State. An act passed the House for that purpose, and the Senate amended it by adding eight sections for the admission of Missouri, and a 9th section prohibiting the further introduction of slavery into the Territories of the United States north of 36° 30′. The House voted not to concur in the Senate's amendments, and on the 29th of February, 1820, the Senate refused to recede from its amendments, and the House insisted in non-concurring; upon which the National Intelligencer of March 1, 1820, remarked that "the question which has so long been agitated in Congress, and throughout the country, approaches the crisis of its decision." "It is seldom that the Senate of the United States is as much agitated as it was yesterday. The subject is now committed to a conference between the two Houses of Congress. If that conference should not lead to an amicable result, it is much to be feared that the present session will pass over without a decision of 'the distracting question' now pending in Congress."

March 2d, the Committee of Conference reported three resolutions, in substance—1st, to separate the Maine from the Missouri bill; 2d, to strike from the Missouri bill the prohibition of slavery; 3d, to insert the prohibition on all territory north of 36° 30′. The question was then put on concurring with the Senate in striking out of the bill the slavery restriction on the State of Missouri, and decided in the affirmative—yeas 90, nays 87—all the Republican Representatives from New Hampshire, Messrs. Butler, Buffum, Claggett, Livermore, Plumer and Upham, voted nay. In the Senate, Morrill, who had made an anti-slavery speech against the bill, and Parrott, voted to strike out the slavery restriction. In respect to this vote, John Randolph made his withering sarcasm in respect to the Northern dough-faces, who betrayed their their constituents.

On the same day the vote was taken on concurring with the Senate in inserting in the bill, in lieu of the State restriction, the clause inhibiting slavery in the territory north of 36° 30′, and decided in the affirmative—yeas 134, nays 42. The Northern members having been overpowered upon the main question, acceded to the 3d resolution. The act for the admission of Maine as a State was passed March 3, 1820.

The debate upon the Missouri question had been continued many weeks—41 speeches were made in the House, and some of them with great ability. The act was called a "COMPROMISE," because it was reported by the committee of the two branches as a compromise between the two conflicting opinions between the North and South. In the end there was a majority of 92 in favor of the compromise line of 36° 30′. Thus it seemed the long agony was over. But the sequel shows it was not.

On the 19th of July, 1820, the people of Missouri adopted a constitution, which on the 16th of November was presented to Congress, and referred to a select committee, which on the 23d, made a report that the constitution "is republican," and a resolution in favor of admitting Missouri as a State. Inasmuch as the constitution directed the Legislature of the State to pass laws "to prevent free negroes and mulattoes from coming to, and settling in the State," an opposition arose, on the ground that the constitution was an anti-republican, it being the duty of the United States to guarantee to every State upon admission, "a republican form of government". During the three following months, a number of resolutions and amendments were offered in the Senate and House, and voted down in the one branch or the other, after much exciting debate. On the 23d of February a committee of 23 members on the part of the House was appointed to join a committee on the part of the Senate, on the subject of the admission of Missouri. The next day the Senate concurred and appointed Messrs. Holmes of Me., Roberts and Morrill of N. H., Barbour, Southland, Johnson of Ky., and King of N. Y., to join the committee of the House. On the 26th of February, Mr. Holmes to the Senate, and Mr. Clay to the House, from the joint committee, reported a resolution, that Missouri shall be admitted, upon the fundamental condition that the 4th clause of the 26th section of the 3d article of the constitution "shall never be construed to authorize the passage of any law, and that no law shall be passed in conformity thereto, by which any citizen of the States in this Union shall be excluded from the enjoyment of any of the privileges and immunities to which such citizen is entitled under the Constitution of the United States," provided the Legislature of Missouri shall declare its assent, &c., to the President of the United States, on or before the fourth Monday of November, 1821. The resolution was then adopted in the House—yeas 87, nays 81—all the Representatives from New Hampshire voted nay. In the Senate February 28, it was finally adopted—yeas 28, Morrill, Parrott and Holmes of Maine voting yea; nays 14. In June the condition was accepted by the Legislature of Missouri, and on the 10th of August, 1821, the President of the United States issued his proclamation declaring the admission of Missouri complete according to law.

LIBERALITY.—Some time ago, the Boston Pilot contained an acknowledgment of a liberal donation, made by Dr. Wm. N. Mercer of New Orleans, who is not a member of the Roman church, but appears to be a catholic in a higher and better sense.

This Dr. Mercer, himself a protestant, as the Pilot states, has endowed, with about $50,000, an Asylum for the relief of destitute females and helpless children of all denominations, called St. Ann's Asylum, in the State of Louisiana.

He has also made a handsome donation of money to St. Mary's Orphan Asylum, a catholic institution, which is duly acknowledged by the faculty, with thanks for his generosity, and with prayers for his salvation.

☞ The Phrenological Journal for May, contains engraved likenesses of John Robinson the author of Hot Corn, and Lewis M. Pease the Missionary at the Five Points, with Phrenological and Biographical Notes.

Both Magazines are published by Fowlers & Wells, New York and Boston.

TEMPERANCE TRACTS.—Fowlers & Wells of New York and Boston have sent us specimens of five tracts, called the Whole World's Temperance Tracts. They are written, one each, by O. S. Fowler, Dr. Trall, Horace Greeley, P. T. Barnum, and Neal Dow: the tract of the latter being the famous Maine Law and its operation. By the hundred or thousand, the publishers sell them at cost of paper and printing.

☞ The People's Journal, published by Alfred E. Beach, New York, is a cheap and valuable monthly of 32 large pages, at $1 per year. 500 engravings, of all sizes, are given in a year. A new vol. begins in May 1854.

☞ A writer in the Boston Mail, in an article growling about the indiscriminate killing of the dogs found at large in that city, says that not one person out of five can tell much difference in the breed of dogs—and the prevalent idea that almost any dog in the city can be bought for a small sum, say $10 to $15, is a mistake, for he knows of and cites half a score of instances where from $40 to $400 have been paid for canine specimens, generally Setters!

☞ Serious apprehensions are felt, on both sides of the Atlantic, for the safety of the steamship City of Glasgow, which has been out 54 days, from Liverpool for Philadelphia. She had 400 persons on board.

BRIDGE FALLEN AND LIVES LOST.—A despatch from Washington, says the chain bridge over the Potomac fell on Monday morning, killing several persons. Among the killed is Mr. Ryder the contractor.

The Portland State of Maine says, that the Grand Trunk Railway has paid out in that community, at least a half million of dollars, besides all the earnings of the road, within the last six months; and with their contemplated improvements will pay out as much more within the next twelve months. There is not a place in the country that is reaping the fruits of its enterprise, or that deserves more success for its spirit, than Portland.—The road that timid men prophesied would be their destruction, is to make Portland a great city beyond even the anticipations of the most hopeful. It now has a population of twenty four thousand, and it is estimated that it will reach 40,000 by the next census.

As it is enriching Portland, so it is all the country—northern New Hampshire, Vermont and Canada—through which it passes. It gives value to land and timber that would otherwise have been worthless; it gives business to all who will work, and gathers villages all along its route; and the high prices of lumber, produce and labor within the sphere of its influence, are working a great and most happy revolution. It would be well for the sleepy towns this way to send a delegation to see what has been accomplished in that region—not by means of money, but by the determined will of a people who were ready to compete for the favors of fortune.—Newburyport Herald.

LOCAL.

THE OLD NORTH BELL.

We yesterday stated that the bell had been taken from the tower, on the 24th of April, 1854, having been there nearly 90 years. We published the inscription on the bell, but omitted the year, 1764. We find in the Parish records, that at a meeting held Aug. 22, 1763, It was "Voted, that the bell belonging to this house, which is now crackt, shall be sent to England as soon as may be, to be new run, and that the Wardens raise money upon the parishioners for said expense. That the bell which the committee to be now chose, shall send for, shall be one hundred pounds heavier than the bell to be sent home," &c.

This old bell was lost in being "sent home," the vessel carrying it being wrecked on Cape Ann, on her outward passage, we are informed. The record tells that at a Parish meeting holden on the 3d of April, 1764,—there "being a subscription on foot in the parish to purchase a bell, as the former was lost in going to England to be new run," it was "voted that the Wardens pay out of the parish stock any sum that might be wanting to purchase said bell." Also that "the weight of the bell be eight hundred weight," with the descriptions we have given.

This is the bell whose rich tones have so often and so long called together or dispersed the people, but which now lies low and silent in a neighboring wood-shed. It was probably hung sometime during the year 1764, and has not been taken down till the present time. It was considered a great job to get it down, and we were surprised, in our regular morning walk across the Square, Monday, ere the Temple bell told of 5 o'clock, to see two or three men getting down the bell from the North steeple, which they accomplished in an hour or two. Jonathan Dearborn, Esq., with the assistance of a couple of men, stove a hole overhead in the belfry, rigged a tackle-and-fall, and lowered the bell down into the entry,—accomplishing at an expense of a couple of dollars, before people generally had risen, a job which was estimated to cost from $15 to $25 and to occupy several day's works.

THE SAGAMORE MILL in this city has suspended operations within the past week, owing to embarassments caused by failures of parties interested, in Providence, R. I. The mill has been run by the present company but a few months, and is said not to be stopped because of losses sustained here, or on account of this mill; but being the private property of individuals, and not worked by a corporation, is subject to the good or ill success of the proprietors elsewhere. It was bought by the present owners at a very low figure, and with good management could hardly fail of success.

THAT'S IT.—The Newburyport Herald, speaking of Mr. W. H. Foster's great reefing invention says, "We should have no faith in the matter, but that Mr. Foster is a practical printer, and we never knew one of that class to attempt a thing but he accomplished it."

☞ We are requested to state to the subscribers of the "Large View of Portsmouth," that in consequence of an injury to the drawing, the delivery of the engraving will have to be delayed until November or December.

☞ The train from Portland for Boston, on Monday evening at about 7 o'clock, was stopped by some failure of the track on Portsmouth Bridge, where two cars were displaced, and were detained all night; but the passengers were forwarded to Boston.

☞ Jullian's Burlesque Opera Troupe performed last evening, to a large audience, with great applause. They are to perform and close their engagement this evening, when the house will be full. Go, by all means.

NEWBURYPORT SAVINGS INSTITUTION.—At a meeting of the Trustees on the 19th inst., Nathaniel Hills, Esq., was chosen Treasurer, in place of John Harrod, resigned. The deposits in this Bank now amount to eleven hundred thousand dollars, having doubled in the last six years, and the investments are of the strongest and safest kind, and can never be otherwise so long as those now at its head continue in the direction.—Herald.

UNPARALLELED NUMBER OF ARRIVALS.—Twelve whaleships have arrived at this port since yesterday morning, being the largest number ever arrived here within so short a space of time. Our streets are crowded with the hardy sons of the ocean, just freed from the toils and perils of a three years' cruise, and business presents a lively aspect.—New Bedford Standard, 20th.

PARDONED.—Charles H. Brewer, formerly paying teller in the Suffolk Bank, Boston, who for embezzling its funds about two years since, was sentenced to the State Prison for a term of three years, was on Friday, 21st inst., granted a full pardon by the Executive Council. Brewer was discharged from the prison on Saturday.

QUAINT.—Rev. John Cotton of Boston, about 215 years ago, in speaking of the expenses of living in those times, remarked that there was nothing cheap in New England, but "Milk and Ministers."

EX-GOV. Trimble of Ohio, owns 4000 acres of prairie in a single tract, in the neighborhood of Morrow; and within the county he has 15,000 acres which are devoted to grazing purposes.

PRESIDENTIAL.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot says—"A political movement is going on here, and in other sections of the country, which has for its object the thorough reorganization of the Whig party and the running of Gen. Winfield Scott for President, and the Hon. John Bell for Vice President, at the election in 1856."

The Boston Chronicle, in connection with the above quotation, says:—

"There will probably be no Whig National Convention held previous to the next election, and from present indications one would say that it will be impossible to unite the party, North and South, upon a single candidate. There is evidently a growing disposition to re-instate Mr. Fillmore in the Executive chair, and Mr. Seward has very ardent supporters in the North, and there only. Should General Scott not be considered too far advanced in years, he too will be strongly urged, either at a National or Sectional Convention. The Democracy are likely to be much more united than the Whigs in making their nomination.

The editor of the Boston Chronicle is a whig politician, of much knowledge and shrewdness. He is not infallible, however.—And unless the signs of the times are strongly deceptive, both parties are so divided as to make the terms and success of reunions quite problematical.

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT LIGHTED WITH GAS.—The fixtures having been completed, the monument was lit Thursday afternoon with gas. There are ten 'bat wing burners,' and the pipe passes up the well, or inner circle, two hundred and twenty feet. The expense of its introduction was between two and three hundred dollars. No pains or expense are spared to render the grounds and monument attractive to visitors. Could not a powerful reflector be arranged at the top, at one of the apertures, to answer as a sort of Light House to vessels in the harbor?—Boston Traveller.

Vessels could not see it far enough to do much good.

CUBA.—The Havana correspondent of the New York Mirror remarks: "If I were a Creole, I should desire by all means that Cuba be honorably annexed to the United States; but if a Negro I should pray that the system of Africanization just now commenced would be fully and successfully carried out."

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 76 state Street, oppo. Kilby street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection of Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and Infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other Agent. I am very respectfully,

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, April 24.

SENATE.—The morning time of the Senate was principally taken up in the reception of memorials against the Nebraska bill; in favor of cheap postage, of religious toleration and other matters.

The Senate then took up the bill appropriating $100,000, and gold medals to the rescuers of the sufferers of the San Francisco. A long discussion ensued.

Mr. Gwin, of California, offered an amendment, cutting down the money award to $50,000, which was adopted, and the bill passed.

The Indian Appropriation bill was taken up, and several amendments adopted, one appropriating $80,000 for negotiations with the Indians in Washington Territory.

HOUSE.—Mr. Grey of Kentucky, made an unsuccessful attempt to-day to get up his resolution of inquiry touching certain regulations in the Post office department, debarring members of Congress from examining the records of that department.

A resolution by Mr. Faulkner, of Virginia, was adopted, requesting the President to communicate to the House the instructions referred to in President Monroe's Annual Message of December, 1823, on the subject of issuing commissions to private armed vessels, &c.

Mr. N. P. Banks, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill having for its object the refunding to Massachusetts of the balance due to her for disbursements during the late war.

The House went into Committee on the Senate amendments to the deficiency bill.

Mr. Philips, of Alabama, spoke on the necessity of passing the Nebraska bill, and addressed the House on the merits of the question.

Mr. Benton obtained the floor, but gave way with the understanding that he should speak on the bill to-morrow.

Mr. Harris, of Mississippi, also addressed the House on the Nebraska bill, defending the Missouri act of 1820 as a Compromise that should be held inviolable, and declaring himself opposed to the bill in its present shape. Before he concluded, the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 24th.—The Gadsden treaty will in all probability be disposed of to-morrow.

The Spanish government in its correspondence with our Minister at Madrid, has broadly asserted the right of search, whenever circumstances may in the opinion of the government justify it, or when mere suspicion of fillibustering may occur. From despatches recently received from Mr. Soule, dated at Madrid, March 3d, it appears that he plainly told the Spanish Minister, Senor De La Barca, that the simple suspicion only, that a vessel under the flag of the United States has been forcibly detained and searched by one of Her Majesty's armed cruisers in time of peace, will be sufficient to attract the very serious attention of the United States Government, and must necessarily in every case lead to a rigid investigation of the circumstances which may have tended to such a step being taken.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Mr. Benton's speech is in type at the Globe office, and will occupy six columns of that paper. He says the introduction of the Nebraska bill was covert, indirect, and unmanly; a crooked and insidious cheat; a ridiculous squatter sovereignty. He handles the President, the Cabinet, and the Union, without gloves.

Only one man was killed by the falling of the bridge at Little Falls. Another was dangerously hurt. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.—The steamer United States from Aspinwall, with California dates to the 1st inst. arrived at this port to-day.

The steamer Illinois left Aspinwall on the 17th of April, with the mail, 750 passengers, and upwards of $1,000,000 in specie brought down by the steamer Oregon.

The markets were excessively depressed.

The British ship Challenge was seized for a violation of the revenue laws.

Col. Watkins, of Walker's expedition, was found guilty, but recommended to mercy.

The Japan Squadron arrived at Loo Choo in January.

FUGITIVE SLAVES.—Another flight of slaves (two men and two women,) from this city, took place on Saturday night last, when it is supposed they embarked on board some vessel in the river, bound for the land of the Abolitionists. The men were valuable house servants; one belonging to Mr. W. W. Hall, and the other to Mr. J. B. Odom; the women belonged to Mrs. Shepherd and Mrs. Sigourney. The frequency of these escapes, and the secresy with which they have heretofore been accomplished, show the necessity of some prompt and energetic action on the part of our citizens for the future security of their property. There are no doubt white agencies on the spot by which our slaves are enticed off, and by which secret measures are taken to prevent discovery. The detection of these secret agencies is the main point to be aimed at; and it may yet be accomplished by a judicious system of police.—Norfolk Herald.

SINGULAR FATALITY.—The Merchant's News Room has a telegraphic despatch, which reports that the steamship Falcon, M'Kinstry, from New York the 18th inst., for Aspinwall, put into Norfolk on Monday, disabled. She had as passengers the United States officers, destined for California, whose terrible shipwreck on board the San Francisco is yet fresh in the memories of all.

HALIFAX, 25th.—The Steamship Arabia, Capt. Judkins, from Liverpool April 15th, arrived here this morning. She brings seven days later intelligence from Europe.

NEW ORLEANS, 24th.—The steamer Pampero, from San Juan, is below, and reports that the Northern Light sailed for New York on the 17th, with 500 passengers, and nearly one million and a quarter of gold.

DIVIDEND.—The Concord (N. H.) Railroad Corporation has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. payable May 1, to the holders of stock on the 23d of April.

A LAWYER IN THE TOMBS.—A lawyer of Boston was arrested at a public house in Broadway, on Monday night, for being drunk and very disorderly. He was then taken to the Tombs and locked up for the night. On his person he had a draft on Duncan, Sherman & Co., for $5,289, and $165 in bank bills. He protested strongly against being locked up, as the accommodations were not so agreeable as those he had at the St. Nicholas, where he was boarding. On the following morning he was fined and discharged.—N. Y. Tribune.

Aurora Thatcher has obtained a verdict in Rutland Co., Vt., for $1000 damages against Thomas Ketchum, for breach of promise of marriage.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of Erysipelas.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its suiting some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 650 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns.

Another had the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it does.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. If the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that have been entirely cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Two bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in one mass of humor from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

This humor is found to be equally good for humor outside as inside (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which I have seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will room give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As no direction can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels once a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

HOUSES FOR SALE.

THE DWELLING HOUSE, No. 9 School street. This is a well built house, two (high) stories, in good repair, and is convenient for one family or two families, or for a large Boarding House. It contains nine or more rooms and two ceilings, and has an excellent cellar under the whole house. The situation is central, being about equi-distant from the markets, factories and railroads. Connected with this house is a building which has been and may be occupied both as a barn and a work-shop. If not sold soon, a part or the whole of the premises will be let.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 6 Green street. This house is fitted for two tenements; it is well built, was thoroughly painted and put in good order the last season, and is well calculated for two families, (having about 6 rooms each) and may be considered a good location for persons employed at the north end. It is centrally located between the different shipyards in that section of the city; each tenement will be sold separately, if desired.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 7 Liberty street, corner of Charles street. This house was formerly owned and occupied by the late Peter M. Lowd and is in good order. Attached to it is a lot of land large enough for a Stable or for another dwelling house. It would make a good place for the residence of a person employed at the shipyards across the River at the Navy Yard.

The DWELLING HOUSE No. 47 Bow street.—This house has been built but a few years, is well finished off, and is very convenient. In the rear is quite a large garden spot. This would be a desirable place for a person employed at the shipyards, or at the Navy Yard nearly opposite.

Also, for sale, a BUILDING LOT, on Mount Vernon street, (opposite No. 2,) with a small building thereon, which can be finished off into a Dwelling house.

All of the above property will be sold on liberal terms, if applied for soon. For further particulars apply to JOSEPH M. EDMONDS, Feb. 27. No. 9 Islington street.

Morning Chronicle.

Molly, our housemaid, is a model one, who handles the bromstick like a sceptre, and who has an abhorrence for dirt and a sympathy for soapsuds, that amounts to a passion. She is a bustling, busy, rosy-cheeked, bright-eyed, blundering Hibernian, who hovers over our bookshelves, makes war upon our papers, and goes about thirsting for new worlds to conquer, in the shape of undusted and unrighted corners.

One day she entered our library in a confused and uncertain manner, quite different from her usual bustling way. She stood at the door with a letter between her thumb and finger, which she held at arm's length, as if she had a gunpowder plot in her grasp. In answer to our inquiries as to her business she answered:

"An' it please yer honor, I'm a poor girl, and han't much larnin', and ye sees, please yer honor, Paddy O'Reilly, and the better than him doesn't brathe in ould Ireland, has been writin' of me a leither—a love leither, yer honor; an'—— an'——"

We guessed at her embarrassment, and offered to relieve it by reading the letter. She still hesitated, while she twisted a bit of raw cotton in her fingers.

"Sure," she resumed, "an' that's jist what I want, but it isn't a gentleman like yerself that would be likin' to know of the secrets between us, and so, (here she twisted the cotton quite nervously,) if it 'ill please yer honor while yer radeing it, so that yer may not hear it yerself, if y'll jist put this bit of cotton in yer ears an' stop up yer hearin', and then the secrets will be unbeknown to yer."

We hadn't the heart to refuse her, and with the gravest face possible, complied with her request; but often since, we have laughed heartily as we have related the incident.

LORD ELGIN.—Our readers are aware that the Earl of Elgin will shortly resume his post as Governor General of Canada. The last English papers contain an account of a public dinner given to him at the London Tavern prior to his departure for Quebec. Lord John Russell presided, and among the guests were Mr. Buchanan, American Minister; the Duke of Newcastle, Earl Grey, the Earl of Ellesmere, and Hon. Mr. Hincks, Prime Minister of Canada—all of whom made speeches. Mr. Buchanan spoke thus of Lord Elgin:

Under his enlightened government her Majesty's North American Provinces have realized the blessings of a wise, prudent and prosperous administration; and we, of the neighboring nation, though jealous of our rights, have reason to be abundantly satisfied with his just and friendly conduct towards ourselves. [Hear.] He has known how to reconcile his devotion to Her Majesty's service with a proper regard to the rights and interests of the kindred and neighboring people. Would to Heaven we had such Governor Generals in all European colonies in the vicinity of the United States.

FORTIFICATIONS.—The New York Journal of Commerce, in an article upon our Harbor fences, states that,

"Within a comparatively short time they have been furnished with heavy shell guns, termed "Columbia" guns, of large calibre and the most approved pattern. The old style of guns still remaining, will be removed before long. Twelve-inch guns of this description throw shells with almost unerring accuracy three miles and a half! On striking, the shells explode with destructive effect. Mayor Thornton, of the Ordnance department, incidentally stated yesterday, in conversation, that the steeple of Trinity Church could be struck from Governor's Island by every shot, and Woolsey & Co's sugar house, a distance perhaps two and a half or three miles, would form a suitable mark to ordinary target practice."

HOMES MADE DESOLATE.—The editor of the Nashua Telegraph is quite pathatic in narrating the evils incident to spring cleaning. He says he is now reaping the most bitter fruits of the desolating process. We are glad to learn that Nashua is brushing up. New paint may at first have a villainous smell, but the grateful odor of cleanliness soon comes. We advise our friend to stay at home till things are put to rights in his residence, for if he were to travel at this season of the year, he would encounter painters at many of the hotels. One of our citizens undertook a visit South, to be rid of the paint nuisance at home; but he was warned to "look out for paint," in eleven hotels out of fourteen he patronized. Let others profit by his experience.—Boston Transcript.

INCREASE OF SILVER.—An agent of the Treasury Department delivered a few days since at the mint in Philadelphia fifty-two tons of ingots of silver, the value of which is one and a quarter million of dollars. The government purchased Mexican ingots of silver amounting to two millions of dollars at three per cent. premium, three-quarters of a million of which were left at the mint in New Orleans.—Boston Courier.

TRUTH IN A NUT SHELL.—When the French troops embarked at Toulon for Constantinople, an old man who witnessed their departure exclaimed, in a mournful voice:—"There goes my only child, to fight for a cause he does not understand, and against men with whom he never had a difference." There could not be a better description of this war, by either a Frenchman or an Englishman.

MRS. PARTINGTON'S NEW BOOK.

We have already noticed the reception of this beautiful work, from Federhen & Co., Boston. Having since enjoyed an evening's communion with the old lady and her friends, through this inviting medium, we are happy to invite attention once more to one of the most agreeable books we ever read. The entire execution of the work, throughout, is very fine—the paper is superior, the letter-press clear, and the bold engravings add much to its attractions. First is Ruth Partington for a frontispiece: the old lady knitting, with her "ridicule" hanging on a post of the high-backed chair; her snuff-box, teapot, cap and saucer on the little table beside her; and the profile of Paul ornamented with a sprig of sweet fern, hanging on the wall. A view of the Partington mansion is given—one of those cosy gambrel-roofed farm-houses always so inviting, "Paul's Ghost," "Partingtonian Philosophy," "Punch in the Head," "The Stock of the Revolution," "Ike in the Country," "Mouse Hunting," "A Christmas Story," and the Frontispiece, are the full page embellishments; besides which are various interesting and amusing smaller illustrations—in all forty-three. They are done up in Orr's best style, and are a very attractive feature of this, as good pictures are of all books.

The prefatory remarks are brief, spicy, and to the point. The author announces an "entirely original motive" for the publication of his prose writings—"the hope that their author may make a little money on them." He states that he "has secured this motive under the guarantee of his copyright; though there might be no necessity for this, where all the rest of the author tribe are writing and printing from higher motives"—the public good or amusement. "But he pleads selfishness, and like the old lady in her variance with St. Paul, there is where he and they differ."

We sincerely hope his "pouch will take a more silvery hue from the circulation of this book;" and have no doubt it will, for Mrs. Partington is a universal favorite. Especially should the old lady be favorably noticed in this her native city, for which she still entertains so high a regard, and is always so ready to speak favorably of. About a year ago our author originated and actively urged the idea of a gathering of Portsmouth's absent sons; and to his influence and exertions we are indebted for the most successful and brilliant public demonstration ever made in our good city.

Every one who has enjoyed an acquaintance with Mrs. P. through her sayings, should be possessed of the present beautiful keepsake; and we hope that Portsmouth alone will exhaust at least a modern "edition" of the new work. Much of the matter has been before published, but some of the best and longest articles are new. The whole is—worthy of Mrs. Partington.

THE LIQUOR QUESTION SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS SINCE.—The following preamble and vote are from the town records of New Haven, Conn., in August, 1779:

Whereas, complaint hath been made to this meeting, that some persons have lately sold rum at an exhorbitant price, and others have withheld and refused to sell—Voted, that this town doth disapprove of any person asking and receiving a greater price than thirty-two dollars per gallon*, by retail, for good West India Rum; and for New England Rum in proportion; and also of any person withholding the same; and that this town will treat with proper contempt all persons who shall refuse to sell their rum, or shall sell the same at more than the above mentioned price. And that Capt. Abel Burritt, Capt. Moses Gilbert, Dr. Levi Ives, and Capt. Peter Johnson be a committee to communicate this vote.

*Supposed to be Continental money.

In those days, distilled liquors were thought to be a great blessing and comfort, medicine and cordial, the water of life: healths were drank in them, friendships cemented, and marriages solemnized under their influence. That time was in the dark ages of temperance.

STUDENTS AND FIREMEN.—Two or three days ago, there was a little fight between some firemen and some drunken students at Cambridge, Mass., of which some large stories have been told. The Boston Advertiser says:

In returning from the fire, three law students, who were, unfortunately, somewhat intoxicated, addressed rudely the firemen of No. 4 engine, who replied in the same strain.—Other students were attracted to the spot, to a number not exceeding fifteen. Words led to blows. No pistol was used, nor more than one knife, if one. The firemen availed themselves of their "spanners." The three students who were the origin of the difficulty, were drawn off by their companions as soon as possible.

EDWARDS' CHURCH, BOSTON.—This church has voted 17 to 1, to disband. They represent that it is no use to try to go on. The cold shoulder has been too often pat against it by the big societies. The recommendation of a council won't pay the bills. So the members say, and it looks very reasonable.—Bee.

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, April 25.

SENATE.—In the Senate Messrs. Wade, Cooper and Brodhead presented petitions against the Nebraska bill.

Mr. Hamlin presented a memorial from Robert B. Forbes in favor of schools for young men to be reared as seamen.

Mr. Johnson of Arkansas, reported a bill amending the act granting pre-emption rights to settlers of the Maison Rouge grant in Louisiana—it was taken up and passed.

Mr. Morton of Florida offered a resolution directing inquiry as to the expediency of erecting a marine hospital at Pensacola—adopted.

Mr. Dodge of Iowa reported a bill granting land to Mississippi in lieu of deficiencies in previous grants for school purposes—it was made to apply to all the states and then passed.

HOUSE.—Mr. Ewing, by unanimous consent, introduced a resolution requesting the President of the United States to inform the House what steps have been taken by this government to secure the permanent acknowledgment of the rights of neutrals by the governments of Great Britain and France; and further, that the President be requested to inform the House whether, in any particular, the government of Great Britain has assumed to act for Spain in the negotiation consequent upon the seizure of the Black Warrior; of what degree of responsibility that government has assumed in the matter—and if so assuming to act for Spain, upon what pretext, if any, is alleged. Mr. Ewing said he had but one word to say in regard to this subject.—He had drawn up the resolutions and submitted them to members of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, as well as out of the House, and they regard them as matters of practical importance. He thought the time had now arrived for practical action.

Mr. Ingersoll of Connecticut moved that the resolutions be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. Agreed to.

The House then went into Committee on the Deficiency bill.

Mr. Benton then arose, and the members crowded around in order to hear him on the Nebraska question.

The galleries were crowded, and after Mr. Benton finished the House adjourned.

MICHIGAN.

Judge Ross Wilkins, of the U. S. District Court, has written a letter to Judge Platt, of the Supreme Court of Michigan, agreeing with him in pronouncing the Michigan liquor law unconstitutional. He says:

When the Legislature, in express terms, submit a general act to the people, before it can 'become a law,' it seems to me (with all respect to our judicial brethren entertaining a different opinion) that the legislative power is thereby delegated to the people, and their representatives divested of the same.

There are many other objections, but I assure you that I know that the advocates of temperance are not responsible for all the features of the bill. While the act was in progress, the enemies of the measure surreptitiously sought to destroy it by this reference to the people and otherwise, in which the timid joined, anxious to shrink the responsibility, and save themselves with their constituencies. Hence has arisen all the difficulty.

I am friendly to the reform, and so far as consistent with our fundamental law, I would advocate the absolute and entire suppression of the liquor traffic. But I can never countenance any infringement on the constitution, even to effect so great a blessing to this and succeeding generations.

THE RESCUERS OF THE SAN FRENCISCO SUFFERERS.—In the U. States Senate, on Monday, the bill appropriating $100,000 to procure gold medals for the captains of the "Three Bells, the Kilby, and the Antarctic," having been taken up, Mr. Gwin of California moved to amend by substituting $50,000 for $100,000. This was agreed to by the following vote:

YEAS — Atchison, Bright, Butler, Clay, Dawson, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Geyer, Gwin, Hunter, Jones of Tenn., Norris, Pratt, Pearce, Petit, Rusk, Sebastian, Slidell, Thompson of Ky., Toombs, Williams—21.

YEAS—Allen, Badger, Bell, Chase, Cooper, Everett, Fish, Foot, Geyer, Hamlin, Jones of Tenn., Mallory, Pearce, Rusk, Seward, Shields, Stuart, Sumner, Thompson of Ky., Wade, Wright—21.

NAYS—Atchison, Bright, Brown, Butler, Clay, Dawson, Evans, Fitzpatrick, Hunter, Norris, Petit, Pratt, Sebastian, Slidell, Toombs, Williams—16.

EMANCIPATION.—The New Bedford Standard of Tuesday states that George Weston, the slave arrested on Monday, on a writ of habeas corpus, by officer Burt, was taken before the Supreme Court at Taunton, Judge Merrick presiding, and declared to be a free man with a perfect right to go and be at liberty, in accordance with the laws of Massachusetts. The slave came into New Bedford in the schooner Louisiana, Crockett master, of Cherrystone, Virginia. He belonged to a man by the name of Bricker, of that place.

Two young ladies of Lawrence, Mass., Emily A. Lake and Augusta H. Ramsdell, who had given themselves somewhat to Spiritual Rappings, thought it would be a pretty idea to take a trip to the spirit land in company, and accordingly, one day last week, they partook freely of laudanum, as a help to their journey. Miss Lake died from the effects of the poison; but Miss Ramsdell disturbed by the groans of her fellow sufferer, awoke and vomited up what she had taken—fully cured of the delusion under which she had labored.

For the Chronicle.

MECHANICS' SHIP BUILDING COMPANY.

This company is composed of forty industrious and enterprising mechanics of the various trades and occupations employed in building vessels.

They have commenced building on Nobles Island, and have now two ships under way; one of about 1100 tons, which is under contract to Ichabod Goodwin, Esq., (our worthy townsman) who is always ready to assist the enterprizing and industrious. The other ship will be nearly 900 tons, of a good fall model for a carrying ship, and is for sale.

We feel assured that this company can and will build as good vessels as any ship builders on the river. They are without doubt all of them masters of their business, and have been for years assisting to build some of our best ships. The company have chosen five of their number as Directors, who have the general superintendance of the business. We wish them success.

A. B.

JULLIAN'S BURLESQUE TROUPE closed their series of entertainments at the Temple on Wednesday evening, before the largest audience assembled during their visit here.—Their concerts were not only "excellent of their kind," but were of the best kind—that is, instrumental and vocal, and were agreeably varied throughout. The idea of burlesque on Jullien's Troupe, is successfully maintained wherever attempted—no failure anywhere.—The company was gathered in Providence, R. I., where all the members reside. They are mostly Yankees, five only being foreigners. Their companies of "Nigs" are first-rate, and their instrumental performances in chorus approximate to the Germanians. The "soundum bassum" is a great and good joke, and the "tacit stop" really rich. At its application, instantly ceases all sound from the instruments; while the players keep working away as busily as ever, making music only as Banks whistled "inwardly;" till the stop is raised, and out bursts the full chorus again. The leader most successfully hits off the ridiculous flummery of some bombastic foreign public exhibitors. The troupe play in Boston to-night, where they always have full houses.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn from the Manchester Mirror, that Mr. Stephen Holbrook was accidentally killed on the 24th inst. He had been plowing on his farm near the city, and in detaching the horse from the plow he frightened and started him. By the horse's sudden start, he threw the man down, dragged him some rods, and so injured him that he died in half an hour. He was 50 years old, and leaves a wife and three children.

THE WHEAT CROP.—The editor of the Chicago Tribune, who has been on extensive sive excursion through a part of Canada, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, Ohio and Indiana, speaks favorably of a large wheat crop the present season.—The editor of the Rochester (N. Y.) American makes a similar statement as the result of observations in the central and southern portions of that county, and adds that "an unusual large breadth will be planted to corn and wheat the present season, in expectation of high prices during the next twelvemonth."

The Buffalo Republic of Saturday evening says that the propeller Princeton, sunk at Barcelona, will prove a total wreck. She is completely under water. She had on board two hundred tons of valuable goods, the worth of which was estimated at $200,000.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Senate in executive session, to-day, ratified the Gadsden treaty by a close vote.

The Supreme Court has reversed a decree of the Circuit Court of Ohio, against the Methodist Episcopal Church South, having a part of the assets of the Cincinnati Book concern, which have been held exclusively by the Methodist Episcopal Church since the separation of that Church in 1844. The Supreme Court has remanded the cause for proceedings in the District Court.

Mr. Benton's speech in the House to-day has created a great deal of interest among political men here.

FROM THE ISTHMUS—VILLAGE NEARLY DESTROYED BY FIRE—MURDER. — New York, April 26.—The steamer Illinois brings intelligence from Aspinwall to the 17th, and from Panama to the 15th inst.

The upper part of the village of Taboga was destroyed by fire on the 3d inst. From 60 to 100 houses were burned; loss $30,000.

A young woman named Susannah Russell was murdered on board the steamer Yankee Blade, on her passage out to Panama, by a man named Edward H. Avery, in whose company she was proceeding to California. He is a native of Springfield, Mass., and both parties were recently from Worcester. A preliminary investigation was held before the American Consul at Rio Janeiro, and by him Avery was ordered to San Francisco for trial. Her death is attributed to jealousy.

FIRE.—New York, April 25.—The six story building in Broadway, opposite the Park, and occupied by William L. Jennings, tailor, and Meade Brothers, daguerreotypists, was totally destroyed by fire this evening. Loss heavy—probably $100,000.

Luke Camusky was found in a dying condition near the post office in Lee, Ms., on Sunday, 15th, having been shockingly beaten upon the head by some person or persons as yet unknown. He died the same day. He was last seen on the previous evening in an Irish ram-kole in the village.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Gadsden treaty, as amended, was ratified by the Senate to-day by a vote of 30 to 13.

Mr. Bell's amendment with reference to the Sloo grant was so amended as to strike out Sloo's name and simply provide for a right of way across Tehuantepec for the transportation of the United States mails and merchandise sent from the Atlantic States to California, and vice versa. It thus provides for a right of way without in any manner interfering with the conflicting claims of rival companies.

Upon motion of Mr. Rusk, the boundery was slightly altered, so as to take in the disputed Mesilla Valley, and run somewhat south of the line designated at the time the treaty was rejected.

Mr. Mason then moved to increase the compensation to ten millions, which was carried.

The treaty as ratified extinguishes the claims under the 11th article of the treaty of Gaudaloupe Hidalgo, and abrogates that article.—It settles the disputed Mesilla Valley question, giving the United States the boundary at the initial point upon this side, and also the right of way across Tehuantepec. For these concessions Santa Anna is to receive ten millions of dollars. On the other hand the treaty does not give us a port on the Gulf of California, nor does it give us as much territory as was negotiated for by Gen. Gadsden.

The Southern votes are unanimous in the affirmative. Eight Northern Whigs, four Democrats, and two Free Soilers voted in the negative.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Six firemen were killed and fifteen or twenty badly wounded at the fire last evening, in consequence of the falling of the walls. The loss is estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000. Jennings & Co. are said to be insured for $125,000 at various city offices.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Times of this morning says that Major Wyse of the 3d Artillery, is now under arrest at Governor's Island, for disobedience of orders. He was in command of the troops for California, which sailed in the Falcon, but refused to go out in that boat, as he did not consider her seaworthy.

A NEW CITY.—The town of Fall River, Massachusetts, has voted to accept its charter, and has thus become a city.

"BEHOLD HOW GREAT A MATTER A LITTLE FIRE KINDLETH."—This exclamation of the inspired writer has received in our city, within a few days, several practical and unfortunate illustrations; yet the truth of this remark is correct, literally as well as metaphorically. The insidious attacks of disease, particularly that most flattering of all complaints, Consumption, comes by a gentle, hacking cough, which is too often neglected until all remedies are useless. The young, with that recklessness which buoyancy engenders, are particularly regardless for their health; and the melancholy evidence of the bills of mortality which weekly stare us in the face, tells us too plainly, that hundreds in our city are yearly swept away by that deceiving but remorseless destroyer, pulmonary disease. If there was no remedy for so unfortunate a state of affairs, the situation of each person would be one of continued apprehension; but it is gratifying to know that there is a "Balm in Gilead," and that by a timely and judicious use of the remedies placed at our hands, we may avert the attacks of disease and its ultimate effects.

It is with none of the usual clap-trap adopted by quacks that we earnestly recommend the use of Dr. Rogers' Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua in all cases of coughs, colds, bronchitis or influenza. Its merits are established upon a firm basis; and its power to promote expectoration, and remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions, is well attested by irrefragible evidence. Major Van Buren, brother to the ex-Presidenf, and James Watson Webb, editor of the Courier and Enquirer, both bear voluntary testimony to its value and efficacy. The fire departments of this city and Brooklyn, to which many bottles have been furnished, acknowledge its power in removing the sudden colds to which firemen, in the discharge of their severe and noble duties, are so often subject. The alarming prevalance of Consumption, which can always, in its earlier stages, be at once cured by this medicine, and even almost always in its later periods, demands that it should receive a wide and extensive circulation. Hundreds of letters have been received by the proprietors during the past year, wherein the warmest thanks have been tendered them for rescuing from the grave some beloved father, sister, or mother. It is proper to say that its composition is wholly vegetable, and that the Canchalagua is a California plant, which possesses rare and remarkable power upon all affections of the lungs. We again recommend all who are suffering from any kind of pulmonary affection to try this invaluable preparation.—N. Y. Messenger.

FROM EUROPE.

The prices of Cotton have advanced 1-16 to 1-8d per lb on current qualities of American.

In Breadstuffs, the market closed with great firmness at an advance on last week's prices, of 1s per brl on flour, and 3 to 6d on wheat. Indian Corn is in fair demand at an advance of 6d to 1s per quarter. Western Canal Flour 27s to 37s 6d; Baltimore and Philadelphia 38s 6d; Ohio 38 to 39s; sour 32s 6d to 33s 6d. White Corn 41 to 43s; yellow and mixd 49 to 52s.

The Arabia reports—Passed on 16th inst. at 5 P. M., steamship Africa from New York for Liverpool. On 17th, at 2 P. M., passed the ship Union, bound East; on 19th, at 6 P. M., lat. 49 50, lon. 32, fell in with the British brig Hannah of Whitehaven, in a sinking condition, and took off her crew, and also the crew of brig Helena, of Liverpool, twenty three persons in all, ten of whom were sick, [The Helena foundered in lat. 51, lon. 51 1-2, and her crew were taken off by the brig Hannah.]

THE EASTERN WAR.—Interest this week is more centered in negotiations than fighting, although important announcements have been published, stating that the Austrians entered Servia on the 13th, in consequence of a violation of the Servian territory by the Russians at Redejavat. Austria appears to be acting more in unison with the Western Powers, while Prussia leans more to Russia—although temporizing with both parties.

On the 9th, the protocol, redefining the integrity of the Ottoman territory, was signed at Vienna, by the Four Powers, including Prussia, but, simultaneously therewith, Prussia introduced into her mutual alliance treaty with Austria conditions and limitations which would render the treaty a dead letter, and which Austria consequently refused to accept. The Military arrangements arising out of the proposed treaty have been referred to a commission, to be presided over by the Prince of Prussia.

It has been announced via Southampton that Chevalier Bunsen, the Prussian minister at London, was recalled, for which no reason was assigned, but the whole story has since been contradicted.

Hanover sides with the Western Powers. All the minor states except Bavaria do the same, and will support Austria in forcing Prussia to declare herself should the subject come before the federal Diet.

A decree of the Senate of Hamburg forbids exports of contrabands of war. Similar decrees were issued at Lubec and Bremen.

The "Independence Belge" announces positively that a treaty of permanent alliance, "offensive and defensive," has just been signed between France and England, independently of the treaties of the present war.

The Turkish government has offered all Greeks who will not consent to place themselves under the exclusive protection of the Porte permission to leave the Turkish territory within fifteen days from March 30. The expulsion, it is said, was determined on by the advice of the representatives of the Four Powers.

THE BALTIC.—Sir Charles Napier left Kioge Bay for Gothland in consequence of a report that some of the Russian ports were open, and that a Russian squadron was off Faroe.

On the 2d of April it was reported that three American ships were somewhere in the Baltic, with stores for Russia, and that an English steamer was on the look-out for them. There was very little ice in the Gulf of Finland.

THE BLACK SEA.—The allied fleets, with the exception of the Charlemagne steamer, were at Kavadana Bay March 26. Eight French line-of-battle ships and six steamers anchored east of Varna, and further east were ten English line-of-battle ships and six steamers.

Admiral Dundas had signalized to his cruisers:—"Take, burn and destroy everything." His fleets were in communication with the Turkish land force.

THE DANUBIAN PROVINCES.—On the 20th of March an important attack was made on Kalafat, and a sanguine encounter took place for some four hours. The Russians were routed and pursued for a considerable distance.

From March 30th to April 2nd, there were some engagements of greater or less severity.

It was reported that an important battle was fought near Rassova, which continued from April 2d to April 4th. Result unknown, but doubtless some fighting did occur; the details, however, are unknown.

The Turks purposely left a free passage for the Russians to Hersova, but then attacked them in the rear, and after a hard fight one half of the Russians were cut to pieces, the remainder being obliged to cross the Danube. No date is given.

It was further stated, without date, that 30,000 Russians have crossed the Danube at Galatz, without opposition.

RUSSIA.—St. Petersburg was illuminated and a "te deum" sung for the passage of the Danube.

FRANCE.—On the 10th a farewell dinner was given at the "Trois Freres Provenceaux." Over one hundred Americans were present. Consul McRae presided, and Messrs. Corbin, Maurce, Dorr and others, acted as Vice Presidents. Mr. Mason and other members of the diplomatic corps were invited guests.

SPAIN.—Reports from Madrid state that Mr. Soule has received instructions to demand reparation for the Black Warrior affair. On the 5th and 6th the Spanish government made the needful apology and a pecuniary recompense, besides also censuring the Captain General for his conduct.

CUBA.—An interesting debate occured in the British House of Commons, on the 4th inst., on the African Slave Trade, particularly as relates to the traffic by Spain, at Cuba, in which several speakers undertook to threaten Spain with the loss of Cuba, unless the slave trade should be suppressed there in good faith.

LOLA AND BRUIN.—A California poet, in the Marysville Herald, apologizes in behalf of the pet bear of Lola Montez, for having bitten the fine hand of its mistress. He inserts it as a matter of taste entirely, on the part of Bruin—and nothing that reflects upon the character of Cranby, for—

With comfits sweet, and sugar rare,
Bruin ran out in haste to meet her,
Seized her hand because 'twas sweeter.

Hannah Corcoran, the girl about whom so much excitement was created some time ago, is about to be sent to West Townsend to be educated. The expenses of her schooling and clothing are to be defrayed by parties whom the circumstances of her abduction have strongly interested in her welfare. Hannah is represented to be possessed of more intelligence than is usually found in girls in her station in life.—Charlestown Advertiser.

DR. ORDWAY'S
AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

DR. ORDWAY has been using his Blood Purifier in his practice for the last seven years with great success. He has often been urged by his friends and those who have tried it, and know its efficacy, to put it within the reach of all. He has now added to it an Herb, discovered in California, by Dr. KELLEY, which makes it the most wonderful remedy for

HUMORS OF ALL KINDS,
LIVER COMPLAINTS AND CHRONIC DISEASES.

The virtues of this Herb were first made known to Dr. Kelley by an Indian, while attending a patient, sick with that terrible disease, the California Erysipelas and Liver Complaint—the effect was miraculous—curing the man in a few days. The natives, when bitten by a rattlesnake, or rabid animal, resort to this Herb for a cure.—Hundreds are taking this medicine, after trying in vain other remedies, and say that the half was never told them.

If you have Erysipelas, 3 to 5 bottles will cure it.
If you have Scrofula, 3 to 7 bottles will cure it.
Three to six bottles will cure Salt Rheum.
One or two bottles will cure Pimples on the Face.
Two or three bottles will cure Scaly Eruptions and Scald Head.
One to three bottles will cure Nursing Sore Mouth.
One to three bottles will cleanse the system of Biles.
Two to five bottles will cure Rheumatism.
Three to four bottles will cure old running Sores and Ulcers.
One or two bottles will cure Barber's Itch.

For Liver Complaints and Jaundice.

Its effects are new and wonderful, removing obstructions from the Liver, open the pores of the skin, carrying off the morbid matter, relieving the side, and all gone feelings of the stomach, and removing low spirits and despondency, which is the result of this disagreeable and often fatal disease.

FOR DYSPEPSIA.

A fair trial will convince you that there is nothing like it.

FOR CANCEROUS HUMORS,

It is the surest remedy ever offered. One widow lady in Lawrence, has been troubled with Cancer for years, by taking two bottles says she is now quite well.

FOR COSTIVENESS.

FOR KIDNEY DIFFICULTIES,

It is spoken of in the highest terms. A young man was sick so much with Asthma that he had to leave College; three bottles cured him, and he has now resumed his studies. One lady in Salem was perfectly cured of Periodical Sick Headache, by the use of two bottles. Mr. Williams, of Lawrence, had humors in his eyes for years, and was cured by the use of the Humor Discovery and Blood Purifier. For Chills and Fever, Mercurial Diseases, Taints in the System, it stands unrivalled; sometimes where the system is much deranged it will cause disagreeable feelings at first, but continue the use as indications favorable. It is purely vegetable, and its compound and proportions are such that the effect is perfectly satisfactory and safe.

Greatest Discovery of the Age.

PLANTERS, Farmers, Families and others can purchase no Remedy equal to DR. TOBIAS' VENITIAN LINIMENT, for Dysentery, Colic, Croup, Chronic Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Sea Sickness, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Old Sores, Headache, Musquito Bites, Pains in the Limbs, Chest, Back, etc.

If it does not give relief, the money will be refunded; all that is asked is a fair trial, and use it according to the directions.

It is an English Remedy, and was used by William IV, late King of England, and certified to by him, as a cure for Rheumatism, when everything else had failed.

Over 10,000,000 bottles have been sold in the United States, without a single failure, and many have stated that they would not be without it if it was $10 per bottle, in case of Croup, as it is as certain as it is applied.

It cures Cholera, when first taken, in a few hours; Dysentery in half an hour; Toothache in five minutes. It is perfectly innocent to take internally, and is recommended by the most eminent physicians in the United States. Price 25 and 50 cents.

Dr Tobias could fill a dozen Newspapers with certificates and letters relating to the wonderful cures accomplished by his Liniment, but considers warranting it sufficient, as any person who does not obtain relief, need not pay for it.

Price 50 cents. Dr Tobias's office, 240 Green

Dr. Tobias has put up a HORSE LINIMENT in pint bottles, which is warranted cheaper and better than any other for Cholic, Scratches, Old Sores, Galls, Swellings, Cuts, Bruises, etc.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!
SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where Bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.

MY OLD FRIEND QUINCE.

Where many very worthy people
Eat, drink, and do their best
To guard from evil, church and steeple,
There stood—alas, it stands no more!
A tenement of brick and plaster,
Of which, for forty years and four,
My good friend Quince was lord and master.

Welcome was he in hut and hall,
To maids and matrons, peers and peasants,
He won the sympathies of all,
By making puns and making presents.
Though all the parish was at strife,
He kept his counsel and his carriage,
And laughed, and loved a quiet life,
And shrank from chancery suits and marriage.

Warm were his double ale and feelings,
His partners at the whist club said
That he was faultless in his dealings.
He went to church but once a week;
Yet Dr. Poundtext always found him,
An upright man, who studied Greek,
And liked to see his friends around him.

Asylums, hospitals, and schools,
He used to swear were made to cozen,
All who subscribed to them were fools,
And he subscribed to half a dozen.
It was his doctrine that the poor
Were always able, never willing,
And so the beggar at the door
Had first abuse, and then a shilling.

Some public principles he had
But was no flatterer nor fretter;
He rapped his box when things were bad,
And said, "I cannot make them better."
And much he loathed the patriot's snort,
And much he scorned the placeman's snuffle,
And cut the fiercest quarrels short,
With "Patience, gentlemen, and shuffle."

Had crouched beneath his master's table,
For twice ten years his old white steed
Old Quince averred upon his oath,
They were the ugliest beasts in Devon;
And none knew why he fed them both
With his own hands, six days in seven.

Whene'er they heard his ring or knock,
Quicker than thought the village slatterns
Flung down the novel, smoothed the frock,
And took up Mrs. Glass and patterns.
Adelle was studying baker's bills,
Louisa looked the queen of knitters,
Jane happened to be hemming frills,
And Bell by chance, was making fritters.

But all was vain, and while decay
Came like a tranquil moonlight o'er him,
And found him gouty still and gay,
With no fair nurse to bless or bore him:
His rugged smile and easy chair,
His dread of matrimonial lectures,
His wig, his stick, his powdered hair,
Were themes for very strange conjectures.

Some sages thought the stars alone
Had crazed him with excess of knowledge;
Some heard he had been crossed in love
Before he came away from college;
Some darkly hinted that His Grace
Did nothing great or small without him,
Some whispered with a solemn face,
That there was something odd about him.

I found him at threescore and ten
A single man, but bent quite double,
Sickness was coming on him then,
To take him from a world of trouble.
He prosed of sliding down the hill—
Discovered he grew older daily,
One frosty morn he made his will—
The next he sent for Dr. Baily!

And so he lived—and so he died—
When last I sat beside his pillow,
He shook my hand—"For me," he cried,
"Penelope must wear the willow.
Tell her I hugged her rosy chain
While life was flickering in the socket,
And say that when I call again
I'll bring my license in my pocket.

I've left my house and grounds to Fag—
(I hope his master's shoes will suit him,)
And I've bequeathed to you my nag,
To feed him for my sake—or shoot him.
The Vicar's wife will take old Fox—
She'll find him an uncommon mouser;
And let her husband have my box,
My Bible, and my Apmanhauser.

Whether I ought to die or not,
My doctors cannot quite determine,
It's only clear that I shall rot,
And be like Priam, food for vermin.
My debts are paid—but Nature's debt
Almost escaped my recollection.
Tom! we shall meet again, and yet—
I cannot leave you my direction."

STRYCHNINE.—The Columbus (O.) Democrat says that distillers employ strychnine in the manufacture of whiskey. It is a recent discovery that this deadly drug increases the yield of whiskey per bushel of corn. In some places the poison is used to such an extent that hogs die in great numbers from drinking the still slop. And we may add that it is known that this deadly poison is used in other liquors beside whiskey. A few months ago, some 'pure cognac brandy' was analyzed in Washington, and was found to contain strychnine.

The first and only duel ever fought in Illinois, was in 1820, with rifles, between Alphonso Stewart and William Bennett; the former was killed and the latter arrested, tried, convicted and hung. There has been no duel in Illinois since this example.

Morning Chronicle.

HITTING ALL ROUND.

A reader of the Chronicle has cut from our columns the statement that Judge Merrick, at Taunton, Mass. has declared one George Weston, a negro slave, cook of a Southern vessel, to be a free man, though he belonged to a Mr. Bricker of Virginia,—and the reader has appended to it the following spicy commentary, which seems as if it might be a dialogue, or possibly a soliloquy in two parts.

There's a Yankee Judge for you. Ignorant as can be. He don't know the Constitution. What! declare a man,—a creature made up of flesh, blood, bone, muscle, mind, soul, thoughts and affections—declare a man free, when somebody paid a thousand dollars for him perhaps; and tell him, in loyal New England, that he is at liberty to go where he pleases; why it is unconstitutional and unconscionable—to the South. Take care of the Union. We have hope of the North yet. The North is not so time-serving as we used to think. This one act will cement the Union stronger than ever; and it will be a blow to slavery,—such as no partizan arm or speech could ever strike. The North has been condemned; but we think too much. We have tried to make the North do duty for us, very much as men teach dogs obedience—by whipping them. Has the South attempted to whip the North into subserviency? The Northern partizans have seconded the South, and laid the whip on right well. The North will not be coerced into the measures of freedom, any more than it would be whipped into the measures of slavery. The North is doing well. We have killed the Nebraska Bill; and we declare men free when they tread our soil, the constitution (?) to the contrary notwithstanding. The spirit of Liberty is adventuring a bright and glorious and triumphant career. That spirit is not merely in a few poor "persecuted" men; but it is in the North! Let us pray and hope.

George Weston "belonged to a man by the name of Bricker, of Virginia," and a Massachusetts Judge says that he is at liberty to go where he pleases! Well that is something. *

A QUAKER MISSION.

Mr. Pease, one of the three delegates of the Society of Friends to St. Petersburg, gave an account, highly interesting and indisputably honest—last week, to a public meeting of 2000 of his neighbors. It occupies a column and a half in the London Morning Chronicle of the 26th inst. The delegate ventured to report that the Emperor Nicholas appeared to be of sound mind and body, and of kind and temperate spirit and manners; and that his people were affectionately loyal. Moreover all the British residents in St. Petersburg condemned the vituperation of which the London press had been so prodigal from the earliest stage of the political dissensions.

This was enough to bring down on Mr. Pease and Quakers and Quakerism, fresh effusions of editorial wrath and rancor. The Chronicle rails at the memory of Penn, "that pious slave dealer." A Quaker says that the journal is a tyrant in will and a liberticide in theory. Then it treats the errand of the three Friends as an act of high treason.

If Quakers were given to laughter, they might well laugh these accusations to scorn. Sober as they are, they must smile at this precious nonsense about high treason. Their mission to the Czar was one of peace; and he received them as every manly soldier receives such visitors, viz. with profound respect and almost with veneration. The bravest warriors always admire those men of peace whose conduct does not belie their professions.

The Portsmouth Chronicle thinks Congress should pass a law that all letters not prepaid should lay dead without being forwarded.—But that would not do. We have hosts of letters to write to people about matters in the line of our duty as Clerk of the Courts, which are of no interest to us, and on which we don't pay the postage, and don't mean to.—Meredith Democrat.

One man's will, in this country, does not make a law. And one man's convenience, in any country, does not afford a good reason why a host of other people should be unduly taxed. But if all letters here were obliged by law to be prepaid, as they now are in England, then the Courts here would all pay their postage, as they now do in that country.

There is no good reason whatever, that can be urged against the prepayment of all letters. On the contrary, there are several reasons in its favor. It would increase the revenue of the Post Office; would greatly simplify the accounts; and keep a vast deal of useless trash out of the mail bags, which now travels over the country, is advertised, sent on to Washington, and there burnt.

This trash costs a great deal of time and money in the department, as every experienced postmaster and clerk in the larger Post Offices will readily testify.

Make all letters prepaid, and abolish all franking of letters and documents, and the finances of the post office would improve at once.

LOCAL.

A CONCERT TRIP.

Not a concertising trip—but merely a jaunt to hear a concert. Having seen an announcement that Mr. H. S. Thompson, of Newburyport, was to give a musical entertainment (his exhibitions are always entertainments) in that city on Wednesday evening, 26th inst., we felt a desire to attend. Accordingly, as we have an antipathy to being away from home "over night," we invited a friend to take a drive with us across the Merrimack, and it was decided to return at the close of the concert. A pleasant drive of something less than two hours and a half found us at the Ocean House in Newburyport. Among the new features presented on the road, were the beautiful and conspicuous monument to President Weare, erected at Hampton Falls, for the State, by Mr. Treat of this city; and the new Academy in Seabrook, a very handsome brick building, finished with freestone window caps and sills, &c., and surmounted with a belfry.

Passing through the tunnel-bridge over the Merrimack river and under the Eastern Railroad, just in season to meet a train in the face and directly above the head of the "Doctor," whose accelerated speed we were finally enabled to curb to less than that of the iron horse; and having personally consigned our motive-power to the charge of one of those beings, once merely a common man, who from long association with horses, had improved by acquaintance with their noble qualities, till he was fit to be trusted with so precious a charge; we refreshed ourselves with an excellent supper at "the Ocean," and were ready for a squeeze at the City Hall.

Mr. Thompson has merely to announce a musical entertainment to secure a good house—proving that a musician at least, (to say nothing of prophets) may not be "without honor" even in his own city. He is hard to excel in this line, and did not fail this time. On a very large stage,—from stairs in the centre of which, like fairies from the ground, (though fairies don't usually come from that quarter,) the performers made their appearance—two hundred little girls in white, with twenty-five boys, and a score of ladies and gentlemen. The exercises were interesting, varying from songs by children who could not talk plain, to the artistic execution of Miss Page and Mr. Thompson, with the large Juvenile Class and the Opera Class of twelve fine adult singers.

The finale by the whole Class was very beautiful,—commencing with Pleyel's Hymn, changing to the Grand March from Norma, and closing with Hail Columbia. During its performance, three little girls, tastefully dressed, were elevated on pedestals behind as many golden lyres, beneath a triple green arch; and a fine portrait of Washington, ornamented with evergreen, was raised above their heads—at which all the performers stepped and turned round to salute with a double hurrah, and then went on with Hail Columbia. This was well carried out, and enthusiastically received by the audience.

The City Hall is in the new and splendid City Building on Brown's Square, built a few years since at a cost, we think, of thirty thousand dollars. The Hall is very handsome, but poorly adapted for a public exhibition. The seats are arranged on a level, with a gallery at one end, the front seats only of which are good. It is poorly ventilated, as most halls are, and is not more than half big enough for the needs of the city. About twelve hundred persons were crammed into it on this occasion. As a place for a popular public gathering, it is altogether inferior to our Temple.

An extra not in the programme was furnished, in the shape of a shower. "The rains descended and the floods came," accompanied by thunder and lightning, near the close of the concert; and a considerable portion of the audience paid the charming lady performers of a fine duet, the compliment to pass out while they were singing. After pouring for an hour and a half, the rain ceased at half past ten, and the trio (two riders and the horse) turned their attention to a muddy seven-leagues journey in almost tangible darkness—respecting which job the latter was found to have altogether the most available knowledge, and so he was allowed to lead the way.

After sundry naps, some opportunity for brown study, some longings for the end of the journey, and about three hours' patient waiting, all concerned were glad to turn in, while Old Time was running into the small hours of the next morning. Thus much for our Concert trip. F.

APPOINTMENT.—Our fellow townsman, Mr. D. G. Waldron, has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate as Post Master of this town.—From our long acquaintance with Mr. W., and having a knowledge of his business qualifications, we feel confident that the Post Office affairs will be conducted to the satisfaction of all.—Coloma (Cal.) Argus.

Mr. Waldron, it will be remembered, is a native of Portsmouth, and is a worthy young man.

CITY COUNCIL.

In Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, Capt. Jacob Thompson applied for side walks—granted.

A petition was presented, signed by many citizens, representing that the coal tar from the gas house destroyed the fish in the river, and injured boats, and was a nuisance which should be abated—referred to harbor master.

N. D. Miller resigned his office as one of the school committee for Dist. No. 1.

The following resolution was received from the Common Council, in which they asked the concurrence of the Board of Aldermen.

Resolved, if the Mayor and Aldermen concur, that the Mayor be requested to ascertain the cost of a scientific survey of the streets, and lay the same before the City Council.

Concurred in.

CHILD BURNT TO DEATH.—At York, Me, on last Friday afternoon, as some children of Mr. Michael Connie, and Granville Bridges, were out to play, (their parents being absent from home,) one of their number having procured some matches from the house of Mr. Bridges, began to set fire to some Juniper bushes. A little girl about eight years of age by the name of Sally Ann Connie, caught her clothes on fire, and was enveloped in flames. She cried to the other children for assistance, but they being frightened, advised her to run for the house. The wind blowing fresh at the time, she became a sheet of fire, by which she was suffocated and fell to the ground and died in the greatest agony imaginable. Dr. Putnam happened to pass by, heard the alarm, jumped from his carriage and ran to her assistance, but the devouring flame had done its work—the child was dead,—all her clothes having been burnt except a part of one of her shoes.

ANNUAL FAIRS.—We would suggest to the managers of our Agricultural Societies, to arrange in regard to the holding of fairs the ensuing season, so as not to conflict with each other. It often occurs that persons wish to attend several of these anniversaries, but are prevented, as they take place on the same days in quite a number of Counties.

This year the Rockingham Fair will be held on the 13th and 14th of September, the Hillsborough on the 27th and 28th of September, and the State Fair will be held as usual, occupying the first week in October.

If the Counties on the Connecticut river will occupy the third week in September, for instance, Cheshire County Tuesday and Wednesday, the 19th and 20th, Sullivan the 20th and 21st, and the Connecticut River Society the 21st and 22d, each Society making the second day the principal day, it would be very convenient for a delegate to attend them all.

The Merrimack County Society might occupy Tuesday and Wednesday, the 26th and 27th of September, without much interference with the Hillsborough fair on the 27th and 28th.—Granite Farmer.

DAILY PATRIOT.—The publisher of the N. H. Patriot announces that he will publish a daily paper during the coming session of the General Court. The proceedings of the Legislature are to be reported by John G. Moore, the man who was recently (gold) chained by the members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. Mr. Moore is a first rate reporter, and has been connected with the Daily Patriot during the last three or four sessions.

LARGE PORKER.—Messrs. Sheldon, in the Brick Market, are this morning cutting up a handsome hog weighing about a quarter of a ton. He must have ate well, and will eat well.

Governor Crosby, of Maine, has appointed Jonas Cutting, Esq., of Bangor, Supreme Judicial Judge, in place of Mr. Granger, who declined the appointment.

So say the papers, especially the Boston Chronicle and Courier. We would like to know what kind of a Judge one would be who was not Judicial—or in other words, what is meant by the title "Judicial Judge." To us it sounds like the phrase "Omnipotent Power," which we have sometimes heard from the pulpit.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—In the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, in the case of Mrs. Sarah E. Shaw against the Boston and Worcester Railroad, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing damages at $15,087 50. She sued for $25,000. Her husband was killed, and she was injured, at a crossing.

☞ The Musical Repository No. 22, published by F. Parker, Boston, contains the Hercules Waltz; composed by N. Tonnis. 6 pages; 2 sheets, price 12 1-2 cents.

The London newspapers have stated that the treaty between Great Britain and Turkey contains a stipulation that the Christian subjects of the Porte shall be allowed the privilege of political equality with the Turks. Lord John Russell stated that nothing of the kind had been "either signed or proposed."

The Southern Convention has come to an end. It resolved that the South should do a great many things; and if the negroes could do them they would be done. But as it is, they will not probably do much except resolve.—Meredith Democrat.

Mr. Loammi G. Ware, a recent graduate of the Divinity School at Cambridge, has received a call to settle over Christ Church, late Rev. Mr. Judd's, in Augusta, Me.

A GREAT STATE FOR JUVENILES.—In Pennsylvania a girl is legally marriageable at fourteen, and a boy at sixteen, without the consent of parents. We shall expect to see a large emigration of "Young America" to the Keystone State when this becomes generally knows.

There hasn't been but ten presentations of pitchers the present week, to conducters, night police, and servant girls. No better evidence than this is required to show that ours is a temperance community, for it is to be supposed that those pitchers will be only used to mix water in.—Charlestown Adv.

One of our city bakers buys old exchanges of us, in which to wrap the loaves of his customers, and complains that the scissorial department cuts holes too large in them. It never occurred to him, we suppose, that the fault was in his loaves.—Charlestown Adv.

HOUSE.—The House to-day engaged in the consideration of the motion to recommit Mr. Bennett's bill for equalizing grants of land to the several states.

NEW YORK, 27th.—The Journal of Commerce has received a communication from Messrs. E. T. Richardson & Co., No. 7 Old Slip, in this city, that they are informed by a passenger on board the schooner Canton, from Jamaica, that on the 12th inst., near Castle Island, Bahamas, he saw a large three masted screw steamer, painted black outside, and with bulwarks inside painted apparently yellow. Her yards were square, and she had no appearance of being in a disabled condition.

The schooner passed within two or three miles of the steamer, but no person could be seen on board of her. She appeared to be at anchor or aground. No person on board the schooner was aware of the apprehended loss of the City of Glasgow; therefore she kept on her way. The steamer's sails were clewed up, and she was in a very unusual position.

The above description corresponds with the City of Glasgow, and leads to a hope that it may prove to be her.

The Steamship Falcon, which left New York 18th inst., for Aspinwall, with United States troops for California, and put into Norfolk in distress, is coming up the harbor.

WASHINGTON, April 26, Evening.—Gen. Rusk's calculation reduces the amount of land which will be acquired by the new line of the treaty, to 13,000 square miles, but the area is uncertain. The line is south of Cook's wagon route in 1846. The injunction of secresy will not be removed, but if the treaty be consummated, all papers will be called for by the House.

LOUISVILLE, April 26.—The steamer Tribune ran into the steamer John McFadden about 80 miles below here to-day, and sunk her. Three lives were lost.

COASTING TRADE OF GREAT BRITAIN.—The Secretary of State gives official notice of the fact that the coasting trade of Great Britain is now thrown open to all foreign ships, and that our vessels "will be subject to the same regulations as British ships so employed, and will pay no higher rate of duties, tolls and charges. Passenger steamers, on the coast of the United Kingdom will be subject to the provisions of the steam navigation act of 1851."

The passage of this important act is a striking illustration of the prompt manner in which business is transacted in the British Parliament. It is not two months since Parliament assembled, and in the meantime this act has been matured and passed, and is now a law. Our Congress, which has been in session nearly five months, has passed no bill which will compare with this measure in importance, although several very important measures have been pending since the commencement of the session.

An editor in Arkansas was lately shot in an affray. Luckily the ball came against a bundle of unpaid accounts in his pocket.—Even gunpowder could not get through unpaid newspaper bills, and the editor saved his life by the delinquency of his subscribers. Surely it is an ill wind that blows nebody any good.

ALFRED PRODUCTIONS.—Mr. Moses Gile, of Alfred, sold a yoke of oxen one day last week for the handsome sum of $301. The cattle were seven years old, and measured nearly nine feet. Mr. G. sold a yoke of three years old steers a short time since for $130.

On the last day of March the duke of Alba and the countess of Montijo, mother of the French empress, started from Madrid for Paris, in consequence, it is supposed, of the discovery that they had been plotting against the queen of Spain. The countess has another daughter, whom it is suspected she would like to see on the Spanish throne. She is a very able managing mother.—Boston Post.

Com. Newton, who was in Washington last week, confirms the statement that he refused to salute the Spanish flag at Havana, and says Pezuela, the captain general, has in his possession a royal decree emancipating all the slaves in Cuba, but he refrains from publishing it in consequence of the present state of European affairs.—Boston Post.

Rev. J. C. Richmond, the American clergyman who was some time since arrested in Austria, is said to be now in the Turkish camp, acting as a correspondent of the Daily London News.

WAR ON THE DANUBE.—A private letter, dated Galatz, the 23d March, received in London by a mercantile house, announces that an English vessel, laden with Indian corn and preserved meat, was sunk by the batteries in the neighborhood of Saxsa, in consequence of the master's imprudence in going between the two fires during the combat.

The following story is told of a celebrated Maine Law lecturer. He was asked if he believed that our Savior turned water into wine. He replied, after a moment's reflection, "that he did; but he did not think he would have performed that miracle, had he foreseen what a handle would be made of it!"

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered, in one of our common Pasture Weeds a remedy that cures Every Kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There is no if's and ands, hums and ha's about its selling some cases, but not yours. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, wormy looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to dyspepsia or headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some have taken it who have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings; but you must not be alarmed; they will disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it; on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

Nothing in the annals of Patent Medicines has ever been received by the public with so much favor as this simple preparation. It is now composed of nine different herbs. In May, 1852, when I commenced making a business of it, I sold about two bottles per day. In June, 1853, I sold 4320 bottles. In October, 1853, I sold 6120 bottles. I hope you will call that doing well; I do.

In my own practice, I confine it strictly to humors; but there are some who are so enthusiastic in its favor they think what cured them will cure any thing and any body; they accordingly recommend it for every variety of disease. In this way a great many virtues of it have been found that I never would suspect.

Cases of Dyspepsia, of many years standing, that withstood every known remedy, have been permanently cured.

I know one man to gain 17 lbs. by taking three bottles; another 11 lbs.; another 10 lbs.; and another 7 lbs.—the venerable master Robinson of Boston.

In diseases of the Liver it is a specific. I know several with yellow skin and yellow eyes, the body emaciated and the mind melancholy, get fat and cheerful by a few bottles.

I know several cases of Dropsy, and one particularly bad. A lady, aged 79, was unable to leave her house for the last twelve years, was so much relieved (she was reduced in circumference thirty-four inches,) as to visit her friends in several neighboring towns

Another bad the Dropsy in her left leg, and was unable to walk for ten years, sometimes swelling to an enormous size; at last bursted, making a bad wound which could not be healed; by taking three bottles and using two boxes of ointment, she is now quite well. Why it should make some fat and others lean, I cannot tell, but so it is.

I know of several cases of Kidney complaints cured by it. In the columns of a newspaper was a proper medium, I could tell of cases of this most distressing of all diseases that would make your heart bleed, that were permanently cured by it.

It has been lately found to be a sure cure for Panama fever. In one case the first spoonful put off the fit two hours. One bottle cured him. Another came home to die, and was induced by his brother to try it. Three bottles cured him.

It likewise gives great relief in the Asthma. A lady in Lawrence was unable to lie in bed for a number of years; she can now lie without the least inconvenience.

A lady in Weymouth lost the use of her left side by the Erysipelas. On the second bottle, she broke out in the mass of the disease from head to foot. In a few days she was well.

It has lately been found to be equally good for humor outside as inside, (taking it inwardly in the meantime,) for Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Pimples on the Face, or any eruption of the skin whatever; only where the flesh is very sore you must dilute it with water.

When made weak enough it is the best eye-wash for weak and watery eyes that I ever saw.

Others use it to clease the dandruff out of the hair and strengthen its roots, which it certainly does, and to crown all, it made the hair grow on bald heads, which, if I had not seen with my own eyes, I would not believe from you or anybody else.

As regards dieting, I never came across the first person that ever got any benefit from it. On the contrary, numbers came to death's door by it, as it gives the humors the upper hand. My medicine requires the most nourishing food you can get. It will soon give you an appetite.

Do not for a moment suppose that I warrant a cure of all those diseases, in every case. I merely tell you what it has done, hoping it will do the same for you. I do not warrant a cure in any disease but humors, where it never fails. For further particulars see the circular around each bottle.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

I have an herb simmered in olive oil, scatters Scrofulous swellings of the neck and under the ears. Price fifty cents per box.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE. Adults, one table spoonful per day; children of eight years, dessert spoonful; from five to eight, tea spoonfuls. As to diet, can be applicable to all constitutions, take enough to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Dead Shot for Bed Bugs!

SLEEP IN PEACE.

ALL good House-keepers will be glad to hear of an article for the destruction of Bed Bugs, reliable and sure. The Dead Shot is a saturated tincture of a

POISONOUS GUM RESIN,

Which evaporates very slowly, and will not lose its destructive properties for months. One instance is known where bugs in LARGE NUMBERS were destroyed by it, where none had been applied later than the previous year. Keepers of Hotels have found that a thorough use of the Dead Shot in every suspicious place, has kept their house free from Bugs for years.

IT IS PUNGENT AND DEADLY.

Apply it to insects it curls them up and lays them out as readily as sulphur fumes kill bees. It is a TRAP READY SET for these noxious tormenters of our nightly rest.
